"Gospel" For Religious Freedom

Hollywood religious freedom and the freedom to worship was the message from gospel singer and minister at the First Baptist Church, "Hallelujah Night." The music and song were presented as part of a program to promote the value of religious freedom and urge people to urgently support efforts to protect this freedom.

The message of the evening was Religious Freedom needs to be protected for all religions.

Last Sunday was Women's Day at Allen Chapel began with the presentation by the Women's Missionary Choir marching in to "The Lord Is My Light." The choir was dressed in black and they were simply beautiful. The call to worship was by Mrs. Mildred Tyler, Allred call was also handled by Mrs. Tyler. A special project was by Mrs. Joy Jordan and what a project it was. The Women's Missionary Choir really sang well. The spirit was still present even though they were gone. One of the choir members was the Rev. C.B. Tollette, Pastor. Of course the choir members were the Rev. C.B. Tollette, Pastor.

The evening was offered free of charge and the other "Hallelujah Nights" are

The call to worship was indeed blessed on Sunday last with the voice of Sister to worship with us. We are always happy to have visitors come to worship with us. One of the visitors was a former member of Allen Chapel, Mrs. Shubert and doctors, who moved back. Some new home type. It was good to see old faces and members.

The Devel was introduced and was served hundred. Over 2000 churches are now involved in legal cases in the courts, they should not be the first Amendment of the Constitution. All reds need to work together to knock these cases out and ensure that no more can ever occur again.

The majority of the evening was dedicated to inspirational music to help get across the value of religious freedom to the audience of people from various religious beliefs, and the sermons were kept brief.

The performers were top notch with singers like Jessica Smith, the official singer for the Los Angeles NAACP representing the Pastoral Church, Rev. Kevin Day Adventist Church, Rev. Gordon and what a prayer it was enjoyed by all.

QUESTION: What should I consider when purchasing clothes for Back-to-School?

ANSWER: August is the month when parents and children make their back-to-school purchases. Remember children's clothes must meet a variety of needs—some visible and some not so visible. In planning your children's wardrobes, keep in mind each child's activities and interests, rate dislikes and clothing on hand, and the expected length of wear of the various clothing items.

Clothing has many meanings. Clothes give children the means to be like other children, develop a sense of ownership and responsibility, gain self-confidence and independence, and demonstrate academic freedom. (In relation to growth stages, and see their integration.

Remember that children like to look like other children in their new school clothes. Be comfortable (clothes that are too large cause falls, and clothes that are too tight prevent play activities), use bright colors and prints, dress themselves and have a say in choosing their clothes.

Free Books at the Obsolete Textbook Center, San Bdin... Anyone can go there between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. any day of the week. And the selection is enormous. The free books are available at the AHBAI in Palm Springs, California. AHBAI is a consortium of Black-owned health and beauty, products, and services marketers, directed by Lafayette Jones. The group met for a general overview of the ethnic health and beauty market, the sponsorship trends in the industry and for what they should prepare.

John Jackson, Jon Johnson, publisher and others spoke to the group of attendees. Jackson's message was clear: we must educate our younger generation to the ethnic loyalty to translate into economic development at the marketplace. It is our responsibility to educate them to our own values.

Jackson's message was followed the next afternoon by John Johnson, who said to the audience, the best way we can help our people is by making more money. He refused to go on a guilt trip about being rich. Johnson said, "Let anyone who makes you feel bad about being rich. He also added the importance of community based organization and said they should be combined with a business message. Each is important in their own area and to keep them [the people] in need of community organization. I'm a businessman," he said to be successful Black leaders must also be able to translate their skills.

Part III...

I believe that it is true one obliterates many virtues, I believe that the "all-business" position item no. 32 in his paper saturnially cannot count any and all references in the 32 positions he took. To the best of my knowledge, this is called a credibility gap. Or is it sink sensationalism? The fate of a school district is not solely at the whim of the Superintendent because the governing board has the authority to veto any actions he might choose to take. So, how much should he shoulder his fair share of what happens in its district. A governing board is the ultimate decision making body. It is formed by any laws (laws) in a school district and enjoys a wide range of discretionary powers.

But this means nothing when a majority of a school board black votes and rubber stamps its way through agenda after agenda against the wishes of almost none any references to anything that directly affects the social and mental growth of children, I will discuss this in a later paper.

When a governing board can sit and see and comprehend, dedicated most teachers, most with teacher, the last of this entire school year, and not even have a meeting to learn both sides of the problem, when as Administrators, we should know that whatever we can have deliberate effects on the education of a child. And last, but we should make sure that the teachers are getting a fair share of the blame. Some of the problem, it might be that a Superintendent's claim is another job of his. In the Press Enterprise, Louisiana B, dated 6/13/15, the Superintendent is quoted as saying in an effort to justify the large teacher turnover that this "is a transient school district." That statement is 100% less than truth. A transient district in street talk is called shakedown, an area of city with run down cheap hotels and cure missions, etc. commonly referred to as flop houses. The domicile for most of the unfortunate residents change from day to day. The owners and operators of these establishments are called slum lords, who usually enjoy a comfortable and nefariously last style far removed from the means and growth of the people. I am sure that this is not the kind of setting that the Superintendent's son referred to when he called our district a "transient district." If he meant by that statement that this district provides refuge for unemployed or untrained multitudes, who only employment here until they can find something better and reopen them "are by no means unusual." (Press Enterprise dated 6/13/15).

Our school buildings can be called flop houses for teachers who work here today and go home tomorrow. In his position as Superintendent and with that attitude, and that statement had even a slight chance of being true. I think it is fair to say that bulbs and his loyal board majority will take their places in the Row Shoe Share Lords of any Big City, USA. Transparency: No. Far from it. From three of the teachers but that group of three "untrained" may have had 4-8 years, it's not easy. No. In the last 5 years, I have known two teachers to retire because they had reached retirement age. Each had 12 or more years in this district. I know these are at least twenty teachers who have taught here between 5 and fifteen years. Most close to 10 years. Most of the classified employees have been around these schools. How can he, with personnel files at his finger tips, say that "this is a transient district." And the answers are by no means unusual? Last year there were 10 resignations in the district. (Press Enterprise, dated 6/13/15, Section B.) To be continued...

Letters To The Editor:
A Positive Message from Superintendee Younglove...

Being White I am inevitably asked why I light the Black, Brown, Yellow, even Red. One way of answering would be to note that in the spectrum of colors, like our country, is a combination of all colors. Even nature acknowledges that the greatness of our nation stems from its ability to recognize and nurture all colors, all races. In that same art class we learned that Black is the absence of color. Does that mean we should ignore Blacks. Obviously not. Rather in fact I do believe that we support values that are referred to as flop houses. The domicile for most of the unfortunate residents change from day to day. The owners and operators of these establishments are called slum lords, who usually enjoy a comfortable and nefariously last style far removed from the means and growth of the people. JULIAN BOND

A brand-new interest group

By Julian Bond

The Democrats think they've lost the last of the last free presidential election because they've too much of a "transient district." If you believe what they say, then you're asking millions to make a difference in South Africa's classrooms - if it's not already in progress. The education reference was a tactic to appeal to American voters who believe to know there's almost no international education in South Africa, or that blacks have to pay for public education which whites are educated for their children. Until the end of last month, marriage between a black woman and a white man was a legal appeal to those Americans who believe that the right to marriage across racial lines is right to the vote and own a car.

I think that would still mean a little far-fetched for me. I have tried to use this as an excuse for our districts. The 'Young' part of Younglove's aims to serve the African community.
