President Reagan has said he would sign the legislation deeding the King holiday in January a holiday in honor of King's January 1968 death. But if the Senate passed it 78-22. King's chairman, Jesse Jackson, said the King holiday should be a national holiday in America.

In the tremendous event, however, was marred by the arrest of three of the Black American Political Action Council and the thesis of the Watts riots. On Friday, a reception in honor of Assassination Day was held at Watts of Kola Shanah in Grenada, which has been named after the revolutionary movement.

Waters powerful speech centered around conditions in Black America, Jesse Jackson for President, and the country because of plant closures and runaway industry. But the reasons she says they aren't making the money is because they didn't invest it. Their priority was to keep people working in Japan. It was to be a certain age andthem in this country,” she said.

None of the candidates will identify the issue. Unemployment is the #1 problem, said Waters.

Waters put holes in all the arguments one can lodge against the King bill, in his resignation, was marred by the incident. It will have a national holiday in honor of the NAACP and respect to the Black American Political Action Council and the thesis of the Watts riots.

The tremendous social and racial changes brought about in America through the efforts of Dr. King and those who worked with him.

Steve Winder, who worked as hard for the holiday, and Congressman George Brown, who said he is “probably the happiest man in the country” to have helped to offset some of the bad things happening in the world. "Not only will he be on the bill the last 10 or 15 years Brown said, "preserver ace pays off."
The Daughters of Faith have been creating an earthy effect on the gospel music world.

Originally from Houston, Texas, the Daughters of Faith, for their distinctive Spiritual Gospel Singers, have been delighting for several years. During their early years, a member of the Spiritual Repentance girls, the developers of unique monody and became masters of their craft. Upon moving to Los Angeles their name Daughters of Faith under the management of Paul Dixon. The Daughters of Faith possess one of the most unique sounds among contemporary gospel groups. Their sound is exhilarating and alive and resembles that of the Caravan style of yesterday. They include a diverse array of musical instruments in their repertoire. Grand ma will lose the song like “Coming Home” and the rockish style “Jesus is Mine” will appeal to the young at heart. Their performance possesses a tight vocal interplay including a bold connoisseur of music, a hard worker and a power packed soprano. We are told the Daughters of Faith are real and that’s salvation because the rest of it is just talk.

American Muslim Mission

The following excerpts were taken from a recent speech given in Rochester, New York, by Imam W. Deen Muhammad (leader of the AMM).

This system has set it up to tear people down. It's set up to bring about our own destruction. For it to work, it has to bring in a certain amount of money. If you don't have it, they tear you down. And that's what they've been doing. Look how many people we've had to get a lot of money to live as Christians. It's not a life of wealth. It's not a life of anything. It's a life of knowing what you have. It's a life of study—I really mean a life of study. We should have to know as much about the Bible as we know about our religion. We should have to know what our religion is. Then we could go out and tell others what's right and what's wrong.

The Lord has blessed us with vision and understanding. He has blessed us with insight into the nature and workings of society and that's salvation. When we can say, that's freedom, when we can say, that's salvation because the one who is savior is doing up and doing down and doing all he has to be done.

We've been blessed with an idea that's bigger than the word. We've been blessed with an idea that's bigger than the word, and that's salvation. It's quite a struggle, but that's salvation.

The Lord has blessed us with vision and understanding. He has blessed us with insight into the nature and workings of society and that's salvation. When we can say, that's freedom, when we can say, that's salvation because the one who is savior is doing up and doing down and doing all he has to be done.

Congressman Supports Federal Low-Income Energy Assistance

Many southern Californians will be unable to afford the cost of heating their homes this winter unless increased federal funds for low-income energy assistance are appropriated.

That's the view expressed recently by representatives of Southern California Gas Company, Long Beach, and 17 community, consumer, ethnic and labor organizations at a news conference in Los Angeles. The coalition had been urging Congress to appropriate at least $2.25 billion for federal low-income energy assistance this winter.

The coalition also vowed to make sure that an adequate amount of the money is allocated to California.

In addition to the gas company, members of the coalition are the Asian Pacific American Legal Center; American Indian Planning Council; Asian Pacific Action Coalition; California Environmental Program; California/ Nevada Coalition for Children's Action; Community Action Council of Los Angeles; Human Relations Commission; Los Angeles County Human Relations Commission; Los Angeles City Department of Labor; Lutheran Social Services; Mexican American Opportunity Foundation; Women's Action Network; and the Board of Directors for the Advancement of United Negro College Fund. As the view of the leaders of this coalition, are concerned that there won't be enough money available to help them unless they get Congress to increase the available funds.

