March

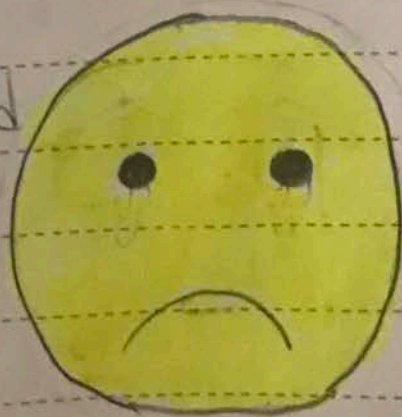

It's my senior year in high school and they just announced the school closure because of Covid-19. This was supposed to be a perfect year considering that it is 2020; it is the worst. In my community it is a chaos right now because everybody is buying toilet paper and supposedly they are going to close all grocery stores. I can't believe that all of this is happening!

April

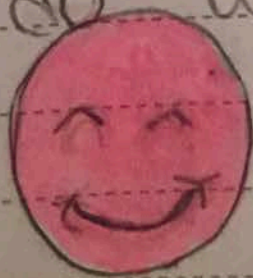

There is not much work for my highschool classes because it's virtual therefore, I've been drawing so that I can feel normal for a moment. I haven't talked to all of my friends in a while, I have only talked to one. I actually feel trapped because I really can't go out, only to buy groceries. I mean people are going out and everything but, it is dangerous to be honest. Today, I drew a portrait which was awesome because it is my first time that I do a good job.

May

This year has been tough therefore, there is not going to be a big graduation ceremony for the class of 2020, but there is going to be a small one. I actually miss all of my friends and just having a normal day overall in school. I heard there are Covid cases in my community and it is scary. My friend introduced me to a game so, I've been playing it almost everyday but, I don't really like it anymore therefore, I'll just look for a new one.

June

It's June and all I've been doing is drawing and reading. Actually, I've been watching Spongebob because it's my favorite cartoon! I think that this month has been kind of calm. I am no longer a high school student and it means that I won't be able to be with all of my friends because some of them are going to different universities. I am excited to go to Cal State San Bernardino!! Most of my friends are going there which is pretty cool.

July

I am kind of sad that I won't be able to go to Mexico because I miss my family from over there. I also wanted to go because I wanted to have some fun with my cousins but, I mean we really can't because of the pandemic. I've been watching the news a lot and it just gives me anxiety therefore, I am trying to stop. In addition, I am going to start college next month and I'm kind of nervous, but it's normal!!

August

I'm excited and nervous because I'm starting college next week! Wow... I was barely a high school student about three months ago. Anyway, summer vacation is over for me and Covid cases are even higher, which is giving me a lot of anxiety... Also, I'm nervous because I don't know how my professors are going to be like but, I'll try to settle down. Also, I just finished another portrait!!

September

I can't believe it's September!! Well, Covid-19 cases are increasing here in California which is certainly crazy. Anyway, I have been listening to music lately and just talking with my friend which is pretty awesome. It's kind of weird that my first year in college is actually virtual. In addition, I have talked to some of my classmates, but I haven't drawn in a while because I haven't had time lately.

October

This month has been sort of stressful because I have a lot of homework!! In addition, I've been having a lot of anxiety lately because of the virus and I'm so tired of that. Can everything be normal... Anyway, I had some "time" to call my friend and I got ask how she is doing and it was nice talking to her either though it was for 25 minutes. I haven't seen her since, school closed.

November

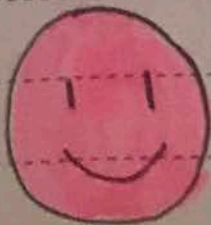

It's been pretty windy this month and kind of cold in the night. I'm actually excited because it's almost my friend's birthday. Woo hoo! I feel like going to her house and giving her a big hug but, I can't so, I will just try to do something from long distance. Also, this semester is almost over which is crazy because I feel like I've only been there five weeks. Anyway, school is going to get tough because finals are almost here!! Also, I just finished a chapter of my book called "The Sun Is Also A Star".

December

I can't believe that this semester is almost over and I am kind of sad because I will miss my classmates and professors. This year was certainly stressful or I mean it is currently stressful!

I am kind of happy that I will have time for myself after this because I might start painting and not just drawing. By the way, I tried to draw a portrait and I am kind of bad because I mostly stopped when college started. Anyway, I hope to start as soon as possible!!

Meaning of Each Color

- Orange = Mad
- Yellow = Unstable
- Blue = Sad
- Purple = Irritated
- Pink = Happy

The section for games is based on the games I played during that month.

The Artist section has the name of the singer and their song that I listened to during that month.

There's a date on top of each page and that is when I wrote for that month.
