THE NOON HOUR SERIES PRESENTS CONGO CONQUEST

The Lecture and Public Affairs Committee is presenting John M. Goddard, internationally known explorer, this Tuesday, February 14, in C 116 at 11:30 and again at 12:30.

Mr. Goddard's explorations have taken him through some 90 countries and over 500,000 land, sea, and air miles, equivalent to 20 times around the world.

He first gained international recognition with his expedition down the 4,000 mile length of the Nile River. This expedition has been compared to feats such as the Mt. Everest conquest and the epic Kon-Tiki.

Goddard also conducted the first exploration of the entire 2700 mile Congo River. He brings to SB State his spell-binding documentary which details the incredible experiences of the exploration of the world's second largest water course — the mighty, long Congo.

Goddard will also present a penetrating analysis of the Congo as a new nation.

PENMAN FINDS HOLES IN ASB CONSTITUTION

Jim Penman, ASB Judicial Representative announced that a study of the ASB Constitution reveals that there are no provisions for impeachment, referendum, or recall.

As the situation exists, it would be impossible to remove a person from an ASB office for any reason," Penman said. "This is totally out of accord with the principles of democratic government."

A proposal to correct these deficiencies will be presented to the ASB Senate within three weeks.

Spring and Summer Loans Available

Applications for spring quarter National Defense loans should be submitted by March 1, according to Doyle J. Stansel, director of Placement and Financial Aid. Students who wish to apply for assistance to attend the Summer session are requested by Mr. Stansel to complete the application forms after the beginning of the spring quarter but before the June 1 deadline. Additional information and application blanks are available at the Placement and Financial Aid Center, A-148.

regardless of the outcome of the tuition proposal and we feel that we must proceed with planning on that basis.

However, I hasten to add that I have been informed by members of a special committee of the Board of Trustees that the committee intends to press the State Legislature for our full budget request of $213 million, less any economies that we are able to make by the postponement of some new programs and the improvement of some present ones, as well as by any other means. PROS AND CONS AIRED AT FORUM

The College Reading Program Committee gave faculty and students alike the chance to air their grievances and support of the College Reading Program last Thursday on campus.

"We have come here neither to bury the reading program nor to praise it, but to discuss it." With these words, Dr. Bruce Golden opened the formal discussion by the program's proponents and antagonists.

Golden stated that the program was initiated to encourage independent reading and study. He emphasized the point that the program was initiated with the idea of providing a common experience for all students, regardless of major.

Dr. Peter T. Marcy, assistant professor of history and a former member of the committee continued the discussion. He said that the reading program provides a cohesive force on campus which should bind people to intellectual activity. "The program," said Marcy, "encourages interest in different types of books. It creates future habits and future intellectual vigor."

Marcy also stated that the program encourages discussion of contemporary problems, and therefore promotes intellectual responsibility.

PAWPRINT editor Ed Sheeran and ASB vice-president Bob Schwirzke presented the critical view of the reading program. Sheeran suggested that the program had failed to develop student interest (cont. p. 4, col. 1)

A RESPONSE TO REAGAN'S BUDGET

GLENN S. DUMKE
CHANCELLOR, CALIF. STATE COLLEGES

Governor Reagan's budget proposes a support appropriation of $154 million for the California State Colleges, a cut of about 12% from the current year or 28% from the $213 million we have requested to accommodate and additional 17,000 students.

With the $18 million proposed additional revenue from a tuition charge, the total budget figure would rise to $172 million which is about what we anticipated three weeks ago when we temporarily suspended admissions for the summer and fall terms and set a ceiling on the number of professors we would hire.

We have been informed by the new state administration that the full $172 million will be provided re-

To the Editor of The PAWPRINT

The day after the election the Golden Giant rolled his eyes, smacked his lips, and patted his belly, safe in the knowledge that the Great White Father would save the State.

So what's the gripe about the tuition proposal? He said that he was going to do it. I heard him, didn't you?

To the Editor of The PAWPRINT

Lest we inadvertently cause irreparable damage to the traditionally fragile masculine ego, we, as females, wish to do our share in assuring you males of your continued security.

