Cal State Goes To Five Day A Week Schedule

by Craig Timbucky

Just when you have gotten used to the beach, desert, or mountains on Friday, the Administration thinks it is time for a change. That's right, next Fall there will be a dramatic change in the way classes are scheduled. Gone are the one hour Monday through Thursday classes. Also saying goodbye will be the traditional Monday through Saturdays. In their place will be a more interesting schedule.

In an interview with campus police investigators, it was learned that prostitutes have transferred from Cal Poly Pomona should be quite familiar with the system. The whole reason for the switch was the need to maximize the use of classroom space. This need has arisen from an increase in enrollment, which has reached an all time high.

The college cannot get enough buildings, and this makes better use of its existing capacity. For example, the majority of other schools which operate on the quarter system follow a similar plan. Those who have transferred from Cal Poly Pomona should be quite familiar with the system. The whole reason for the switch was the need to maximize the use of classroom space.

Classrooms will be used to the beach, desert, or mountains on Fridays, and therefore considered safer. In the end, the police handle situations of sexual harassment discovered on campus, and they can do so much better in the beach, desert, or mountains.

We let them put their clothes back on, and ask for names and identification. We are not responsible if they have any outstanding warrants or see if there is a record of prostitution on the female. We try to be discreet, and usually send them on their way with a warning.

Many students do not feel safe parking in the local parking lots, so we try to make it as safe and easy as possible. We are a state police force, and the students are generally financially strapped, and the agencies are usually all the police can do is mark the doors of rooms where the occupant was not home. In this way, the hookers would know which rooms they had and had not visited.

We asked what action campus police could take on matters involving prostitution. Mose said that usually all the police can do is tell them to take their business elsewhere.

"We are a state police force," Moses explained, "just as the Highway Patrol. But we can't make an arrest for prostitution unless we can see money changing hands, and that's pretty hard to do. In the case of last Saturday night, we actually made contact with the pimp. We are not responsible if they have any outstanding warrants or see if there is a record of prostitution on the female. We try to be discreet, and usually send them on their way with a warning."

Moses said that the typical male who uses the services of a prostitute is the older, working man who takes classes at night. Since most students are generally financially strapped, and the younger students with girlfriends attend classes, the number of students engaging in romantic sexual liaisons at night in the parking lots. He said that Prizes: 1st-$50; 2nd-$25; 3rd-$10. "This contest is for big cash, so don't be bashful ladies and gents," encouraged Deutchman. "Don't be surprised if you see a wild and crazy guy running around the Union. He is 'Mr. Bud Man' from Anheiser Bush," added Deutchman.

You may be wondering what is the big deal about the Student Union Anniversary. After reviewing an old issue of The PawPrint," Feb. 14, 1976 the Chronicle staff was describing the trials and tribulations of obtaining our Student Union. According to the article by Sue Fullerton, the Student Union became a reality for Cal State after 12 years of waiting.

In 1966 Dean Kenton Monroe first proposed the idea for student union to then ASB President Richard Prennake. Many problems prevented a rapid action on the plan. Two referendums to approve a student fee to finance the union were defeated, but the third finally passed and a reserve account was established.

The original plan for the Union was for a building of 35,000 square feet, and it was decided that the building would be financed through the Office of Housing and Urban Development, with the approval of the Chancellor's Office. But in May, 1970, President Nixon cut back funds to HUD for economic reasons, and the plan had to be scrapped, according to Dean Monroe.

A 15,000 square foot facility was then submitted to the Chancellor and approved, but by then the interest rate on loans was up to 10% and the maximum allowable on a bond is 7%, which coupled with the astronomical rates for construction, made the project unworkable.

Are You Compatible?

Martha Kazo from the counseling center, held a seminar on "Are You Compatible?" on February 8 in the Student Union. She discussed the importance of friends and how compatible recognize and doing with various friends and find out you resolve differences.

"People who are most compatible recognize and validate the attributes of others," according to Martha Kazo. She asked the people to list the ten most fun things they enjoy doing. Ruth Burke likes being a problem solver, while Sherri Deutchman values honesty. Kazo said, that a compatible person would say, "Yes, you are that way with your characteristics that you cherish, I will like that." If you are compatible with someone, you enjoy doing activities together. Kazo then began to list the ten most fun things you enjoy doing.

