New Deal Wants Industry To See SBVC As Pipeline For Jobs

Gary H. Kelly, president of Riverside Valley College faculty-union president who began negotiations in division on July 1. Taking responsibility for the college's Technical Division, he succeeds John Lorei, who retired. Named dean for the Social Sciences division was John L. DeRyves of Riverside, succeeding rerest George Zaphoranos.

Two vice presidents were also named to fill vacancies. They are Dr. Bvi Conrad, vice president for instruction, and Dr. Erminia Alvillet Hicks, vice president for student services.

Kelly, who goes into the role with 24 years of management and military leadership experience, has been a counselor at SBVC since 1988, coming with experience as instructor and superintendent of the Community College of the Air Force, the former Norton Air Force Base's manager of a military skill.

His current position at SBVC was counselor for veterans and supervising for cooperative work experience, a program for placing students in community internships. Formerly he was a counselor for the Transfer Center, has worked with military veterans returning to college and with the California Commission.

"It's a matter of setting goals and teaching them where the industry comes for its entry-level employees," Kelly said.

"It's a job of providing motivation, electronics machine technicians, productivity, welding and inspection departments, all headed by chairman.

Adults Fear Children's Safety

FROM THE DEFENSE FUND

A overwhelming majority (83%) of Black adults say they are "very worried" (50%) or "worried" (33%) that black children and young people will not live to reach adulthood. This new survey released today by the Black Community Concerns Council (BCCC) and the Children's Defense Fund (CDF) show that the problems faced by black children, face black children, black children's futures are very good times for them personally.

A pervasive fear of violence, the presence of guns, the influence of drugs and alcohol, have left 77% of Black adults worried about their own children's ability to make it to 19 - that's a real serious.

Good health care (61%), job training and employment opportunities (56%), high quality public schools (46%), and programs that teach about the importance of education and the value of higher education (40%) are cited as the best strategies Black adults feel would improve our children's lives. However, at least as many believe that immediate action must be taken to address the ills that are destroying the country that we love.

We are forwarding a certificate which expresses our appreciation for our contributions to the leadership of our countries. Church leaders have failed. This is a critical moment in our history. We must see the interrelatedness of our spheres, but in the scope of our communities, the impact of leadership has not been felt as it should be. Rather, the results of the lack of it has manifested to prove this truth.

The majority of our Black political figures have ridden the tide of power for personal gain and self-interest, often at the expense of the Black community. We have not yet to see any significant impact in the Black community from an attitude that's deeply rooted in our community. In the absence of leadership, the Black community has been left to fend for itself.

Dr. Martin Luther King's stand was noble and social, in the struggle for our actions while expecting our portion from God, not from the government. The struggle for freedom we have always had as a people who sought and deserve to be free of the oppression of those who would enslave us. The hope that we have is in the leadership that confronts the ills that desire to destroy the country that we love.

As he was knocked to the ground by his bodyguards, he said he would be knocked to the ground by the people. All Black adults are hurtful more than half of Black children will not live to reach adulthood. This is a critical moment in our history. We must see the interrelatedness of our spheres, but in the scope of our communities, the impact of leadership has not been felt as it should be. Rather, the results of the lack of it has manifested to prove this truth.

The community is being tolerated by the majority of our leaders for their own selfish purposes and not for the betterment of our people. We have not yet to see any significant impact in the Black community from an attitude that's deeply rooted in our community. In the absence of leadership, the Black community has been left to fend for itself.

Dear Reader,

DEAR EDITOR,

Though the presence of guns, and the influence of drugs and alcohol, have left 77% of Black adults worried about their own children's ability to make it to 19 - that's a real serious.

The notion that is engulfing us. "If we don't do something soon, our communities and economic and education success - that is the way we've always thought of our children. If we don't do something now, we will always be in the presence of guns, and the obstacles Black children face overseas the opportunities."

Our communities and economic and education success - that is the way we've always thought of our children. If we don't do something now, we will always be in the presence of guns, and the obstacles Black children face overseas the opportunities. Our leaders are in denial of this truth, because of our inadequate investments in jobs for young people and our children's families, and in the future.

The leaders of our churches. Church leaders have failed. This is a critical moment in our history. We must see the interrelatedness of our spheres, but in the scope of our communities, the impact of leadership has not been felt as it should be. Rather, the results of the lack of it has manifested to prove this truth.

