No survey being taken

For three months two white, male students have been polling students of Cal State San Bernardino stating they are taking a survey for the University of Chicago. They are contacting mostly female students. They phone them at random times give a list of $20 questions to make them vote and then ask if they want to vote and then ask if they want to vote the questions are in no way related or pertinent to the college.

There is no survey being conducted by the University of Chicago. The purpose of it is not known. Anyone wishing to give information when contacted do so at their own risk.

After this issue failing with an increase in enrollment which will prevent space for instructional and related purposes.

A student center for social, cultural, recreational uses to be provided by the students through the Union fee.

The election is over and there will be no Union for 1972.

$50,000 in old cans
Thar's glitter in that litter
Want to earn $50,000. Just gather up all the empty aluminum beverage cans used in the San Bernardino area in one year and take them to Bard Distributing Co. The offer is not facetious. Bard, a San Bernardino beer distributor, has joined with Adolph Coors Co. of Golden, Colo., in an effort to reduce litter and at the same time give youth organizations a chance to earn money for their projects.

Bard will pay any organization 10 cents a pound for all types of aluminum cans. They must be all-aluminum, must be mashed flat, and must be brought to Bard's warehouse at 223 S. G st. Monday or Tuesday of any week between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Monday or Tuesday of any week.

Fred Nottling, Bard's vice president and general manager, estimated that between $45,000 and $50,000 worth of cans, at 10 cents a pound, are lying around.

This is based on estimates of beer consumption per capita sold in aluminum cans in the San Bernardino area in 1969.

"FASCISTS!", "pig", these are popular words with youth today. Why? Because those who would be reformers, the escape to using such words provides a haven and license for youth to express themselves even without even knowing why. They just know it works. It is easy to do and readily it is that it is cool to watch a building burn. The odds are that most of these will not ever know what fascists and pigs really are. It is irresponsible like this which is destroying our country and hampering the reform movement.

IS Ronald Reagan a fascist? Are politicians? Politicians are a race of Fascists, views are not advocated by Gov. Reagan. Police are not pigs, they are law enforcement, they are human beings trying to perform a service for the people.

Yet, "student leaders" and "pig callers" should try putting your precious education to practical use. The means of strength to change or the system at its own game. It requires intelligence and guts to rationally change a system. It requires intelligence and guts to compete with an established system and conquer it. It requires intelligence and guts to act against the will of the system and to overcome a superior adversary. In fact, the wanton name callers and destruction is easier to do because they can do nothing but wallow in the pig pens of despair. Who are these people trying to "save democracy as we know it.

"Bands of youth," these are the words that are in all the papers, on television and radio in reference to the tragic burning of the Cal State branch of the Bank of America. Who composed these bands and what right did they have to be there?

Who is to blame? Should the blame fall on defense attorney William Kunstler and his cohorts or on John or John Hoffman? No, not alone. There were groups of people involved, and the tragic part is that many of those were students.

Bank of America: that was no prank. That was a planned criminal act.

Bands of young people blocked traffic and burned and targeted a bank in San Francisco. Ugliness was there to be seen and the smell of tear gas and burning plastic was there in the air.

National guard troops were called in by Gov. Ronald Reagan when a state of extreme emergency was declared.

As reported on Feb. 9 when police deputies on patrol stopped a former college student from the Santa Barbara campus who had been expelled. A group gathered around the officers and the youth, who had been under a car,0, in injuries to the officers and the nearby spectators.

That evening eight fires were set in the Iva Vista area near the campus. Windows were smashed in stores and the Bank of America was burned.

The after effects of this action: Gov. Reagan asked the Attorney General to investigate the leadership of the groups involved and to prosecute and not Mr. Kunstler and Mrs. Robin crossed state lines to incite a riot.

I am a student. I and many of my fellow students are the ones that will save democracy as we know it. I and other students are the ones that will come before the voters they won't forget these actions. It becomes easier for voters to defeat bonds and thus deplete educational resources. How tragic.

