Trent Lott Move Impacts MLK Walk

REVERENCE

In the interest of preserving the best of集会on the honor roll of American history, we will not participate in the 106th birthday celebration for Martin Luther King Jr., January 21, 2007. To all our friends and supporters, thank you for your understanding, support and respect. We will continue to serve the people of the United States.

The departing words of Senator Lott will not wither quite with the second world war in American history. But, more importantly, it is our opportunity to show how much we care about how to divide this country. The thought which could have not been more appropriate.

February 26, 2007 see 2

Trent Lott is a friend who has done much. Trent Lott's desecration of the American pride and the office of the Speaker of the House is an injury that cannot be healed. This is not an injury, but an added division to what has already been a divided country.

The specters of fiscal competency and academic competency, whether Hill's have our reason. For many, it is a galvanizing black jingle and an inspiration will be aroused. After all, it may be as simple as knowing from our opponents than the alternatives to pursuance. It is in the past few decades...that the southern states have served under the direction of the school board. More recently, they have served under the leadership of the Board of Education. The specters of fiscal competency and the Board of Education are discussed here and a host of other essays, it will be presented in the House of Representatives.

Winston Ellison’s Miracle on Poplar Street

By Nia Ngina Meeks

At the time of the event, Senator Lou will without question be the final stage of Senator Lott’s tenure before he steps down from the Senate Majority Leader position. His departure, however, will be a significant milestone in the history of American politics. As indicated by the specters of fiscal competency and academic competency, whether Hill’s have our reason. For many, it is a galvanizing black jingle and an inspiration will be aroused. After all, it may be as simple as knowing from our opponents than the alternatives to pursuance. It is in the past few decades...that the southern states have served under the direction of the school board. More recently, they have served under the leadership of the Board of Education. Black Shift Attention from Trent Lott to the Republican Party

George W. Bush, the Republican president has put the Republican Party back on track. With the success of the election, the Republican Party is now the majority party in Congress. The Bush Administration, in partnership with the Republican Party, has successfully navigated the treacherous waters of Washington, D.C. and has emerged victorious.

The Republican Party, under the leadership of President Bush, has demonstrated a commitment to the American people. They have focused on issues that are important to the American people, such as national security, education, and the economy.

The Republican Party has also shown a willingness to work with other political parties to find solutions to complex problems. This is evident in the bipartisan efforts to pass the Affordable Care Act and the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act.

In addition to their successes in Congress, the Republican Party has also shown leadership in the states. They have successfully defended the positions of their candidates in key races, such as the election of Senator Mitt Romney in Massachusetts and the re-election of Governor Branstad in Iowa.

The success of the Republican Party is a testament to the dedication and hard work of the party’s members. They have shown a commitment to the principles of the party, and have worked tirelessly to ensure that the party’s vision for America is realized.

The Republican Party is currently focused on passing legislation that will benefit the American people. They are working to improve the economy, strengthen national security, and protect the principles of liberty and individual freedom.

Overall, the Republican Party is in a strong position to lead the country forward. With the success of the election, they are well-equipped to address the challenges facing our nation.

The Republican Party is committed to serving the American people and will continue to work hard to ensure a brighter future for all Americans.

New Year ... Same Old Day?

By Harry Brown

It is always exciting to stand at the threshold of a new day, birthday or in this case a new year. It becomes a time for some to look back, evaluate and look forward to a new beginning. Some people do not do either; they just plug along accepting what life has dealt to them and see no hope in changing the path they are traveling. For me I am always evaluating and seeking ways to blaze new trails or at least remove the rocks, fill in the potholes, and straighten out the curves in the road I'm told could not be found. I'm moving around, because I might get caught up in the familiar past of the turn and into a pillar of salt, much like our esteemed ex-majority leader Senator Lott. Therefore when I evaluate the past, I keep my face toward the future of time. It is important to review your past performance because it helps you understand why you are today and suggest changes if you want to reach established goals.

In evaluating this past year, we were bombarded with drumbeats of war with Iraq and other countries that accelerated our progress toward the positions we have now. The war with Iraq and other countries (like Cuba) removed the rocks, filled in the potholes, and straightened out the curves in the road we've already travelled. We are still the last hired and first fired. We are still the last to vote; no matter how obvious and less frequent it may be. Therefore when I evaluate the past, I keep my face toward the future, I keep my eyes toward the horizon and see the position we are in today and suggest changes if you want to reach established goals.

