CFA Initiates ‘Reed Patrol’

California Faculty and Labor Union representatives gathered on the streets to protest Chancellor Reed’s appearance at an anti-union hotel in downtown San Francisco.

By John J. Eddy
Executive Editor

SAN FRANCISCO – In front of an estimated crowd of 800 teachers, labor unionists, students and supporters, the California Faculty Association in partnership with the Hotel Employees and Restaurant Employees Union, Local 2, held a loud, vibrant and positively powerful protest aimed at the anti-union hotel in downtown San Francisco. The CFA and Hotel/Restaurant Unionists, students and supporters, the Restaurant Employees Union, Local 2, held a loud, vibrant and positively powerful demonstration.

“We don’t want a strike but we have no choice but to begin preparations both for a strike and for other forms of job action.” Susan Meisenhelder

This was the first event in a series called “The Reed Patrol,” in which the CFA plans to protest the presence of Chancellor Charles Reed throughout the state. The protest followed a series of CSU Teach-Ins this past fall, hosted by the CFA in an effort to inform students and temporary faculty about the conflict in negotiations between the CFA and the CSU administration.

The collective bargaining stage of the negotiations has since ended as of this past month when a neutral mediator certified the talks had reached a formal impasse.

Chancellor Charles Reed and the Marriott Hotels have been on the organized labor’s boycott list for its refusal to negotiate with its workers who voted to unionize in 1996, was site of this year’s American Council on Education, a convention held annually by the nation’s top educational administrators. The CFA and Hotel/Restaurant workers saw this as an opportunity to combine their union struggles together into one large, visually stimulating demonstration.

Many people were carrying custom signs like this one.

The bargaining was overseen by a neutral mediator who acted as judge and determined that both sides were unwilling to sacrifice any portion of their case to reach a compromise. With that rather than a formal impasse the dispute was sent to an independent fact-finder under state employee law.

The CFA has been disputing various CSU administration policies, both toward the displacement of financial allocations made for faculty and the CSU’s faculty hiring tactics, which have brought more temporary faculty into the system. “Our fight is not about money, but we are tired of faculty compensation dollars being lost, but we are tired of faculty compensation dollars being lost.

~Protest Continue on page 2

Budget: Is the CSU Faculty a Priority?

By Karla Buchanan
Staff Writer

On January 10, California Governor Gray Davis made public his proposed budget for the 2003-2004 fiscal year, which runs from July 1 to June 30.

In the proposed budget, Governor Davis made clear that education was a top priority.

In fact, he made allowances for the California State University system to receive a 4.5% increase in general funds, or $126.9 million. However, even with this increased funding the CSU faculty is to receive only a 1%, or $22.4 million, increase in employee compensation.

The increase is as a result of the agreement reached during the collective bargaining stage of the negotiations. The negotiation is now at an impasse as both sides have reached an impasse.

John Travis, Chair of the CFA Bargaining Committee and Professor at Humboldt State University, described collective bargaining as a judicial process in which both sides state their case and rebut their opponent’s view.

The collective bargaining stage of the negotiations has since ended as of this past month when a neutral mediator certified the talks had reached a formal impasse. The mediator was chosen by the CFA and the CSU administration.

Top Right: a puppet interpretation of Chancellor Reed

Bottom Left: An EFFS interpretation of Chancellor Reed

Top Right: a puppet interpretation of Chancellor Reed

Bottom Left: An EFFS interpretation of Chancellor Reed

Bottom Right: the crowd marches

CSU Faculty to continue to teach, with less pay, to a growing number of students.

Additionally, as CSU San Marcos professor of Business Administration George Diehr explained, “The increasing salary gap, combined with California’s high cost of living, will hamper the CSU’s ability to recruit and retain the best possible faculty. As a result, the CSU’s quality of education will be compromised.

According to CSU Postsecondary Education Commission (CPEC), the average full time CSU faculty member will earn about $470 in 2001-2002. The 20 other comparable higher education institutions will receive an average of $75,743 in 2001-2002.

These figures are based on numbers supplied to the CPEC by the CSU Chancellor’s office. The CFA is currently requesting a copy of the data set so they may calculate their own figures.

This confirms our growing alarm about the negative trends in the CSU. The faculty are the CSU’s most valuable resource. But the CSU administration has turned a blind eye toward the growing salary gap, choosing instead to spend millions on increasing the size of the CSU bureaucracy,” stated California Faculty Association President Susan Meisenhelder.

Currently CFA is requesting experience-based raises, increased stipends for department chairs, as well as re-evaluation of workload, lecture job stability and contract enforcement. The administration, on the other hand, is simply proposing a 2% across the board increase.

According to CSU spokeswomen Colleen Bently-Adler, “They’ve asked for additional money that comes to $13 million above the 2% we have.

Although the faculty has been unsuccessful in negotiations, Governor Davis has allotted $87.9 million to support projections of a 4% enrollment increase in the CSU system next year.

“Fully funding our enrollment growth will be the key to providing educational opportunity to future generations of Californians,” said CSU Chancellor Charles Reed. However, this begs the question of how Chancellor Reed expects CSU faculty to continue to teach, with less pay, to a growing number of students.

Budget: Is the CSU Faculty a Priority?

The proposed budget is as follows:

- $80,000
- $70,000
- $60,000
- $50,000

Earnings 2001-2002

Volume 35, Issue 12

February 11, 2002
Serving the Students of CSUSB for 35 Years

Cal State San Bernardino Faculty stands proud at the protest in front of the Marriott Hotel. Pictured from left to right: Art Nelson, Foreign Language, Tom Diehl, Educational Psychology, Karen Kuckshinzer, Physics, Mitelloni Economics, Michael Clarke, Performing Arts, Yasha Karant, Computer Science, Tom Meisenhelder, Sociology, Carol Haviland, English, Aurora Wolfgang, Foreign Language, Jackie Rhodes, English.

Cal State San Bernardino Faculty stands proud at the protest in front of the Marriott Hotel. Pictured from left to right: Art Nelson, Foreign Language, Tom Diehl, Educational Psychology, Karen Kuckshinzer, Physics, Mitelloni Economics, Michael Clarke, Performing Arts, Yasha Karant, Computer Science, Tom Meisenhelder, Sociology, Carol Haviland, English, Aurora Wolfgang, Foreign Language, Jackie Rhodes, English.

CSU Faculty Other Faculty

Average Yearly Earnings 2001-2002

$57,743

$58,970

$60,000

$60,000

$60,000
Cruising to the Future With the Sail Program

By Angelic Navarro
Special to the Chronicle

The Student Assistance in Learning (SAIL) Program at CSUSB is offering a Study Skills Workshop for Adult Reentry Students. Although the workshop is specifically geared toward reentry students to assist in establishing good study skills, all students are welcome.

The SAIL Program was established to offer students support services and professional programs. The Study Skills Workshop is only one of many services that the SAIL Program offers.

The SAIL Program also offers the following services: academic and financial aid advising, advising courses, advice with graduate school, student loan counseling, professional programs, and personal and career counseling, reading assistance, and preental growth workshops.

The SAIL Program also participates in the Academic Highways Program, prints The Quiver which is its quarterly newsletter, has a study lab facility, and organizes study marathons. The SAIL Program encourages excellence with its helpful staff.

To be eligible for the SAIL Program, a student must be one who is low-income according to federal guidelines, whose parents have not earned a bachelor's degree, is disabled, and is a US citizen or permanent resident.

The workshop being offered is intended to give students the tools necessary for academic achievement. Basic study skills will be introduced as well as helpful tips for test-taking.

The Workshop being conducted by Mr. Sean Davis, SAIL counselor. Mr. Davis is a CSUSB alum. After receiving his Bachelor's Degree in Communications, with a minor in History, he has been a part of Arts Degree Counseling and Guidance, both from CSUSB. For further information about the Study Skills workshop scheduled for February 18th at 5:00 PM, contact the SAIL office in University Hall, Rm. 586.

"We would like to go back to a time when things at CSU were oriented toward students." - John Travis

- Protests Continued from page 1

Distributed Learning Builds a Bridge

By Desiree Jacques
Staff Writer

"Bridging the Distance" is the name given to the ambitious new policy the Office of Distributed Learning has undertaken. Hoping to create a "Network of Distributed Learning," the office wants to use the Title V grant just awarded to CSUSB to create a strong secure system of alternative learning.

This is an infrastructure grant it's going to help us support faculty development so we have more instructors trained to teach from a distance. It is an investment in the future," says Dr. Rosa Gonzalez, Assistant Director of the Office of Distributed Learning. She added that it is not only for training instructors, but also for developing a secure way to teach via the internet so students feel safe.

This network focuses on site-bound and time bound students who may not be able to commute to CSUSB because of the distance or their work schedules, but still wish to continue their degree work beyond community college," said Dr. Gonzalez. CSUSB will be partnering with other campuses to network these courses using already existing faculty who are willing to reform their material for different teaching methods.

The ODL has been around for years now, but has never before had an opportunity like this. This policy was drafted in part by Dr. Monaghan, Director of the Office of Distributed Learning, and by a faculty senate committee. After its drafting and approval by the senate, it was finalized when signed by California State University San Bernardino President Albert Karran.

