BRADBURY'S LECTURE
"THE SPACE AGE
A CREATIVE CHALLENGE"

Ray Bradbury, dean of contemporary science fiction writers, will speak at California State College, San Bernardino at 8 p.m., Sunday.

"The Space Age: A Creative Challenge" is the title given by the author of "Fahrenheit 451" to his presentation at the college.

A prolific writer, Bradbury has achieved his widest fame for his science fiction although he has published 300 stories and 14 books of stories, novels and plays. He also wrote "The Martian Chronicles" which will be produced by the Paris Hilton production of "Moby Dick."

Bradbury formed his own Pandemonium Theatre Company to produce two of his plays; "The World of Ray Bradbury" and "The Fly." Receiving fine reviews from the critics, they played for 44 weeks at the Saroyen Theatre in Los Angeles.

The versatile author's most recent book of stories is "I Sing the Body Electric." He is now working on his first book of poems "When Elephants Weep." Continuing his authorial delight, he plans to script "The Picasso Summer," based on the paintings of Picasso, "Fourteen Lives That Met Between Tree," an animated history of Halloween.

Many critics praise Bradbury's work have ranged from the New Yorker and The New Republic to Mademoiselle, Playboy and Weird Tales.

Bradbury's lecture to CSCSB is sponsored by the college's Lectures and Public Affairs Committee.

Students Speak Out
"Fascist gun in the West" shoots again

Ronnie Reagan had an opportunity, once again, to support and maintain his label as the "Fascist gun in the west." The college community of Isla Vista, in Santa Barbara, came under the siege of national guard troops last week following the burning of a branch of the bank of America and several nights' violence. It seems as if the conspiracy trial has brought to light all the frustrations and oppressions felt by people who are living within a cleverly disguised police state. Reagan enjoys his little show-downs, but one of these days it just might erupt into a full-scale war, right on your own street.

Several students were asked, at random, the following question:

New Bay
Area College

LOS ANGELES

Six-member Citizens Liaison Committee today was appointed by the Board of Trustees of The California State Colleges for a future State College in San Mateo County.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dunke, whose recommendations the Trustees adopted, said the committee will assist the Chancellor's Office and Trustees in planning for the new Bay Area college.

"I am delighted that individuals of such high caliber and community standing have agreed to provide their talents and insights in helping us prepare for this vitally needed institution," Chancellor Dunke said.

The special examination schedule is as follows:

Classes meeting for two hours at a time on Monday and any other day of the week will take their examination at the time scheduled for the first hour the class meets, i.e., classes meeting from 1:00 - 3:00 on Monday and Wednesday will take their examination when other 1:00 classes are being examined.

Classes meeting for two hours at a time on Tuesday and any other day of the week will take their examination at the time scheduled for the second hour the class meets, i.e., classes meeting from 1:00 - 3:00 on Tuesday and Thursday will take their examination when other 2:00 classes are being examined.

Special Examination Periods Room P.S. 10
G.S. 101 and 202 Wednesday, March 18 8:00 - 10:00

JANET KAIN, Freshman, Anthropology: "Once again Reagan proved his strength in solving a difficult situation: violence. Bringing troops into Santa Barbara to dissolve all the frustration and heightening anger of the demonstrators is not my idea of quick thinking in an emergency. This action only leads to increased frustration and more intense anger towards the government. The demonstrators had my full sympathy and support. I think the burning of the bank was a direct result of the Police Department's action."

PSEUDO-SCIENTIST

To the Editor:

I must confess it was I, Maxine N. Gossett, the Pseudo-Scientist to whom Dane Bartholow referred, whose task it was to classify the campus vegetation. I must say I was very much amused by Mr. Bartholow’s scatterbrained ideas and his vehement gestures with which he addressed the Pawprint. He sounded very much like Professor Irwin Goff of the Biology Department. To hear him talk science has done more bad than good-I have found it also amusing that Mr. Bartholow chose to name the campus arboretum which is utilized by the Arboretum located on the Old Campus was on trial and it failed miserably...!!

The Welfare Department is in need of some help. After the most recent and annual Student Union Election, 253 persons rate a three out of five. This is according to the results of the Student Union Election. Our campus is an ARTIFICIAL one, but let's at least enjoy the NATURAL beauties of it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lee George

REAGAN

Governor Reagan addressed the California State Young Republicans Convention at the Airport-Marina Hotel in Los Angeles on the night of Saturday, February 7.

Judge Julius Hoffman recently sentenced all eight defendants in the Chicago trial and it failed miserably...!! Indeed, Mr. Hoffman's odious gavel. The tyranny of this court will long be remembered by those who care, and the streets of this country will never forget the march of the individuals.

