JAMES (JIM) PONDER

Riverside Mourns Loss of Ponder

James (Jim) Ponder, 48, forty-one year resident of Riverside succumbed Monday April 20, 1981 at 3:00 a.m. in the Riverside Community Hospital after a short illness.

He was admitted to the hospital on Friday evening and remained in intensive care until his death.

Many are shocked and saddened about it. Joe Higgins, owner of Star Lite Barber Shop, longtime friend said, "He was one of the first people I met, when I came to the city and said he would help in any way he could, he did, and we have been friends ever since. When I was in the hospital he visited me every day and brought my meals. I'm sad because I was unable to visit him." Only family members were allowed in intensive care.

James Ponder was born in 1931, in Milledgeville, Georgia, to Allen Augustus and Willie Mae Ponder.

When the family moved from Georgia, they settled in Blythe for two years before moving to Riverside.

He attended local schools graduating from Polytechnic High School. He also attended Riverside City College and lettered in Basketball.

He was a member of Allen Chapel A.M.E. Church, Riverside and the Prince Hall Masonic Orange Valley Lodge #13 and twice Past Master of the Lodge.

He served as a Paratrooper in the U.S. Army in the Korean War.

He was a barber for 25 years and owned Jim's Barber & Beauty Shop in Riverside.

He leaves to cherish his memory, wife Imogene, sons Craig and Todd, mother Willie Mae of Riverside, brothers Albert of Los Angeles, William A. of Washington D.C., Cornelias of Riverside, sisters, Mattie Shannon, Carolyn Armstrong and Ouida Williams of Riverside, uncles Sam R. Clark of Los Angeles and Marcus G. Clark of Perris and Aunt, Essie Ford, of Blythe.

Services will be held Friday, April 24, 1981, 11:30 a.m. at Allen Chapel A.M.E., 4009 Locust Street. Preston and Simons Mortuary is in charge of the arrangements. Interment is the Veteran's National Cemetery in Riverside.

Another Atlanta Child Victim

Atlanta authorities found the body of a young black and tentatively called it the 25th victim of a 21-month string of child slayings. The corpse was discovered in the Chattahoochee River, where two previous victims were found.

Supreme Court Decisions

Justices ruled unions aren't liable for job-bias damages against employers. Northwest Airlines, facing claims of $37 million to $50 million, said the union should help pay because wage scales were based on a collective bargaining agreement. But it lost on an 8-0 vote. The Supreme Court also ruled, 6-3 that mental patients don't have the right to be treated in neighborhood settings instead on institutions.

London Racial Disturbances

London police fought with hundreds of black youths, leaving six officers hospitalized and 30 people arrested. But one officer said the rioting was "more like Easter hijinks that have got out of hand" than like the racial violence that devastated the Brixton district a week ago.

Honeymoon Over

Saudi Arms purchases should be delayed, Sen. Baker told Reagan. The Senate Majority Leader said the White House proposal to sell equipment ought to be postponed until after the June 30 elections in Israel, which says the sale could threaten its security. Saudi Arabia wants to buy advanced airplane equipment and radar planes. It has appeared to threaten a cut in oil supplies to gain leverage. Almost half the Senate has criticized the plan, and opposition is stronger in the Democratic-controlled House. Some prominent Republicans have broken with Reagan for the first time.

Florida Helped by Reagan

Florida's desegregation plan for public colleges was accepted by the White House, which said the accord showed a new "spirit of cooperation." Carter aides had threatened to block federal funds if Florida didn't form a plan, but Reagan administration said it didn't and won't use such tactics.

Grice Wins SBA Award

WASHINGTON* D.C. Five Black business owners have been named the "Small Business Person of the Year" for their respective states, the U.S. Small Business Administration announced.

Two other Black Americans have won special "advocacy" awards from SBA for their outstanding efforts on behalf of small businesses.

The seven award winners, and the other state and "advocacy" winners from around the nation, have been invited to Washington for ceremonies during Small Business Week, May 10-16. The highlight will be a White House ceremony at which President Reagan is expected to announce the national "Small Business Person of the Year."

All of the five Black winners of the state awards own service-oriented firms, and four have annual sales in excess of $1 million.

