Welcome back to spring

The return of the rivers

All the rivers run into the sea;
yet the sea is not full;
unto the place from whence the rivers come,
thither they return again.

It is raining today
in the mountains.

It is warm green rain with love
in its pockets
for spring is here,
and does not dream of death.

Birds happen music
like clocks ticking heavens in a land where children love spiders, and let them sleep
in their hair.

A slow rain sizzles
on the river
like a pan
full of frying flowers, and with each drop
of rain
the ocean begins again.

Conservatism
And Bomb
Threats Cancel
Jane Fonda

By Michael Kent

Jane Fonda's appearance at CSCSB was cancelled because of bomb threats received by the school.

Ms. Fonda was to appear in the gym from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday, April 4. Her speech was to be on medical aid to Indochina and the current state of the Indochina situation. She would probably also have spoken about the statements of returning POWs and the U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Ms. Fonda's visit was scheduled by Activities Director, George Romandy more than three weeks ago. Mr. Romandy had been trying to get her to appear here for a long time, but her schedule was very full. Jane Fonda's visit was under the auspices of the ASB government. The appearance was also widely publicized, not only here but also on other campuses and in the community.

Late last week, however, according to Dean DeRemer, the college started receiving complaints from conservative people in the community about Ms. Fonda's appearance. The college took the position that it was a legitimate event and protected the first amendment.

But on Monday morning another kind of call started to come in, bomb threats. There were seven threats in all. Only three of these calls came to the school, one to the College President, one to the Dean of Academic Planning and one to the college police. The other calls were to the County Sheriff's office, to the S.B. police and to the Sun-Telegram.

Dean DeRemer said that the police authorities determined that all the calls were from the same person. They also told him that the voice of the caller was "cold and rational" and that it was probably "one of the one of ten bomb threats that might be real."

The administration and the ASB tried to contact Ms. Fonda at that time, but were unable to. On Monday afternoon Dean DeRemer, Dean Monroe and George Romandy all met. They decided that, since the threats were serious, Jane Fonda's appearance should be cancelled.

On Tuesday they were finally able to contact Ms. Fonda. Dean DeRemer said that she would have come in spite of the threats, but that she thought she was glad not to have to come, because she has been having health problems with her pregnancy.

George Romandy spent the rest of Tuesday trying to undo the publicity about her visit.

The Semantic Core of the Mediocrity Cult — Cal State Revisited

To the Editor,

In my recent letter to the Editor, I mentioned the mediocrity cult that seems to permeate our campus. It seems that every student is aware of it, but few seem to care. The mediocrity cult is a disease that we should all work to overcome.

I have come across a group of students who are working to change this culture. They are called the Mediocrity Cult Reversal Initiative (MCRI) and they are dedicated to changing the way we think about ourselves and our campus.

I hope that you will consider joining the MCRI and helping to make our campus a better place.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
The politics of housework

ALL SISTERS

Though women do not complain of the power of husbands, each complains of her own, and the power of her friends. It is the same in all other cases of servitude; at least in those cases of servitude for which they are not considered emancipatory. The serfs did not at first complain of the servitude of the lords, but only of their tyranny.

— John Stuart Mill

The Subjection of Women

Liberated women are different from women's liberation! The first signals all kinds of reforms to their hearts (not to mention other parts) of the most radical men. This is the difference in the two women.

The first brings sex without marriage, sex before marriage, easy housekeeping arrangements. ("You see, I'm living with this chick") and the self-content of knowing that you're not the only son of man who wants a doormat instead of a woman. That will continue to be a sign of men's residue in these old institutions that odd commodity anymore, the subjugated male, husband and home and kids. The New Commodity, the Liberated Woman, is a sex, a job, a Career, preferably something that can be fitted in with the household. I mean like dancing, pottery, or painting.

On the other hand is women's liberation. It's a movement. What? You say this is all trivial? Well, it is. And triviality is what it seemed perfectly reasonable to...

We both had careers, both had to work. We both had to earn enough to live on, so why shouldn't we share the housework? It's my mate and he agreed—most men are too hip to turn you down flat. "You're right," he said. "It's on fair."

