CSUSB Celebrates Armed Forces Day in a Big Way

President Harry S. Truman led the effort to establish a single holiday for citizens to come together and thank our military members for their patriotic service in support of our country. On Aug. 31, 1949, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson announced the creation of an Armed Forces Day to replace separate Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force days. The single day celebration stemmed from the unification of the Armed Forces under the Department of Defense.

This year, CSUSB will celebrate Armed Forces Day on May 17, 2013, from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. All branches of the service will have military displays, equipment, vehicles and giveaways.

This will also mark the second year that CSUSB will participate in the Tie a Yellow Ribbon Campaign. For a long time ribbons have been displayed as a symbol of remembrance for those who are serving in places far from home. In honor of Armed Forces day, yellow ribbons will be displayed on the trees throughout the CSUSB campus to remind us of the California soldiers, marines, sailors and airmen that are currently deployed and although, they have left us and have been sent to places far way, we will think of them and wait for them until they return home.

CSUSB Army Veteran David Briggs Receives Prestigious Award

On April 24, 2013, David Briggs, U.S. Army veteran and CSUSB senior majoring in Arabic Language Literature, Culture and Social Sciences, received the Outstanding Achievement Award in Foreign Languages from the Inland Empire Foreign Language Association. David was nominated by Dr. Oriab Mango, professor of World Language and Literature, for outstanding efforts and achievements in learning Arabic. David attended the Army's elite language training facility, the Defense Language Institute at the Presidio of Monterrey, CA, where he first learned Arabic. During his Army career, David served in the Military Intelligence Corps and deployed in support of Operation Enduring Freedom to Afghanistan in 2007. His fondest memory of the service was when he served as a Platoon Sergeant in 2009 at Fort Gordon, GA. He has warmhearted memories of his time in Presidio, where he remembers running up the hills and down the hills, up the hills again, down the hills again and up and down and up and down. Upon graduation in 2014, David plans to pursue his master's degree in Arabic. David asked to use this platform to give a "shout out" to his former colleague and good friend Sgt. Maj. Bradley Zurla to congratulate him for reenlisting again in the Pennsylvania National Guard (lifer)! We at the Veterans Success Center are very proud of David for receiving this prestigious award.

Basic Allowance for Housing: How Rates are Determined

By Rod Powers, and reprinted from About.com Guide

Beginning in January 2005, Basic Allowance for Housing (BAH) rates are designed to cover 100 percent of the average rental costs for the type of dwelling authorized for the specific pay grade (rank).

The Department of Defense (DOD) employs Runzheimer International to collect the nation-wide housing cost data that they use to compute BAH. Additionally, DOD obtains current data from multiple sources, employing a "checks and balances" approach to ensure reliability and accuracy.

Current residential vacancies, identified in local newspapers and real estate rental listings, are an important source of data. Vacancies are selected at random, and subjected to a screening process. Telephone interviews establish the availability and exact location of each unit sampled. DOD has designed the sample to obtain a statistical confidence level of 95% or higher.

DOD also contacts apartment and real estate management companies to identify units for rental pricing. It is not uncommon for DOD to consult real estate professionals in a locality to obtain confirmation and additional sources of data. Where available, DOD contacts fort/post/base housing referral offices, to tap local military expertise and gain insights into the local concerns of military.

Finally, DoD and the Services conduct on-site evaluations at various locations to confirm and ensure reliability and accuracy of the cost data.

The below charts show what BAH rates are based on for each military pay grade:

BAH With Dependents

E-1 through E-4 - The midpoint between the average rental cost of a 2 bedroom apartment and a 2 bedroom townhouse.

E-5 - Average rental cost of a 2 bedroom townhouse.

W-1 - Average rental cost for a three-bedroom townhouse plus 1 percent of the cost difference between a townhouse and a three-bedroom home.

W-2 - Average rental cost for a three-bedroom townhouse plus 52 percent of the cost difference between a townhouse and a three-bedroom home.

CSUSB Veterans Success Center to Poll Campus

Since 9/11, nearly 2.4 million American men and women have returned home as veterans following their military service. Polls regarding public perceptions of veterans from previous eras have been taken in the past, but never from the specific population of CSUSB. With this poll, we would like to find out campus-wide perceptions of veterans from previous and current foreign conflicts. The poll consists of 38 questions and can be found on the Veterans Success Center's OrgSync site.
