February 1st 1984

CSUSB

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.lib.csusb.edu/coyote-chronicle

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Archives – California State University San Bernardino at CSUSB ScholarWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Coyote Chronicle by an authorized administrator of CSUSB ScholarWorks. For more information, please contact scholarworks@csusb.edu.
No Myth in Collegiate Voting Power

Sacramento—Promising to turn out 500,000 new student, faculty and staff voters for both the June Sand November state-wide elections,” the campus voters for both the June Sand November 6 statewide campaign focuses upon the CCVP steering committee, the collegiate voting power of the college community vote. Andy Loefgren of the CCVP steering com-mitee, the collegiate voting power is not a myth, the campaign focuses upon potential voters who otherwise would not be likely to vote,” Loefgren stated. “Through our voter registration, voter education, and get-out-the-vote efforts, the campus community vote will be a major factor in this year’s elections.”

In a non-partisan effort, the CCVP will work with CALPIRG, Frontlash, The League of Women Voters, the UC student lobby, the California State Student Assoc. and a wide network of interns and volunteers on campuses across California to put educational issues in the forefront for this year’s elections. CCVP is a project of the California Council On Student Educational Needs (CCSEN), a non-profit corporation dedicated to improving the quality of education in California.

CCVP also announced it will be sending a delegation to a non-partisan national student conference on voter registration to be held February 10-12 in Boston. 880 student government presidents and campus newspaper editors joined in calling the conference, billed as “the largest display of unity among student leaders in more than a decade.”

No Anti-Americanism In Germany Says Quelle

by Dennis Hatcher

The West German Consulate for Public Information, Herbert Quelle, spoke to a large assembly on CSCSB on the topic of post War Germany. Addressing the audience in a room filled to capacity, Quelle focused the first half of his discussion on the question, “What makes the Federal Republic of Germany (F.R.G.) different from the Third Reich?” After explaining the fundamental differences in Germany’s Basic Law and political structure, Quelle turned the discussion to some of the more critical issues facing the U.S. and the F.R.G.: American soldiers in Germany and the stationing of nuclear missiles there.

The subject of soldiers and missiles has long been viewed by some as merely an extension of the occupation immediately after WWII, nuclear weapons in their homeland is seen by most Germans as intolerable. To them, the missiles represent a total disregard for the safety and existence of Germany by NATO, and the U.S. in particular. This view is shared by other Europeans who see the situation as using Europe as a battleground for the superpowers, leaving the U.S. and U.S.S.R. untouched. Although they enjoy Southern California, they admit to dismay at the stereotypical German portrayed in Hollywood movies.

Quelle: I wanted to tell people that today, the F.R.G is a democratic state that is open towards the world. This openness shows we are not afraid of opening our own borders and showing everybody that we can be proud of our political system.

Quelle: There is some prejudice against us by the Americans in general, would not want to go there...
Handy's lecture included his observations during the great Berlin Airlift, and the erection of the infamous Wall of Shame that separates East and West Berlin. Handy was a member of the U.S. intelligence community in Germany and Berlin for 17 years. His team was involved in the recovery of Gary Powers, the U.S. pilot shot down over the USSR in 1962. Handy has 23 decorations, and awards for his government service, and is a permanent alumnus of Cal State San Bernardino. Handy's presentation began with a brief description of historical events since 1944. In that year, it became clear the Allied Powers, which included the USSR, would never recognize, and programs were made for the governing of German territory.

The West German couple stare across the minefield border near Duderstadt. In the background is a modern watchtower on the East German side to watch for escape attempts.

Police Officer-Entry Level

The City of Santa Ana Police Department has several job openings for entry level Police Officers. The City will hire you as a Police Recruit with an upcoming six-week training academy and pay you $1684 per month.

Requirements: Must possess high school diploma or G.E.D.; must be 21 years of age by Sept., 1984; no felony convictions; see vision 20/100 correctable or 20/20; be in good physical condition.

Must apply by Thursday, Feb. 16, 1984 to: City of Santa Ana Personnel, 20 Civic Center Plaza, Santa Ana, CA. 92701, 834-4154.

Studying To Become A Bilingual Teacher? Californians who are studying to become teachers in bilingual classrooms may qualify for State aid, if they have financial need.

The California Student Aid Commission's Bilingual Teacher Grant program is offering assistance to college undergraduates, graduates and teachers who are enrolled in approved bilingual teacher training programs. The application deadline for the 1984-85 academic year is Feb. 9, 1984.

Students wishing to apply must be fluent in a second language and must demonstrate financial need. Grants range from $300 to $3,600 per year, depending upon the amount of need, and may be renewed for up to four years.