Then there's another thing happening in the beginning I'm stating that we have been brainwashed more than even we can realize. Some years of seeing television women in all sorts of situations perform just about every household chore or breaking down over their dirty shirt collars. Men have no such impression. That wouldn't be the essential fact of housework right from the very beginning. When it is all put on, it makes my list of dirty chores: buying groceries, carting them home and putting them away, cooking meals and washing dishes and doing the laundry, digging out the plug from the sink after the garbage control, washing floors. The list could go on but the sheer necessities are bad enough. All of us have to do these things, or get someone else to do them.

The longer my husband—proceeded the change from the mental and emotional status to the material and psychological status. He had to do his own housework? His other signals—housework.

Which is that it stinks. Here's my list of reasons why it stinks. Here's my list of reasons why it stinks.

1. He is feeling it more than he is expressing it. (b) when they are forced to do the housework. According to (K.P.)

2. A great many American men are not accustomed to doing housework. In fact, most of them never wash dishes. A man rarely washes his hands except when he is cleaning up after himself. They pride themselves on doing the work. "I keep my house clean."

3. It is a draining experience for someone who has been conditioned to being against anything or exploitation of one human being by another to realize that in his daily life he has been accepting and implementing (and benefiting from) this exploitation; that his rationalization is little different from that of the racist who says, "Black people don't feel pain?"

4. It is a degrading experience for someone of my intelligence to do it. But for someone of your intelligence ...

The problem of housework is a man-woman problem. It is not a woman-woman problem. In relationship between two people one is going to have a stronger personality and dominate.

Meaning: That stronger personality had better be me.

In animal societies, wolves, for example, there is usually a male even where he is not chosen for brute strength but on intelligence, for moving furniture. (How often do you move moving furniture?)

Also Meaning: Historically the lower classes (black men and us) have had hundreds of years of experience with the household chores. In those days this would be a waste of manpower to train someone else to do them.

Also Meaning: I don't like the idea of a stupid boring job, so you should. "I don't mind sharing the work, but you'll have to show me how to do it.""

Meaning: I ask a lot of questions and you'll have to show me everything I can do. I don't understand why I have to do it because I don't remember so well. I'll try to sit down and read while I'm doing my jobs because I'm going to say hell all of enough. So I've said to myself.

Meaning: "I love to be so happy." (said while my husband's turn to do something.)

Meaning: I don't feel so happy.

Meaning: Life without housework is bliss. (No quarrel here)

"We have different standards, and why should I have to work to your standards? That's unreasonable!"

Meaning: If I begin to get by it's because of the dirt and crap I will put up with."

"How can anyone live like this?"

And wait for your reaction. I'll be the most reasonable lady you've ever come across. I'll decry it as a sin and not give up doing it."

Meaning: Operation is built into the System and I, as the wife, do half of the duties."

"But the benefits of this System. I don't want to give them up."

Participatory democracy begins at home. I'm writing this to implement your politics, there are certain things to remember.

1. He is feeling it more than you. He's losing some leisure and you're gaining it. The measure of your liberation is his despair.

2. A great many American men are not accustomed to doing housework. In fact, most of them never wash dishes. A man rarely washes his hands except when he is cleaning up after himself. They pride themselves on doing the work. "I keep my house clean."

3. It is a draining experience for someone who has been conditioned to being against anything or exploitation of one human being by another to realize that in his daily life he has been accepting and implementing (and benefiting from) this exploitation; that his rationalization is little different from that of the racist who says, "Black people don't feel pain?"

4. It is a degrading experience for someone of my intelligence to do it. But for someone of your intelligence ...

5. Money is not important in our lives. We are not interested in how I am oppressed, but how you are oppressed. If you are interested in historic...

6. With the death of each form of oppression, life changes and progress moves on. Once the male aristocrats at the turn of the century were horrified at the idea of enfranchising working men—were sure that it signaled the death of civilization and a return to barbarism. Some working men were even deceived by this line. Similarly with the minimum wage, abolition of slavery, and female suffrage. Life changes but it goes on. Don't fail for any line about the death of everything if men take a turn at the dishes. They will imply that you are holding back the Revolution (Their Revolution) by advancing it (Your Revolution).