Robert Burke said, "I enjoy creative writing," and Martha Kazo answered that he should take the time to do creative writing. She added that the most common interests in this particular group would be doing "a reading/discussion group. According to Kazo, a compatible friend is honest, someone who will say, "I see you as a honest person with whom I can be alone." How you resolve differences is essential in order to get along. "People need to spend time doing things together and be compatible," she concluded.

...a compatible friend is honest...

Simon's Economic Game Theory. The Zero Sum, he explained, is a "definite zero." Kazo con- remise say "I did what they wanted and now they owe me. " The most common thing is to be important to go somewhere where both people can be happy.

Work Abroad
Now in its fourteenth year, the Work Abroad program is the only one of its kind available in the U.S. It cuts through the red tape to help thousands of students obtain a job in Great Britain, Ireland, France, New Zealand, and for the first time in Australia. Beverly Schwarm, the assistance of the Council's cooperating student organizations in each country and the student's personal research. Kazo says that finding a job abroad is no more difficult than at home.

Work Abroad is a great way to see the world and study, and the opportunities are unlimited. For more information, please contact John Muensterman or Bill Warehall at 887-7459 or 874-7466.

HARD WORK CAN PAY OFF
by Michelle Gaiche
As the novelty of the new classes for the winter quarter wears off, many students are finding mid-term exams quickly, employers will not be as generous to themselves if it's all worth it. We spend countless numbers of hours waging the battle of sleep at night like normal folks do. Is earning a college degree really worth the strain? Kazo advised that Kazo should more than double their earnings to treat the hard work can pay off with not only a degree but a very successful career as well.

Even though he is just 21 years old and still finishing up a two-year college degree, Boykins says that marketing aspects are "Don't sell yourself to the recruiter." One of Boykins' chief areas of expertise is to adapt to different situations and environments. He feels he knows when to be serious and when he can be more relaxed and casual. He has also done his share of marketing in the business world.

Boykins soon found himself working for a specialized field-I just take the concepts and theories I learn from school and apply them to my job. He has been teaching for two years and is now looking for a new position. His advice to students is "Use your education to your advantage in the real world."

Boyle's words of advice are especially important for students who are looking for world scholarships, they want to have more to learn and can be more relaxed and casual. He has also done his share of marketing in the business world.

German Club to Attend Fasching

by Dennis Hatcher

CSCSB's German Club extends an invitation to all interested persons to attend a Fasching party at the Phoenix Club in Anaheim, on Feb. 18.

What is a Fasching party? In other parts of the world, Fasching, as it is called Munich, is known as "Carnival," but here in the United States it is called "Mardi Gras." No matter what its name, it is a time for wild and crazy fun.

At Fasching, in Karneval time, people dress up in the strangest costumes ever seen and attend balls and parades where there is always dancing in the streets, singing and laughter.

In Aachen, Cologne, Mainz, and Munich are seen some of the finest examples of Karneval festivities, these cities are turned upside down and normal business comes to a standstill. Processions of giant floats, huge jester bands, and groups of jesters wearing grotesque and comical masks wind their way for miles through the city streets. Huge crowds line the streets for drinking, singing, and fun.

Just about anything and everything happens during the "three crazy days" that climax Karneval starting on Rose Monday.

The tradition dates back to ancient pre-Christian times, when the coming of Spring signaled triumph over the demons of Winter. Men would dress up as evil spirits and demons in a rite of exorcism to rid the country of the supernatural powers that blanketed the land in snow and freezing temperatures.

Today, Karneval celebrations start punctually at 11 minutes past the 11th hour on the 11th day of the 11th month, and lasts throughout the Winter months until February and the coming of Lent. This German tradition is preserved in the U.S. by many German clubs and organizations who sponsor Fasching costume parties and celebrations.

If you would like more information on attending the Fasching party in Anaheim, contact CSCSB German Club President Jeff Espinosa, or club advisor, Miranda Munson, at 887-7445.