Applications for the Bilingual Teacher Grant program and all other Student Aid Commission grant programs are available at high school counseling offices, college financial aid offices and the Calif. Student Aid Commission, 1410 Fifth Street, Sacramento, CA. 95814, (916) 445-0880.

Plan Now For Winterfest

The A.S. Winterfest and Sixth Anniversary Celebration of the Student Union will be an all-day party on Thursday, February 1. The "Country Jamboree" will be the theme for the Winter Festival. Associated Students invites all campus clubs to participate in the Winter Festival and the birthday celebration. "Prizes will be awarded to those club booths which most closely follow the theme, so THINK COUNTRY and dress the part!" encouraged Clare Sharratt, Activities Advisor. Clubs wishing to participate in the Winterfest should contact Ms. Sharratt at 887-7407 as soon as possible.

Open Auditions for "Fame"

Open auditions for new roles in the hit syndicated series, "Fame," will be held on Saturday, February 11, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at MCM Studios in Culver City. Executive producer William Blinn is looking for "strong and talented people who look like high school students, with a special ability, i.e., singing dance and/or play musical instruments.

In order to be considered, applicants must be legally 18 by July 1, 1984. "Fame," which has been renewed for a second season in first-run syndication following two years on the NBC Television Network, stars Debbie Allen, Lee Curreri, Cindy Gibb, Albert Hague, Billy Hufsey, Carlo Imperato, Carol Mayo Jenkins, Valerie Landsburg, Gene Anthony Ray and Ken Stevens.

The auditions will be held in Rehearsal Hall A, MGM Studios, 2022 W. Washington Blvd., Culver City. Contenders for "Fame" should enter at the MGM Studios, Culver City, across from Motor Avenue.

"Fame" is produced by Eilenna Productions in association with MCM Television. William Blinn is the executive producer and Ken Stevens is the producer.

Free Counseling

New clients are now being accepted by the Community Counseling Center at Cal State B. People who are experiencing personal, social or emotional problems may receive free counseling from the center's staff. Each year, several hundred people visit the center. "We've seen people who are having trouble finding new jobs and dealing with the stress of job loss through and completing plans they make for themselves," said Dr. Edward Teyber, director of the center.

"Other people receive help due to handling skills or interacting with others making decisions and reducing stress. Many are in the process of changing careers, are recently divorced or having marital problems," Dr. Teyber added.

The procedure for obtaining assistance is simple. The clients call Dr. Teyber's message phone number, 887-7272, to request a call back.ähers.

News Briefs

Trustees Endorse A-Status for CSU Constitutional Status

CSU Trustees last week endorsed a Senate Constitution amendment which would grant state constitutional status to the CSU if adopted by the Legislature and then approved by the voters in the November, 1984 election. The amendment was introduced by Sen. Alfred Alquati (D-San Jose).

"The constitutional amendment officially recognizes that the state university and its lay Board of Trustees is ready to assume the fiscal responsibility for the operation of our campuses," said Chancellor J. A. Wittenberg.

Dr. Reynolds and Board Chairman John O'Connell, former president of the Bechtel Construction firm and CSU Chico alumni, urged the state legislators to give the university board the opportunity to propose. If passed by a two-thirds vote, it would go on the November, 1984 ballot.
Serrano Village Council is Back in Action

"We're back and open to new ideas. The main goals of the Village Council are to be involved and plan activities that are suggested by YOU!!" said Steve Crandell, President of the Village Council.

"In order to be successful, we need everyone's participation and ideas. We need to work as a team and not like the Redskins did," added Crandell.

"...we need everyone's participation and ideas."

The Village Council meets every Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the Commons, Rm. 219. Everyone is invited to attend. The Village Council moderates grievances, plans activities, and funds events.

Get Control of Your Time

by Carol Leish

Are there enough hours in the day that you control and get a full benefit from?

On January 25 at 1 p.m. in the SUMP Dr. Martha Kazlo from the Counseling Center spoke and showed a video on time management. She referred to time management as an effective measure to help in stress management.

"How do you spend your time?" asked Martha Kazlo. She then discussed the importance of having priorities and keeping a schedule to "keep track of how you spend time," she said. Which is a priority? Watching TV or studying?

According to Allen Lincoln's "How To Get Control Of Your Time and Life," you can 'master your time and master your life.' According to Allen, by having priorities and goals within the context of a daily to do list or you can live your life and not spend it (waste time). By realizing whether the day or night time is best for you, you can schedule yourself and increase productivity.

Remember, if you want a better understanding of coping with stress, come to the SUMP on Feb. 1 at noon. "Let's get involved in more bake sales and support those Munchy Baskets" and increase our revenues," stated Kasick.