7. Keep checking up. Periodically consider who's actually doing the work. These things have a way of backsliding so that a year later once again the woman is doing everything. After a year make a list of jobs the man the has rarely if ever done. You will find cleaning pots, toilet, refrigerators and ovens on top of the list. Of course the man will say he never do them. But you'll have to show me how.

8. Most men had a rich and rewarding bachelor life during which they did not stir because of being caught up in the list. Use time sheets if necessary.

Meaning: It's even more trivial to be caught up in the list. Use time sheets if necessary.

9. Beware of the double whammy. He won't do the little things he always did because you're a "Liberated Woman," right? Of course he won't do anything else either . I was just finishing this when my husband came in and asked what I was doing. Writing a paper on housework. Housework? he said, Housework? Oh my god how trivial can you get. A paper on housework.

LITTLE POLITICS OF HOUSEWORK QUIZ

The best job in the army, employed as punishment is: (a) working 9-5; (b) kitchen daily (K.F.)

When men live with their family, (a) the (b) the other mother does the house work.

When he lives with a woman, (a) he does the housework. (b) his son (b) his daughter does the housework.

(A) his son (b) his daughter learns preschooled how much fun it is to iron daddy's handkerchief.

From the New York Times, May 20, 1969, Former Greek Official George Mylonas pays the penalty for differing with the ruling junta in Amorgos where he lives in forced exile (with hilarious photo of a miserable Mylonas carrying his own water). What The Times means is that a he ought to have an indoor plumbing (b) maid. Dr. Spock said (Redbook 3/69):

"B I o l o g i c a l l y and temperamentally I believe, women would be conceived first and foremost with child care, husband, and home care."

Time from 1/5/70, "Like their American counterparts, many Japanese men are being told by their wives to help them with housework today, complaint of being henpecked. Their wives are alarmed at the detailed explanations when they don't come straight from work and some Japanese men nowadays are even compelled to do housework. According to Time, women become neurotic: (a) when they are forced to do the housework (b) the mates care all day every day of their lives or (b) when they no longer care for the manners look for the mate care all day every day of their lives.

The psychology of oppressed people is not a simple matter of women's liberation. The phrase "liberated women" masks the historical, biological justification for women's oppression. It's that interesting?"

Beware of the Monster, Rape...

Sisters we need to be free from the monster, rape. We must be able to sleep a peaceful night, walk home after dark or smile into a man's face. The problem of rape must be solved. Rape must be ended. This is the consensus of all sisters, there can be no peace of mind, independence or Satori while there is fear of rape.

Rape is still joked about by many men, denied to be frequent, etc. Rapes have occurred on the campus several times, in the library and in the dorms. We must be realistic about it and then act to stop it. The first thing to be done is to be informed and watchful of ourselves and others. All people must start to look out for each other, but particularly for our sisters.

The second action to stay rape is for us to educate ourselves to resist. Sisters, we must take the responsibility that the police and courts neglect. The police solution is "stay off the streets,

"don't be provocative."

In other words, don't be free.

But we want freedom, Freedom now. Conditioned passivity must be unlearned. Self-defense is not un feminine. It's a path to freedom. We must learn to use the weapons as well as Karate and Mace. The re-education process will be stressful but reality is ugly at this point. It is a myth perpetuated by hateful men which says that in resistance you will more likely be killed. Hundreds of women who put up resistance are killed anyway, contemptuously used and contemptuously killed. If a woman is killed after resisting, she at least dies a free woman. Violence, I know, is repulsive to us. But the violence is done to us by the rapist. We must only learn to resist it. There is so much at stake — our independence. But our independence, our freedom, are to be defended. Sisters, we've got to do it ourselves. We must be free. Mary

Let it be the enraged Seas of my Existence

To Lynn and I all one Again to touch each other now is as Thou^ we had never met before this time
And looking deep beyond our gaze we have
At last conquered the words of yours and mine

We take off all the quires and the masks
To burn up and be taken by the Sun
You and I melting down to flow as wax
And then we know the feeling to be one

Uncertainty is but our lifelong lot
Tomorrow may be yet another day
And night might bring you here again or not
So good-bye must be all that we can say

We each must go and find ourselves a home
But every now and then we'll be alone

Attention Bibilophiles

So you own a book. Congratulations! If you own 35, you can enter the fifth annual CSBS Library Book Collection Contest.