The five state winners are Albert Shelton, Illinois; Lillian Lincoln, Maryland; Eddie Jeter, Massachusetts; Donald Lopes, Rhode Island; and Rosemary Reed-Miller of Washington, D.C., treated as a state in the award

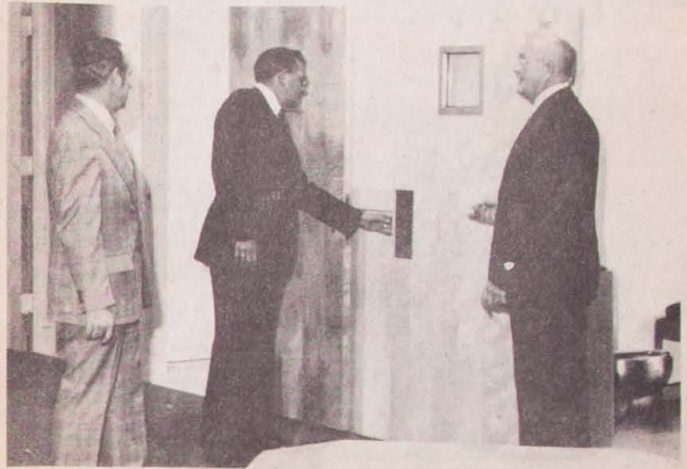

L.A. Ends Busing

Mandatory busing ended in Los Angeles, though only about a third of the 23,000 students involved chose to switch to neighborhood schools for the rest of the year. Two groups dropped attempts to overturn weekend court action that let the integration program end.

Reagan Backs Down

Wanted Support? The Reagan administration probably won't back a youth subminimum wage bill this year because "it's politically troublesome," an insider says. Labor Secretary Donovan supported the concept in testimony last month, but put off a legislative endorsement until at least May.

New Standards Met For County Jail

Sheriff Ben Clark announces the completion of the expansion and renovation of the Female Section of the Riverside County Jail in Riverside.

The Female Section, which was originally built in the early 1930's, did not meet newer state standards for housing, dayroom or program space, and had no medical exam room. All of these needs have been met in the new addition, including new smoke alarms, exhaust and fire doors.

The addition is in the space previously occupied by the Riverside County Public Defender in the County Courthouse in Riverside.

The project was financed primarily through Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Act (LEAA) funds after the Sheriff submitted a proposal in competition with other counties in the state. The County was required to pay 10% of the project cost. The total cost was approximately $500,000.00.

Sheriff Clark stresses that the addition and renovation provide temporary relief only and will not answer the long range housing needs for adult detention in the County.

Riverside County experienced a 38% increase in population during the last decade. The increase is projected to continue. The population increases, coupled with increased pressure from the public demanding longer sentences, will require additional jail space to be built.

competition. The winners of the special advocacy awards are Frances Grice of San Bernardino, California, and Walter Jones of Denver, Colorado.

Albert Shelton, the Illinois winner, is the owner of Shelton Laundry, Inc., in Urbana. His mother started the business in 1942, serving only the immediate neighborhood. In 1972, Mr. Shelton took over the business and began a rapid expansion. Today, Shelton Laundry offers one-day service within a 250-mile radius, has 70 employees, and gross sales total $1.2 million annually.

Mrs. Lillian Lincoln formed Centennial One, Inc., in Crofton, Maryland, in 1975 to provide janitorial services to government and private offices. In five years, the firm has grown from 20 employees with a sales volume of $150,000 to 285 employees with gross sales of $2.9 million annually.

City To Hold Energy Weekend

Can we still afford to stay cool in summer and warm in winter? The Energy Weekend, May 2, and 3, will show the community, in displays, workshops and seminars, that Riverside can lower its dependency on fossil fuels and that the community can save money on its utility bills.

At the two-day energy extravaganza Riversideans can learn how to weatherize their homes, use interior decoration and landscaping to heat and cool, and how to build and install many alternative energy devices. In hands-on displays they will see do-it-yourself solar heaters for pool and hot water, solar cookers and food dryers, methane garbage disposals, and much more. There is no charge for admission.

Supported by the City of Riverside, the Chamber of Commerce, Riverside Public Utilities, RCC* UCR and many other civic groups, the event represents a major endeavor to interest the public in energy and related energy problems and to educate viewers in the many ways they can lower their costs by conservation. In addition, the use of alternative energy sources will be shown in displays, workshops, slides, movies and exhibits.