Although we turned the tables on you at the Backwards Dance, it was certainly not a malicious trick.

We always enjoy waiting to be asked to various functions. We relish being told what to wear, when to be ready, and what to order for dinner.

For your convenience, we are gladly identifying ourselves with large red ♀ signs, and will make a genuine effort to learn how to open our own doors, light our own cigarettes, and lace our own ski boots. And to lessen further damage to the male ego, we will first gladly help in any campaigns (since statistics show our endurance level is significantly higher as regards humiliation, subordination, and submission). Second, we will make a concerted effort to carefully hide any talents we may have received.

Of course apologizing in advance for the lack of understanding, patience, and beauty which may be seen on this campus, we remain females nonetheless.

The PAWPRINT prints letters to the editor to afford students and faculty the opportunity to voice their opinions in the campus newspaper.

There are no limitations on subject and content, but in order to print as many letters as possible, there is a limit of 200 words per letter. All letters become the property of The PAWPRINT and cannot be returned.

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

America is still an aristocratic country where the wealthy buy their education. Governor Reagan is trying to protect only the interests of the wealthy who are screaming against property taxes. It will be the middle income students who will suffer from his tuition proposal. This uncompromising statement was made recently by Senior of the Week Mark Poppet.

A History and pre-law major, Mark has some very definite opinions concerning government, both on the student and national levels. He admires the ideals expressed in The Federalist, and has molded many of his own ideas along the same line. A believer in equal opportunity, he comments that "Efficiency is not a substitute for justice."

Mark entered Cal State San Bernardino in the Fall Quarter, 1965, as a graduate of Pacific High School and San Bernardino Valley College. He is past president of Theta Mu Omega, the men's service club, is now president of the Inter Club Council, and also an ex officio member of the Executive Cabinet. Formerly a Psychiatric Technician at Patton State Hospital, Mark presently works at CSCSB as a library clerk.

One of Mark's favorite pre-requisites for good government is a system of checks and balances. Checks and balances are necessary to break up the power structure, so that no one branch of government has complete power over a single action. Only through this type of government can the rights of the individual be assured along with the rights of the whole. Mark feels that the same system of checks and balances which are imposed on national government should be instituted into a student government.

Another observation made by Mark is that the American character is on a decline in a certain respect. Because of the Selective Service laws and the amount of time necessary to get a good education, men are tied throughout their youth. Only after the age of thirty can they begin to build their own lives. And at that late age, the only thing they can strive for is security. Too much youth is wasted.

ROSIE McCLURE

The women's service club, the Theta Psi Omega, has done it again! As if serving the school in every possible way was not enough, they have now focused their attention and energy to the Vietnam War. How, you ask, is this small but active group of women able to help beat the Cong? By sending our men some of their high-protein, muscle-building cookies, that is how. Follow their cue, bet on the Stamp out Charlie bandwagon, and bake some cookies, too. The cookies should be brought to room L 147, February 9, at 8:30 in the morning.

THETA MU OMEGA ELECTS OFFICERS

New officers were elected at the last meeting of Theta Mu Omega, a men's service organization.

Stephen Kelly was elected president along with Ernie Ciabattini, vice president, Craig Juarez, treasurer, Mickey Brown, secretary, and John Gay, Sergeant at Arms.

Club members will serve as escorts and ushers for the Miss Orange Show contest.

(POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT)

The College Library has now added the twenty-six volume set of Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. The call number is E-842.9-A54.

Perhaps in the furor of the moment, observers and commentators on the Berkeley situation tend to overlook one aspect. This is the students demand for representation on university committees which formulate policy at the institution. A gross and audacious demand? Well, Cal State San Bernardino has had such student representation on faculty committees for a year now. And without one sit in.

In an area of student representation often overlooked, the committees function quietly and efficiently behind the scenes. One of these is the Student Affairs Committee (with students Carmen Molina, Bruce Clapper, Pat Sheeran, and Mary Whitby). Based on the proposition that faculty and students are basically rational--even when working together, the Student Affairs Committee initiates and forms policy which apply to student action and conduct. This year, the committee has ruled on whether campus dress regulations should be enforced, the Publications Code (which sets up the Publications Board who then preside over actions of all student publications and future broadcasting).