Treasurer Kasick reported that the Village Council earned $250 from fund raisers last quarter. "Let's get involved in more bake sales and support those Munchy Baskets" and increase our revenues," stated Kasick.

Morongo, sponsored by the Council, is having a semi-formal dance Feb. 10th and everyone, including non-Serrano Village residents, is welcome to come!

Get Control of Your Time

cont'd from page 1

Building

cont. from page 1

empty. Other universities and colleges on the campus chain remain high on the state's priority list because they have demonstrated a recognizable need for classroom space.

The plans for a baseball field for this campus have also been pushed back one year to 1986-87.

It has been recognized, though, that this campus is in need of office space for part-time instructors and others, according to Urata. Construction is in progress where storage areas are being converted into office space, added Mr. Urata.

The enrollment for the next ten years is expected to remain relatively stable although the number of eighteen to twenty-four year olds is expected to decline.

The reasons for this are that everything we expected Germany to be, it probably wouldn't be, which turned out to be pretty true." After filling out a lot of paperwork and learning about some of the things they do in Germany, the group of 24 students, representing several Cal State campuses, took off the next day for Germany. They played an 11-hour long backgammon tournament on the plane trip over.

The group spent August and September in Tubingen-four weeks at the Spach Institute for an indoctrination-type program and another four weeks at the American Institute to prepare them to take the PNDS (Prufung zum Nachweiss der deutsche Sprachkenntnisse). Passing this language test was necessary in order to be allowed to study at a German university. Whitson said he had had three years of German in high school and one year in college, but had gone about two years without studying any. Yet after the two months in Tubingen, he passed the PNDS and went on to the University of Heidelberg.

When asked if he experienced culture shock, Whitson answered, "No—well, maybe at the beginning—it took some getting used to stores closing at noon and not opening again until 2 p.m., or not at all after noon on Saturdays, and never opening on Sundays."

"If you're interested in German, come to the meeting at a hotel near Los Angeles International Airport, where, as he put it, "They told us that Germany was a country full of ghosts," added Crandell.

Serrano Village Council is Back in Action

Ken Whitson highly recommends the California State University International Program to interested CSCSB students.

A YEAR IN GERMANY

by Brooke Loning

Have you ever dreamed of a year in a foreign country, learning to speak a foreign language fluently, studying at a foreign university, travelling throughout Europe during school vacations? If so, you should check into the California State University International Program. Ken Whitson, 24, currently a political science major at Cal State and Associated Students' Legislative Director, did, and was able to spend an unforgettable year in Germany.

On July 25, 1981 Whitson took part in a orientation meeting at a hotel near Los Angeles International Airport, where, as he put it, "They told us that Germany was a country full of ghosts," added Crandell.

"If you're interested in getting involved but can't make it to the meetings, we'd still like to hear from you," Crandell added.

The Village Council officers are Steve Crandell, Mojave 228, President; Greg Logan, Waterman 206, Vice President; Theresa Kasick, Arrowhead 151, Treasurer; Marianne de Boss, Morongo 205, Secretary.

Treasurer Kasick reported that the Village Council earned $250 from fund raisers last quarter. "Let's get involved in more bake sales and support those Munchy Baskets" and increase our revenues," stated Kasick.

Morongo, sponsored by the Council, is having a semi-formal dance Feb. 10th and everyone, including non-Serrano Village residents, is welcome to come!

Village Council is back! Officers pictured from left to right: Theresa Kasick, Marianne de Boss, Greg Logan, and Steve Crandell.
Mail-Art Show \textit{In The Dark}

What do Buzz Blur, F. Stop Fitzgerald and Gail Allen have in common besides funny names? They all currently exhibit work in the Mail-Art show \textit{In The Dark} at Gallery 2 in the Visual Arts building.

\textbf{IN THE DARK}

What started out as a project for the advanced Photography class ended up as an important cultural exchange. The class sent an invitation to four hundred-sixty persons who had participated in mail-art exhibitions before, as well as advertising in \textit{Artweek}.

\begin{itemize}
\item One hundred-sixty-two artists responded with three hundred-ninety individual pieces of art. Some worked the theme \textit{In The Dark} into their pieces, others personalized the work with their own themes. Some of the envelopes are as fanciful and unique as the artwork itself and are displayed on the airconditioning ducts of the small gallery.
\end{itemize}

Gallery 2 is located in the Visual Arts Building across from the Admissions and Records Building and is the first room on the right as you enter from the north end. Gallery 2 is open Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The exhibition ends Feb. 20.

---

Former Liason

Service in the eastern sector was dead. By the light of dawn all of Berlin awoke to see windows being boarded up, ditches dug, and Soviet tanks drawing of this "iron curtain." Although through the years, critics and historians have revisited the events of August 1961, the wall to seal off Berlin and stop the exodus. It worked, although through the years, thousands have managed to escape to the west.

