66th ASSEMBLY DISTRICT AWARD

Hispanic honored as "Woman of the Year"

By: Monico DeAnda

Assemblyman Jerry Eaves has named Manuela Granado Sosa D.D.S., of Colton, "Woman of the Year" of the 66th Assembly District for her unequalled service and commitment to the community.

Dr. Sosa will be honored in conjunction with The Women Legislators Caucus' third annual celebration in recognition of Women's History Month. She will travel to Sacramento and will be escorted into the Assembly Chambers by Assemblyman Eaves. She will then be introduced to the entire Assembly, and will receive a resolution from Willie Brown, Jr., Speaker of the Assembly. A luncheon and photo session held exclusively for honorees and their representatives will follow the Assembly ceremony.

As part of Women's History Month, members of the Senate and Assembly are allowed to choose one woman from their district. Eaves said that Sosa was his obvious choice because of her tenacious dedication to education and to equity in the entire educational arena. He cited her work as Chair of the Concilio for Educational Excellence, a grass roots organization which is striving to increase the Hispanic presence in the University of California System. Eaves, a strong believer in fairness, feels Sosa's contributions have proven vital to achieving parity for every underrepresented group in the UC System.

"I feel fabulous!" said Dr. Sosa when asked how she felt about being selected as "Woman of the Year." Sosa said that the recognition holds special meaning for her, because it came as a result of her work with the Concilio. "Eaves recognition of our work shows that he is responsive to the needs of the Hispanic community, and we appreciate his recognition of our efforts. Sosa said that while in Sacramento, she plans to take advantage of the opportunity and she will spend time lobbying the other legislators for the Concilio.

Honors and accomplishments are not new to Dr. Sosa. Always, a high achiever, Sosa is driven.

What inspires this pursuit of excellence?

A practicing dentist in Riverside, Sosa traces her success to her younger days, when at the age of seven she began working summers as a migrant farmworker harvesting cotton, strawberries, apricots, tomatoes, grapes and any other crop her family picked.

Reflecting on those days, when the family packed up and travelled to northern California, Sosa said that her parents worked relentlessly and never complained. "By their example, I learned to appreciate the value of honesty and hard work," said Sosa. "I also knew that education would be my salvation."

From the third grade on, Sosa took the harder courses in school. She said that school gave her an opportunity "to shine". Inspired by teachers who served as role models for her, Sosa attended the University of California, Riverside. Initially Sosa worked full-time, and attended school part-time. When the intensity of her coursework required complete attention, Sosa took a leave to save enough money to return to school full-time, Working two years at a monthly salary of $275.00 per month, Sosa saved $2,000 and also helped her parents financially.

Sosa received a bachelor degree in microbiology with a minor in chemistry and physics from the University of California, Riverside. She received her D.D.S. from Loma Linda University School of Dentistry. Currently she serves on the Tri-County Dental Society Board of Directors and is chair of the disaster preparedness committee. She is the first woman and the first minority to receive these honors.

Dr. Manuela Granado Sosa, D.D.S., "Woman of the Year"

Aside from her family dentistry practice, Sosa's community involvement has been extensive. In 1975, she served on the board of directors of the YWCA and worked to increase participation of minority women in the YWCA programs. While on the San Bernardino Valley College Advisory Committee on Affirmative Action, Sosa evaluated the hiring procedures, and made recommendations on hiring, retention and promotion policies.

Dr. Sosa was also a founding member of Mujeres Unidas, a Chicana support group with high ideals. Mujeres Unidas seeks to stay abreast of national and local politics, and to intervene when women's rights are involved. Sosa was also instrumental in initiating the Colton Drug Abuse program which worked very closely with the Mexican American Parent Student Organization (MAPSO) of which she was a founding member.

Dr. Sosa was one of the first people to organize relief for victims of the Mexican earthquake. She also was heavily involved in fundraising for the Greater Riverside Hispanic Chamber of Commerce scholarship committee which has raised over $200,000.

When looking at the fabric of Dr. Sosa's thoughts, a single thread runs clearly through the pattern. Her causes are human causes. She believes strongly in the dignity of every person and believes social justice for everyone is of the utmost importance.

Holcomb endorsed for San Bernardino Mayor for his experience and direct leadership style.

On March 7, the citizens of San Bernardino have a replay of four years ago, except that there are four players, and that two of those players, specifically, Bob Holcomb and Evelyn Wilcox have reversed roles. Holcomb lost the election due to an effective campaign by Wilcox strongly criticizing the methodology in which Holcomb managed the city and the people, in general.

John Lightburn is an effective speaker, has experience in various levels of government, either in an administrative support or appointive position; however, he has never been elected to a public office.

Tom Minor rose through the ranks to retire as an assistant police chief, which included years of police administrative experience; and thus, generally reflects a law and order approach to many issues, including sensitive social issues.

During the last four years the citizens have witnessed a distinctly different style of leadership. Generally, Wilcox implements a combination of delegation of authority and reliance on committee structure. She has encouraged and supported strong anti-drug programs for young people, Neighborhood Watch programs, created the More Attractive Community Foundation, and sponsored other worthwhile projects.