Bibilophiles need not be arty in their tastes. Any book collection which has won an award in a previous contest is excluded.

How do you enter? Easy. Submit a typed entry, available at the Circulation Desk in the Library, and then write a paragraph that briefly annotates the bibliography of the collection. These will be reviewed.

Entries should be submitted to Jim Tidwell, Head of External Services at the Library, and April 13 is the last day for submitting entries.

By BILL TARPAI

On March 14, Congressman Jerome R. Wald, made the following statement concerning the cutback of Federal money under Title IV-A of the Social Security Act:

"I fully endorse and wholeheartedly support the efforts of the Council for the California State College and University Children's Centers to keep child care centers open, not only on campus but elsewhere in the state and in all localities where such centers serve the needs of a broad range of working people in our state and where access to such services is threatened by proposed new federal standards restricting eligibility.

Tens of thousands of Californians are directly or indirectly threatened by the administration's plan to drastically curtail these services. The effect, in one perspective, can only be to increase the size of welfare rolls. It is ironic that the move to close child care centers through restricting the level of services provided is a move initiated by an administration that claims loudly and frequently that it is devoted to taking people off welfare not putting more people on it.

The more significant and tragic effect, however, is directly on the lives of those dependent on such services and who are most affected by the proposed curtailment.

I join with the Council and with others in opposing the restriction on these vital services and in calling on the administration to abandon its plans to scuttle these services and at least continue, if not expand, the level of their availability."

— This statement was made directly to a representative of the child care center committee during a telephone conversation with the Congressman's office.

30,000 children in California will be affected by the Federal cutbacks in Title IV-A. It is estimated that 645,000 children in California could use these services if they were available. At C.S.C.S.B. there is a need for good quality child care services to be established.

The entire campus community must be aware of this needed service and be actively concerned with the children who deserve the best we can offer them. How can you help? Very soon, the proposal for Revenue-sharing money to establish our center will come up before the San Bernardino City Council. You can help by calling your city councilman and asking him to endorse the proposal. If we can flood the councilman with our support for a quality day care program, it will help them recognize the valid need for these services. Especially at the lower levels of government is where individual citizens have power. Tf those elected to a Constitutional office or Legislative position stand between the tax-payer and the tax-spender, IF YOU HAVE CHILDREN, tell the councilman your own story about how quality child care on campus will benefit you as an individual. IF YOU DON'T HAVE CHILDREN, but feel that good quality child care services are important to not only the parents, but children, too — tell the councilmen that quality child care is a good investment of your tax dollars.

Chicano Senator Forced To Resign

To Whom It May Concern:

Virginia Debaro, Junior class Senator do hereby turn in my resignation from the 1972-73 A.S.B. Senate. I am doing this in the request of the district vice president.

I also wish to say that I am sorry that this year's Senate was not more successful for Chicano students. For example, this year's Senate was unable to do much for Chicano students. I am also sorry to say that this year's Senate was not as involved as other years. However, I am still a member of the Senate and will continue to support it.

I, Virginia Deharo, Junior class Senator, do hereby turn in my resignation from the 1972-73 A.S.B. Senate. I am doing this in the request of the district vice president. I am also sorry to say that this year's Senate was not as involved as other years. However, I am still a member of the Senate and will continue to support it.

