Publication Board Names Jaques as Pawprint Editor

In a meeting November 7, the publications board named Ben Jacques as acting editor-in-chief of the Pawprint and created a journalism workshop to help improve the paper.

Hearing to be Held on Overcrowding

Subcommittees of the California Legislature Assembly Ways and Means Committee and Assembly Education Committee will conduct a joint hearing to be held Wednesday, November 19.

The hearing will consider testimony on the extent of overcrowment in the State Colleges, the ramifications on other segments of higher education, and how the problem can be prevented in the future. Sessions convenes at 9:30 A.M., in Room 115, State Building, 217 W. Pico Street, Los Angeles.

Recent reports indicate that many thousands of qualified students are being denied a chance for admission to the State Colleges who have brought about the heavy enrollments. Since these reports raise serious questions to the financial and fiscal impact of the State colleges, anyone interested in testifying before the committee should contact the Assembly Education Committee office in Sacramento, Room 812, State Capitol at the earliest possible date.

Chalk-in Slated

At the Friday there will be a chalk-in in the free-speech area. Chair and sidewalk will be available to anyone with something on his mind, said Mumer Hanafi, chalk-in planner.

The international Festival has been temporarily scheduled for December 4, from noon on, in the dive gate. People who can folk dance, folk songs, woodwind, lead decorations (Kool, Looch Monsters, etc.) are desperately needed. Interested persons should attend the Cultural Affairs meeting Friday the 18th at noon in the Library conference room.

The poetry reading scheduled for last Wednesday has been rescheduled for Wednesday, November 19, in the Little Theater.

The Pawprint

Published by the Associated Students of Cal-State SB
San Bernardino, California 92407

November 14, 1969

"Three Plays for Now"
Opening this Evening

Polish playwright Slawomir Mrozek shows himself to be an unorthodox master of the grotesque and sharp percent of politics in "The Martyrdom of Peter Ohey," one of "Three Plays for Now" opening tonight in the Little Theatre at 8:15.

Seventeen students of the Players of the Pear Garden have been in rehearsal over a month for the three plays which include "Joni Swain" and "Fireworks for a Hot Fourth Fourth" by Landford Wilson's "Ladлow Fair," directed by William Shott, assistant professor of drama. Each of the plays, written by contemporary authors offers a commentary on man's plight in an insensitive world, according to Shott.

Muner Hanafi plays the central character, "Peter Ohey." With him plays a 14-year-old high school student, Rick McClellan.

Performances continue to morrow evening as well as next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 20-22. All curtain times are at 8:15 p.m., except Saturday which matinee tickets are still available for this evening's premiere and for other performances. They may be purchased at the door or reserved in advance through the drama-music department office. C-102, extension 298. Student, faculty and staff admission is $1.25; $1.50 for others.

Student Power
Should Students Affect CSxCB Policies?

Should students be represented on the Faculty Senate? Serve on important College governing committees such as the Committee on Curriculum? If so, what should their role be?

Questions on these matters will be asked students next week in a questionnaire prepared by the Ad Hoc Faculty-Faculty-Policy-Making Committee, chaired by Professor Elliot Barkan, chair of the Curriculum and Academic Standards committee.

The questionnaire will focus on student representation to the Faculty Senate and to three standing committees - the most sensitive ones, says Barkan. These three committees are Tenure-Promotion, Tenure, Curriculum, and Admissions and Academic Standards.

For several months this ad hoc committee has been studying what part students should have in determining College policies and decisions affecting them.

Besides deciding whether or not students should serve on decision-making bodies and the nature of that possible representation, procedures for electing students to the governing bodies would have to be decided.

The committee's present work is, further, part of an overall study of representation, faculty in College decision-making, and the political role of students. The ad hoc committee hopes to realize the appointment of campus "editorial boards".

In most cases, this would entail the appointment of campus "student boards." The first five of the six resolves were passed in committee.

The resolve removed from the consideration of the faculty was the directive that all campuses follow one nine-point policy.