There have been a series of negative events during her tenure due largely to her leadership and management style. The police department has experienced numerous crises, more recently, the minority community reaction to alleged charges of police insensitivity, individual charges of alleged police brutality, and recent racial incidents within the department itself. There has been an erosion of top departmental managers which has left a vacuum of administrative direction - and just as importantly, the lack of economic development on the Westside, irrespective of the current updating of the general plan.

Bob Holcomb is trying for a come back after, as he sees it, four years of indecisive leadership, lack of communication within the internal city operations and general administrative chaos.

Holcomb's public career began during the Metropolitan Water fight, in which his ideas won out. He also was instrumental in establishing a Cal State campus in San Bernardino.

During Holcomb's tenure as mayor, he initiated the development of Hospitality Lane, the Rudy Hernandez Community Center, five fire stations and three libraries. He appointed seven Hispanic department heads, thirty Hispanics assumed middle management positions and he fought for off-ramps from I-215 to be redirected toward the Westside. Holcomb also implemented the Escondido plan whereby he was able to raise 24 million dollars in developer's fees for sewer improvements.

In his term as mayor, his approach inspired many councilmanic quarrels which were widely publicized. Basically much of the turmoil during his tenure was due to a direct management approach. It was his style to research an issue, accumulate the pertinent facts, make a decision, lay plans and implement the plans.

In a comparison of Wilcox and Holcomb on style of leadership, accomplishment, and performance; we must select Holcomb's more direct approach to leadership, actual accomplishment, and proven performance.

We give W.R. "Bob" Holcomb our unqualified endorsement for the office of Mayor of the City of San Bernardino.

College Would Be A Lot Easier If All You Had To Do Was Go To College

Maybe you're holding down a part-time job. Or have children. Or can't really afford the expense of going away to college. But you still want a quality college education.

Then that's where America's Community, Technical and Junior Colleges are just the ticket. Because they let you balance your education with the rest of your life. For starters, there's no expense of living away from home. You don't have to give up your full or part-time job. Any tuitions average about half the cost of public four-year colleges and universities. No wonder an amazing 55% of all first time freshmen choose Community Colleges. Of course, when you think about it, it's really the obvious choice.

San Bernardino County Mental HealthChildren's Acute Care Center Dedicated

The dedication of the new eight-bed children's psychiatric inpatient unit was held on Tuesday, February 14, 1989, with over 500 guests in attendance. The appropriately named Children's Acute Care Center is operated by San Bernardino County's Department of Mental Health and eliminates the problem of mixing children and adults on the adult inpatient ward. This locked facility will provide intensive, individualized short term treatment of children and adolescents who are acutely mentally ill and dangerous to themselves or others.

The dedication ceremony was sponsored by the County Board of Supervisors and the First Fund of Children's Resources, a private non-profit corporation. The dedication address, delivered by Supervisor Barbara Riordan, Chairman of the Board, highlighted the need to further develop a continuum of care for San Bernardino county's children. The speech delivered by Bob Martinez, Director, Department of Mental Health, detailed the tremendous state and local interagency collaboration that occurred to complete this project in a record 1 1/2 years. The Valentine's Day ceremony befittingly symbolized a unique feature of the project -- heart. The need for this unit touched our community's heart and a private-public partnership developed under the auspices of the first fund of Children's Resources, resulting in more than $75,000 in donations of money and services from private corporations.

National Orange Show President, Gene Woods, Meets with Hispanic Roundtable

Gene Woods, general manager of the Orange Show, was main speaker at the regular meeting of the Hispanic Roundtable on Saturday, February 25, 1989.

Mr. Woods stated that since his appointment to the Orange Show, the management has initiated an renovation project of the overall Orange Show, including ground improvements, buildings, lighting and sound system. The total project would be spread out within a three-year period.

He indicated that the Hispanic

Roundtable and Orange Show management had several meetings in regard to the conflict of dates between the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and that the management has CHANGED the Orange Show Dates which will be from April 20 to April 29. He added that the Chamber and Bob Garcia were working to bring entertainment from Mexico.

Also present at the meeting was Bob Garcia, operations manager and Terri O'Connor, marketing manager.

Dear Friends:

Our job is to fight crime and to protect you and your loved ones. NOW, YOU CAN HELP.

We'd like to assign you a mission of number-one importance. On March 7, make certain that you and everyone you know goes to the polls to vote for the re-election of Mayor Evelyn Wilcox.

Mayor Wilcox is our friend and she's a determined enemy to all criminals. As Mayor, she has:

- Created a strong Drug Suppression Unit that keeps the heat on drug dealers. So far we have already confiscated hundreds of thousands of dollars in illegal drugs and other assets from the drug dealers.
- Revitalized our neighborhood watch program. We now have over 440 active neighborhood watch programs throughout our city.
- Established a nine member police task force to stop Los Angeles gang members from infiltrating and terrorizing our community.
- Doubled the number of Drug Awareness Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) officers to help educate our young people about the tragedy and dangers of drugs.
- Increased our police reserve force complement to 60 officers.
- Doubled the number of police personnel assigned to the Vice and Narcotics Division of the Police Department.

Mayor Wilcox is a strong, good Mayor, and she's sensitive to the tremendous tragedy crime causes in our community. That's why she increased the number of officers in the D.A.R.E. Program 100% to educate children against the evils of drugs.

We call her our greatest friend, and there's no greater thing we can do for a better future than to remember to — vote for Evelyn Wilcox for re-election as our Mayor on March 7.