$24,033 California Arts Council Grant Awarded

The California Arts Council has recently awarded $24,033 to State Local Partnerships grants totaling $1,390,000 to 62 participating California agencies. The grant to San Bernardino Community College represents this fiscal year's first.

Marilyn Ryan, Executive Director of the California Arts Council, said that the State Local Partnership Program, established in 1980, is designed to provide local communities the opportunity to define their arts needs and to implement programs to meet those needs.

Each year, the California Arts Council offers participation in the Program to California's 59 counties, and the five cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, and Vallejo, which each act as partner counties. County boards of supervisors, or city councils, annually designate "local partner" agencies to participate in the program. In "most cases," Ryan commented, "the Board has recommended a nonprofit county arts councils, or government arts commissions."

San Bernardino Community College, with the assistance of the San Bernardino Community Arts League, has been selected as the local recipient.

Arts Grant Announced

On September 16, the National Endowment for the Arts announced that the Greater Riverside Riverside Arts Council is a recipient of a grant under the City Arts Program. The Foundation, which awards grants to cities in California, said that the city's bid for this grant was one of 14 representatives of local government to apply for a City Arts Federal program, and that the funds will be disbursed for the amount of the request: $80,000. The funds are to be used to support activities originating in Riverside County, which offers arts activities to their communities.

The grant program requires matching grants from local government, and the total grant amount is $100,000 ($50,000 from the federal government, $50,000 from the Riverside County and $50,000 from the Riverside City). Michael Dean, Executive Director of the Foundation, said, "We are extremely pleased with the announcement of the grant. The City of Riverside has been very supportive of the Foundation since its beginning in 1977, and this history of active interest and support is invaluable. We are particularly excited by the mutual relations of the city and county to match the grant as awarded."

For the first time in the History of the Foundation, the Foundation will be able to search for and help those small arts organizations, which are trying to build their own communities.

In addition to the distribution money, the grant will enable the Foundation to develop a technical assistance package to smaller and emerging groups with problems such as low income, publicity, non-profit application, suggestions for fund raising and general developmental guidance. Guidelines for application to the Foundation are currently being developed and should be available in late fall. Any group or organization which wishes to apply for the grant, or to be performing to its community, is encouraged to call the Foundation office and be placed on the mailing list for guidelines and applications.

For further information, call or write to the California Arts Council, 1501 Robin St., Riverside, Calif. 92502.

Jesus said: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whomsoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Riverside United Way Up 43 Percent

At first glance, you might consider the River­side Area United Way a 1983 campaign goal of $2 million—43 percent more than the $1.4 million raised last year—to be a pipe dream, or at this dis­tant hope. After all, this is the economically­struggling area. But John Treadway says it’s not.

"If we would increase our number were increas­ed, we are doing very well. United Way supports 31 organizations. Virginia Eaton, director of the Riverside area and nation wide program, actually made a contri­bution to United Way last year. If that number were increas­ed, the ‘83 Campaign Organizations." Gas Company Says it is Time to Relight

Cooler temperatures are returning to the Riverside area and that means it’s time to think about relighting your furnace pilot lights, says Southern Californ­ia Gas Co.

"We estimate that more than 2 million of our residential custom­ers throughout southern California had their furnace pilot lights turned off over the summer,” said Brian Devitt, district man­ager for the local utility.

The gas company estimates its residen­tial customers who took the simple con­version step saved between $6 and $38 per month, depending on the size of their pilots.

Instructions for relighting pilots usually are found near the main control on natu­ral gas furnaces, the utility official said.

"If you can’t find the instructions, or if you are unsure of how to do the job, you should call the gas company," Devitt advised. "We’ll come out—at no charge—to make sure that your heating appliance is relighted and functioning properly.

Customers who plan on calling for service are advised to phone in right away, before temperatures turn colder and gas company service represen­tatives get busier.

"We would like to remind our customers, too, that when the weather gets cold, natu­ral gas bills can increase sharply," he said. "A typical home uses up to seven times more natural gas on a heating day, than it does on a summer day."

"Gas prices from our suppliers have leveled off recently, so there won’t be any dramatic increases during this year’s heating season," the gas company man­ager explained. "Still, increasing bills will cause bills to increase. So conservation con­tinues to be advisable."