"We're in the preliminary stages now, we're just getting a curriculum ready," says Monaghan. "Primarily we want in essence it is a high quality experience for the student." Hopes are high for the future of distributed learning, eventually they want to have the third and fourth years of Liberal Studies teaching degree courses available through these alternative methods, but no one is making any promises this early in its development.

However, this policy has the potential to positively affect the university as a whole. Not only is it intended to increase enrollment and therefore increase revenue, according to a policy outline, it will benefit the entire campus' online student services in terms of degree audit reports and enhanced online student services.

As ODL's policy hopes to "Bridge the Distance" between students and their teachers, it is at the same time changing the way we see higher education and bringing new opportunities to a wide range of people.
Golden Apple Emerges at University Hall

By John D. Walton
Sports Editor

If all the photographers and media didn't catch the attention of Cal State San Bernardino's Margaret Doane, it was the surprise visit by University President Al Karnig that clearly drew the Professor's eyes.

President Karnig awarded Doane, an English Professor and the former 2001 Outstanding Advisor Award recipient, the Golden Apple Award for her tremendous work in teaching and mentoring on Friday, February 8 at University Hall.

"I was surprised," said Doane, who has been a faculty member for the University since 1976. "I realized once I saw the President [Al Karnig], I knew what was going on."

According to Karnig, it was a combination of Doane's dedication to the University and humor that makes Doane a major student-favorite instructor. "I love interacting with published articles on Robert Browning and Willy Wonka and is the University's leading mentor with 398 independent study projects. The San Bernardino native has also conducted more than 78 internships for her students while still finding time to enjoy cycling and running during spare time.

Doane displayed some humor stating that she would give every student in her class an "A" for the next exam, but it wasn't her students," added Doane. "I get real energized teaching the things I love to teach to these students."

Doane is also responsible for creating 10 courses on campus including Regional American Literature, Shelly and Browning, Utopian literature and The Victorian Novel. Besides the courses, she has also developed an English Honors Program and EPIC, which is an advising center for undergraduate English Surprise!!!

President Karnig and Margaret Doane

Davis to Increase Nursing Students

By: Shareena C. Clark
Assistant News Editor

Governor Gray Davis is looking to increase nurse-staffing levels in California hospitals. As of now, the demand is already high, and it is expected to rise after Davis' proposal, which calls for one nurse for every six patients. In 1999, Davis signed Assembly Bill 334 supporting these standards.

Local community colleges are working hard to solve the problem. They currently provide training for the software that is used in the Inland hospitals. CSUSB is also working hard to meet the state's demand. Mary Molle explained that the patient load is just too heavy, and the nursing department is gearing up to provide more qualified nurses. It is estimated that about 80 percent of Inland nursing graduates will go on to work in the Inland Empire.

Considering the high demand for nurses, and the governor's promise, where is the funding supposed to come from? It seems as if Gray Davis is making promises, while cutting funds. There has to be one or the other. You cannot assume that a proposal will fund itself just because the governor backs it, surely people won't just open their purses and wallets to a really good idea. Perhaps we could use some of the $857 million cut from schools to fund the nursing idea. Oh, wait. I forgot, we need $27.9 million to fight bio-terrorism in LA County. Sorry kids, no car wash or something. Get it together, Gray!

Baskin Robbins

10% discount off your purchase at either Togo’s or Baskin Robbins with valid CSUSB student or faculty I.D. Please present I.D. at the time of order. Not valid with any other discount, coupon or promotion.

Next to McDonald’s
The Roving Reporter
Asking Couples What They Think
How long have you been together, where’d you meet and what are you doing for Valentines Day?

Couple: Rita Marrari & David Cameron
Year: 3rd year Teaching Credential
“She wants a puppy Dachshund wiener dog, which is just what I might get her. We met at a bar called the Branding Iron and have been together for a year now.”

Couple: Jessica Martindale & Matthew Gillespie
Major: History & Criminal Justice
“We are going to the Huntington Beach Brewery and spending the night over there. We have been together for nine months and met each other through the fraternity Sigma Nu.”

Couple: Jared Welney & Martine Shibba
Major: Accounting & Psychology
Year: Junior & Sophomore
“We bought tickets to go to the Valentines Ball at the Ontario Hilton and on the weekend of Valentine’s, we plan on going on a cruise around the bay of Newport Beach for dinner and dancing along with other surprises. We met each other at a Halloween party and have been together for one year and three months.”

Couple: Anne Agnello & Tia Hody
Major: Nursing & Business
Year: Both Freshmen
“We are going to Disneyland for Valentines Day. About five months ago, Tio followed me and I don’t know what I did to deserve it. We met each other in an acting class here at Cal State.”

Couple: Anne Agnello & Tia Hody
Major: Nursing & Business
Year: Both Freshmen
“We are going to Disneyland for Valentines Day. About five months ago, Tio followed me and I don’t know what I did to deserve it. We met each other in an acting class here at Cal State.”

Couple: Jared Welney & Martine Shibba
Major: Accounting & Psychology
Year: Junior & Sophomore
“We bought tickets to go to the Valentines Ball at the Ontario Hilton and on the weekend of Valentine’s, we plan on going on a cruise around the bay of Newport Beach for dinner and dancing along with other surprises. We met each other at a Halloween party and have been together for one year and three months.”

Couple: Mary Bussey & Daniel Wilson
Major: History & Undeclared
Year: Both Freshmen
“For Valentine’s Day we might do a number of things, although it’s still a surprise, we definitely are going to Catalayas; then we might go down to San Diego or the Island of Coronado. I was set up with Daniel as a blind date for my senior prom and we have now been together for two years.”

The Coyote Chronicle would like to wish you a Happy Valentines Day!

Student Spotlight
Margaret Gholston
By Terecisa Sosa
Margaret Gholston, a senior here at Cal State, was recently nominated by the Theater Department for the Lauren HANDSBERRY Award, an award given to African American writers, for authoring a solo performance play entitled “Beauty Conspicize.”

Gholston will perform her solo act and compete against many others at Cal State Hayward. If she becomes a finalist, she will perform her play at the Kennedy Center American Theater Festival (KCACTF) in Washington, D.C.

Her inspiration for this piece arose from her frustration with society’s stereotypical image of the perfect body. Gholston agrees that the only women portrayed on television are tall, slender, smooth complexioned women. For the first time, the Theater Department has been encouraging students to write and act in solo performances. The department put across the concept through a workshop called “My Story Project,” in which students had to base their performances on their personal lists.

Gholston admits that performing solo acts can be quite nerve-wracking the first few times, but she says once you gain enough confidence, it’s to the respect the audience has for you.

“The first time I was scared but with every performance it got easier,” she says. “It’s so amazing and you begin to feel the connection that you make with the audience as they watch your every move. That is when I noticed that people were really listening to me, and I was like, ‘Wow.’”

Being an actor has its perks but like everything else, it has its setbacks. “Putting on a production has countless hours of practice and determination. The actors not only have to learn their lines but also have to get into shape in order to endure their performances while on stage. Sacrifices such as spending less time with family, friends, or pets are required to pursue this path. Gholston found her inspiration to act from film actresses such as Betty Davis, Dorothy Dandridge and Patty Mac Daniel. The fact that they were all trailblazers and the water, a

Cont. on page 16

Increase your involvement with the New Student Orientation
Have you wanted to become involved with a different organization or increase your member’s involvement on campus? New Student Orientation (NSO) is an excellent opportunity to meet other CSUSB students, staff and most importantly make an impact on incoming freshmen lives. The NSO program is designed to help incoming freshmen become acquainted with CSUSB and its student body in an overnight visit during the summer. As a student leader, you will be able to refine your leadership skills, conflict management techniques and other communication methods.

Cont. on page 16
Inside Look; The Red Rose Ball

By Susie Medina
Scene Editor

The Red Rose Ball came into full bloom this Friday right before Valentines Day. The formal dance was sponsored by Serrano Village Housing and Residential Life and ASI. It was a non-profit was sponsored by Serrano Village covered dinner, dancing and sandwiches, fresh fruit and salads. The dinner was chicken with vegetables and potatoes. The event began at 7pm and was to end at midnight.

According to Ellen Whitehead, Resident Director of Housing and Residential Life, there were "about 170 tickets sold." The goal was to have about 250 to 300 people, but we did pretty good anyway." The event was originally more than Housing could afford at first. The tickets would've rounded out to $36 a person but Housing decided that that would be too much for students, so they contacted ASI to cover the rest in hopes that tickets would be dropped to a price of $20 per person.

This was reasonable for students such as Chris Elwell who only "spent a total of $45 on the event." Hillary Erwin said, "I told my hair myself and had this dress already so I didn't spend much." The ball even accommodated those students who don't eat meat. There was a vegetarian plate for students upon request, ice cream and other beverages, were provided for students. There was even a photographer for those who wanted to take pictures. The students were mostly couples smiting next to each other and cuddling. Christina Rodriguez says "I brought the love of my life to have a special evening." She and her boyfriend both wore red and black, flowing with the pattern of the colors of the ball.

The dance was very relaxed. Students were not yet dancing when I got there but the music was bumping in the background, like the beating of Cupid's heart. This is the second year that the ball has been put on and there are plans to have another one next year.