Handy showed slides and personal photos, depicting how the wall looked when first built, and of the "improvements" made since then, such as dragon teeth and ditches to prevent automobiles from bursting through the wall. Glass, and sharp, jagged steel have been poured into the concrete along the top of the wall to discourage jumpers and climbers. Mines and machine guns, as well as sophisticated electronic devices that can hear the sounds of tunnelers have also been added. Since 1971, when a new wall was added that allows greater freedom for the inhabitants of East Berlin, the east has seen a great deal of improvement. Although much of East Berlin still contain ruins from WWII, shops seem to have flourished and shortages were, for awhile, disappearing. Since 1979, however, with the advent of the crisis in Poland, East Germany and Berlin are once again experiencing food shortages.

Of his personal beliefs on the Berlin wall today, Handy stated, "I am surprised it (the wall) has stayed up this long." He explained that the Soviets maintain and modify the wall at great expense in view of their reasons for the Soviet action. Prior to August of that year, there had been great unrest in the Soviet zone of Berlin and East Germany. Millions of Germans were entering the West via Berlin. By August, 3.5 million had managed to cross into Western hands. Soon, there would be no more people for the Soviets to control in desperation, they erected the wall to seal off Berlin and stop the exodus. It worked, although through the years, thousands have managed to escape to the west.

---

PEACE CORPS

A HEALTHY CHOICE.

Be choosy. Become a Peace Corps nurse. Help people in developing countries to organize clinics, health teams and vaccination programs. You could make a difference in one of over 60 countries where health care is poor or nonexistent.

Peace Corps Representatives will be at the South Entrance to Cal State San Bernardino's Pfeu Library on Feb. 21 and 22. Put yourself where you're needed...join the Peace Corps!
No Anti-Americanism

"con't from pg.1. I understand. You're of the belief that there is a prejudice here in L.A., in close contact with students, this has been an issue that I'm not unjustified. People are very well informed; more informed than I previously thought. At least I get this impression from the feedback questions. I sense, in a way, that these questions somehow articulate what others are thinking. If it's not the facts that everybody has, it is at least the feeling the awareness that Germany is a very strong and very important ally of the United States. Chronicle: There seems to be a new idea for Germans today, a sort of new identity, that says "We don't need the Americans anymore." Quelle: She would certainly agree with part of what you said, but with just a remark of this type, she would certainly not detect an anti-Americanism per se, in Germany. We saw something of that amongst students in the late 1960's, but at the same time you had the anti-establishment revolt in this country. Let me accept what you said as a fact, then I would say that this dissent stems from a certain type of intellectual elite that you find in the universities, which is still, probably, an effect of tendencies developed in the late 60's. Some of the people were critical of the American involvement at the time of the American involvement in the Viet Nam War, and are now professors and assistant professors. In Germany, there has been a criticism of this attitude.

Chronicle: Since Germany is our greatest political ally, can you explain why there was such a great outburst of public opinion against President Reagan asking for sanctions against the Soviet natural gas pipeline?

Quelle: That's a good question. I think the major reason for that was that people detected an inconsistency in American policy in that area. Our Economics Minister, in June 1981, pointed out that it was very difficult for Germans to understand why the Americans made such a big deal about this pipeline, when at the same time gave in to lobbying of the farmers, and did not establish a grain embargo.

There are certain differences, I admit, and our government admitted at the same time, between grain and technology. But what did not come across to the American public was that Germans were perfectly willing to cooperate in the field of energy. You have a totally different situation in the U.S., and one has to see this. Our government has made sure that we would not be singularly dependent on Soviet gas, but that in time of crisis, we could switch to a reserve source.

Chronicle: Is there any final point or comment you would like to make?

Quelle: The thrust of my efforts here is first, to promote better understanding of the Federal Republic of Germany. Secondly, to make this point for strong friendship between the U.S. and Germany. We must not forget to search for, and find our common basis.

Between equals, as we would like to be treated, one should always be able to tell the superior power what one dislikes, without being attacked for being disorderly.

The Cal State Chronicle February 1, 1984 Page 5

New Doctor Joins Health Center Staff

"The relaxed pace is the number one reason I enjoy being here. Practicing obstetrics means lots of long nights away from home. I decided it was time for a rest, though it is hard to leave private patients I've grown attached to," commented Dr. John P. Miller concerning his recent appointment to the CSCSB Health Center.

"For instance," he added while pointing toward the orange and white lighted sign that reads 'Welcome to Miller Time,' "that was given to me twenty-five years. I've delivered all of her children. It is hard to give that up."