Yes, Senator Agnew, Richard Daley, and Julius Hoffman, you may grin for you have won a battle, but you have lost the war. A whole evil society in this country will not be suppressed so easily. A few immature students in the audience were confused: there were good and bad points on both sides. The organization of the events was poorly conditioned. Of course, the whole affair was against the Vietnam war. However, when one asks the question, "What kind of knowledge seeker is going to be an influence over society and for the people," one is not likely to get an honest answer. Today is an age of politics. The whole affair was against the Vietnam war. However, when one asks the question, "What kind of knowledge seeker is going to be an influence over society and for the people," one is not likely to get an honest answer.

Lesson on Love

Upon reading the recent articles aimed at the drug issue, one question came to me asking, "Where is love?" Sound arguments or even blind criticism for or against drugs was confused: there were good and bad points on both sides. The organization of the events was poorly conditioned. Of course, the whole affair was against the Vietnam war. However, when one asks the question, "What kind of knowledge seeker is going to be an influence over society and for the people," one is not likely to get an honest answer.

Dear Editor:

As president of the newly reorganized CSUSB Young Democrats, I have the opportunity to reply to three articles printed in last week’s Pawprint by Young Republicans. These articles were centered on Senator John Harmer’s recent visit. The authors maintain that Mr. Harmer is not capable of speaking their views, whether they are right or wrong. The following are my comments, and I do not represent an official view of the Young Democrats.

Those who were in Harmer’s audience that day know what he said. The whole affair was against the Vietnam war. However, when one asks the question, "What kind of knowledge seeker is going to be an influence over society and for the people," one is not likely to get an honest answer.

The "Odd Couple" comes to Cal State

"The Odd Couple" consists of Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon. Matthau is a bleary-eyed, irresponsible slob in a sweatshirt. Lemmon is a weepy, fastidious housekeeper in an apron.

The two are forced by circumstances to set up house together in an eight-room apartment in New York. What follows is a hilariously funny domestic battle as the two find their ways incompatible.

The 105-minute color film from Paramount. Pictures was directed by Gene Saks, the director of " Barefoot in the Park." The delightful music score was performed by Neil Hefti. The screen play version of Neil Simon's play also stars John Fiedler, Monica Evans, and Carole Rhellev.

The entry rules are: 1) The contest is open to all graduate and undergraduate students enrolled at CSUSB. Previous award winners may submit collections; however, they must be other than their award collections. 2) The collections must consist of not less than 35 titles, nor more than 50. The books must be owned and collected by the student. 3) The book collection must be based on a unified theme. It can be a general library, a collection centered on a subject, or a collection of a single author or group of authors. Paperback collections are eligible. 4) Each contestant will submit (a) a paragraph that describes the motivation, background, and history of the collection; (b) a briefly annotated bibliography of the collection. These will not be returned. Entries should be submitted to Jeannette Bernhardt, Head of Public Services. 5) April 10th is the deadline for submitting entries. 6) Finalists will be asked to bring their book collections to the Library. Awards will be presented during National Library Week, April 12th - 18th. 7) Judges for the 1970 contest will be the Library Committee, Professors Bruce Golden, Richard E. Goodman, Kent M. Schofield, and George A. Welney.

The southern people threaten to turn them as menacing threats to their entire little set-up, kind of like an ant or white antigen. It's really too bad that people's insecurity leads them from over integration to pigeonholing to absolutism. This sort of rigidity robs living of its looseness or a too insecure leads them from one way or another.

Captain America's statement, "We blew it" seems very trite in retrospect. If they end it, the end of "Easy Rider." Do you think they blew it?

Overseas

The following March will be the second theme at an overseas university. They met in the winter of 1968 while attending the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, and were married after their return. Ronald Thomas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Thomas of San Bernardino, is a 1966 graduate of Pacific High School in San Bernardino. His wife is a Kanan and was graduated from the Sterling, Kan., high school.

McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erie A. McCall of Simi, is a graduate of Simi Valley High School in Santa Susana and attended Mission College prior to enrolling at CSUSB.

Prater, a 1968 graduate of San Bernardino High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Prater of San Bernardino. He has been granted four years' graduation from SBHS.

Participants for the overseas program are state college system are chosen by campus and college have a psychiatrist, or psychologist, or social worker to assist students in dealing with pressures put on them by changes in an overseas university. They met in the winter of 1968 while attending the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, and were married after their return.

Wright calls for complete withdrawal of our troops. He feels that "there's no reason to have American boys stationed there and killed simply to prevent a civil war." Wright also calls for a change in our attitude toward the drug abuse problem. He feels that it should be treated as a mental health problem. He believes that those who are drug addicts are that way because of some mental problem; such persons should thus be given psychological treatment rather than a prison sentence.