Lonely Hearts; Being single does not mean you are alone

By John J. Eddy
Executive Editor

I can remember back in elementary school, all the red and pink construction paper hearts, candy before lunch, Cherry seven-ups and a Valentines Day card from every gift in the class. Things were simple then, but the times they have a-changed. Now instead of cards and candy, women want diamonds, flowers and expensive dinners. Guys save up their weekly paychecks, make reservations far in advance, and put in every effort to romance their ladies on this lover's holiday. And then there are guys like me, a lonely heart. In years past, single men have hid in shame on the lover's holiday, renting movies and sulking in their easy chairs. Today, however, men congregate with other men in bars and pool halls, outside each other's garages or inside their homes to watch sports, drink beer, eat pizza and pretzels, talk about 'hot chicks' and revel in their own mixture of testosterone and high grade alcohol. Let's not forget the ladies, what do single women do for Valentines Day?

Honestly, I have no idea. I mean are there even any single women out there? Well, if so, perhaps they too congregate with other single women to watch old black and white movies that insistively bring tears to their eyes, eat delicious bowls of quality ice cream, and talk about all men are real jerks except this one real hot guy with a light bulb who seems real nice. Ideally, deep down inside we all wish we had that someone special to spend Valentines Day with, but that doesn't mean we

Loma Linda University
Consider a career in Marital and Family Therapy.

Loma Linda University's Marital and Family Therapy faculty would like nothing better than to help you develop your "people" skills and talents into a very rewarding career. We've designed our programs for full-time students, as well as for working adults who can only attend school part-time.

Earn your MS, DMFT, or PhD* in Marital and Family Therapy at Loma Linda University. Our MS program is fully AAMFT-accredited, and we are working toward accreditation for our doctoral programs. If you want strong academic and clinical training with a Christian emphasis, consider Loma Linda.

The choice is up to you. Call toll-free (866) 558-6277, e-mail bjones@mft.llu.edu, or write to:

Mary E. Moline, PhD; Graduate School, Griggs Hall 209; Loma Linda University; Loma Linda, CA 92350

*Prerequisite degrees required
To Tip or Not To Tip

By Shane Vanderlin
Copy Editor

For those readers who have or do work for tips, keep reading because you might find this informative. If something out of this is it respectful and honors a job or income. The goodwill of others, keep reading because you might find this informative. If something out of this is it respectful and honors a job or income.

Seeks to recruit, train, and place interns in classroom teaching, librarians, or counseling positions in the Riverside Community College district for the 2002-2003 academic year. Academic areas include, but are not limited to, Mathematics, English, ESL, Speech Communication, Computer Information Systems, Anatomy, Chemistry Physics, Spanish Reading, and Microbiology. Positions are also available for adjunct teaching for those who already meet the minimum qualifications.

The internship program will provide developmental opportunities for persons interested in pursuing a community college teaching career through one-year internships which pair interns with discipline-related mentors. This program is intended to help develop a pool of potential candidates, which reflects the diversity of community colleges for possible adjunct or contract teaching positions.

In order to meet minimum qualifications, interns must:

- Be currently enrolled in a Master's or Doctoral program and have completed a minimum of 50% of graduate coursework or are within one year of completion. Graduate course work must be in the academic area in which they plan to teach, counsel, or serve as librarian.
- Or have completed a Master's/Dual Doctoral degree course of study at an accredited college or university in the discipline in which they plan to teach, counsel, or serve as librarian;
- Or be enrolled in, or have completed a Master's/ Doctoral degree course of study at an accredited college or university and have two years' professional experience in the discipline in which they plan to teach, if a Master's in that discipline is not expected or available (generally technical, trade, or industrial fields).

When: Saturday, February 23, 2002
Where: Riverside Community College, City Campus Student Dining Room 4800 Magnolia Avenue Riverside, CA 92506 Time: 8:30 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.
Please RSVP to: (909)388-8797
Applications are available at the fair or from the following addresses:

Riverside Community College, Moreno Valley Campus
Dr. William K. Vincent, Director
16130 Lasselle Street
Moreno Valley, CA 92551
(909) 571-6230

The Chronicle
February 11, 2002

Health Center Update
By Crystal Vickery
Staff writer

"Coughing has been the most common symptom students have been complaining about lately, as well as allergies caused by the winds," says Debbie Galvan, assistant director and R.N. at the Health Center.

"The flu season turned to be much milder than predicted," she says, "and is now almost over.

Besides treating respiratory problems, the Health Center provides several services to keep students healthy and going to class.

With CSUSB's variety of students, the Health Center sees on average about 60 to 70 a day, and that is not including those who just walk in. Since the staff must provide everyone with care, they offer a range of treatments for colds to minor injuries as well as physical exams.

Student Leonard Ortega says, "since my accident, I came here everyday to get checkups, and use their restrooms. It's all free to me, too.

The Health Center offers plenty of other benefits. Staffed by three doctors and two nurse practitioners, the Center also houses a Psychological Counseling Center and a pharmacy.

The pharmacy sells low-cost prescriptions and over the counter medicines. Student can purchase birth control pills, condoms, cough medicine, energy pills and everything else they need to take care of themselves cheaply.

If you are feeling sick, want to talk, or need a prescription, then visit the Student Health Center. You can make an appointment at 880-5249 for health issues. For the Psychological Counseling Center, call 880-9440.

You Say

A graduate degree costs too much?

Here's a great investment Tip: Cal Baptist.

A graduate degree is supposed to pay dividends for a lifetime— but not all graduate degrees are created equal. At Cal Baptist, you can count on personalized attention from talented faculty, widely recognized graduate programs, and an ethical focus that distinguishes you from the crowd. So don't think of your Cal Baptist graduate degree as money out of pocket. It's more like money in the bank.

California Baptist University
8432 Magnolia Avenue
Riverside, California 92504
1.877.228.6877
1.800.543.4249
The Thrill Ain’t Gone Baby

By Matt Schoemann
Managing Editor

Blues isn’t about airplay and corporate sponsorship. There will never be “smooth” blues or “hard” blues. Blues is about soul and a state of mind.

To discover the origin of blues one needs to look no further than the trials and changes that took place in African American society after the abolition of slavery. Blues was a combination of the Gospel sounds that rang out in the church and the hollers that rang out in the slave plantations.

Blues isn’t about airplay and corporate sponsorship. There will never be “smooth” blues or “hard” blues. Blues is about soul and a state of mind.

To discover the origin of blues one needs to look no further than the trials and changes that took place in African American society after the abolition of slavery. Blues was a combination of the Gospel sounds that rang out in the church and the hollers that rang out in the slave plantations.

Prior to the emergence of the Chicago scene that pushed blues into the main stream with Muddy Waters, Howlin’ Wolf and Buddy Guy, folk-blues paved the way. Folk-blues was born in rural areas and focused on a solo vocalist accompanied by a single guitar. The folk-blues of Huddie “Lead Belly” Ledbetter and Charlie Patton paved the way for one Robert Johnson.

Robert Johnson, with his soulful voice and slick guitar riffs, spawned what is now known as Delta Blues. The Mississippi Delta continues to be a wellspring for blues musicians of all ages who cut their teeth in juke joints and bars. The collaborations of young and old blues players have created a continuous cycle in which fledgling musicians can learn from the best.

Blues became the backbone for all other American music. The Rolling Stones and Led Zeppelin were originally thought of as British blues artists. In the states, The Grateful Dead and Big Brother and the Holding Company started out as “electric blues bands.”

In New Orleans, banjos were accompanied by brass instruments to form early jazz bands. Banjos were the primary instruments in these jazz bands simply because they were more resonating than guitars. Although blues is less in the mainstream than it has been in some time, it will continue to flourish in the live setting. Blues connoisseurs are passionate about their music and it will no doubt continue to live on as great American roots music.

Unity Celebrated with Umoja Day

By Jake Zylman
Multi-Cultural Editor

Unity came to Cal State on Wednesday, February 6, in the form of Umoja Day. Umoja, meaning unity, is part of the African American celebration of Kwanzaa, but has come have its own day during the month of February. Although there is no nationally designated date for celebration, it is celebrated at many college campuses during the month of February.

The day, coordinated by the Cross Cultural Center and Black groups on campus, kicked off with a peace march that reincarnated the spirit of the civil right's movement of the 60's. "We tried to emulate the emotion of some of the marches of Dr. King," said Brian Cobb, secretary of the African Student Alliance on campus.

Both Cobb and Kelly Denny, the president of ASA, spoke before the rest of the festivities began the day about the importance of unity among all people on campus. In a later interview, Denny said that while relations between people have improved on campus there are still "many issues that need to be addressed involving race at this school."

The celebration, in it’s fifth year at Cal State, was catered with soul food and featured booths of different Black fraternities and sororities on campus.

RACIAL IDENTITY: EVERYONE WANTS TO KNOW

By Desiree Jaques
Staff Writer

We’ve all been confronted by those little boxes at one point in our lives. On admission applications to Universities, on standardized tests, and in many other official documents, we are supposed to select which ethnic group we think we are. We assume this information is used for statistical purposes, so numbers can be compiled and we can see the different percentages of groups and how they compare to one another.

Some say this is a good thing, because it “keeps tabs” on the admissions system to ensure fairness towards minorities. Others say it is insulting that we are asked to fit ourselves in to these vague categories, which have no bearing on our ability to be successful students.

In either case, these categories are inaccurate and therefore create inaccurate statistics.