Cal State Marketing Association to Sponsor Advertising Seminar

by Greg Timpany

On February 23, the Cal State Marketing Association will be sponsoring another in its series of educational seminars. These seminars are designed to provide students the opportunity to listen to and speak with business professionals. The seminar will take place in the Student Union Multi-Purpose Room (SUMP) at 11 a.m. on Thursday, Feb. 23.

Speaking will be Ms. Darlene Clayton, Manager of Marketing for the Sun, both from the Sun's Advertising Department.

Did You Know?

A wide range of interesting and enjoyable projects are provided by the Student Services Committee here at CSCSB. Under the leadership and guidance of Tiffany Herrington, the committee offers services aimed at helping all students.

There is an escort service available, as well as an evening office service for night students. Other services include jazzercise and aerobic classes, and a number of dances. A career week is being planned for spring quarter, designed to help students gain information about the job market. There are also plans to provide legal aid to students.

These services are provided for the enjoyment of all Cal State students. If you have any questions or suggestions, be sure to see Tiffany in the Activities Office.

Special Interest In Parasitology

by Dolores Tirado

A colorful, friendly woman brightens our campus with her smile. Who am I talking about? Dr. Sarojam Mankau, our well-respected Biology professor. Dr. Mankau teaches introduction to Biology, Parasitology, Invertebrates, and Human Sexuality courses that she prepared and began teaching in 1972.

Dr. Mankau was born and raised in India, and she came to the U.S. with a B.A. in Zoology from the University of Madras. "I arrived in New York with only $8 in my pocket." Yet she was determined to become an independent woman, and truly she has reached high altitudes in her career.

Since arriving in the U.S., she finished her PhD. and she attended college. There are also several M.D.'s in her family, her husband has also been involved in the research of parasites in plants.

She was involved in a two-day workshop entitled, "Women in the Science World." The many women that attended were impressed by the panel of women scientists.

What Dr. Mankau likes the most about her profession is the contact she has with students. "I want to be able to play a role model for women students." She pointed out, "Women are usually frightened of entering the stereotyped, grim, dark world of Science in America. She is particularly interested in influencing minority women. She says they should go for what they want to do.

Dr. Mankau has been involved in the research of parasite's sex hormones. To make things more interesting her husband has also been working in parasitical research. Together this dynamic couple are currently working together in the research of Biological control of parasites in plants.

What does she like about Cal State? "Well," she says, "the scientific location and the informality of student contact."

Ask them why ingenuity and flexibility are as vital as adapting to a different culture. They'll tell you their students know Math is the key to a solid future. And they'll tell you that Peace Corps adds up to a career experience full of rewards and accomplishments. Ask them why Peace Corps is the toughest job you'll ever love.

The other thing she misses is "The pace of lifestyle, there is more time for interpersonal relationships." For this same reason she takes an escape route to Mexico to get away from it all every chance she gets.

Dr. Mankau is a very liberated women and one who is greatly admired. She showed me a letter she was very proud of, from a former student. It said, "Meeting you has made my life a little richer." This is proof that she is accomplishing what she has been living for.

Prostitution

during the day, it is the older man who works a steady job during the day who is able to afford a hooker. Most hookers charge fees in accordance with the social and financial environment of the area, so students are likely to obtain the services of a "working girl" for a reduced price.

Moses admits that prostitution is not a serious problem on this campus, and not a source of major concern. But that is not true of some other campuses, he claims. "At Cal State Fresno, prostitution is right out in the open. It's common in all the urban campuses of any school."

More serious crimes, however, are a source of concern on this campus. On Feb. 6, at Palm Library, during lunch hour, a student's bookbag containing personal effects and credit cards was stolen. "We call the library an area for the perfect crime of opportunity," Moses said. A bookbag is left unattended while a student searches for a book or uses a photocopier; someone else picks it up. "In some places, there are some organized and professional thieves on campus who are experts at stealing bags and purses left unattended for even a few seconds. The speed with which the thieves use the stolen goods is equally amazing."

"We've found that credit cards were used as far away as Tyler Mall in Riverside, within 30 minutes after a bookbag was reported stolen," Moses said.

In the case of the Feb. 6 theft, the student acted quickly and intelligently by reporting his stolen credit cards to the stores that issued them. In cases like this, Moses pointed out, Montgomery Wards has a system that automatically programs all cash registers within their stores to reject a card the moment it had been reported stolen. Unfortunately, not all stores and credit card agencies use this system, yet. Moses stressed the importance of preventing this type of crime by always keeping purses and bags in your possession at all times.