Very truly yours,
Virginia Debaro

Barnes Honored

Dr. Ronald Barnes of San Bernardino has been elected to the board of directors of the United States Institute for Theatre Technology. A professor of drama and chairman of the department at California State College, San Bernardino, Dr. Barnes recently returned from the national USITT meeting in St. Louis. He will serve for a three-year term. USITT develops theater programs and conducts research. The Institute consists of consultants, architects, designers, industrialists and educators interested in the technical aspects of theater.

For example, the Institute recently brought Czech stage designer Svoboda to America to conduct a series of master classes for designers on college campuses. Sanda Bignelli, CSCSB drama technical assistant, attended one of Svoboda's classes at Cal State, Northridge.

Dr. Barnes has been a member of the Institute for about 10 years. This is his first elected position in the USITT organization. Dr. Barnes has been with Cal State College since it opened in 1966. Formerly a Marine, he came to Stanford for his doctorate and then taught at Cal State, Northridge.

Dr. Barnes is the author of various publications. His doctoral dissertation was published in hard cover as "The Dramatic Comedy of William Somerset Maugham.

He and his wife, Mary, known throughout the area as an actress with various theater groups, reside at 2311 Glenheding Way, San Bernardino.

The Publications Board

Following a lengthy discussion regarding an automatic delay in the announcement of the Student Publications Board in the administration of funds for Student Publications, The Associated Student Body (Article IV, Sections 1 through 7, of the Associated Student Publications Code) Dean Thomas made the following motion, which was seconded by Kathy Heselton, and passed unanimously by all members remaining at the meeting.

"I move that a Subcommittee be formed of two Publications Board members, to be appointed by the ASB Senate, to consider the whole fiscal relationship between the ASB Senate and the Student Publications Board."

INTERVIEWS WITH ASSOCIATED PERSONS INCLUDING DEAN KENT MONROE, PRESIDENT JOHN M. PFAU AND CAMPUS CHIEF OF POLICE WALTER S. KADYK CONCERNING THE RECENT DRUG BUST IN THE DORMS LAST WEEK

Reporter: Lance Curtis

There have been rumors and rumors are all they have been, that certain people were arrested on campus with either a parole violation out of L.A. or for theft of an $800 stereo or for selling drugs on campus and that they made a deal with Dean Monroe that if they turned in people in the dorms that they would go free of any charges against them. Now as for my own opinion, I really must admit that it is a charge made by many people that they claim is true and by others that claim is not. I am in the dark as for the origin of said rumor and I don’t know what I mean? About all that can be said to be on the safe side is, there are a lot of people who live on and off campus that would not do legally or ethically. It is simply not clear to me what the truth is. But for those who would like to hear both sides, and some in between, this article is submitted.

Conversations with Dean Kent Monroe:

You’ve heard about the rumor circulating around campus concerning a deal made between you and the so-called informants. Is there any truth to it? In other words we are being accused of issuing licenses to steal. That of course is a very far fetched rumor to begin with and is certainly an offensive one, that anyone at the college would issue licenses to steal. We did have a theft of an $800 stereo in the dorms and we have had some information about the theft. But in a circumstance, either on or off campus, before you can take action against a suspect you have to have sustainable evidence. You have to have either physical evidence or testimony of that kind of thing that you can present at a hearing that supports the charges. And we have no evidence of that kind at this point. If we did we would certainly act upon it and we will continue to try to get such evidence, but in all cases with the passage of time the chances of getting such evidence decreases. But as far as having the goods, or having the evidence on someone and then knowingly suppressing it and making some kind of deal with somebody, that’s the kind of thing we could not do legally or ethically. It is simply not within the realm of the kinds of things we could do. Anyone doing something like that would be vulnerable to disciplinary action. If anyone were actually found to possess something stolen from the dorms and they were to be disciplined by college authorities would you be the person to decide on that matter or would it be someone else? I mean are you the person at the top as far as disciplinary matters go?