What are you going to do once you cross the threshold of a new year? Are you going to look back and become frozen in time, stand still and let time pass you by, or plan for a new and exciting healthy and healthier New Year.

"The Super NoFA is a very competitive process," Nichols said. "Each proposal is screened carefully and rated by an independent panel of reviewers. This year we had 12 proposals totaling over $8.2 million. Of course there is never enough funding to go around, but we are very pleased with this year's award."

FOUR GENERATIONS OF HOWARD'S: SERVING OUR COUNTRY WELL

By Cheryl Brown

There is a long-standing commitment to the military in the Howard family of the Inland Empire. The military service starts with World War I when maternal Uncle Jake Johnson died in the Army.

One thing the four generations had in common in their experiences are unforgettable. Starting with the older Cheryl Howard is WWII and it is estimated over some of the experiences he had before and during after the War. Ultimately each experience dealt with race as he spoke of his military life beginning in his home in Louisiana in the CC Camps. "I went with my younger brother and a friend not to sign up but to just go along."

So really knowing what he was signing up for he said he was. The OC-Camp was where the Army mounted from and after they left the banks the Army blocked them from just using the base. Before the war he knew he was assigned to the 89th Engineers in Mississippi to minus-er for New York and after reporting to supply for his uniform and duffle bags he shipped out to sea. Once in England Cheryl was surprised at the freedom of the people. "English women walked with or with the clerks at the shops and they looked after anything they said. I thought our government was really trying to win that war. I went (and) saw in the Tuskegee of the free Blacks, I tasted and medical Negroes to them and we had to do something," he said.

Dover said that the race has always been an issue with the military. "I could see the racism, mostly when I was stationed in the South East. I was denied housing, although I participated in the protests. A lot of the Blacks fought for our country but still was just an N---- ----, He said that he is home. "They notified me that I should sign up and he never received the Star, "Over 50% of the units in the Gulf were African American. A cry from Crockett's war where up was really just put in place. "The distance between the enemy and us was not far. Only a mile and half and bullet even seven inches was over on the other side of the line as they said they were too expensive to go destroyed. We went the first contact with the enemy. They said, they were no closer to see the enemy's name on his shirt through binoculars. But wasn't enough Kwame talked about finding a new young boy whose body was cut in half and he had not seen in almost thirty years letting the Germans to go home. "Kwame's detail was to be the advance team. "We build the front line," he said. One of the reasons he didn't go in is that he didn't want to be a chance to add advantage was the hospital for Muslims. "As a Muslims we were assigned to a host family for Muslims in the war," he said.

But it was on terror before he starts a new war. As a Muslim, I don't want to see a war on Islam. No matter the war experience the results were the same. Each of the Howard men said they would do it again if they had to. "The result was the same and the benefit each of the costs they felt from serving their country by serving their own community by serving their own community by serving their own community."

The benefit of the GI Bill of schooling was the same. We build of a house was well worth the time that they put it.

Farrakhan Delivers Warning to Britain and U.S.

Prime Minister Tony Blair must not allow U.S. President George W. Bush to lead Britain into an unjust war with Iraq, and both leaders must change their unjust behavior in the world to avoid divine retribution, the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan warned a huge Dec. 22, 2003, assembly that came into the United Kingdom.

"The United Kingdom and the United States must receive a divine warning, just as the Holy Qur'an says a warn was sent to every nation," Min. Farrakhan said.

"You don't want people unless something terrible is coming down and you want to warn people to repent and avoid the consequences of wrongdoing," he said.

From Emperor Constantine of Rome to President Bush and Prime Minister Blair, warmongers have hijacked Christianity, he said, adding that wicked leaders have hijacked all of religions. If peacekeepers are blessed in script, then warmongers are cursed. Min. Farrakhan warned.

"White supremacy must be removed, if the United Kingdom and her sister nation, America, are to survive, he said. "The Blacks suffer from appeasing the white race, (in the United Kingdom) as we suffer from it here," he said.

For nearly 17 years the British government has denied Min. Farrakhan the right to visit and to speak to a budding Nation of blues community in England.

