B.S.U. Rejects Pfau's Affirmative Action Program

The Black Student Union, CSUSB, met with President John Pfau on Monday, October 16, attempting to explain the processes whereby curriculum is initiated on this campus. There exists an elaborate framework of committees involving many people through departmental Black Studies Department must be sent. It strikes me as being a complete absurdity that such a department has not already been established on this campus, particularly in light of San Bernardino's high ratio of ethnic minorities, both black and brown. I view the B.S.U.'s detailed curricula outline as an intelligent effort to assert a full and complete Black Studies Department. In the words of one B.S.U. member, "the only things lacking are course numbers and professors to teach them."

The meeting ended with the scheduling of another meeting for Monday, October 30. Prior to that date, the administration will inform the appropriate curriculum committees and persons in power so they may attend to discuss the issue. It is time for all the talk which has been exchanged to be worked into creative action. There seems to be no logical reason why the B.S.U. cannot develop an ethnic studies program. Along these lines: a reorganization of the curriculum and full-staffed and organized as any other academic department, a revised affirmative action policy, and total support of the decision to establish a Black Studies Department. In the words of one B.S.U. member, "we must develop the burdens more fairly."

The meeting ended with the statement that the B.S.U. was in sympathy with the effort to develop the skills, opportunities and interests of Black Faculty and Administrators. There has been no real honest commitment by the college administration to promote the "Affirmative Action Program," for minorities on this campus. Your personal memorandum of January 19, 1972 stated that this program was designed to assist, develop, and promote minority members. There has been no viable action from the "Advisory Committee regarding this program. In fact, none of the B.S.U. and the administration, President Pfau and Vice-President Gerald Scherba, were included in the planning of this proposed program. This kind of non-action implies that the college is not genuinely concerned about minority development, specifically, Blacks. Your administration's lack of concern toward the program is obviously a symptom of institutionalized "Racism." I challenge the institution by any other than other than easier rhetoric, statistics and paper plans to prove it is genuinely concerned about developing a meaningful "Affirmative Action Program" with respect to Black Faculty and Administrators.

I cannot close without expressing my thoughts and feelings about one of the individuals who resigned, Vernon O. Levine's. Vernon O. Levine's departure from this campus means the loss of a loving, skillful and knowledgeable person whose personality is "dynamic." Ollie reached out and touched many students on many levels. Personally, I was the change agent of my own racial hang-ups.

Rivera Heads E.O.P.

By SHERYL THOMAS
Tom M. Rivera of Colton has been appointed as the new Associate Dean of Students, responsible for the Educational Opportunity Program at CSUSB. Rivera, formerly a counselor and Human Relations Coordinator at San Bernardino Valley College, will also serve as an assistant professor of sociology.

Born and reared in Colton, Rivera is a 1958 graduate of Colton High School. After attending San Bernardino Valley College, he received his B.A. in sociology and later an M.A. in education. He is currently working on his doctorate at U.C.L.A.

As Associate Dean of Students, his responsibilities will include coordination of the supportive services and recruitment of new E.O.P. students, and special summer programs.

What is E.O.P.? The E.O.P. is a traditional admissions program for students who have the potential but do not meet regular entrance requirements. This program began on CSUSB's campus in the fall of 1968.

Tutorial services are offered to E.O.P. students for all general studies courses and several of the upper division classes. Academic advisement and counseling are also available. Students are encouraged to take full advantage of these services.

Mr. Rivera is planning various social functions this year in the hopes that other campus organizations will become involved. The new dean is very happy with this year's students. "They have a very high level of sophistication."

Following the abrupt resignations of Ollie Leviege and Vernon Hodnett, instructors of Sociology, a short week before instruction began there was some doubt that their classes would begin on time, if at all this quarter.