It would depend upon the circumstances. The procedures are involved at one level in handling less serious offenses at the dorms and at another level in handling them at the college level itself. Dr. Therio Pace is working at setting up a disciplinary counsel at the dorms regarding less serious offenses there. When an action goes to the college the first person it goes to is Dean Perry. Dean Perry conducts the investigation and prepares the charges and all of that kind of thing. And at the conclusion of that, she submits the charges to the accused and indicates to the student the evidence against them. Then the charges are brought, or, if to the contrary, there is not enough evidence, no charges are brought against the student. At that point the student has the choice of signing the charges or of requesting a hearing. If the student signs it then comes to me for review and approval or rejection. If the student requests a hearing then a date is set for one. After the hearing, I review it and then submit it to the President for his approval or rejection.

Conversations with President John M. Pfaus:

I suppose you’ve heard the rumor circulating around campus concerning a deal made between the supposed informants of the drug bust and Dean Kent Monroe. You feel that there is any truth to it?

I am not going to comment about this matter because this is police business.

Much information was found by talking with people about the bust. But for several different reasons I am not at liberty to disclose any of it. In fact, this story must end here. I’ve been haunted by several members of the BSU about accusing any blacks (and they call Van a racist?). And now I am told that if my story accuses, by name, anyone as an informer, I will be open for a false suit? F —-

Well I may be stupid, but I’m not crazy. I don’t want to end up in Berdo County Jail again, you know what I mean? About all that can be said to be on the safe side is, there are a lot of people who live on and off campus that would not do anything like that.

Veteran Population

California maintained its lead as the state with the most former servicemen, as the nation's veteran population climbed to 28.9 million during the first half of fiscal year 1973.

A year earlier, there were 28.6 million veterans.

Gordon R. Elliott, Director of VA’s Southern California Regional Office, said VETERAN POPULATION, a statistical report issued semi-annually, also noted that the average age of all veterans is 44.9 years.

There were over 3.2 million veterans in California as the first half of fiscal year 1973 drew to a close, compared to 3.1 million a year earlier.

Quoting the report, Elliott said there are 1,351,000 in Southern California.

Runner-up to California was New York with 2.9 million veterans, followed by Pennsylvania, 1.8 million; Illinois and Texas, 1.6 million each; Ohio, 1.5 million; Michigan, 1.2 million; New Jersey and Florida, 1.1 million each.

Veteran population in the remaining states ranged from 41 states with small numbers of veterans to Wyoming, 40,000; Vermont, 61,000 and North Dakota, 66,000, according to the VA report.

The only man who could reach perfection would be someone who never said anything wrong. He would be able to control every part of himself. Once we put a bit into the horse’s mouth to make it do what we want, we have the whole animal under our control. Or think of ships: no matter how big they are, even if a gale is driving them, the man at the helm can steer them anywhere he likes by controlling a tiny rudder. So is the tongue only a tiny part of the body but can proudly claim that it does great things. Think how small a flame can set fire to a huge forest; the tongue is a flame like that. It infects the whole body catching fire itself from hell, it sets fire to the heart, a good man draws good things from his store of goodness; a bad man draws bad things from his store of badness.

Fish can all be tamed by man and often are; no nobody can tame the tongue — it is a pest that will not keep still, full of deadly poison. We use it to bless the Lord and Father, but we also use it to curse men who are made in God’s image: the blessing and the curse come out of the same mouth. My brothers, this must be wrong — does only water supply give a flow of fresh water and salt water out of the same pipe? The tongue of wise men distills knowledge, the tongue that soothes a tree of life, the mouth of fools spoils folly, the barbed tongue, a breaker of heart. Guard against foul talk; let your words be for the improvement of others... There must be no coarseness or malicious talk — all this is wrong for you, raise your voices in thanksgiving instead. Anyone who wants to have a happy life and enjoy prosperity must banish malice from his tongue, deceitful conversation from his lips. There are some whose thoughtless words pierce like a sword but the tongue of the wise brings healing. Be who keeps watch over his mouth and tongue, deceitful conversation from his lips. Job Opportunities With IRS

The Career Information and Placement Center.

Two groups of representatives from the Internal Revenue Service will be on campus in the next 30 days, according to D.J. Stansel of Career Information and Placement Center.

On April 27, IRS personnel will visit CSCEB to interview seniors and graduates interested in career employment with IRS. Last year four CSCEB students were hired by this agency to work in Southern California IRS offices.