Peace Corps

Attention Biology, French, English, Health Science, Math, Nursing and Physics Majors... Peace Corps Representatives will be at the South Entrance of Cal State San Bernardino's Palm Library, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., on February 21 and 22. This is your opportunity to talk with a former Peace Corps Volunteer about what life in the developing world is really like. Don't miss it!
Movie Review

Silkwood

As director Mike Nichols' first major work since The Graduate, Silkwood is certain to garner an Oscar nomination for best picture. Steelwood is a forceful portrayal of midwest small town life, unionism, and the dangers of nuclear power. Meryl Streep will probably receive an Oscar for best actress for her portrayal of the somewhat often times funny, and always touching nuclear martyr, Karen Silkwood.

Donning a new hair style and a new nose is Cher as Karen's lesbian roommate, Dolly Pelacker. Cher's acting is quite a pleasant surprise, but the script sometimes betrays her. Kurt Russell as Karen's boyfriend, rises above his Walt Disney past, but falls short of Streep's calibre of acting.

Yentl

Barbra Streisand's new movie Yentl isn't great but it is one of the better films out right now. Yentl is a young Jewish woman who lives the life of a man in order to study, as well as for her direction of the film. Yentl's authentic settings, compelling acting, music, and touching story make a unique combination of family and adult entertainment. Unfortunately, Streisand's acting and directing does not always compensate for the sometimes very slow moving storyline.

Record Reviews

Last week's answers:

1) "Two For The Show," was the title of Kansas' live album. It is also one of their best albums.

2) The Grateful Dead's original vocalist/guitarist was Ron "Pigpen" McKernan.

This week's questions:

1) The song "Blinded By The Light" was most recently performed by Manfred Mann and his Earth Band. Who was the original writer and performer of the song?

2) Where was the guitarist/vocalist Sammy Hagar born?

Cal State Goes To Five Day Schedule

As much as most students cringe at the thought of 5 day a week classes that include Fridays, the extension of school days is necessary. Without this change, the campus couldn't receive additional building funds. Those funds will be necessary to meet the needs of this expanding campus. Class rooms during certain times and faculty offices are already at a premium. More classrooms, faculty offices, and creation facilities will be essential.

Although this change is necessary, the Cal State Chronicle hopes that there will be an abundance of Tuesday-Thursday classes available. Full-time employed students and students who commute from the desert will be hard put if they have to attend classes three of five days a week.

World Peace Near?

Many commentators have predicted that Soviet President Yuri Andropov's death will mean a greater chance for peace. President Yuri Andropov's predicted that Soviet U.S.S.R. is controlled more by a system than one person, and the collapse of the U.S. position, peace will have to change its paranoid containment policy. The U.S. change will have to include new leadership that does not buy into the "communists evil" concept. The U.S. change will have to mean a new president in November 1984.

COUNSELING CENTER HOURS CORRECTED

Thank you for your coverage of the counseling center in the Feb. 8 issue. I am delighted for any opportunity to let students know of our services. I would like to make a few corrections to the article. First, our office hours are 8:30-10 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Wednesday through Friday. Second, it is advisory to call and make an appointment as quite frequently all counselors are scheduled. Often students will have to schedule appointments two weeks in advance to find an opening that fits their schedules. In the case of a crisis situation, we do make every effort to see the student the same day. All students are welcome to use the services; we see many with relatively minor problems and concerns as well as those with problems of crisis proportions.

Thanks for another opportunity to advertise the counseling center.

Holy Black Licorice, Bat Man! What Goes on Here?

Both Greg and Chris have some very interesting arguments. But it seems to me that everyone is overlooking the whole picture! With two very intelligent and seeking minds available, why not have our own "Sneak Previews and Reviews" column with both Chris and Greg reviewing the same albums each week and each week's reviews consisting of different music categories (including jazz, classical, etc.)? I have a feeling this might be the start of something grand!

How about it, fellas? Do you take the challenge for a most positive and constructive solution? or do you just prefer to keep batting?