I personally felt that it was much too late to fit suitable replacements to take on these classes," admits Ward McAfee, chairman of the Social Sciences Division. However, much to the surprise, and thanks to an article in the San Telegram, McAfee's office was flooded with calls from interested hopefuls. "There were at least a dozen good candidates interested in the jobs," McAfee says, "because of the time element we naturally hired the first three who had adequate qualifications."

Those three are Mike Casados, Jack Peterson, and Larry Schieffel, all recent holders of a Master's Degree in Social Work. Jack Peterson, currently employed by the State Department of Social Welfare, received his M.S.W. in 1970. As is the case with all three of the replacements, Peterson's class assignment is at night. Larry Schieffel, employed by the State of California as a social worker in the department of mental hygiene, also received his degree in 1970. Mike Casados, a 1972 graduate from Fresno State, is employed with the California Rehabilitation Center in Corona.

Though the circumstances surrounding the employment of these new instructors at C.C.S.R.B. could have been improved, it appears that they have removed the confusion which comes jointly with a last minute change of plans.

According to McAfee, the Division of Social Sciences and the Sociology Department are very pleased with the progress of these men.

President Pfau:
Please be advised that as a concerned student of this institution, I am in sympathy with and totally support the decision by several Black Faculty and Administrators to resign from this institution. I agree with them that California State College is not taking any affirmative action to fully develop the skills, opportunities and interests of Black Faculty and Administrators.

There has been no real honest commitment by the college administration to promote the "Affirmative Action Program" for minorities on this campus. Your personal memorandum of January 19, 1972 stated that this program was designed to assist, develop, and promote minority members. Mankau Offers Course In Human Sexuality

Dr. Sarojan Mankau, tenured human biology professor and long time student favorite, is teaching a course this quarter which promises a new and interesting test in the midst of academia. Her course, "The Biology of Human Sexuality," Biology 355, and is open to all students (majors and nonmajors). The course will be offered as an extension class, a trimester quarter, and as a regular class quarter, and is required by Dr. Taylor of the Biology Department.

The text which Dr. Mankau has selected for the course was written by Sanford professors, Herant A. Katchadourian and Donald T. Landen, and is entitled FUNDAMENTALS OF HUMAN SEXUALITY. Alice Wilson, Curriculum Director, has prepared a complete bibliography of course material on the subject drawn from a wide range of sources. Dr. Mankau has prepared self-instruction to the biology of human sexuality in San Francisco. Her objectives are educative and informative—the class is not intended as a typical sex education class, and is not viewed as a "quick look" at the external genitalia, but instead emphasizes the non-reproductive aspects of human sexuality and views the organism as a complete sexual entity. The evolution and role of sexual behavior will also be explored. Sex, not reproduction, is the main topic of research. 2) Secondly, Dr. Mankau intends to teach healthy, positive attitudes toward sex and a general desensitization to typical sexual hang-ups. She will work to integrate the anatomy, physiology, and psychology of sex as they are all interrelated. The entire human body is a sexual organism; the electromagnetic field is not detached mechanisms.

On a cultural level, Dr. Mankau plans to present lectures, films, and discussions revolving around variations in human sexuality found among human groups. She will attempt to expose what she terms "the quick look", or "balls" as a basis for comparison and understanding. She will be agreed upon by interviewer and interviewee to be a typically male chauvinistic statement. Dr. Mankau cited the examples of Indira Gandhi and Godda Mami, both of whom have been referred to as "having balls." She asks the question, "What would you do if you were in a situation where you were exposed to the whole world? It is this type of question which is the focus of the course.

How does one make visible the role of the visual artist to others? How does one make visible the role of the human body? What is in the mind's eye? And why do I want a wife?

What Is In The Mind's Eye?
The problem of the visual artist is to discover what is already there, to open up and probe what is inside and outside and himself and to find a means to communicate to the whole world.

To discover what man has made of the world is to discover the role of the visual artist in the whole world. It is this adventure which is the focus of the course.