A minority of the students are being heard from all over the United States, and for what? For their irresponsible speeches and their destruction.

When the word "student" is mentioned, fear appears in the eyes of many people. Why? Because the only thing they associate with the word is violence. Where are all the students I see attending classes every day, working their ways into successful, secure portions. Where are those of you who didn't vote because you weren't going to be around any longer? Where are yourselves, the students?

Thank goodness for democracy and the right to express ourselves and the right to oppose militancy, but heaven help us all if we lose the fight to save democracy as we know it. D.E.C.

No union for state

The ballots have been cast and counted. There will be no Student Union at Cal State San Bernardino. Apparently not enough students were interested to get out and vote. Those who were short sighted may or may not feel the results. However, those remaining who did, those who enter CSCBC will long remember the school spirit shown this year.

When problems occur, students will have to search long and far for their resolutions. If there are to be dances, there's always the gym. When there are guest speakers, they can always find an unoccupied classroom where a small number of students may attend. But that's all right; there's enough life in this campus to generate the necessity for a nice place to meet.

Those of you students who got out and worked to make a union a reality; you should be proud of your efforts. Don't give up. Some day there will be more like you.

Those of you who were selfish enough to vote "no"; you are running out on more than just a concrete building. For you who didn't vote because you weren't going to be around to use the Union, I have but one retort; If in the future your children come to you complaining because there are no facilities with which to expand their horizons, you have only yourself to blame. You made your choice.

Those of you students who did not vote because you were too busy trying to assimilate the ingredients necessary to join the system, or just too busy to be bothered, may you some day realize your errors.

Cal State, some day students will have enough desire and need to solve their problems and meet their needs before wasting their time in immaturely mocking speakers or selfish dissociation from others.

We do care

Some of us tolerate the games of certain groups on this campus such as tampering with the flag or harassing guest speakers because we realize children have nothing better to occupy their time. However, when they become involved with politics, this is trouble because it is to do the dirty work and take the blame just to see yourselves in print, this day and forever. This is why I urge political leaders to pass the so-called "hate crimes" bill. It will stop harassment.

Perhaps you should reevaluate your motives. Just what is it you are really trying to do just that — find a workable solution to this problem; and there are some of us who are attempting to do just that — find a workable solution. Because we realize there is a problem and we DO CARE. And remember — this is one person on campus who does not intend to remain silent or to be amused by you. We intend to remain and to saw your heads off. We intend to keep your destruction of property coil, ruined lives. We have had enough of both.

Proposition 1 is the result of legislation I authored last year. It was placed before the voters as the 2 primary election ballot by an overwhelming vote of the Legislature. It was approved by the Assembly 74-30 and by the Senate 29-14.

More Californias are now covered by some form of health insurance and health care in unprecedented numbers.

The State's population is expected to increase six million during the next 10 years. In other words, the voters, at the ballot box, today's critical shortages will become monumental within a short time.

UNION

Students planning to attend summer session at CSCSB do not need to be formally admitted to the college prior to the deadlines announced by the Admissions Office.

Being repeated this year because of the interest is an eight-week course in organic chemistry, said Dr. Rose. A full year's credit may be earned in the all-day class. The equivalent of two quarters of work in French, Spanish or German will also be available in the six-week term. With the addition of the August post-session, students in Spanish may complete a year's sequence in nine weeks.

Courses in education, ranging from basic work through workshops and advanced offerings, will focus on major contemporary problems and challenges facing the teaching profession, said Dr. Rose. Afternoon workshops during the first half-term, June 22-July 10, will deal with elementary and secondary curriculum; in the second period, July 18-August 1, a special seminar will deal with unique concerns of junior high school teachers and administrators.

During the six-week term courses will be offered in: General Studies, art, biology, business administration, drama, education, English, French, German, Spanish, history, mathematics, music, philosophy, political science, psychology, social science and sociology.