Over fifty booths and displays will fill the Women's Gymnasium at RCC, adjacent athletic fields, and the RCC Community Energy Center. Commercial, educational and civic groups will participate. Unusual displays include a 1916 electric car; solar powered toys; mock-ups of wind machines; and a solar greenhouse used for space heating and food production at the RCC Energy Center. The displays are

Home Hobbyist Faces Vision Hazards

The home hobbyist often does better in making repairs than in protecting his sight. That's why The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness warns hobbyists and do-it-yourself enthusiasts about the threats to eyesight found in the home workshop. It recommends safety eyewear for all eye hazardous tasks. Here are some activities where eye protection is especially important:

1. Using power tools. This includes power lawn mowers, snow throwers, table saws and portable saws, particularly the chain type.
2. Drilling. Fragments of metal, wood and broken drill bits can fly with blinding speed into the face and eyes.
3. Nailing. Before serious

Moreno Valley News
BY CHARLES LEDBETTER

A Business Place where Respect is shown: There probably are many places, however I feel that I must mention Sunnyside Hardware store on Sunnyside Blvd. I felt welcome in their store and the personnel waiting on me was very helpful.

Then there are those others Places: I went into another Business Place to inquire about prices and make a purchase. I was ignored and seemed totally forgotten when two white persons walked in. (This place is operated by one of US). Thanks For doing a Fine Job: I feel that the School Board under the leadership of Art Robinson is doing a job that we can all be proud of. The Top Administrator, Dr. Leroy Small is having a study made of the Affirmative Action progress in the Moreno Valley School District. This is the first time this type of action has been taken, and we are sure, a better balance of minorities teachers will be the end result. We all have something to contribute to the schools, to children, Moreno Valley and the wider society. It has been said, "we can become a model for America."

Randall Herbert: This young man will complete his high school education. He has a wonderful attitude and will be a success in life because of his faith. I enjoyed a dinner with Randy, his parents, grandparents and friends, Saturday, April 18, 1981.

Sunday School is Important: We continued our discussion on Christianity. The students discussed their understanding of what it means to "be born again." We read biblical passages which helped us understand what is involved in the "born-again" experience, and what preparation for that experience involves. We discussed the love we give to others and the love received. We also discussed the world in which we live, with the wars, hunger, poverty, disease and drugs that control the mind. We spoke of the different ethnic groups from the five basic colors (Black, White, Red, Yellow and Brown) could help make this a better world for our families and friends. Also the influence of the Church opposed to the influence of T.V.. How will this effect our World?

FREDERICK KEARNEY WON AGAIN: This time he carried Perris High's green and white in victory over Hemet High and Moreno Valley at the Regional Lion's Speakers' Contest. Next comes the district level competition. Fred. Keep up your winning streak!!

Much attention has been given to the confrontation with Russia, intervention in El Salvador, downgrading human rights issues, and the massive arms buildup that could renew the arms race while wrecking our economy.

But little attention is being paid to the indications that a negative reversal of American policy toward Africa is under consideration.

The long-standing policy of keeping South Africa's racist government at arms length helped win fresh respect for our nation among the people of Africa. But that respect is eroded when our UN Ambassador

Is There A Tilt Toward South Africa

meets top South African army officers or when the President states, as he did in a television interview, that South Africa is a "Friendly nation."

It is endangered still further when our national security advisor says that improving relations with South Africa does not imply approval of apartheid, although that is certainly how South Africa does not and the rest of the world would interpret a warmer U.S. attitude.

Such signs of a thaw in U.S. South Africa relations may have encouraged the harder line toward Namibian independence taken by the South Africans recently. Until then, the UN-supervised negotiations, aided by America diplomacy, were moving slowly but surely toward a resolution of that situation. But South Africa now is stalling and the Administration has yet to say whether it will push for completion of those negotiations.

Namibia is also a key to the Angolan conflict, for that country says it will ask Cuban troops there to leave after Namibia, which is now a base for South African troops on its southern frontier, becomes independent.

South Africa has taken some small steps to remove some of the "petty apartheid" regulations that are so damaging to its reputation, and those moves - more cosmetic than substantive - are often pointed to as signs of progress.