Dr. Miller has practiced medicine in San Bernardino for 30 years as a staff member of St. Bernardine and Community hospitals in San Bernardino and Loma Linda University Hospital.

Frankly Speaking... by phil frank

I'M NOT SURE WHAT KIND OF PARTY HE WAS GOING TO BUT HE DID PUT 'CURB FEELERS' ON HIS KNEES BEFORE HE LEFT.

Dr. John P. Miller was recently appointed to the CSCSB Health Center Staff.
RECORD RACK: RAINBOW

Rainbow is back with a new album, and yet another personnel change. Gone is Bobby Rondinelli, who has been replaced behind the drumkit by Chuck Burgi. Don’t fear for Bobby because he’s never been replaced. His presence was first felt on 1982’s Rainbow album. How long this lineup remains the same is anyone’s guess, although Rainbow has never recorded two albums with the same personnel.

This new album is one of Rainbow’s best efforts to date. One reason for this is that Joe Lynn Turner has increased his role as a songwriter. His presence on the new album he is credited with co-writing every song. His vocal performances are better than ever, and he has truly entered that top class of Rock vocalists.

David Rosenthal, who replaced Don Airey on keyboards, also deserves a round of applause. It was a tough job to replace Airey, but Rosenthal has more than filled the spot left by Airey. Rosenthal displays his strong Classical training on cuts like “Can’t Let You Go” and “Street Of Dreams.” During Rainbow’s live shows he lends a very impressive rendition of some of Beethoven’s work. The Rhythm section is as strong as ever. Burgi fills the percussion slot with an assortment of fiery rhythms. Roger Glover is still handling the bass chores, in addition to producing the album.

The one remaining member of Rainbow is none other than the “Man In Black,” Ritchie Blackmore. Ritchie does not have the space that he had in his days with Deep Purple, but he does make very efficient use of his solo time. Even though he has shortened his solos they still are as blistering as ever. During their live shows he manages to stretch things without losing touch with the other band members. To this I can attest as I was a mere ten feet from the stage at their last concert here in San Bernardino.

Side one opens with an energetic rocker entitled “Stranded.” Blackmore's penchant for using his tremelo bar is showcased on this song. The next song is “Can’t Let You Go.” The intro by David Rosenthal is an inspiring piece of Classical Organ work. The theme is nothing new, but this song does give that theme a good reworking. “Fool For The Night” is next, this cut features Turner’s vocal talents. The next track is “Fire Dance.” This song is a quickly paced number laced with a great deal of guitar and keyboard interplay. The side ends with a slow, bluesy number entitled “Anybody There?”

Side two opens with “Desperate Heart.” This track picks up the pace of the album, and is a good lead into the next “Street of Dreams” making authority. In the air, and on the ground, you have management responsibility from the beginning. And your responsibility grows as you gain experience.

No company can give you this kind of leadership responsibility this fast. And nothing beats the sheer excitement of Navy flying.

The sailing is exciting, too. Right away, you'll earn about $18,500 a year. That's better than the average corporation will pay you just out of college. And with regular Navy promotions and other pay increases, your annual salary will soar to $31,100 after four years. That's on top of a full package of benefits and privileges.

Before you settle down to an earth-bound desk job, reach for the sky. Reach for the coupon. Find out what it takes to be part of the Naval Aviation Team. You could have a desk that flies at twice the speed of sound.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.

This Desk Can Reach Mach 2.

Some desk jobs are more exciting than others.

As a Navy pilot or flight officer, your desk can be a sophisticated combination of supersonic jet aircraft and advanced electronic equipment. But you can handle it. Because Navy flight training gives you the navigation, aerodynamics and other technical know-how you need.

In return, Navy aviation demands something of you as an officer:

Leadership.

Your path to leadership starts with officer training that's among the most intensive in the military. It's intensive leadership and professional schooling combined with rigorous Navy flight training. And it's all geared to prepare you and other college graduates for the unique challenge of Navy aviation. The program is tough but rewarding.

One important reward for Navy officers is decision-making authority. In the air, and on the ground, you have management responsibility from the beginning. And your responsibility grows as you gain experience.

No company can give you this kind of leadership responsibility this fast. And nothing beats the sheer excitement of Navy flying.

The sailing is exciting, too. Right away, you'll earn about $18,500 a year. That's better than the average corporation will pay you just out of college. And with regular Navy promotions and other pay increases, your annual salary will soar to $31,100 after four years. That's on top of a full package of benefits and privileges.

Before you settle down to an earth-bound desk job, reach for the sky. Reach for the coupon. Find out what it takes to be part of the Naval Aviation Team. You could have a desk that flies at twice the speed of sound.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.