Jobs are available for non-business as well as Administration majors.

On May 10, other IRS representatives will interview students through their respective Career Information and Placement Center.

Norton A.F.B.

To Sponsor Job Fair

Norton Air Force Base will sponsor its second job fair on April 19 and 20. "Hire II" will be located at the Galaxy Recreation Center at Norton AFB. The hours of operation will be from 9:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. on each day of the fair. My job is to bring together a host of employers and job-seekers. Representatives from participating firms will be interviewing for jobs primarily in the San Diego area; however, there will be some nationwide and overseas employment. All students interested in type of employment available include medical services, law enforcement, electronics, management, sales, and many others.

All veterans are invited to "Hire II." This is an ideal opportunity for the soon-to-be graduated and those looking for full-time employment. Bring your resumes. You'll be able to interview with up to 500 (50) companies for hundreds of jobs.

Booklets are available containing additional information on participating companies and the jobs that will be available. For more information contact the Norton AFB Transition Office (325-8763), Mr. P. R., or the Career Office, S-122.

The Greek Theatre Association will present the San Francisco Ballet's lavish new production of "Cinderella" for six performances at the Greek Theatre beginning Tuesday, July 10th. "Cinderella" is the San Francisco Ballet's transformation of a classic fable into a wondrous and magical full-length production comprised of over 120 performers and musicians.

In the tradition of the Greek Theatre Association, "Cinderella" will add to the many full-length ballets which have been presented at the Greek Theatre during the past twenty years to more than 270,000 patrons. Memorable full-length productions include "Giselle," "The Nutcracker," and "Coppelia.

Choreographed to the Prokofiev score by Artistic Director Lew Christensen, "Cinderella" has been conceived in the grand tradition of the Ballet. The scenery and costumes were designed by Robert Fletcher; well known for creations for several Broadway productions as well as his previous work for the Jeffery and the New York City Ballet.

Unquestionably, the magnificent Greek Theatre will provide a perfect setting for "Cinderella."

As western as a rusty branding iron, the Runyon and Coffin Club of Los Angeles' Western Books Exhibition will be on display at the Library from March 26 through April 13.

With 60 examples of western publishers' art, this collection should be of interest to history students, native sons, and the alien smog sniffers who call Los Angeles' Western Books home.

The collection includes examples of publishers' art, this collection is part of a program at reduced costs in the same fields of administration described above.

Interested applicants may reserve interview time by calling or dropping by the Placement Office, S-122, extension 408.

who the informer or informers were. I, along with many others, believe that there was a deal made for the informers to bust others so they could go free. I mean, people just don't have others busted unless they themselves are getting something out of it. But as far as with whom the deal was made, your guess is as good as mine.

One more thing: when I tried to ask the campus police one last question concerning whether there had been an informer or informers working with the narcotics man from the Sheriff's Department, Captain Kayd said that he had "given me all the relevant information that he was going to give!" And that, was that!

By the way, Dean Monroe says that it's just not true about his being committed to a mental institution because he discovered that he was 1/16th black black.

The following is a short essay paper written for a Political Science class. The following, of course, may not represent the opinions of every Chicano student.

CICACHOS' EDUCATION

The year is 1973, the month is March. The setting is a lonesome college named California State College at San Bernardino. The main character is a Chicano student named David Castillo.

It was David Castillo's third year at California State College at San Bernardino and he was becoming skeptical about the educational process for Mr. Castillo because he was primarily concerned with the attitudes of instructors and administrators at CSCSB toward Chicano students. Mr. Castillo felt that instructors grade papers they take a negative view when the papers (i.e., term papers, essay papers) are those of Chicano students.

What made Mr. Castillo skeptical of this issue was when one of his instructors said that when he graded papers he deliberately covered up the names of students to avoid any biases. Of course not every professor does likewise when grading papers. It was becoming too common for Mr. Castillo to hear discussions from students about instructor's grading structure. Mr. Castillo became concerned by investigating his own papers.