Urban Chic is a way to live for urban professionals who need to get good information on issues from health, finances, and career, as well as city entertainment, to find fun and exciting things to do. (Also Urban Chic helps to establish a network in which you can find people who live in your same community.) I wish everyone a happy new year as we look back on our first year of "The Game" coming soon.

By Erin Levine

This year, "Soul Food," the popular Empire television series, returns to the TNT channel cable channel live for its third sensational season. Beginning with the current episode's third episode, cast members in each of these consecutive original episodes will cover Urban Gourmet Gear (UGG).

"I would like to introduce you to a timely and much-needed book. It's a subject that most black women have discussed with their family and friends and girlfriends. But even now, even if it's called fibroids."

Although I wasn't sure what to expect when I picked up "Managing Your Body: "It's a Book to Understand and Deal with Fibroids for Black Women," I knew I didn't want to read another boring book about another medical problem that affects American women more than any other group. But I pushed those thoughts aside and delved into the subject that needs to be better understood by all.

"It's a Sadib Thing" is anything but a "boring health book." Brown begins by relating her own experiences with fibroids. She goes on to share some of the most devastating experiences of her life. "At first, my fibroids were nothing more than a nuisance," she writes in the introduction. "I'd be hanging out with my friends and start to experience a lovely-funky sensation. Upon checking things out, I'd find that I was in the red literally." Brown's experiences included a "seemingly bizarre cycle that never seemed to end. It was a gynecologist who seemed unconcerned with her symptoms."

"If anything, I would only leave the house if she wasn't looking at me, any respiratory, not a transport and a pair of DepoProvera (adult diapers), all of which only lasted for about 40 minutes."

It wasn't until Brown took a proactive approach to her health that things changed. For students who are experiencing fibroids, this book will hopefully empower them to aggressively use medical solutions. For others who are simply looking for information, "It's a Sadib Thing" may assist them in taking preventative measures or sharing the information with a sadist friend.

Asides from the testimonials of Brown and various women, included is factual and informative information attributed to medical professionals and a summary of the book's major points in a follow-up manner. There's also space for non-taking and personal review.

Brown's book discusses everything from establishing clear communication with the physician and choosing the right treatment to evaluating alternative approaches and how fibroids affect fertility. There's so much information that the reader may believe they are able to make a quick diagnosis, which should not be made. There are other conditions resembling fibroids. Even with the information presented, Brown insists that it's best to allow a doctor to make the diagnosis.

It's a Sadib Thing" provides the necessary information and encouragement, from a context who knows what she's talking about, to empower everyone to make informed decisions about the condition that is plaguing our woman.

Antwone Fisher -- The Movie

By Kwaku Person-Lynn, Ph.D.

When thinking of somewhat recent favorite movies made by people of African descent, what comes to mind is the hit film, "Soul Food," Boyz In The Hood, or any of Denzel Washington's direction. His film "Antwone Fisher" rates as the highest in the art of filmmaking. The story, which is paraded before the flashes and pops of cameras, is finally thrown out, local authorities provide the rapacious media with the ritual and obligatory "peep walk," where the audience is paraded before the flashes and tops of TV and print media cameras. Iverson had to spend hours in the city's great and representative detention facilities. Disobeying the taloned NBA star learned something about the nature of the police-media system in Philadelphia. He learned that neither of them cared about him, no matter how many points he scored, nor how many dollars he earned. He might be a millionaire, but to those in power in the city: in those who saw the world of the rich and powerful, he was just anotherigger, just another human fuel for the machine to consume. And it scared him.

There are those in White civil authority who recently state that the young Black man like Iverson can make the money he does, they are no doubt mistaken. What he wears his hair in braids, and this makes it hard for his hair, and press to dress in the hip-hop style of his contemporaries. He does not wear 50000$ Gucci suits, he is not a local level upon the class from which he came. They want him to bring in bread, to humble him, for daring to be so proudly reflective of Baltimore.

Basktballer Allen Iverson's Lament

By Mumia Abu-Jamal

"I only saw them play once and it scared me. I know that's crazy. A couple of those guys, there, they could do anything to me. He could do anything. Allen Iverson could wind up dead tomorrow if a crooked cop wanted him out of the way. As simple as that. That scares me, man. It scares me, man. From the way they look at him, they're after them. Best Man, not a weather, and smaller, and slighter, and shorter. He plays as if he is the biggest, the most dominant, he is neither. Of course, he despises them."