HURRICANE (From MOTHER LODE, a feminist paper published by Women in San Francisco Women's Studies. January 1973 — Judy Syfers)

I belong to that classification of women who believe, "I want a Wife. And, not altogether incidentally, a child too."

Not too long ago a male friend of mine appeared on the scene. He is divorced after a recent divorce. He had one child, who is, of course, with his ex-wife. As I thought about him while I was ironing one evening, it suddenly occurred to me that I, too, want a wife. Why do I want a wife?

I want a wife who will like to go to school so that back to the whole world. The relationship between student and teacher in the studio courses is close and intense. The student is an active, exciting, stimulating artist who at the same time has a commitment to teaching. A good teacher is a good artist, a minor in art, and eventually a major. A good teacher is a master of concentration. The choices are governed by the student's goals. The choice of the subject is not rigid as new interactions between materials and techniques are constantly being developed.

Presently we have specializations in the following areas:

1. Painting and Drawing
2. Sculpture
3. Ceramics
4. Printmaking
5. Photography
6. Pottery
7. Environmental design
8. Environmental architecture
9. Environmental planning
10. Landscape architecture

A new Art Gallery will maintain a continuous program of exhibits to stimulate outstanding work to the campus and surrounding community. The gallery space will be a dedicated room. The art students plan to have an active club which will participate in departmental affairs, sponsors' lectures, gallery talks and other art events, and promote various social activities.

Each of us has images of what we would like to be, to be formed by our own thoughts or those heard elsewhere. This is the reinforcement through sharing of these images. Women of the world have ideas and form our goals, a purpose for education, a place in society. We're looking for a change. Now, spread your peace of mind to other women may share in the same situation. There will be a meeting for women on Monday, October 25, at 4:00 p.m. in Room 113. For those who plan to attend.
Students Gain Borrowing Privileges

California Baptist College, Riverside, California State College San Bernardino, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda University Riverside, University of California Riverside and the University of Redlands are cooperating on library use and borrowing privileges for a trial period, beginning immediately and continuing for the academic year.

Students may apply for a courtesy borrowing card at the University where they are currently enrolled. Here, they will be issued a cooperative library card which may be used at any and all of the cooperative libraries. Local lending rules in effect at each library in the cooperative apply to the circulation of materials by that library.

Students will now have readily available many additional general resources, as well as specialized resources of each library within the system.

The chief librarians of the inland empire cooperative, as the system is known, hope for the success of the program and that it may lead to cooperation in other ways among libraries within the system, as well as cooperation involving libraries in a larger area.

Dr. H. Arthur Hoverland joined the faculty of California State College, San Bernardino, this month as professor of administration and department chairman.

Ringing a background of teaching and combined experience in major companies, Professor Hoverland heads one of the largest and most growing departments at Cal State.

Since 1963, with the exception of a year in France, Professor Hoverland has been at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif., where he was associate professor of administrative sciences.

During the 1970-71 academic year, he was a visiting professor of behavior science at the University of Aix in Marseille, France. Earlier he had taught at San Jose State University and the Universities of Michigan and Illinois.

Hoverland's industrial experience has been with Ford Motor Co., Proctor and Gamble and General Electric.

The teacher-author earned his B.S. from Miami University in Ohio in 1951, his M.S. from the University of Illinois in 1954 and his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan in 1956.

His professional activities include membership in the Academy of Management, American Accounting Assn., the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, the American Economic Assn., and the Institute of Management Sciences.

Dept. Chairmen Become Administrators

Four new department chairmen are assuming administrative responsibilities in addition to their teaching in the fall at California State College, San Bernardino.

They are: Roger Lintault in art; Dr. H. Arthur Hoverland in business; Dr. Lee H. Kalbus of chemistry; and Dr. Wallace T. Cleaves in psychology.

The appointments were announced today by President John M. Pfau, who is effective with the beginning of the new academic year this month.

Lintault, an associate professor of art, succeeds Dr. Robert L. Anderson, who retired in June after seven years with the college. The new chairman has been instrumental in developing the school's art department.