Record Trivia

Answers For Trivia Questions Last Week:

1. Jimmy Page was a studio guitarist for the English rock star Tom Jones.

2. Guitarist Bob Welch along with Peter Green were the original leaders of Fleetwood Mac.

Trivia Questions For This Week:

1. Vocalist Jon Anderson has composed music with what Oscar winning composer?

2. What landmark rock-a-roll album was released 13 years ago on January 18, 1966?

NEED A NEW CAR?

Everybody Reads The Cal State Chronicle

Advertise

With Us

The Cal State Chronicle is a well crafted song, with perhaps the best instrumental and vocal mix on the album. The video is equally as well crafted. "Drinking With The Devil" is the punchiest track on the album; it has energy to spare.

"S...he lets loose a very impressive rendition of Beethoven’s work."

The next track is an instrumental track entitled the "Snowman." This cut proves that Rainbow is not your normal Heavy Metal band. The instrumentals are reminiscent of the old Deep Purple days. The album ends on an upbeat pace with a track entitled "Make Your Move."

RECORD RACK: RAINBOW

Rainbow is back with a new album, and yet another personnel change. Gone is Bobby Rondinelli, who has been replaced behind the drumkit by Chuck Burgi. Don’t fear for Bobby because rumor has it that he will be playing on the upcoming Scorpions album. How long this lineup remains the same is anyone’s guess, although Rainbow has never recorded two albums with the same personnel.

This new album is one of Rainbow’s best efforts to date. One reason for this is that Joe Lynn Turner has increased his role as a songwriter. His presence on the new album he is credited with co-writing every song. His vocal performances are better than ever, and he has truly entered that top class of Rock vocalists.

David Rosenthal, who replaced Don Airey on keyboards, also deserves a round of applause. It was a tough job to replace Airey, but Rosenthal has more than filled the spot left by Airey. Rosenthal displays his strong Classical training on cuts like “Can’t Let You Go” and “Street Of Dreams.” During Rainbow’s live shows he lends a very impressive rendition of some of Beethoven’s work. The Rhythm section is as strong as ever. Burgi fills the percussion slot with an assortment of fiery rhythms. Roger Glover is still handling the bass chores, in addition to producing the album.

The one remaining member of Rainbow is none other than the “Man In Black,” Ritchie Blackmore. Ritchie does not have the space that he had in his days with Deep Purple, but he does make very efficient use of his solo time. Even though he has shortened his solos they still are as blistering as ever. During their live shows he manages to stretch things without losing touch with the other band members. To this I can attest as I was a mere ten feet from the stage at their last concert here in San Bernardino.

Side one opens with an energetic rocker entitled “Stranded.” Blackmore’s penchant for using his tremelo bar is showcased on this song. The next song is “Can’t Let You Go.” The intro by David Rosenthal is an inspiring piece of Classical Organ work. The theme is nothing new, but this song does give that theme a good reworking. “Fool For The Night” is next, this cut features Turner’s vocal talents. The next track is “Fire Dance.” This song is a quickly paced number laced with a great deal of guitar and keyboard interplay. The side ends with a slow, bluesy number entitled “Anybody There?”

Side two opens with “Desperate Heart.” This track picks up the pace of the album, and is a good lead into the next “Street of Dreams” making authority. In the air, and on the ground, you have management responsibility from the beginning. And your responsibility grows as you gain experience.

No company can give you this kind of leadership responsibility this fast. And nothing beats the sheer excitement of Navy flying.

The sailing is exciting, too. Right away, you’ll earn about $18,500 a year. That’s better than the average corporation will pay you just out of college. And with regular Navy promotions and other pay increases, your annual salary will soar to $31,100 after four years. That’s on top of a full package of benefits and privileges.

Before you settle down to an earth-bound desk job, reach for the sky. Reach for the coupon. Find out what it takes to be part of the Naval Aviation Team. You could have a desk that flies at twice the speed of sound.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.

This Desk Can Reach Mach 2.

Some desk jobs are more exciting than others.

As a Navy pilot or flight officer, your desk can be a sophisticated combination of supersonic jet aircraft and advanced electronic equipment. But you can handle it. Because Navy flight training gives you the navigation, aerodynamics and other technical know-how you need.

In return, Navy aviation demands something of you as an officer:

Leadership.

Your path to leadership starts with officer training that’s among the most intensive in the military. It’s intensive leadership and professional schooling combined with rigorous Navy flight training. And it’s all geared to prepare you and other college graduates for the unique challenge of Navy aviation. The program is tough but rewarding.

One important reward for Navy officers is decision-making authority. In the air, and on the ground, you have management responsibility from the beginning. And your responsibility grows as you gain experience.

No company can give you this kind of leadership responsibility this fast. And nothing beats the sheer excitement of Navy flying.