Some students have often wondered why that is even asked, even if it is optional. CSUSB sophomore, Christine Campbell, says, “I wonder why then even need to know it. What does it have to do with anything?” She adds, “as far as statistics go, a person is a person regardless of their ethnicity, it’s just not necessary information.”

Sometimes students utilize the fact that it is an optional response. RCC transfer student Mary Keese says, “I fill it out even though I’d rather not. But I do get sick doing it and there have been times where I don’t fill it out at all.”

The question they are asking is “what are you?”.... the Identity

Continued on pg. 16

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, SAN

If your vagina got dressed, what would it wear? If your vagina could speak, what

COME FIND OUT

THE YAGINA

February 21, 22, 23 • 7 p.m.

PRODUCED BY THE WOMEN’S STUDIES PROGRAM AND THE CSUSB WOMEN’S RESOURCE CENTER

BUFFALO SOLDIER PROTECTORS

By Karla Buchanan
Staff Writer

In 1866 the United States Congress legislation established the ninth and tenth African American Cavalry Units. The Units were comprised of soldiers from Louisiana and Kentucky that fought in the Civil War. The units earned their nickname of “Buffalo Soldiers” from the Cheyenne and Comanche Indians.

The Buffalo soldiers were responsible for building and maintaining forts, mapping vast areas in the southwest, stringing hundreds of miles of telegraph wire, protecting railroad construction crews, and controlling outlaws and rustlers. Such outlaws included Geronimo, Billy the Kid and Pancho Villa - a virtual ‘who’s who’ of the American west. For performing these various duties, the soldiers received a sum of $13 a month.

18 of the Buffalo soldiers were awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for their invaluable service in the west.
and Twinkles, but we don't see the same can be said for cockroaches. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds. Precious gems culled from the gravelly mines of exotic locales, imported and purchased from the gravelly mines of exotic monds.

GIRL'S BEST

Anyone shelling out two months' rent for a diamond engagement ring, you might want to consider another time of the year. Why? Because diamonds are a girl's best friend.

This is a myth. Precious gems are rare. They may not be a dime a dozen, but according to several reputable sources, they're pretty damn close. Diamond jewelry in the States is typically marked up between 100 to 200 percent of its actual value. The rarity and value of diamonds is in fact a myth—finely crafted and spoon fed to the public by De Beers, the diamond company, who have monopolized the diamond trade for a large part of the last century. Before the 1930s, rubies, sapphires, and other precious gems were far more popular for engagement rings. So why is it that for so long the diamond alone is considered appropriate? According to pop-culture expert and author James Twitchell, "We have the evil genius of De Beers to thank for equating diamonds with romantic love."

There is more, it's like a box full of puzzle pieces. Some are similar, but none are alike, and in the end it doesn't matter because it all makes a picture.

Diamonds—Continued on Pg. 16

A Woman's Perogative

Tiffany Macquez
Staff Writer

You graduate from high school. You work a little in the summer to earn some spending cash. You go to college in the fall. Study, work, party, study, work, party. That's how you're studying to how we lead our personal life. That's the beauty of living in a country where you have the freedom to choose your own lifestyle. But in all this variety, what is the stereotypical "average college student"? Or to be more specific, the "average female college student"?

There is none, it's like a box full of puzzle pieces. Some are similar, but none are alike, and in the end it doesn't matter because it all makes a picture.

Take Mayra Reyes for example. She is a first year freshman still living at home with her parents in Fontana, CA. She works part time in the Ontario Mills Mall and plans on eventually transferring and moving out. Since CSUSB is such a commuter school, Mayra seems to be the poster child for the average female student.

Diamonds

Let's try and beat the record again!

Women play at 5 p.m., Men play at 8 p.m.

Wear your Coyote Pack shirt and get free stuff at the next home basketball game, and keep earning points towards the Back the Pack and the Coyote Blue Awards. Currently LBSA is in the lead for the Back the Pack Award (most participation) and the Zetas are ahead in points for the Coyote Blue (most spirited). For additional points and to have an active role in the game join the 542 Crew to pass out pizzas, throw candy, and just get crazy. Come in costume, or get a wig and blue paint from the Coyote Pack table by 7 pm. The craziest 542 Crewmember will get a FREE CSUSB Sweatshirt.

For more details or to join Coyote Pack contact the Alumni Office at (909) 880-5008.

Are all students feeling this way towards college? What about the students that have experienced the dorm life on their own? Was it really all that fulfilling? Jamie Trice knows from experience. A transfer student from SF State, Jamie was a standout tennis player (the only freshman on the team), had an excellent G.P.A., and lived in the dorms. Jamie choose to trade in to come back home and live with her boyfriend in Murrieta and more recently, help him raise his two children. Unable to continue with tennis, Jamie is keeping busy going to school, running a household and playing mom to children that she loves as if they were her own.

"I think that living in the dorms taught you more about responsibility. However, I don't miss it any. Since I still live without parents, I have as much freedom as I did in the dorms, if not more. There were restrictions in the dorms that you don't have if you live off campus," said Trice.

"Getting ready for the real world is what college is all about.

--- College Continued on Pg. 16

February 11, 1900

Nelson Mandela is released from a South African prison after being detained for twenty-seven years as a political prisoner. Mandela was born in a village near Umata in the Transkei on July 18, 1918. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

February 12, 1999

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) founded after race riot in Springfield, Illinois.

February 14, 1817

The Great Emancipator Frederick Douglas was born. Douglas was one of the foremost leaders of the abolitionist movement. He served as an advisor to President Lincoln during the Civil War and fought for the adaptation of constitutional amendments that guaranteed voting rights and civil liberties for blacks.

February 14, 1867

Morehouse College founded as Augusta Institute. In 1867, two years after the Civil War, Augusta Institute was established in the basement of Springfield Baptist Church in Augusta, Ga. Founded in 1787, Springfield Baptist is the oldest independent African-American church in the United States. Today, Augusta Institute is Morehouse College.

February 14, 1946

Actor and dancer Gregory Hines was born in New York. He has become an accomplished actor, director, dancer, and musician.

February 15 and 16

Women play at 5 p.m., Men play at 8 p.m.

Wear your Coyote Pack shirt and get free stuff at the next home basketball game, and keep earning points towards the Back the Pack and the Coyote Blue Awards. Currently LBSA is in the lead for the Back the Pack Award (most participation) and the Zetas are ahead in points for the Coyote Blue (most spirited). For additional points and to have an active role in the game join the 542 Crew to pass out pizzas, throw candy, and just get crazy. Come in costume, or get a wig and blue paint from the Coyote Pack table by 7 pm. The craziest 542 Crewmember will get a FREE CSUSB Sweatshirt.

If you need MORE information please call (909) 880-5008.

--- College Continued on Pg. 16

February 11, 2002

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.

Milton Mandela was bom in a village near Umtata in the Transkei on February 11, 1990. Mandela accepted the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993 as an accolade to all people who have worked for peace.
JOURNEY #4- MULTITASKING

"Nobody likes their job, nobody gets enough sleep." - Ani DiFranco

This week we are going to indulge in the art of multitasking. I am almost positive that when you first set foot on this campus and printed out your schedule, a little tingle of excitement shot up your spine. Then two weeks later you realized that you were in a little over your head. Then you decided to work that part time job making sandwiches, or selling women's short, or whatever. Then you started to panic. By finals week, you were ready to rip your hair out trying to balance school, work, and tests while trying to remember to register for next quarter. You hate your job now, but you need the cash (your boss knows this, therefore shows no compassion), you are tired, stressed, and your head is going to explode.

While we are on the subject of stress and multitasking... hats off to those of you who do all of this while having children at home. You guys are the biggest heroes since Bluntman and Chronic. Now, I am going to ask all of you to relax, yes as in "Frankie Says..." Just take a deep breath and relax for a moment. I know you are exhausted and do not have a weekend anymore. I know sleep has become secondary to everything else, but you know what? This is life. Welcome to it. It isn’t easy, kids, it really isn’t.

We all wanted college to be like 90210 or Revenge of the Nerds. The truth is if you want to be successful, and graduate in less than five years with a decent GPA, you have got to buckle down and grow up. Stop complaining about having too much to do, we all have too much to do. We all have to live through this once. We all hate our professors, and we all feel like we are going nuts. I hate to be rude like this, but GET OVER IT! Most of the time you are going to be tired, most of the time 24 hours will not be long enough.

Next time you are about to complain about your tough life and short weekend, consider the single parent with three kids who works seven days to make ends meet. When you are mad at your professor for assigning three chapters to read over the weekend, consider the man who never learned to read. When you are pissed off because there is no parking, consider the student who has to catch the bus every morning from three cities to the left. In the loud forceful words of Graham Marsh "G.O.Y.!" (Get over yourself). It ain’t that bad, believe me. Just be content with the fact that you have the opportunity to go to a university. It will be okay, man!

"Hold on world, world hold on, it’s gonna be alright, you’re gonna see the light." - John Lennon

SHAREENA C. CLARK

2002-2003 CSUSB Scholarship Applications are now being accepted

Apply on-line at http://finaid.csusb.edu

DEADLINE: March 1, 2002

To be considered for need-based scholarships, you must complete the 2002-2003 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by February 10, 2002. Please submit completed autobiographical statement and letters of recommendation to the Financial Aid Office (UH-150), or call (909) 880-7399.
Le SEXXX Show

Now on exhibit in the student art gallery, Le SEXXX Show will be on display from February 7-17. Gallery hours are 11am-5pm Tuesday through Saturday.