However, the fifth resolve was allowed to stand. This directed that campuses adhere to the Code of Ethics or Canons of Journalism of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the guidelines of the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

Earlier, a brief pool of campus editors was taken by GAVEL (cont. on page 2, col. 5)

Student Press Guidelines

The much-discussed student publication "control" policy was rejected at a recent California State College Board of Trustees meeting.

Barkan, committee chairman.

The Pawprint is coming

The Pawprint, the campus literary magazine, will be published some time before Christmas break according to Charles Clifton, advisor to the magazine which presents poetry, short stories, critical essays and articles.

Any member of the campus community interested in contributing to the magazine may do so by leaving a typewritten copy in the Pawprint box in the Humanities division office, said Clifton.

All contributions will be considered, and those not accepted will be available to the authors with comments, according to the editors.

Most of the space for the summer-fall issue has been filled, but there is still room for contributions for the winter-spring issue.

Dale Karr, who edited last spring's Pawprint Pear, is also editing the fall issue.

"Student Press Guidelines"

The General Assembly of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' policy was accepted and will be published some time before Christmas break according to Charles Clifton, advisor to the magazine which presents poetry, short stories, critical essays and articles.

Any member of the campus community interested in contributing to the magazine may do so by leaving a typewritten copy in the Pawprint box in the Humanities division office, said Clifton.

All contributions will be considered, and those not accepted will be available to the authors with comments, according to the editors.

Most of the space for the summer-fall issue has been filled, but there is still room for contributions for the winter-spring issue.

Dale Karr, who edited last spring's Pawprint Pear, is also editing the fall issue.
A Terrible Void

I believe it's not so much the often unclear political and moral arguments for or against the war that lead us to an understanding of its despicable inanity, but more personally experiencing the terror and loss associated with senseless death. As in realizing again and again that those one has known who were killed in the war will never return to the now empty space their lives once filled. Everyone remembers someone he knows who was killed in the war, remembers the high-school or college groupings of friends; one out of three that died or were maimed, the one out of four, a brother. Everyone remembers the funerals, sometimes one is a pall bearer, the American flags, the families, the words, thinking was there really a reason, thinking the words are waste.

And now there are more. Today others are killed, wounded. Then there are the perhaps 30-times more Vietnamese wounded or killed, so distant for the most part, yet so close and vivid to returning American soldiers.

To a large extent the name-calling and ideology-branding is only a screen to separate one from understanding the terrible void of war deaths. No one can honestly condone the brutality of the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese. But "neither, can it be read into one's objection to war," said delegates to the National Press Club this week. "They are people like our men in Vietnam who are fighting and giving their lives to protect a small country composed of human beings from the peril and domination of communism. Yes, that's right — 500,000 strong who almost unanimously are against the marxist-leninist demonstrations. Take the word of Tom McDonald of Breton, Ohio, who says: "I came in the Army as a draftee, and I am over here now, doing what I am supposed to do. I think the people back here are making things a little more difficult over here."

The silent majority are also people like the South Vietnamese. Their leader, President Thieu says: "Those defeatists, who continue advising unconditional troop withdrawals, are the diabolos of the free world because they accept capitulation. People who do not help us defend ourselves against the Communists may one day see thousands of people in their countries massacred like those in Hue. We ought to enlighten those who have never had any painful experience with the Vietnamese Communists. I mean the narrow-minded ones who are unable to see the dangers of Communism to all mankind. They are the Senators and Congressmen who stand for defenestration, the people who will organize a demonstration against the self-defense efforts of the South Vietnamese people and their allies against aggressive communism. I only ask the Americans to have the courage to enlighten those who have never had any painful experience with the Vietnamese Communists. I mean the narrow-minded ones who are unable to see the dangers of Communism to all mankind."

And now there are more. Today others are killed, wounded. Then there are the perhaps 30-times more Vietnamese wounded or killed, so distant for the most part, yet so close and vivid to returning American soldiers.

Playboy, currently estimates there are the perhaps 30-times more Vietnamese wounded or killed, so distant for the most part, yet so close and vivid to returning American soldiers.