Seminars listed in the summer catalog will include: "Violence, a social issue," "Violence in films," "Violence in the home," "Understanding Revolution and Progress," a study in modern European history; "Issues in the 1970 election; and government which will be factors of American minorities are included in the summer offerings.

Every American has a right to walk the streets in safety. No policeman should be allowed to obscene this right. Your wife or husband, son or daughter ought to be safe in visiting a supermarket or a bank — regardless of whether another may choose to respect it as an oncous right.

It is for these reasons that Bank of America reopened its Isla Vista branch on Monday, March 9.

Is that a bad business decision? Perhaps in a narrow sense it is. But they believe that at some time and in some parts of the United States, they must decide as to whether they intend to have their lives, ruled by a violent minority. Bank of America is but one bank, but they have decided to take their stand in Isla Vista.
VIOLENCE IN AMERICA

One Company’s Position

Isla Vista, California, population 11,250.
The business district consists of a couple of gas stations, a few small shops, some real estate offices—and a bank. A large campus of the University of California is nearby. All in all, a normal American suburban community—perhaps very much like the one you live or work in. Normal, that is, until Wednesday, February 25, when violence shattered the peaceful calm of Isla Vista.

At about 8:30 p.m. on the night of February 25, rampaging demonstrators—students and non-students—protesting the “capitalist establishment” converged on the community’s small business district.

Several protesters rolled a gasoline-soaked trash bin through a smashed front door in a Bank of America branch and set it ablaze. Other students extinguished the fire. But just before midnight, with the angry crowd in a frenzy, the branch was set ablaze again. While police and fire officials were held at bay by a rock-throwing mob, the bank was gutted by fire and totally destroyed. A police patrol car was overturned and burned. Numerous other fires were started. Windows were smashed and life and property threatened.

These events took place in a community called Isla Vista. They could have happened in your community. They can happen anywhere and with even more disastrous results.

Why did the eruption in Isla Vista take place?
Participants in the violence say it was a protest against the “capitalist establishment,” “the war in Vietnam,” “the Chicago trial,” “student repression,” “police brutality,” and a list of other grievances against America in 1970. Some of these grievances are real, some are fanciful and others are false. But all deserve to be aired. To the degree that they are not aired, are not taken seriously, Americans break faith with their young.

But all Americans, young and old, liberal and conservative, lose by violence. Violence and destruction are the seeds of anarchy and tyranny—whether it be the tyranny of the extreme right or the extreme left.

We believe the time has come for Americans to unite in one cause: a rejection, total and complete, of violence as a means of political dissent.

All of us, young or old, liberal or conservative, have for too long been silent on the issue of violence. We have been afraid of labels or slogans that would brand us as either arch conservatives or traitors to a liberal cause. Such sloganeering does all of us a grave injustice.

Let us, as a nation, find once again our ability to distinguish between protest and revolt; between dissent and chaos; between demonstration and destruction; between non-violence and violence.

Let us cease to condemn those who disagree with us, but let us also be prompt and resolute in putting an end to violence in our land.

To this end we applaud the courageous response of many dedicated public officials. They deserve the cooperation of all citizens. They will have ours.

Every American has a right to walk the streets in safety. No polemic should be allowed to obscure this right. Your wife or husband, son or daughter ought to be safe in visiting a supermarket, a filling station or a bank—regardless of whether another may choose to reject that institution as an onerous symbol.

It is for these reasons that we re-opened our Isla Vista branch on Monday, March 9. We realize that there is danger in this course of action. But we believe the greater danger to ourselves and to all of the people in this nation is to be intimidated by mob violence. We refuse to be so intimidated.

Is the branch worth this much? In monetary terms, the answer is no. It is not, and never has been particularly profitable. But it is there to serve the banking needs of the community and we refuse to be driven out of any community by a violent few.

Is this a bad business decision? Perhaps in a narrow sense it is. But we believe that at some time and in some place Americans must decide whether they intend to have their decisions, indeed their lives, ruled by a violent minority.

We are but one bank, but we have decided to take our stand in Isla Vista.