From right, Homosexual Horseplay, Love's Altar, The One That Got Away, Symbol, My Love Glows for You, Imperfect and Hey Boy.

All art work shown are CSUSB student original works.

Photos courtesy of John J. Eddy
CONCERT CONNECTION

02/14 Yonder Mountain String Band
@ Hollywood Palladium
02/14 The Samples
@ House of Blues/Anaheim
02/15 Bad Religion
@ San Manuel
02/15 Micheal Franti & Spearhead
@ The Wiltern
02/15 SnoCore Iceball Ball
Featuring Karl Denson’s
Tiny Universe
@ The Wiltern
02/16 Air Supply
@ House of Blues/Anaheim
02/18 Indigo Girls
@ The Knitting Factory
02/21 Robert Walter’s 20th Congress/ Mofro
@ Knitting Factory
02/21 Flaw
@ The Palace
02/26 “The Concert for Artist Rights” Featuring Beck/ Eddie Vedder & Mike Ness
@ Wiltern Theatre
02/26 “The Concert for Artist Rights” Featuring Ozzy Osborne & Rob Zombie
@ The Los Angeles Sports Arena
02/28 Alicia Keys
@ Wiltern Theatre
03/04 Wu-Tang Clan
@ House of Blues/Anaheim
03/06 Mix Master Mike
@ The Palace
03/30 Bad Religion
@ The Grove of Anaheim

THE PROCESS OF BELIEF

by Krista Morris
Staff Writer

First off: if you have never heard of Bad Religion or can’t recall any of their songs, you’re obviously lost on that radio dial. Not that they have a lot of air time, like some other sellout bands that you see on TRL on MTV time, like some other sellout bands you recall any of their songs, you’re heard of Bad Religion or can’t

Highly intellectual group. You back that statement about their intellectual stamina by the

The Process of Belief is a refreshing change from the band’s last release, which featured a classic, fast-yet-smooth punk tempo. Aside from songs Broken and Materialist, this new LP is a solid display of how a complete work of music should be done. They have definitely mastered their form—20 years is a lot of practice—and the songs are tight, powerful anthems for thinking listeners worldwide.

I highly recommend this CD to anyone, whether you listen to bands, you can order as you go. The drink menu is presented to you

Currently consists of Jay Bentley on bass, vocalist Greg Gaffin, drummer Brooks Wackerman, Brian Baker, Brent Gurewitz and Greg Hetson on guitar (not all at once, of course).

Returning to their original label of Epitaph Records, their latest release The Process of Belief ranks as one the best albums this band has put out to date. With the freedom to make whatever sound they please—the opposite of the corporate labels that poison music in general—this LP ties together 20 years of Bad Religion’s famous catchy riffs and witty political spats.

Bad Religion started in Los Angeles in 1980 and has really not looked back. Considered as one of the “Grandfathers of Punk,” the band

Bad Religion’s newest album. Process of belief, now in stores.

Restaurant Row

by Melissa Adamson
A & E Editor

SEVILLA

Located: off University Ave, Riverside
Portions: Average
Price: Expensive
Service: Good
Taste: Good

Sevilla’s is an upscale authentic Spanish restaurant (meaning food from Spain). The building is beautiful, the tables are beautiful, even the food is beautiful. The downside is that the menu is very hard to read, and most of the dishes are extremely exotic. If you’re into lavish meals and have adventurous taste, Sevilla will be right up your alley. If you’re short on cash, go on a Friday or Saturday night, have some appetizers, (I recommend calamari) then head next door to Club Sevilla for a night of live Flamenco performances and Salsa dancing.

TU TU TANGO

Located: The Block in Orange
Portions: Average
Price: Average
Service: Good
Taste: Good

TuTu Tango is an artist paradise! The place is decked out in artwork, and food is served on paint pallets. Everything on the menu is an appetizer, which is great because you can order as you go. The drink menu is presented to you using children’s view finders and there are even paint brushes mixed in with silverware in a jar at the table. There are also live dance performances in the dining room, musical performances in the main lobby throughout the day shopping in the Block.

In the end, Sevilla TuTu Tango is casual yet nice, making it not only a great place to bring a first date, but also a nice way to end a long and tiring day shopping in the Block.
A romantic comedy about an English man and his mail-order bride (laughing already, aren’t you?)

IVAN: Talk about your false advertising. I mean, I read the ad in Stone’s Pot Palace, and now you’re telling me she was a Russian spy. How about that? I would never have bought it if I knew she was a Russian ho and not of the Russian variety.

MARCOS: My birthday wish...no one see this film. Instead, give me five dollars and I will personally act out a scene from the film and make it much more entertaining. Needless to say, I also fell into the trailer trap. I walked in expecting to see a thriller about a man’s wife who’s actually a Russian spy. Turns out she was a Russian ho and not of the gardening variety.

MARCOS: That’s a good one. I’ll admit the film was funny at times and I even liked the Russian rap playing in the background. (West Side Moscow Bratznatch! Big Ups to Lemin!) But, alas, Russian guys obsessed with Grac Tuatstern aren’t enough to make a good movie. I’m sure you’ll have more fun trying to fix the plot holes.

MARCOS: The only thing that I saw in this film was Nicole Kidman’s believable Russian accent. I don’t speak Russian but I believe she does. Charlie Chaplin would roll over in his grave if he saw Ben Chaplin, just for taking his good name.

IVAN: The film didn’t know whether it was a gross out comedy, dark comedy, funny comedy or anything comedy. It was pushing too many things at once and that is where the failure of the film lies.

MARCOS: At times, I didn’t know if I was watching the film or the film was watching me.

IVAN & MARCOS VOTE: unanimous Snootch

FIRST EVER SNOOTCH RATING! BUT WILL IT BE THE LAST? TUNE IN NEXT WEEK!

MOVIE NEWS WE STOLE FROM THE INTERNET!!

As much as we’d like to continue bashing Birthday Girl, we need to look at something else. But DAMN, did that movie suck.

Moving on... From filmforce.ign.com: “It looks like New Line won’t be keeping its Goldmember after all. When news of an intellectual property dispute with MGM broke earlier this week, it seemed that all might be resolved if New Line followed appropriate appeal procedures. But word comes today, via The Hollywood Reporter, that the MPAA has upheld its initial ruling which effectively forces New Line to ditch the Goldmember moniker all together.”

MARCOS: These darn Brits. Just because of something as religious as Bond to them, we Americans can not have fun.

IVAN: I gotta talk to Kamron at Cinema Star to get me one of them (now Collector’s Item) posters.

Disgrous? Lonely? Then e-mail Ivan & Marcos at coyometicket@hotmail.com (Special thanks to Kamron Myers and Cinema Star Luxury Theaters in San Bernardino for the tickets!

THE HAIR REFUGE
Specializing in all types of HAIR

1889 Kendall Dr. #3 San Bernardino, CA 92407

“TICKLE YOUR #1 [+] WITH A FEATHER...FUNNY!”

499.99

COMING DOWN THE HIGHWAY FEBRUARY 15TH.

Author Eve Ensler
Photo by Joan Marcus
The Coyote Chronicle wants to hear from you:

Give us your feedback:
Call us at (909) 880-5289,
E-mail us at sbchron@csusb.edu
or drop us a line at UH-037

ECONO LUBE N’ TUNE & BRAKES
15% OFF REGULAR PRICE
OF ANY SERVICE WITH I.D.

1685 W. KENDALL DR.
SAN BERNARDINO, CA 92407
909-880-6021

Come on down!!!
...to your Denny’s at
5975 North Palm Avenue
for a Grand Slam or French Slam breakfast
for only $4.19.
Save over $1.50.
Offer good only at this location and between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. Sunday–Thursday.
Not Valid Friday/Saturday Nights.

Vagina Monologues:
Sponsored by Women’s Studies Program &
Student Union Women’s Resource Center
Suggested donation: $5 students,
$10 general public, $25 sponsor
7pm
Student Union Events Center/Courtyard

New Student Orientation
Sponsored by;
Student Leadership & Development
7pm
Student Union University Room

The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation has granted your Student Health Center an award to offer FREE Mammograms to eligible Students. Call (909) 880-5241

C H R O N I C L E C L A S S I F I E D S

Attention Businesses:
If you would like to place a classified advertisement with the Coyote Chronicle, please contact Robin Larsen at (909) 880-5818 for prices and availability.

SAVE PANDAS... EARN MONEY... www.pandaproject.com

The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation has granted your Student Health Center an award to offer FREE Mammograms to eligible Students. Call (909) 880-5241
Letter to the Editor:

Eunice Warch, student, Inquires about the ‘Parking Situation’ and proposes the building of a Parking Garage

I was fascinated to read the story in the most recent COYOTE CHRONICLE about the building projects underway on our campus, and the planned student population of 25,000. In all this planning, not one word was mentioned about — dare I say it — additional parking for all those additional students? When will the powers that be realize we are out of parking space and soon? It is absolutely unconscionable for this university to have undergone the massive expansion it has with no thought given to additional parking! Yeah, it would mean cameras and security patrols; but hey, guys? Let’s get a grip here and get our priorities straight! I get here by 9:30 AM in order to secure a parking space before my NOON class. And I know I’m not the only one. The most magnificent buildings and the finest academic programs in the world are worthless, if the people cannot get to them for lack of parking spaces!