Dr. Hoverland joins the College of Business and department chairman. He succeeds Dr. Edward J. Calhoun, who is director of the college's new Management Center.

Dr. Kalbus, who was associate professor of administrative science at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey since 1963, has taught at San Jose State University and at the Universities of California, France, Michigan and Illinois. He also has served as auditor of industrial accounting firms of several major companies.

Dr. Kalbus returns to the chemistry department after a year as acting dean of academic Planning. As department chairman, he succeeds Dr. James Crum, new dean of the School of Natural Sciences.

In addition to his teaching in the chemistry department, Dr. Kalbus has been concerned about the relationship of science to other areas of learning and living. Before coming to Cal State in 1965, Dr. Kalbus was chairman of the department of chemistry at Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh. He has also done considerable research and publication in the field of analytical chemistry.

Dr. Cleaves, who earned his Ph.D. in psychology at the University of California, Riverside, now heads one of the largest departments at Cal State, San Bernardino. He succeeds Dr. Harvey Wachholder, who is returning to full-time teaching.

This psychologist, who is principal investigator in the development of perception and human information processing, is part of the newly formed graduate research psychologist with North American Rockwell.

As department chairmen, all four men will continue to teach in addition to their new administrative responsibilities.

ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY OF THE CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGE FACULTY AND STAFF

(Now that I have your attention)

We would like the entire student body to display any kind of talent in the very near future. There will be a meeting Tuesday, October 24, at 12:00 in the Commons building downstairs, and for those who live in the dorms there will be another meeting Tuesday, October 24 at 6:00 in the cafeteria. For those who cannot make either one, please sign up in George Romandy's office, 207 Student Service Center, or on a form in boxes in Bldgers from Room 229, or call 887-6311, ext. 177 before both and ask for Ronnie. If we don't get enough talent out of your beautiful bodies, there won't be a
DAVIS — The Davis campus of the University of California is seeking students from disadvantaged minority and other ethnic minorities to apply for graduate and professional studies. Each of the professional schools on the campus has joined in a program to encourage students from socially and economically disadvantaged backgrounds to consider training in various graduate professional fields, including law, medicine, veterinary medicine, natural sciences, social sciences, and humanities. Graduate training leading to master's and professional degrees in more than 50 fields plus professional training leading to B.D.M., M.D. degrees is available at Davis.

The application deadlines for the 1973-1974 academic year are as follows: School of Law — March 1, 1973; School of Medicine — December 31, 1972; School of Veterinary Medicine — November 1, 1972; Graduate Division — June 30, 1973.

The deadline for returning financial aid application forms is October 20, 1972 for all of the programs described above is January 15, 1973. Further information about opportunities, education preparation, admission requirements, and financial aid is available from the following:

Richard D. Lee, assistant dean, School of Law
Dr. Jerry J. Gilges, associate dean, School of Veterinary Med.
Dr. John R. Beljan, assistant dean, School of Medicine.

Intramural activities opened this past Friday with the kick-off of the 1972-1973 fall intramural season. This year the program has expanded to include seven leagues of teams, each as compared to one league of seven teams last year. The Eastern League, consisting of the Derelicts, Los Carnales, Dildos, Wooden Polacks, and the Spanish team, play each Friday at 3:00 p.m. on the intramural football fields. The Western League, which begins play Friday, 4:00, is made up of the Chargars, Franks, Loose Ends, O.D.'s and the White Bells.

The season openers pitted the DERELICTS vs. the Wooden Polacks and the Dildos vs. Los Carnales in the East, while the Loose Ends vs. the O.D.'s and the Franks vs. Chargars fought it out for Western League wins.

Last year's only undefeated team, the Derelicts, sputtered on newly-formed Wooden Polacks. Its first two offensive series and with defensive end Skip Barbour needed a boost from its defense to graduate and proceed to the playoff.