The sailing is exciting, too. Right away, you’ll earn about $18,500 a year. That’s better than the average corporation will pay you just out of college. And with regular Navy promotions and other pay increases, your annual salary will soar to $31,100 after four years. That’s on top of a full package of benefits and privileges.

Before you settle down to an earth-bound desk job, reach for the sky. Reach for the coupon. Find out what it takes to be part of the Naval Aviation Team. You could have a desk that flies at twice the speed of sound.

Navy Officers Get Responsibility Fast.
GAY AND LESBIAN COMMUNITY CENTER
Hotline — Peer Counseling — Women's & Men's Raps — Meditation/Arbitration — Speaker's Bureau — TV & TS Raps
(714) 824-7618 Riverside & San Bernardino Counties, CA
any time of day or night

For Salo: Yama hopper, motor bike, rules well, low mileage, $275 call 677-3278.

Writing Tutor
ail your college papers. Reasonable rates. Gail Len Ehret, 887-2922. 2/22

Do not flunk a subject you know well because of an inability to express yourself in writing. Gail Len Ehret, 887-2922. 2/22

Insemination program. Must be healthy. Reimbursement $30. Contact Karen House at 824-4404. 5/30

Men Donors Needed

EXPERIENCED TYPIST
8am-2:30pm (1:00 to 2:00) $6.26-
8am-2:00 (other times)
Mrs. Smith.

Gym
8-830
8-6
1-5

Courts
4-8.3-9.4-3.9-4-8.9-6

 klassifieds

For Sale: Yama hopper, motor bike, rules well, low mileage, $275 call 677-3278.

Writing Tutor
ail your college papers. Reasonable rates. Gail Len Ehret, 887-2922. 2/22

Do not flunk a subject you know well because of an inability to express yourself in writing. Gail Len Ehret, 887-2922. 2/22

Insemination program. Must be healthy. Reimbursement $30. Contact Karen House at 824-4404. 5/30

Men Donors Needed

EXPERIENCED TYPIST
8am-2:30pm (1:00 to 2:00) $6.26-
8am-2:00 (other times)
Mrs. Smith.

Gym
8-830
8-6
1-5

Courts
4-8.3-9.4-3.9-4-8.9-6

CLASSIFIEDS

For Sale: Yama hopper, motor bike, rules well, low mileage, $275 call 677-3278.

Writing Tutor
ail your college papers. Reasonable rates. Gail Len Ehret, 887-2922. 2/22

Do not flunk a subject you know well because of an inability to express yourself in writing. Gail Len Ehret, 887-2922. 2/22

Insemination program. Must be healthy. Reimbursement $30. Contact Karen House at 824-4404. 5/30

Men Donors Needed

EXPERIENCED TYPIST
8am-2:30pm (1:00 to 2:00) $6.26-
8am-2:00 (other times)
Mrs. Smith.

Gym
8-830
8-6
1-5

Courts
4-8.3-9.4-3.9-4-8.9-6
Editorials that are unsigned represent the opinion of The Cal State Chronicle's Executive Board.

Guest Analysis

Andropov, Soviet Policy and the Succession Crisis: Staying the Course

by P.A. DeBiasio
Pol. Sci. Instructor
This is the first half of a two-part series. The second half of the article will follow in next week's issue.

The prolonged public absence of Soviet President Yuri Andropov is providing Western commentators yet another opportunity to discern the implications of his absence. The political ramifications of a change in leadership might entail. Setting aside for the time our inability to know precisely the condition of Mr. Andropov, of what significance is a change in leadership to the policies followed by the Soviet Union. Following the death of Leonid Brezhnev reports abounded concerning a new and more moderate direction in which Andropov might take Soviet military and foreign policy. To this end the most notable of the threats to Andropov's liberal inclinations. (Inclinations he acquired no doubt initially as Ambassador to Hungary where he oversaw the Soviet invasion of that country in 1956 and later as long time head of the KGB secret police). Western self-delusion has quickly turned into disillusion. Mr. Andropov has carried out Soviet military programs and foreign policy activity consistent with that established by Brezhnev during his 18 year reign.

The monolithic military-industrial sector developed under Brezhnev, transforming the Soviet economy into the world's largest producer of strategic war material, exceeds continuously under Andropov. The continuing quest for military supremacy, which is driven by the requirements of Soviet national strategy, is readily apparent. For example, the Soviet Union continues to produce annually 11,000 armored fighting vehicles, 4,000 tank destroyers, 3,000 military aircraft, 50,000 surface-to-air missiles and nearly 80 naval ships.