To a large extent the name-calling and ideology-branding is only a screen to separate one from understanding the terrible void of war deaths. No one can honestly condone the brutality of the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese. But "neither, can it be read into one's objection to war," said delegates to the National Press Club this week. "They are people like our men in Vietnam who are fighting and giving their lives to protect a small country composed of human beings from the peril and domination of communism. Yes, that's right — 500,000 strong who almost unanimously are against the marxist-leninist demonstrations. Take the word of Tom McDonald of Breton, Ohio, who says: "I came in the Army as a draftee, and I am over here now, doing what I am supposed to do. I think the people back here are making things a little more difficult over here."

The silent majority are also people like the South Vietnamese. Their leader, President Thieu says: "Those defeatists, who continue advising unconditional troop withdrawals, are the diabolos of the free world because they accept capitulation. People who do not help us defend ourselves against the Communists may one day see thousands of people in their countries massacred like those in Hue. We ought to enlighten those who have never had any painful experience with the Vietnamese Communists. I mean the narrow-minded ones who are unable to see the dangers of Communism to all mankind. They are the Senators and Congressmen who stand for defenestration, the people who will organize a demonstration against the self-defense efforts of the South Vietnamese people and their allies against aggressive communism. I only ask the Americans to have the courage to enlighten those who have never had any painful experience with the Vietnamese Communists. I mean the narrow-minded ones who are unable to see the dangers of Communism to all mankind."

And now there are more. Today others are killed, wounded. Then there are the perhaps 30-times more Vietnamese wounded or killed, so distant for the most part, yet so close and vivid to returning American soldiers.

To a large extent the name-calling and ideology-branding is only a screen to separate one from understanding the terrible void of war deaths. No one can honestly condone the brutality of the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese. But "neither, can it be read into one's objection to war," said delegates to the National Press Club this week. "They are people like our men in Vietnam who are fighting and giving their lives to protect a small country composed of human beings from the peril and domination of communism. Yes, that's right — 500,000 strong who almost unanimously are against the marxist-leninist demonstrations. Take the word of Tom McDonald of Breton, Ohio, who says: "I came in the Army as a draftee, and I am over here now, doing what I am supposed to do. I think the people back here are making things a little more difficult over here."

The silent majority are also people like the South Vietnamese. Their leader, President Thieu says: "Those defeatists, who continue advising unconditional troop withdrawals, are the diabolos of the free world because they accept capitulation. People who do not help us defend ourselves against the Communists may one day see thousands of people in their countries massacred like those in Hue. We ought to enlighten those who have never had any painful experience with the Vietnamese Communists. I mean the narrow-minded ones who are unable to see the dangers of Communism to all mankind. They are the Senators and Congressmen who stand for defenestration, the people who will organize a demonstration against the self-defense efforts of the South Vietnamese people and their allies against aggressive communism. I only ask the Americans to have the courage to enlighten those who have never had any painful experience with the Vietnamese Communists. I mean the narrow-minded ones who are unable to see the dangers of Communism to all mankind."

And now there are more. Today others are killed, wounded. Then there are the perhaps 30-times more Vietnamese wounded or killed, so distant for the most part, yet so close and vivid to returning American soldiers.
Harper Appointed to Head Constitutional Revision Committee

By MARY WHITBY,
Senate secretary

Under new business the following five items were discussed: Tom McBride was appointed as Senate Parliamentarian; Mike Ross submitted a resolution to change the wording of the document concerning standing committees. This change now allows new members to be appointed at the expiration of terms at the end of the current school year — it read before that members were appointed indefinitely to a standing committee.

The Senate approved the appointment of Tom Filpait and Roger Wade to the Judicial Committee. Mike Ross was appointed to the Appropriations Committee to fill the vacated seat at the expiration of Mike Clark’s term on that committee.

It was decided by the Senate that there is a definite need for a Constitutional Revision Committee. Senate President Martin Brown appointed Ken Harper as Chairman to this Committee. It was decided that Ken would select the members of the Committee from students who express a concern and a desire to revise the Constitution of CSCSB. Under Old Business it was decided that several engineering graduate student’s associations have attested to the feasibility of designing devices and procedures which would comply with requirements given in the documents.