Anthony Club ALPACA Upcoming Events

Feb 13, Weds., 2:40 PM, Video Presentation CH 130 "Part of the Anthropologist’s Field Tool Kit" directed, produced, and presented by Stacy Thornton.

Mar 2, Sat, 9:30 AM, The Archaeological Survey Association of Southern California is putting on an event for a free field school, Last Year’s Results and This Year's Opportunities "It will be held in the auditorium of the San Bernardino County Museum, Orange Tree Lane, Redlands. Guest Speakers; Dr. Donn Grenda, Daniel McCarthy and Dr. Pete Robertson.

2002-03 CSUSB Scholarships

The Associated Students, Inc. provides scholarships to full-time students with a minimum GPA of 3.0 who are American. The most recent award was $1,200. The Arrowhead Credit Union annually provides over $5,000 in scholarships to students who are enrolled full-time as a senior majoring in a Social Science major from Public & Federal Affairs or Public Administration or the College of Social & Behavioral Sciences. One $1,000 scholarship will be awarded for students interested in international affairs.

The Associated Students Inc. provides 30 scholarships at $1,000 each to continuing students demonstrating academic ability, financial need, and community involvement.

The Barstow Alumni Scholarship is awarded to a CSUSB college junior, senior, or graduate student who is admitted to the credential program that leads to becoming an elementary school teacher. If at the graduate level, the student must have received a bachelor's degree at CSUSB. Preference will be given to students who live in the local mountain community, and who maintain a minimum 3.0 GPA. For more information, please contact Dr. Darlene Senter from the College of Education at (909) 880-8560.

The American, The most recent award was $300. The CSU Future Scholars Program annually awards thirty $1,000 scholarships to California students with disadvantaged backgrounds.

The CSU Alumni Association provides over $30,000 in scholarships to students with a minimum 3.0 GPA who is involved in student government, community service, or student activities.

The Anthony & Lois Evans Scholarship is awarded to a student with a minimum GPA of 3.5 who is involved in student performance activities such as music, theater art, or debate/forensics. The most recent award was $600.

The Ednah International Teachers for Tomorrow Scholarship provides three $5,000 scholarships to students enrolled full-time in a teacher preparatory program at a public university. The winners have a minimum 3.0 GPA, and who have financial need. For more information, please contact Dr. Darlene Senter from the College of Education at (909) 880-5600, or financial aid (909) 880-7399.

The Faculty & Staff Memorial Scholarship is awarded to a full-time student with at least 3.0 GPA, and has been out of high school at least 10 years, is a undergraduate student majoring in psychology, who is on financial need, and is enrolled in at least five quarter units at CSUSB. The most recent award was $700.

The Leslee H. Harris Scholarship provides scholarships to incoming freshmen from San Bernardino County school districts with outstanding academic records (minimum 3.5 GPA). The amount of each award is $1,200. Some awards may be renewed for an additional three years. No special application is required for renewal.

The Donald W. Jordan Memorial Scholarship is awarded to a student who is a undergraduate student majoring in psychology, has financial need, and is enrolled in a minimum of six quarter units at CSUSB.

The President’s Academic Scholarship provides a $700 scholarship to a student enrolled in at least 12 quarter units. The most recent award was $700.

The Role of the Financial Aid Office

The Financial Aid Office at CSUSB prepares and distributes the financial aid package for incoming and returning students. To apply simply visit our web site at www.csusb.edu/financialaid. Please be sure to apply by March 3, 2003. Listed below are the scholarships that are available. For more information about listings contact the Financial Aid Office at (909)880-7399.

Do you have something to say? Do you have an opinion related to this University? Do you like to write? Send your letters to the Editor. Keep them under 500 words, and be sure to add your name and social security number (to verify you are a student), and email them to the editor at administrator@csusb.edu.

We at the Coyote Chronicle cherish and respect the freedom of speech. Become informed, know your rights.

Letter to the Editor:

Asian American Student Union

The Asian American Student Union meetings are held every Tuesday in the Student Union, room 144, call (909) 880-5932 or email asi-mny@csusb.edu for more information.

University Hall, UH037
5500 University Parkway
San Bernardino, CA 92407
Fax: 880-7009
E-mail: sbchron@mail.csusb.edu
Check out the Chronicle online: http://acmfiles.csusb.edu/comm/Chronicle/index2.html

Executive Editor

John J. Eddy
Managing Editor

Matthew Schoenman
News Editor

Matthew Taylor
Asst. News Editor

Shareena C. Clark
The Scene Editor

Sussie Median
Multi-Cultural Editor

Jake Zylman
Asst. Multi-Cultural Editor

Bethany Anderson
A & E Editor

Melissa Adamson
Sports Editor

John Halco
Asst. Sports Editor

Kermit Boyd
Copy Editor

Shane M. Vanderlinn
Design/Layout Editor

John J. Eddy & Matthew Schoenman
Online Editor

John J. Eddy
Advertising Manager

Timothy J. B. Taylor
Distribution Manager

Mevin B. Lee
Faculty Advisor

Robin Larsen
Graduate Assistant

John Emig
Business Manager

Open
NEW 2002  CHRYSLER PT CRUISERS!

$13,990*

MSRP  $16,195
SHAPER DISC  -$2,205
SALE PRICE  $13,990
NET COST  - $13,990

1 at this price.
(VIN 719373)

Over 100 In Stock Ready For Immediate Delivery

NEW 2002  JEEP WRANGLER 4X4

$12,990*

MSRP  $15,815
SHAPER DISC  -$2,820
SALE PRICE  $13,490
NET COST  - $13,490

1 at this price.
(VIN 719373)

NEW 2002  CHRYSLER VOYAGER

$13,990*

MSRP  $19,795
SHAPER DISC  -$5,800
SALE PRICE  $13,990
NET COST  - $13,990

1 at this price.
(VIN 552604)

7 Pass, Auto, Air, AM/FM Cass. & More!

NEW 2002  CHRYSLER SEBRING LX

$13,990*

MSRP  $19,795
SHAPER DISC  -$5,800
SALE PRICE  $13,990
NET COST  - $13,990

1 at this price.
(VIN 164722)

Auto, Air, AM/FM Cass. & More!

NEW 2002  JEEP LIBERTY 4X4

$19,990*

MSRP  $23,770
SHAPER DISC  -$3,770
SALE PRICE  $19,990
NET COST  - $19,990

1 at this price.
(VIN 211172)

Auto, Air, P/S, Alloys, P/W, Loaded!

Over $1 MILLION INVENTORY OF GOOD, CLEAN USED VEHICLES! 7 Year 100,000* Mile Powertrain Protection

7 Year-100,000* Mile Powertrain Protection on all new 2001 and 2002 vehicles. Seedealer for details of this limited warranty. Not transferable, a distinction applies.

FREE!

SHAPER AUTO CENTER 770 Showcase Dr., San Bernardino
909.889.9911 or 1.888.245.2778
www.shaverautocenter.com

SHAPER AUTO CENTER

- 3 Day/100 Mile Return Policy
- Low Finance Rates
- Factory Certified Pre-Owned
- Detailing Packages
- Fully Insured Inventory
- 7 Year-100,000 Mile Powertrain Protection
- OIL CHANGE for LIFE!
February 11, 2002

Associated Students, Incorporated

Students Protect CSU Budget

Associated Students, Inc. (ASI) has forwarded more than 1,300 student-signed letters to the offices of Senators Bob Duffield, urging him to spare the California State University (CSU) budget from any cutbacks.

Gov. Davis last year ordered state agencies to prepare for budget cuts that range from 5 to 15 percent. The governor's first budget proposal, released in mid-January, included targeted cutbacks to the 23-campus CSU system.

As the final budget approaches the June deadline, additional CSU systemwide cutbacks are likely.

The governor's proposed general budget currently is in the hands of state lawmakers, who are mulling it in committee. A final bill of the budget proposal will be finalized in spring.

In the meantime, ASI will move into the second phase of its campaign to save the CSU budget, with another letter-writing drive aimed at assembly members and state senators.

"The campaign's focus is to prevent negative effects from cutbacks. "Any cutbacks will, no doubt, hinder growth and affect the quality of education," said Luis Portillo, ASI student-president. "Our objective is to protect the quality of education and ensure that no student is denied access to higher education because of a lack of resources.

Particularly of concern to students are the potential layoffs in adjunct faculty, a reduction in class offerings, cancelled student programs, and tuition hikes as a result of budget reductions. ASI encourages widespread student participation in the adoption of proactive action. For more information, call (909) 880-5952.

Legal Clinic Unveils Logo

A winner has been announced in ASI's College Legal Clinic logo design contest, held in the fall. Congratulations to Jay Merry-weathers, whose sketch reflected a "legal" standing firm before the scales of justice and a book of laws.

ASI and the College Legal Clinic thank all participants of the logo design contest.

Legal Questions

If so, the College Legal Clinic invites you to Attorney Night.

- Consult with a practicing attorney
- Receive an attorney referral
- Choose from 10 attorneys
- Free service to all students
- Faculty and staff pay a nominal $15 fee
- We are located in SU-144A

For more information, call (909) 880-5936 or email us at asicfcv@usc.edu

-Tingi from page 4

always ... REFILL THE WATER!