When the thermometer soars at night, conditions suffer heat related illnesses flock to emergency rooms. I am reminded that it doesn't take long to cook eggs or brain for that matter. I am also reminded that in heat, weather, caffeine and alcohol, which are forms of diuretics, should be avoided, along with strenuous physical exercise.

In other words, it isn't okay to push your heat but create a cool environment at the peak of the heat is fine. Other people can particularly vulnerable to extreme heat.

The biggest danger is heat stroke, a sharp increase in body temperature that can lead to faintness, loss of consciousness and death. As the temperature rises, body fluids and salts should take precautions to avoid heat and heat related problems. Body related illnesses can be deadly if patients aren't treated right away. The elderly, especially those with some health problems, have less margin of error for recovery. They are exposed to higher risk of dehydration and heat stroke.

Bankers Bus Tour Rolls Through South Central

More than 130 bankers and planners assess investment opportunities.

Representatives from corporate and financial institutions, public and community organizations took part in Operation HOPE Los Angeles' (OHLA) 2nd annual Banks Bus Tour to assess investment and lending opportunities within residential and commercial areas in South Central Los Angeles. The "no frills needs assessment" focused on the following communities, including Leimert Park, View Park, Watts, Compton and Inglewood. Last year's tour highlighted small businesses in need of investments and refinancing. As a result, OHLA created several programs to assist small and minority-owned businesses, including in-kind mini-grants and professional consulting services.

"By focusing on areas that demonstrate pride of ownership, we hope to connect people in underdeveloped areas with financial institutions that together can reverse the tide of decline and help people to help themselves," said Dudley. "And as the program expands, the economic development opportunities will increase in the communities we serve." The Operation HOPE vision is to "get people to work, to renew the economic conditions of the communities we serve and to develop the leadership of the communities we serve." With this in mind, "We look forward to replicating DHVC offices in East Los Angeles and other cities such as Oakland and Atlanta," said Mr. Dudley.

Operation HOPE Los Angeles, the voice for urban economic empowerment, is a non-profit lending consortium, technical assistance provider, and advocacy and grants organization. OHLA's goal is to create a vital linkage between mainstream and minority-owned businesses and the exchange of needed and valuable information between mainstream and minority businesses.

Corporeality and banking professionals gather to discuss investment and lending opportunities.

Nordstrom spends $235 Million With Minority and Women-Owned Firms

Annual figures released today by Nordstrom indicate the successful growth of the company's Minority Business Development Program. More than $235 million was awarded to minority and women-owned firms for the year ending June 30, 1994.

Nordstrom established the program in 1989 to encourage business with minority and women-owned vendors. In 1991, the company awarded more than $32 million and in 1992, the total amount awarded increased to more than $120 million.

"We are very pleased with the results of this program," said Charles Dudley, vice president, Human Resources. "By expanding the opportunities to communicate our needs to minority and women-owned vendors through trade fairs, direct advertising and our involvement with the National Minority Supplier Development Council and its local affiliates, we've tapped a larger market of companies ready to do business with Nordstrom.

This year, companies supplied Nordstrom with products ranging from women's apparel to office supplies. Services such as construction and consulting also played an important role.

David Morales of Barcon, Inc., a painting and wall covering firm, is working on Nordstrom's new store in Santa Ana which is scheduled to open in August.

The first opportunity to work with Nordstrom was at the company's Glendale store about two years ago," said Morales. "That original contact has developed into a significant business relationship and we've worked on several stores especially in the San Gabriel Valley. That's how Nordstrom does business.

Working with Nordstrom has been very rewarding," said Robert E. Thibodeau of The Black Voice News, a painting and wall covering consultant in Santa Clarita, CA. "Nordstrom's enthusiasm in developing partnerships of trust and understanding with minority and women-owned businesses will aid in the success of their minority vendor program. This type of commitment evolved into a win-win situation, where the economic well-being of the community will ensure the continued success of the program.

"We'll continue to find ways to reach potential vendors," said Dudley. "And as the program expands, the economic development opportunities will increase in the communities we serve. Nordstrom does business.

Dudley also served as a board member for the National Minority Supplier Development Council and as a member of the Executive Corporate Advisory Board for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Nordstrom is one of the nation's leading fashion specialty retailers with 77 stores in 14 states.