But South Africa continues to maintain its grand design of excluding the black majority from sharing political power, and it still clings to its discredited "homelands" policy of relegating blacks to reservations.

Administration spokesmen have mentioned South Africa's strategic position and raw materials as reasons for closer relations. But have we forgotten the lesson of Iran so swiftly? When the white supremacists are finally swept from power - be it five years, ten years or twenty years from now - our interests will be endangered unless we move away from the present racist regime.

And what about the strategic location and raw materials of the rest of Africa? Nigeria, for example, is one of our leading suppliers of oil and is a major regional power. Nigeria and other African states may slam the door on us if we cozy up to a South African regime that denies human rights to its black majority.

The flaw in the emerging Central American rebellion and crises in other underdeveloped areas, is the tendency to reduce every issue to the U.S. rivalry with Russia instead of seeing those issues as regional in scope.

By converting issues that can be resolved peacefully into Cold War confrontations, we reduce our ability to influence events in our own interest.

Africa is deeply concerned with economic advances, building the educational and health infrastructures to help it progress in the modern world, and staying out of other people's battles. It is more concerned with South African oppression and with Libyan expansionism than with becoming a Cold War battleground.

The only nations that would benefit from a U.S. policy of friendship with South Africa are America's enemies.

laces, zipper and buttons, once undone, remain undone. His pocket bulges with miniature trucks, cars and playing cards with which he plays with all day, frequently humming, making odd noises or talking to himself as he does so. Physically, he is well-built, attractive and appears to have good motor coordination.

In the classroom, during work periods, he is unable to or refuses to follow directions. If he manages to finish any work at all, it is indescribably sloppy and carelessly executed. He agrees with everything the teacher says, and on occasion treats her with great respect. The next minute he denies he took the pencil from her desk, which is sticking out of his pocket. His books are torn and dirty.

The first roll of photographic film was patented by George Eastman in 1884.

No matter what he scores in terms of a functioning IQ, the psychologist reports that the test results are characterized by an unusual spread. He fails, for example, in some task at a level four years below his chronological age. In general, his greatest strengths are on the performance level and greatest weaknesses in the area of verbal concepts.

The boy may not be able to read at all and he may test at the same readiness level for three consecutive years. He may read with great fluency two years above his chronological age, but so lacking in comprehension that if he is asked to repeat the story in his own words, he will be unable to think of a single thing to say that is relevant.

Green Machine In Santa Maria

The Stratton Center Sixth Grade Basketball team went to Santa Maria to represent the City of Riverside in the Southern California Municipal Athletic Federation. The team played Culver City in the first game and won. Later in the afternoon they played another team and lost. They were then eliminated from further competition. The coach, Mr. Robert Kolterman said that the game against Culver City was the best game they had played all season. The team came from 10 points behind to win. Parents that went with the team were, Mr. Reynolds, Rev. and Mrs. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Kolterman. There were several sisters and brothers who also went on the trip. The team stopped in Santa Barbara long enough to take pictures by the oldest and largest fig tree in the world. Budget Rent-A-Car donated some of the transportation for the team. The parents really appreciated this. Councilman Ed Shepard sent his best to the team before they left. Both coaches felt that this was an excellent group of young men and that their parents and the City should be proud of them and their behavior and team spirit. They have really enjoyed working with them and wish them well in the future in sports. They finished the season with a record of 16 wins and two losses. They are truly a Championship Green Machine team.

Gage Middle School 8th grade Basketball team went to Santa Maria with a record of 19 wins and 0 losses. They played Culver City in Santa Maria and defeated them also. They then played Bakersfield and lost to them. They have finished the season with a 20-1 record. The manager of the team, Mr. Richard Mansfield said to the team that "Winners always party and losers never quit." The team has played well all season and they should feel proud." Mrs. Mansfield said that the boys had a great weekend and a great experience in representing their city!! The parents who went with the team were Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield and Mr. Derrick Porter, the coach.

Park Ave House Condemned

The house where people tend to congregate and socialize has been condemned by the Riverside County Health Department and enforced by the Riverside Police Department. The sign posted on the house at Park and 13th Streets says "unfit for occupancy" and cites a law governing the ordinance. Johnny Harris, owner says the house was burned down but will be rebuilt and donated to the social club which has been formed. Tenant Quincy Roney says the fire was started by an alleged unhappy friend,