Oh, and never put your fingers when a customer might put their lips, unless of course, that's the job.

This writer has worked in many tipsing positions, from grocery bagger to waiter to chauffeur, and would never had been able to survive without those day to day to day... cash? Come Valentines Day, give someone you love a special something.

-Diamonds Cont. from page 8

ideas concerning the diamond and what it has come to represent.

Does the diamond represent love, devotion, or sacrifice, or is it simply a consumerist display of wealth, or a sign of aspirational conspicuous consumption based solely on the enculturated ideals of our capitalist society? Importantly, this argument should hold a drop of water in the face of your girlfriend when visions of diamond rings dance in her head? It's worth a shot. Low on cash? Come Valentines Day, give her a box of Twinkies wrapped in this article. Chances are you'll end up spending that two months salary in two hours.

-V-Day Continued from page 12

as they expand their work to stop rape, battery, incest, female genital mutilation and sexual slavery. The Cal State play's proceeds will go to the San Bernardino Sexual Assault Services, Options House, and the Revolutionary Association of Women in Afghanistan.

As one critic says of "The Vagina Monologues," "Theatrical violence has given voice to a chorus of lusty, outrageous, poignant, brave, highly original and thoroughly human stories. Having seen The Vagina Monologues, no one - woman or man - will ever look at the world the same way again."

Tickets are $10 for the general public and $5 for students with I.D.'s. Performances take place at the Student Union Events Center at CSUSB.

---

Paid Advertiser

2002 ASI Advertorial

Students Protect CSU Budget

February 11, 2002

The Chronicle 16

~Protest Continued from page 2

and CSU administration will vote in spring this year.

"We don't want a strike but we have no choice but to begin preparations both for a strike and for other forms of job action," said Meisenhelder.

However grim the idea of a strike sounds to students, Meisenhelder defends her resolution as beneficial to today's students and the future generations of Californians who plan on a CSU education. "Our plan is to keep students with us and not have to hire anyone more than has already been done," said Meisenhelder.

In the future, Gholston plans on opening her own publishing company, named Teca Gram, which is her named spelled backwards. Her company will incorporate all different types of writing, but personally she enjoys writing fictional stories for children and young adults. "I want to take over the world through publishing," she says. "I want to be known as the Disney of Publishing." Lastly she says she would like to send her love to everyone in the theater department. Without their support none of this would be possible.

-Lonely Continued from page 5

should let the lack of that desired fulfillment run the day. On the contrary, why not celebrate personal independence? The United States, Mexico, France, O.J. Simpson and Hugh Hefner all celebrate their independence, why shouldn't the lonely hearts?

Identity Continued from Page 7

answer... it doesn't matter. The real question is, "who are you?" and no little box can tell you that. The fact is there is no objective way to classify specific ethnicities into general categories, and any statistics based on this subjectivity are unreliable statistics. So, maybe the next time you are confronted by these little boxes, instead of trying to fit yourself into one, just leave it blank.

One of the most beautiful aspects of this country is the fact that so many different people share the same principles of equality and freedom. Of those freedoms is choosing not to put yourself into a little box.

Diamonds Cont. from page 8

No MSG. Added

For Menu is available all day.

NO MSG. ADDED

University Press

Dr. #K.l

(909) 887-7644

Dr. #K.l

-LEGAL-ADVERTS

Admission is free, but seating is limited.

Famed attorney Lee Rittenburg will share the secrets to successfully fighting traffic tickets March 12 at 12 noon in Event Center A. Admission is free, but seating is limited.

In 1992 Rittenburg founded Traffic Defenders, Inc., after achieving a court victory defending himself in a speeding ticket case. He contested that the calibration certificates of the radar equipment, according to an article in The Sun.

The San Bernardino resident claims to know the California vehicle and evidence code inside-out, which he takes to court.

Rittenburg's clients call on him to defend them against driving under the influence, driving with a suspended license, and to represent them at DMV hearings.

February 11, 2002

The Coyote Chronicle
Player Profiles
James Taylor Speaks About Four-year Career

By Danny B. Homaidan
Sports Writer

James Taylor is the Coyotes dominant low post presence, standing at 6-foot-5 inches tall, while tipping the scales at an imposing 225 pounds.

Taylor has worked on improving his consistency from the foul line and has been much improved. In the last two games, Taylor has shot 7-8 and 8-10 from the free throw line.

"I'm happy with my improvement from the foul line," said Taylor. "I've worked hard to improve my consistency and I think I'm doing a better job now."
By John D. Halcon

A Force on the Mound

Coyses Use a Swayden Bat to Trounce Past Aggies

By Kermit R. Boyd

Coyote Scoreboard

Fish and Game Environmental Scientist EXAM

Baseball Schedule

Softball Schedule

---

Game: Strong Pitching Performance Produces Sweep

In the second contest, the Coyotes never recovered from Dawn Onishi’s pitching gem. The sophomore fired a shutout, allowing four hits en route to a complete game. Chico’s Erin McCallus took the pitching loss as the ‘Yotes received a two-run home run by Schioppi after firing the offensive attack that generated six runs on nine hits against the Wildcats.

---

Coyote Scoreboard

---

Fish and Game Environmental Scientist EXAM

Exam requirements: A bachelor’s degree with a major in a biological, chemical, physical, or environmental science, or a closely related scientific discipline. (Admission to a masters or doctoral degree program in a biological, chemical, physical, or environmental science, or a closely related scientific discipline shall be a prerequisite.) For complete requirements, see www.dfg.ca.gov/pages/environmental-scientist-exam.html

Mail the application to: Department of Fish and Game, Attention: Exam Unit, P.O. Box 944229, Sacramento, CA 94244-2290. You MUST include a State of California Application (form 478) which can be downloaded from the State Personnel Board website at www.sps.ca.gov.

For more information, please contact Human Resources at (916) 653-8120.
Veteran Excelling on the Basketball Court

By Danny Homaidan
Sports Writer

Fourth-year Coyote wingman Glenn Summerall is an integral part of the Coyotes' success. He leads the team with a total of 264 points and a 13.9 points per game average.

On December 22, Summerall collected a season-high 25 points along with seven rebounds to catapult the Coyotes to victory over Point Loma Nazarene.

Summerall is a second-year player for the Coyotes, who has seen his playing minutes increase to 26 per game, and an assist-to-turnover ratio of plus one.

After playing at the University of San Francisco for two years, Summerall transferred and joined the Coyotes.

The move to Cal State San Bernardino allows Summerall to play basketball closer to his hometown of Fontana.

He is enjoying the Coyotes spectacular run this season, as the No. 1 team in the Division II Western Region.

In addition, he believes the team will continue to win, however, the squad will have to continue its exceptional teamwork and hard play throughout the season.

"My role is to play defense, score when I have an opportunity, and rebound," said Summerall. "From now on, I'm just going to start doing what Coach Reynolds asks."

After the Coyotes basketball season is over, Summerall plans to graduate with a degree in sociology to build a worthwhile career as either a youth counselor or juvenile probation officer.

"I want to try to work with some inner-city youth, somebody I can relate to," stated Summerall.

Furthermore, he wants to continue playing basketball and make it an important part of his life. "Basketball is something I always want to do, that's why I started playing when I was in high school, my ninth grade year," said Summerall. "If the opportunity presents itself, yeah, I'm going to still play."

Danny Homaidan is a sports writer for the Coyote Chronicle. He can be reached at yamoonqu@csusb.edu.

Coyote Men Retain Proper Spot: At the Top of the Nation

Robert Whitehead/CSUSB

By CSUSB Wire Report

Cal State San Bernardino men's basketball team maintained its No. 1 spot in the NCAA Division II West Region poll released Wednesday, February 6.

The Coyotes will have six remaining games for the year before the NCAA Regional Tournament kicks off on March 2.

The Region top rankings include No. 3 Cal State Bakersfield, a team ranked No. 5 in the West Region and No. 22 in the nation, 62-60 on February 2 at Coscoolins Arena.

However, the Roadrunners dropped a close contest against Cal Poly Pomona, a team which the Coyotes have beaten twice, a day after playing the Coyotes.

The Region top rankings include No. 3 Cal State Bakersfield, Montana Billings, BYU Hawaii, Hawaii-Hilo, Cal Poly Pomona, Western Washington and No. 10 Hawaii Pacific.

The Coyotes will have six remaining games for the year before the NCAA Regional Tournament begins on March 2, 2002.

In the next following week, the NCAA Elite Eight Championship will take place at Evansville, Indiana.

Cal State San Bernardino has won the Regional tournament, but has never captured the NCAA Elite Eight title.

The Coyotes will finish the regular season in a two-game road trip at Sonoma State on March 1, then facing Sonoma State on March 2 for the conclusion.

Women's Basketball

By CSUSB Wire Report

Feb. 15 — UC Davis, 7:30 p.m.
Feb. 16 — Chico St., 7:30 p.m.
Feb. 22 — UC San Diego, 7:30 p.m.
Feb. 23 — Grand Canyon, 7:30 p.m.
March 1 — at SF State, 8 p.m.
March 2 — at Sonoma St., 7:30 p.m.
March 7-9 — NCAA Regional March 20-23 — Elite Eight
Coach Reaches Triple-digit Victories

By Kermit R. Boyd
Assistant Sports Editor

Five years and 103 wins: that’s miracle-maker Larry Reynolds’ legacy.