In the area of nuclear arms, uninterrupted and extensive production reaffirms the central priority Soviet leaders accord these weapons in military strategy. For the last five years the Soviet Union has been producing annually: 200 ICBMs, 200 SLCMs, over 400 theater and short-range missiles.

The prolonged public absence of Soviet President Yuri Andropov is providing Western commentators yet another opportunity to discern the implications of a change in leadership might entail. Setting aside for the time our inability to know precisely the condition of Mr. Andropov, of what significance is a change in leadership to the policies followed by the Soviet Union. Following the death of Leonid Brezhnev reports abounded concerning a new and more moderate direction in which Andropov might take Soviet military and foreign policy. To this end the most notable of the threats to Andropov's liberal inclinations. (Inclinations he acquired no doubt initially as Ambassador to Hungary where he oversaw the Soviet invasion of that country in 1956 and later as long time head of the KGB secret police). Western self-delusion has quickly turned into disillusion. Mr. Andropov has carried out Soviet military programs and foreign policy activity consistent with that established by Brezhnev during his 18 year reign.

The monolithic military-industrial sector developed under Brezhnev, transforming the Soviet economy into the world's largest producer of strategic war material, exceeds continuously under Andropov. The continuing quest for military supremacy, which is driven by the requirements of Soviet national strategy, is readily apparent. For example, the Soviet Union continues to produce annually 11,000 armored fighting vehicles, 4,000 tank destroyers, 3,000 military aircraft, 50,000 surface-to-air missiles and nearly 80 naval ships.

In the area of nuclear arms, uninterrupted and extensive production reaffirms the central priority Soviet leaders accord these weapons in military strategy. For the last five years the Soviet Union has been producing annually: 200 ICBMs, 200 SLCMs, over 400 theater and short-range missiles.

The prolonged public absence of Soviet President Yuri Andropov is providing Western commentators yet another opportunity to discern the implications of a change in leadership might entail. Setting aside for the time our inability to know precisely the condition of Mr. Andropov, of what significance is a change in leadership to the policies followed by the Soviet Union. Following the death of Leonid Brezhnev reports abounded concerning a new and more moderate direction in which Andropov might take Soviet military and foreign policy. To this end the most notable of the threats to Andropov's liberal inclinations. (Inclinations he acquired no doubt initially as Ambassador to Hungary where he oversaw the Soviet invasion of that country in 1956 and later as long time head of the KGB secret police). Western self-delusion has quickly turned into disillusion. Mr. Andropov has carried out Soviet military programs and foreign policy activity consistent with that established by Brezhnev during his 18 year reign.

The monolithic military-industrial sector developed under Brezhnev, transforming the Soviet economy into the world's largest producer of strategic war material, exceeds continuously under Andropov. The continuing quest for military supremacy, which is driven by the requirements of Soviet national strategy, is readily apparent. For example, the Soviet Union continues to produce annually 11,000 armored fighting vehicles, 4,000 tank destroyers, 3,000 military aircraft, 50,000 surface-to-air missiles and nearly 80 naval ships.

In the area of nuclear arms, uninterrupted and extensive production reaffirms the central priority Soviet leaders accord these weapons in military strategy. For the last five years the Soviet Union has been producing annually: 200 ICBMs, 200 SLCMs, over 400 theater and short-range missiles.

The prolonged public absence of Soviet President Yuri Andropov is providing Western commentators yet another opportunity to discern the implications of a change in leadership might entail. Setting aside for the time our inability to know precisely the condition of Mr. Andropov, of what significance is a change in leadership to the policies followed by the Soviet Union. Following the death of Leonid Brezhnev reports abounded concerning a new and more moderate direction in which Andropov might take Soviet military and foreign policy. To this end the most notable of the threats to Andropov's liberal inclinations. (Inclinations he acquired no doubt initially as Ambassador to Hungary where he oversaw the Soviet invasion of that country in 1956 and later as long time head of the KGB secret police). Western self-delusion has quickly turned into disillusion. Mr. Andropov has carried out Soviet military programs and foreign policy activity consistent with that established by Brezhnev during his 18 year reign.

The monolithic military-industrial sector developed under Brezhnev, transforming the Soviet economy into the world's largest producer of strategic war material, exceeds continuously under Andropov. The continuing quest for military supremacy, which is driven by the requirements of Soviet national strategy, is readily apparent. For example, the Soviet Union continues to produce annually 11,000 armored fighting vehicles, 4,000 tank destroyers, 3,000 military aircraft, 50,000 surface-to-air missiles and nearly 80 naval ships.

In the area of nuclear arms, uninterrupted and extensive production reaffirms the central priority Soviet leaders accord these weapons in military strategy. For the last five years the Soviet Union has been producing annually: 200 ICBMs, 200 SLCMs, over 400 theater and short-range missiles.