The Cafeteria Bookstore Committee, composed of students Mark Mollet and Richard Bennecke, recently met with the Harding Williams Company, the Cafeteria operators. They discussed and compared prices to other colleges in the area. The result has been not only a reduction in actual prices, but an addition of items available to the student.

The College Reading Committee is the group in which the faculty members and students Rene Carrillo and Peter Shapiro discuss the operational matters of the program, the books to be read, and what can be done to improve the program. The recent forum on the College Reading Program was an example of the committee's desire to seek the students' views through discussion.

The Committee on Lectures and Public Affairs, composed in part by students Laurel Callahan, Bill Cunningham, Carl Hellman, and David Guttman, decides and plans the various programs in the Noon Series. These have included Drs. J. Thomas Ungerleider and Duke Fisher on LSD, soprano Marie Gibson, and anthropologist Dr. Lowell Holmes.

There are two committees in the planning the Safety Committee, and the Union Committee. The latter, composed mostly of students, will manage the operations of the future Student Union. In addition, there are plans to include a student member on the College Foundation, which can be likened to the Board of Trustees.

Students are urged to contact committee members concerning subjects they are interested in or concerning matters on which they may better represent you. Communication is the essence of student government on campus. In comparison with the multiversity at Berkeley, our student faculty relations are decidedly closer. With the initiation of student faculty committees at this early stage in the college's growth, we can be assured that inter group relations will remain closer.

LLU DENTAL STUDENTS PRESENT SKI FILM

The Warren Miller spectacular 'Ski on the Wild Side,' will be presented Saturday, February 18, at the Riverside City College Landis Auditorium starting at 7:30 pm.

Tickets are $1.00 per person and are available at the ASB office or the Dean of Students Office. Proceeds go to the Loma Linda University Dental Students Association.

Sheeran criticized the mechanical aspects of the program by noting such faults as indefinite test dates and insufficient advertisement of book discussions.

Schwirzke presented the view that the program was failing to accomplish its goals. He said that campus discussion was lacking and he was critical of the scheduling of the discussion groups.

Students, faculty, and committee members offered suggestions for a number of improvements that might be instituted. Sheeran suggested that the selection of books be improved. Mr. Arthur Nelson, college librarian, mentioned that student suggestions for a particular book be collected. Suggestions from the audience called for more student activity on the committee and for improvement in the testing procedure.

MICHELE MAGNUS

However, unless the governor's figure of $172 million is increased in the coming months, the prospect now is that, in order to maintain our present level of educational quality, we reluctantly will have to ask some 20,000 students to seek their education elsewhere.

This estimate assumes a total student body of 169,000, some 3,000 below the current enrollment at our 18 campuses and 20,000 under our formerly anticipated enrollment of 189,000 next year.

However, whether we will be able to educate even as many as 169,000 students next year will depend to a great extent on our ability to recruit a sufficient number of competent faculty members.

As a result of the governor's budget presentation, we are taking action toward relaxing our suspension of admissions by the end of this month proportionate to the level of state support. In this regard, we are asking the president of each State College to estimate the total number of students his college will be able to accept under the amount provided in the governor's budget and to prepare priorities for the order of acceptance of new students. In these preparations, we have advised the presidents that every effort should be made to fulfill our obligation to accept junior college transfers ahead of entering freshmen where the educational balance of the institution will not be adversely affected.

It should be emphasized that the State Colleges will strive to take every possible qualified student while protecting the quality of our academic programs. Along this line, we have scheduled a meeting February 22 with the State Department of Finance to present our arguments for a workload budget of at least $191 million which we feel is the minimum amount at which we could promise to accept every qualified student and still maintain our education quality at or near the present level.

The State Colleges fully recognize the financial problems of the State and will continue to cooperate in the fullest toward their solution. We will make every effort to effect further economies, but I must caution that the achievement of substantial savings appears extremely unlikely in view of the already limited level of support.