Coach Reynolds enters his fifth season at the helm of the Coyotes and his 20th coaching season in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. Currently, he has 103 wins and only 34 losses, and hopes to continue his success here at CSUSB.

“I think we are in the early stages of developing a program that will hopefully be recognized nationally at the Division II level for a very long time,” he says.

After a 12-15 season in his first year, Reynolds and his staff turned an ordinary program into an outstanding one that has reaped three winning seasons and is working on a fourth.

In 1998-1999 Reynolds’ Coyotes posted a record of 23-8 overall, while taking third place in CCAA conference play. In the same year he led the Coyotes to a championship in the NCAA II West Regional. He then coached the squad to an appearance in the NCAA Division II Elite 8, but unfortunately the team lost to Florida Southern.

That year Reynolds was named coach of the year in the NCAA Div. II and the CCAA.

The 1999-2000 season slightly mirrored his previous campaign, as the team went 23-6 overall, with the Coyotes’ winning their first CCAA conference championship with a 18-4 record. The team went on their second straight trip to the NCAA West Regional, where they were defeated in the semifinals.

For a second straight year Reynolds was fortunate enough to be named coach of the year in the CCAA.

Reynolds’ team won a second straight CCAA championship in the 2000-2001 season, and the team improved by one game in its overall and conference records that year. Reynolds coached his team to a third appearance at the West Regional finals but they lost in the semi-finals.

Reynolds was again named CCAA Coach of the Year for an unprecedented third straight year.

How has Coach Reynolds been able to reach a milestone of this magnitude so early in his head coaching career?

For a start, he gained a plethora of basketball knowledge while playing and coaching at the University of Riverside and coaching at the University of San Francisco. At UCR he learned how to be successful on the basketball court. His playing at UC Riverside taught Reynolds the team aspect of basketball rather than the superclass philosophy that blights several Division I schools.

“It’s a team game, it’s team oriented,” Reynolds says. “There’s not one guy that makes the whole team. The game is about defending, and playing good fundamental basketball, as well as teaching the game rather than having a couple of stars play.”

When Reynolds assisted at USF in 1995 and 1996, the biggest standout for him was the importance of playing hard-nosed defense and attacking teams aggressively.

He has undoubtedly imparted the philosophies and principles he gleaned from UCR and USF to his CSUSB basketball system. How well he can take them to the next level of his CSUSB experience for his unerring recruiting strategy and his building of a team with exceptional depth, where eight or more athletes seeing considerable playing minutes night in and night out. Reynolds has also infused his CSUSB athletics with his team principles and philosophy that allow them to arrive and shine as a group. He emphasizes the idea of the “we” versus the “I theory,” which allows his teams to flourish impressively.

Another of his traits is his ability to recruit exceptional players who are willing to buy into the philosophy of a team sport. Reynolds has been fortunate enough to land Division I transfers who have played significant roles in his team’s successes.

Reynolds current campaign is looking to be memorable; the team is 18-1 overall and 12-1 in CCAA play. The pre-season coaches poll picked CSUSB to win the CCAA conference. Reynolds and the “Yotes are expecting nothing less than a CCAA championship and an appearance in the NCAA II West Regional.”

Currently the Coyotes are ranked No. 4 in the nation and No. 1 in the West Region. Reynolds’ Yotes were riding a two-week No. 1 nation ranking, a 17 game winning streak, and a 22 home game winning streak before going to an impressive and very talented Cal State Bakersfield team.

Reynolds predicts “nothing but good things for this program, as far as being competitive in the CCAA conference, being a factor in the West Regional, and being on the national level, and I think that this school has an opportunity to do incredibly well in all three of these categories.”

Kermit R. Boyd is Assistant Sports Editor for the Coyote Chronicle. He can be reached at Kermitbor16@aol.com.

---

Men’s and Women’s Basketball Weekend Roundup

By Danny B. Homaidan
Sports Writer

The clock was ticking and with only 21 seconds left in the contest, Coyote forward Leroy Mayo pulled down the board to seal the fate of the Cal State Dominguez Hills Toros. Mayo’s crucial rebound and added to his team leading 20 points on 7-17 shooting gave Cal State San Bernardino a 33-28 cushion to finish the half.

Records — Coyotes (15-1, 20-1), Toros (7-9, 8-13).

Attendance — 521

---

Men’s Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Coyotes</th>
<th>65</th>
<th>Toros</th>
<th>57</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Saturday, Feb. 9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cal St. San Bernardino</td>
<td>33</td>
<td>32</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cal St. Dominguez Hills</td>
<td>28</td>
<td>29</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coyotes (65) — T. Taylor 6, Summerall 10, Ray 10, Burries 12, Mayo 9, Knight 3, Edwards 8, Bennett 6, Soobzokov 2.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Toros (57) — Rambacal 13, Perkins 12, Tucker 10, Tease 8, Lewis 4, Mendez 4, Askew 2, Norton 2.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burries 3, Lawrence 3, Enquist 2.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attendance — 521</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Women’s Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Coyotes</th>
<th>54</th>
<th>Toros</th>
<th>55</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Saturday, Feb. 9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cal St. San Bernardino</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>29</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cal St. Dominguez Hills</td>
<td>28</td>
<td>27</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coyotes (54) — Rambacal 13, Perkins 12, Tucker 10, Tease 8, Lewis 4, Mendez 4, Askew 2, Norton 2.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Toros (55) — Brown 15, Knight 22, Tucker 6, Tease 8, Lewis 4, Mendez 4, Askew 2, Norton 2.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rambacal 13, Perkins 12, Tucker 10, Tease 8.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Records — Coyotes (6-10, 10-11), Toros (4-12, 6-14).</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attendance — 30</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

The Coyote Chronicle
February 11, 2002

---

Milestone Moment

By Kermit R. Boyd
Assistant Sports Editor

Robert Whitehead/CSUSB Photo

A KEEPER — Head coach Larry Reynolds reached the 100-win plateau in his fifth season with the men’s Coyote basketball program.

The Coyote players came out strong in the second half, grabbing a 44-32 advantage at 14:52. Yet, the scrappy Toros kept clawing back by tightening the gap to four on a nineteen foot pull up jumper by senior point guard Jacob Poole. Poole’s hoop with 1:50 remaining in the last quarter provided him a game high 20 points. But, it was not enough as the gritty Coyote forwards and guards helped the team surge to get a much needed road victory.

In other action Saturday night, the Cal State San Bernardino Women’s Basketball team was narrowly defeated by Cal State Dominguez Hills 55-54. The loss ran the Lady Coyotes season record to (10-11) overall and (6-10) in CCAA Conference standings. While, the Lady Toros saw their record improve by one game in their overall and conference records that year. Reynolds coached his team to a third appearance at the West Regional finals but they lost in the semi-finals.

Reynolds was again named CCAA Coach of the Year for an unprecedented third straight year.

How has Coach Reynolds been able to reach a milestone of this magnitude so early in his head coaching career?

For a start, he gained a plethora of basketball knowledge while playing and coaching at the University of Riverside and coaching at the University of San Francisco. At UCR he learned how to be successful on the basketball court. His playing at UC Riverside taught Reynolds the team aspect of basketball rather than the superclass philosophy that blights several Division I schools.

“It’s a team game, it’s team oriented,” Reynolds says. “There’s not one guy that makes the whole team. The game is about defending, and playing good fundamental basketball, as well as teaching the game rather than having a couple of stars play.”

When Reynolds assisted at USF in 1995 and 1996, the biggest standout for him was the importance of playing hard-nosed defense and attacking teams aggressively.

He has undoubtedly imparted the philosophies and principles he gleaned from UCR and USF to his CSUSB basketball system. How well he can take them to the next level of his CSUSB experience for his unerring recruiting strategy and his building of a team with exceptional depth, where eight or more athletes seeing considerable playing minutes night in and night out.

Reynolds has also infused his CSUSB athletics with his team principles and philosophy that allow them to arrive and shine as a group. He emphasizes the idea of the “we” versus the “I theory,” which allows his teams to flourish impressively.

Another of his traits is his ability to recruit exceptional players who are willing to buy into the philosophy of a team sport. Reynolds has been fortunate enough to land Division I transfers who have played significant roles in his team’s successes.

Reynolds current campaign is looking to be memorable; the team is 18-1 overall and 12-1 in CCAA play. The pre-season coaches poll picked CSUSB to win the CCAA conference. Reynolds and the “Yotes are expecting nothing less than a CCAA championship and an appearance in the NCAA II West Regional.”

Currently the Coyotes are ranked No. 4 in the nation and No. 1 in the West Region. Reynolds’ Yotes were riding a two-week No. 1 nation ranking, a 17 game winning streak, and a 22 home game winning streak before going to an impressive and very talented Cal State Bakersfield team.

Reynolds predicts “nothing but good things for this program, as far as being competitive in the CCAA conference, being a factor in the West Regional, and being on the national level, and I think that this school has an opportunity to do incredibly well in all three of these categories.”

Kermit R. Boyd is Assistant Sports Editor for the Coyote Chronicle. He can be reached at Kermitbor16@aol.com.