A proposal of Mr. Wright's, a solution to the welfare problem, would be to enroll children from welfare families in twelve-month programs when they get into the last two years of high school, junior college and possibly at the state college level. Students would spend three months in a job training program, then three months in the classroom studying related subjects. The program could provide instruction at all levels, from auto mechanic to bank clerk. The schools could participate by using some of the older students as teacher aides in some of the lower level.

To help students meet the challenge of a changing world, Wright proposes that each school and college have a psychiatrist, psychologist, or social worker to assist students in dealing with pressures put on them by changes in their lives.

Wright is from Ruxbey, Massachusetts. He received his education at Boston University, the University of Omaha, and Antioch College. He is enrolled in the doctoral program at Claremont Graduate School.

Before he came to Chaffey College, Professor Wright had experience in the public schools of Dayton, Ohio, and Los Angeles. He also taught at the University of Dayton and the Central State University.

Wright filed his papers for the Democratic nomination last Tuesday. He is the first Democratic congressional candidate from the West End in over thirty-four years.

Robert Goss

BY MICHAEL ZLAKET

Professor Robert Goss is an instructor of German in the Humanities Division of CSCSB. He has been here since the fall of 1966.

Professor Goss received a good part of his educations in West Germany. In the late 1950's, he was an undergraduate at UCLA. Before he graduated, he decided to fulfill his military obligation. He enlisted in the Army and was subsequently stationed in West Germany. After his discharge from the Army, he stayed there for awhile.

He spent one semester at the Cologne Music University, where he learned to play the clarinet. He then studied the German language at the University of Hamburg for approximately two and a half years. He studied, mainly, old German dialects.

After his stay in Germany, he came back to America, received his B.A. from UCLA in 1961. He majored in German. He then spent the next three and a half years at CSU, Los Angeles as a teaching assistant. He received his M.A. in 1965.

After he spent a semester at Fresno State College, he came to CSCSB. After he came to CSCSB, he enrolled in the Ph.D program at UCSC.

Professor Goss's specialty in German is the field of modern literature. Although this college does not have a German Department, or offer a major in German, he has been instrumental in developing CSCSB's German curriculum. He and Mrs. John, Professor Goss organized the first intensive language course. The course, which was Grade Retention, subsequently was absorbed by another department.

Mr. Goss has not confined himself entirely to teaching German. He has organized the General Studies Senior Seminar, "Alienation, Individuality, and Community." He alone is responsible for the organization and instruction of that seminar.

Europe

Travel

Be mobile

In Hawaii

"Sea Hawaii" has devised a new tour concept for the college market. It emphasizes mobility, adventure, and low cost. This type tour was created to meet the available tours to Hawaii which are designed mainly for the retired and emphasize low fares and rigid itineraries along with accommodations in luxury hotels for the affluent budget.

The "Sea Hawaii" concept is a no-tour tour. This means that escort and trip direction will be provided as little, if anything, as you like. The tour will be divided into groups of 4 and each group will have its own car for the entire trip and complete freedom of travel.

One major highlight will be a 2-day and 2-night voyage on the schooner Viajero out of Lahaina, Maui, toiber to offering and seldom seen beaches along the shore lines of Maui and Lanai. There will be campouts on beautiful white sand beaches. Indoor accommodations will be provided for all excursions to heavy rainfall areas and in Honolulu.

Airfare is provided round-trip from L.A.S.F.F. and, to Hawaii, for all inter-island trips at Hawaii. The only additional cost would be food. This could be arranged on your own; begin your tour in January of 1970. All this for a total cost of $259.

Intellectualize while in Europe

Students, faculty, and alumni of California college and universities are invited to join San Diego State's SUMMER UNIVERSITY ABROAD.

Leaving Los Angeles on June 25, and before returning August 7, the group will fly to Amsterdam, Paris, and London. Three weeks will be spent at France's University of Grenoble, with weekend excursions on the Rhine and into nearby Germany and Switzerland. Courses are held by the Foreign Study League, this country's leading international school system.

Total cost for the study tour is $995.00, which includes travel, meals, rooms, and sightseeing. Up to six units of optional credit may be earned at San Diego State. Credit is based on extension tuition fees of $114.00. Courses to be offered include the Culture and History of Europe and the Contemporary World in Part. All perspective classes will be conducted in English by a staff of American and European professors.

Tour highlights include: In Rome, a visit to the lighted fountain (fontana dell'Acqua Paola), the Baths of Caracalla, the Appian Way, and the Sixtine Chapel in addition to tours of the Capitol.