Immediately Mr. Castillo asked his classmates for previous assigned papers to check their quality. Of course the papers were comparable in quality and Mr. Castillo infuriated, quickly sought to find where the discrepancy was. Mr. Castillo's instructor, Dr. Professor, knew that this time he could not justify by any rationalization. Mr. Castillo had from four other papers of his classmates. Mr. Castillo angrily asked for an explanation, Dr. Professor was unable to supply any reasons and thus changed the "C" grades to "B's," both on the papers and his grade book.

Another area in education where investigation is lacking is in grading of test papers. Mr. Castillo has found that instructors have graded papers of Chicano's with less than a normal attitude. Mr. Castillo was recently returned an exam paper with a score of 98%. When Dr. Professor was asked what mistakes were made, he had a wide smile for Mr. Castillo. "A grade of 98% is good, what else can you ask for?" said Dr. Professor.

Mr. Castillo would only be happy with a grade of 100% because he knew that was what he deserved. Instructors often believe that Chicanos will be satisfied with "D's" and "C's." Instructors will soon discover that Chicano's are not submissive people to be used to balance the grading curve.

Mr. Castillo has proposed that at least one-half of a class day be devoted to allowing students to analyze one another's papers. This method would allow students an exchange of ideas especially on essay and research papers. Students do not learn from one another by feeding to their instructors, they are even less allowed to read. A more democratic way of grading papers is desirably needed to replace the present monarchical structure of grading and would lessen skepticism about biases in grading procedures.

In sum, Mr. Castillo has felt that a Chicano student's life should not be influenced and channeled by an instructor that may never experience the struggles of a minority. Too often though, people are critical that minorities may be entangled in the maze of modern society but they reveal an individual's misunderstanding of the roles of minorities to challenge the system in order to gain a fair chance of subsisting.

This is really outside the scope of a course in the history of western political thought.

FROM THE DESK OF JOE LONG, INTRAMURAL COORDINATOR:
CAL STATE S.B.'s ALL-AMERICAN BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS 1972 - 1973

CAL STATE S.B. has announced its 1972-1973 All-American Division Champions and leading the field for the All-American 'A' Division was the CSCSB team, 1st lineup, are the following players:

Most Valuable Forward: Ted Serr, Mother Truckers, Mike Thomas, Spades
Most Valuable Center: Dennis Blair
Most Valuable Guards: David Wheaton, Spades; Al Connally, Honkies

2nd Team, All-American: 'A' Division:
Most Valuable Forward: Jesse Reyes, Cavaliers; Kent Davis, Cavaliers
Most Valuable Center: Robb Thomas, Spades
Most Valuable Guard: Jim Reese, Cavaliers
Most Valuable Guard: David Lacey, Spades

1st Team, All-American: 'B' Division:
Most Valuable Forward: Randy Svoboda, Los Malos; Greg Price, T.E.I.S.; Stan Kielman, H.H.; & S
Most Valuable Center: Dan Ochoa, Los Malos
Most Valuable Guard: Frank Reyes, Avacados; Jerry Tripp

Los Malos were Randy Svoboda, a strong center on Los Malos, who sank a 19-basket game in the Tournament. Also pulling strong for the Los Malos were Randy Svoboda, forward, who topped 11 baskets with Jerome Presiado, forward, picking up a close lead with a total of 10.

Running close behind Svoboda and Presiado were Andy Lancaster, L.M. guard, with a total of 6 points to the game and Jerry Tripp, guard, tying Lancaster with his 6.

Julio Silva struck three points to the scoreboard during the game. Scoring high to pull the T.E.I.S. on their feet was Greg Price, who led the T.E.I.S. scorers with a total shot score of 16 at the end of the game. Price is a leading scorer for T.E.I.S. and one of the League Division titleholders; he recently was named one of Cal State S.B.'s All-American Division titleholders.

Coming up close behind Price were Dave Decker with a total of 3 points to the game and Carl Wagner taking a lead over Decker with a total of 12.

Los Malos now hold the 1972-73 Basketball Championship for CSCSB.