If the Nov. 26 deadline is met, the initiatives will be needed in gathering those signatures, delaying the placement until next November’s ballot.

People’s Lobby representatives state that an affirmative vote would be more possible in June when the ballot will have less important offices than the November one, assuming that these campaigns would cloud over the significance of the smog initiatives.

This weekend is almost the last chance to pick up registration packets and instructions at the Information Desk, Office of Admissions and Records, according to the following schedule.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Graduates and Seniors</th>
<th>Juniors</th>
<th>Sophomores</th>
<th>Freshmen</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 12</td>
<td>Nov. 23</td>
<td>Nov. 28</td>
<td>Dec. 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 19</td>
<td>Nov. 29</td>
<td>Dec. 9</td>
<td>Dec. 18</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students admitted after the pick-up date for their category will receive their packet by mail as soon as it can be prepared.

PREREGISTRATION

All students currently eligible to return for the winter quarter and all students admitted for the winter quarter may pick up their registration packets and instructions at the Information Desk, Office of Admissions and Records, according to the following schedule.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Graduates and Seniors</th>
<th>Juniors</th>
<th>Sophomores</th>
<th>Freshmen</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 14</td>
<td>Nov. 19</td>
<td>Nov. 24</td>
<td>Dec. 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 21</td>
<td>Nov. 29</td>
<td>Dec. 8</td>
<td>Dec. 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 28</td>
<td>Dec. 13</td>
<td>Dec. 17</td>
<td>Dec. 20</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students admitted after the pick-up date for their category may receive their packet by mail as soon as it can be prepared.

Students returning a completed registration packet and a check for their total fees to the Office of Admissions and Records will be in consideration for the best available housing for the winter quarter.

50¢ Off with this Coupon on a Large Pizza

By NANCY SAUNDERS

Saturday night’s concert, featuring Fair Befall, Middle Earth, and the Youngbloods, was a financial failure but a really good time for those who bothered to come. A crowd of an estimated 1,500 did attend; and, surprisingly enough, only a small minority of those were CSCSB students. Nevertheless, the atmosphere was pleasant and the music good. Fair Befall, composed of a girl lead and several guys, was slightly reminiscent of Janie Johnson on a really good time. At this point it is only speculative as to whether or not this concert was a success. The Youngbloods performed in conclusion and seemed tame compared to Middle Earth. They produced a polished, mellow sound that seemed quite professional. Many people left during their performance, which may be indicative of any number of things, but the Youngbloods were beautiful and the response was favorable.

At this point it is only speculative as to whether or not this concert was a success. The Youngbloods performed in conclusion and seemed tame compared to Middle Earth. They produced a polished, mellow sound that seemed quite professional. Many people left during their performance, which may be indicative of any number of things, but the Youngbloods were beautiful and the response was favorable.

A YOUNGBLOOD in concert here last Saturday evening. photo by Durt Chawning

Though Concert Loses Money

ASB President Barry Thompson recently expressed his satisfaction with the outcome of last Saturday night’s Youngbloods concert. Thompson said that in spite of the disappointing crowd of only 500-600 the show as not a failure.

He emphasized that this was the first time the ASB had sponsored a concert and that they had expected to lose about $500 in the new experience. They had lost, however, more than expected. He said the loss for the ASB amounted to about $1,900, and a similar amount had been lost by The Portable Head, who had produced the show.

Thompson gave as possible reasons for the poor attendance the competition with upcoming events at the Orange Show Grounds, confusion resulting from the miss-spelling of Eric Burdon’s name on handbills, and the inexperience of the ASB in sponsoring the show. He said he was pleased with the cooperation of those in charge and said a future concert was being planned for the winter quarter.
Letters (continued from page 2) and clear sight to remain here until we mobilize by enough military, economic, and political strength." (He also invites Americans against students to visit his country.)

The silent majority are the American people. The latest Gallup polls show that 77% of the public approved of the way President Nixon has been handling Viet Nam.