The Paris segment will include an 8-day night tour on the River Seine, a sunset cruise, and an evening at the Louvre, a visit to the art quarter of Montmartre, and a tour of the palace of gardens of Louis XIV at Versailles. A stay in Amsterdam will feature a tour of the Rijksmuseum, and ride through the canals and harbor of the city.

In London, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament, and the Bridges and Tower will be seen. This will also include visits to Greenwich, The Tower of London, and Stratford-upon-Avon.

Field trips out of Strasbourg include two days to Alsace to Colmar, and the Black Forest and Freiburg. A three-day trip will travel north to Bingen for the Rhine River journey, then up the Mosel to Trier and back to Strasbourg.

A primary feature of this summer abroad will be the program of free time to follow individual and unplanned variations from the standard program.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Prof. Nelson F. Norman, Dept. of History, San Diego State, San Diego, Ca. 92115.

carrying a sign. I had came merely to listen, and carried neither sign nor button. Finally, Bruce Carey refers to "a Mexican-American student who stood up and made an ass of himself" by bringing the group under control, something which Carey himself could not do. Fortunately, for Chuck Grey and Mark Fitzgerald, they ignored the affair much too fairly, voiding name calling and blank incitement.

John Harmer's self-control was admirable. However, I doubt his motives. He seemed to speak out of both sides of his mouth. In a pamphlet covering his views on education and cultural background. He is evidently the only great hesitancy.

Senator Harmer is NOT THE MAN to serve the state of California as Attorney General. He thinks in purely legal terms, unable to empathize with oppressed and disadvantaged people. Harmer cannot truly understand anyone not his equal in education and cultural background. He is evidently the voluntary pawn of a California status quo unwillling to see the rise of Blacks or Mexican-Americans. It was quite ironic that he told a black student: "I don't care what you think!"

Rather than actively confronting a man so unwilling to change his thinking, we students simply have walked out after his main speech. Lack of support or cooperation is the best weapon we leaders of tomorrow have to fight reactionary politicians of today. Our day is coming, but for now we must consolidate and gain strength.

Bruce Carey and Maxie Gossett are not better than the "closed-minded fools" and "asses" they condemn when they use similar tactics. Intimidation can come from sanctimonious conservatives as well as active liberals.

There is a way to fight recalcitrants like John Harmer, but it isn't as simple as disrupting speeches. Support an opposing candidate! If you can't find a man who suits you in the existing political structure, help reform it.

This is the aim of the Young Democrats: to bring the hopes and fears of America's youth to the Democratic Party. We don't feel America needs revolution, but understanding. We invite all imaginative and eager people to join us next Tuesday, March 10 at 10:00, in P.S. 11. You don't have to be a member of the Democratic Party only concerned about the future.

Raging battles take a trip

The rawprint has recently been the scene of a raging battle over the pros and cons of the drug experience. Both points of view have been expressed at length and with great expense of energy. However, if this debate might improve considerably.

There are and there are trips, but everyone seems to be ignoring perhaps the greatest experience there is: I am not speaking of the marijuana trip, or the religious trip, or the natural-high-on-life trip. The most enjoyable is the sex trip. This experience encompasses all the above-mentioned scenes.

Sex is a drugged state, the supreme drug in nature's arsenal of human experiences. It is a religious state, one of the few tangible intimations we have of a god-force. And it is the ultimate natural high. The sex trip does not require a push or a priest to administer or make it available. Rather, it is a self-induced state, requiring only a partner willing to make the trip.

There is, however, one drawback. Although the sex trip does not in itself lead to "heavier" stuff, it can become addictive or at least habit-forming. For this reason, it is apparently approached with caution by those not up to it.

By NANCY SAUNDERS

Last Friday morning a group of students (who will remain unidentified for security purposes) sat solemnly and contemplated the hassle which their brothers and sisters in Isla Vista were going through. They also reflected on all the rest of the calous insanity that has been allowed to perpetuate throughout the world. One brave revolutionary suggested the possibility of lowering the flag to half-mast in members of all the bull that has been going down lately; and, specifically, in sympathy for demonstrators in Santa Barbara who had the guard lowered their flag a second time. A passer-by was informed that such a foul misled could result in suspension.

Later that afternoon, Frank Moore went to the police headquarters (next door to the Pawprint office) and confessed as being the one who lowered the flag. An appointment was arranged for Monday with Dean Monroe and Frank then explained what had occurred. He was told by Monroe that if the flag was lowered they would merely raise it again, but, if it were burned, the person or persons responsible would be subject to suspension.

I noticed a strange thing as a passer-by was informed that such a foul misled could result in suspension. Would you notice if Reagan's guard made an armed camp out of CSUSB? I bet you would.