They are also schools like the College of Orlando, which did not allow classes to be cancelled, did not issue an official statement supporting the moratorium, and have not had a local rally, and did not allow students to post signs supporting the moratorium.

They are the students like the ones at Florida Technical University and the College of Orlando, who organized and supported a blood donors campaign for veterans wounded in Viet Nam. William G. Caldwell, Dean of Student Affairs at the College of Orlando says: "The College of Orlando, following its long-known concepts of Christianity and patriotism, dealt with the moratorium in its own way, and has followed the middle of the road in its teaching while supporting our government and the American way of life."

Think about this . . . most of the national coordinators for the moratorium have been identified with Communists or admit to being Communists. . . . Now, if you believe in peace — after you finish your demonstration — leave and continue your demonstrations on the streets of Moscow, Hanoi, Peking, Cairo, and Havana. This way you might show all of us your real purpose and the sincerity of your convictions.

JOHN THWINING

EUROPE JET FLIGHTS
For students, faculty and staff only
Los Angeles-London (Round-trip)
For application, write or call: LTS TRAVEL; 4246 Overland Avenue, Culver City, 90230 (213) 839-7591, (714) 682-3773

EXPERIENCE
ISRAELI LIVING
11 week program open only to students. Includes Europe and Mediterranean cruise. Call 883-1050 after 7 p.m.

---

College Still Accepting New Students

Cal State College at San Bernardino is one of five of California's 18 state colleges, still accepting students for the winter and spring semesters. It was announced early this month.

The enrollment at Cal State, San Bernardino is 1,772 for the fall term and school officials said yesterday that they can accept 600 more applications for the winter quarter.

Applications will be accepted until March 17 for enrollment in the Spring quarter.

California State College at Los Angeles became the 16th "closed campus" yesterday when admissions officer Alfred P. Fernandez announced that the college has reached its enrollment capacity of about 23,000 for the winter quarter.

The only other campuses still accepting students for the next class period, besides Cal State, San Bernardino, are Stanislaus, Fresno, Long Beach and San Fernando.

---

Job Agencies
Come on Campus Next Week

Next week three organizations will visit the campus to discuss with interested seniors programs of employment for graduate study.

On Monday, November 17, representatives from USC will be available to talk to Negro male seniors, who wish to pursue graduate study in Business at USC or another participating university. The program is called the Consortium for Graduate Study in Business for Negroes. Interested male seniors should reserve interview time today in the Placement Office, LA-2B.

On Tuesday, November 18, Mobil Oil Corporation will be on campus to discuss career employment opportunities with that company. Mobil opportunities include Marketing Representative (West Coast). Candidates may be Business Administration majors or Liberal Arts majors.

Contract Services Administration Trust Fund representatives will visit the campus on Thursday, November 20 to discuss opportunities in the entertainment industry. CSATF positions are primarily of the craft variety and the opportunities are for the behind-the-camera type employment. More information on the specific jobs currently available may be obtained in the Placement Office.

Students interested in talking to representatives from any of these agencies should reserve interview time in the Placement Office LA-2B as soon as possible.

---

Winter Baseball to Start

A Riverside winter baseball team is now being formed and anyone 16 years or older is invited to join. Games will be played on Sunday at 1:00 p.m. in the Sunset Baseball League. Other teams would be Rialto, Banning, Beaumont, Rohnert Park, and two San Bernardino teams. Uniforms will be furnished. For information contact L. E. Rankiqat 686-8177.

---

EARN MONEY WHILE AT COLLEGE
Wanted: A campus representative for a large tour operator. Specializing in student/faculty trips, charters, etc. Please phone 213-272-6423 for details.

---

Prescriptions
Baby Department

Cosmetics
L'Oreal Coty Revlon Alo Max Factor

Pearson's Pharmacy
open 9 a.m. - 8 p.m. Closed Sunday free parking
Marshall Shopping Center
Marshall at E
3148 E. St. next to Wincheis 882-3389

---

One of England's Most Inventive Rock Groups

Moody Blues
Tonight 8 P.M.
Swing Auditorium