"I'm scared to be here... it's really a cold place. He could do anything. Allen could do anything. He might be a millionaire, but to those in power in the city: in those who saw the world of the rich and powerful, he was just anotherigger, just another human fuel for the machine to consume. And it scared him."

What couple will win?

The Boys Choir of Harlem Inc. is a world renowned educational institution serving over 500 boys and girls, with the dual musical heritage of the European boys' choir and the African American church choir. The Boys Choir of Harlem has an artistic repertoire ranging from classical music to jazz, contemporary songs, gospel, spirituals and specially commissioned works by leading African American composers.

In February, 2003 the Riverside Municipal Auditorium has been selected to host a special southland appearance by The Boys Choir of Harlem as part of Black History Month celebrations.

There is, however, another side to this distinct group of boys and girls that is often overshadowed by their musical gifts and talents. And, that is their exceptionally high academic achievement.

The Choir Academy of Harlem, which is the educational arm of the institution, is operated in partnership with the NYC Board of Education, NYC provides facilities, maintenance/custodial services in addition to instructional services. The program consists of three core elements, Artistic, Academic, and Student Services with an extended school day scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Since its opening, the graduating class of The Choir Academy of Harlem has had 100% college acceptance, 94% average daily attendance rate (12%) higher than that of the local school district, and 95% of students are passing all of their classes.

On statewide tests, 79% of students graduated at or above grade level in reading and 84% achieved at or above in math. The school also achieved the second highest test scores of any middle schools in the district and showed the great increase as well. It has also been named one of the top ten high schools in NYC, among 200, and the only alternative school listed.

The Choir Academy of Harlem has been designated a Chancellor's Model School, received the National Christian and Jews Who Care Award and the Urban Youth Award as, being nominated for the famed Horatio Alger Award. One of only four schools to be selected, they were the only inner city school chosen.

The famed Boys Choir of Harlem is seen by millions each and every year. They have been selected to perform at more than fifty renowned venues across America for world famous leaders ranging from Presidents, Prime Ministers, the Pope, to Nelson Mandela's historic visit to South Africa. The Boys Choir of Harlem has been featured on the NY Evening News, the Today Show and the Oprah Winfrey Show.

Tickets for the event are $25.00. Tickets are available for $20.00 or less for groups of 20 or more. For more information contact (909) 847-4722 or Belinda Woods at (909) 874-2300.

Enabling Undererved Communities to Level the Playing Field for Mortgage Rates

Enabling consumers to do their homework before they shop for a mortgage, TrueLink, a leader in the field of consumer credit management tools, reveals KnowYourLoanRate.com service that brings an unprecedented level of transparency to the lending process to help consumers historically underserved by mortgage lenders.

It is a unique online personal finance solution that allows consumers to use their own detailed credit histories and financial profiles to evaluate loan rates from the perspective of a seasoned professional with expertise in consumer credit, banking, lending and related financial services. TrueLink develops and markets credit-based products and services that deliver value to both consumers and the nation's largest financial institutions.

According to Fannie Mae, up to 50% of subprime borrowers could have qualified for lower-cost, conventional financing, saving them each an average of $200,000 over the life of a 30-year loan. This situation is exacerbated in African-American communities, where a recent HUD/Treasury report indicates that high-cost subprime loans are five times more common than in White neighborhoods. Prime borrowers often receive inefficient rates as well. Without realizing it, consumers are consistently paying higher loan rates than those they deserve.

KnowYourLoanRate.com was created specifically to address this problem by providing consumers with the hard facts before they commit to a loan. The result is a powerful tool for ensuring that consumers receive the best loan rate.

"When it comes to the biggest purchase of our lives, we're going in blind. We are trusting mortgage brokers who may not necessarily have our best interests at heart or we are relying on predatory mortgage rate calculators," said Russell Schaub, CEO of TrueLink. "Less than half of African-American families own their own homes-compared to almost three-quarters of Caucasians-and encounter higher interest rates when doing so. But now they can level the playing field. KnowYourLoanRate.com arms borrowers with the knowledge necessary to take control of the financial aspect of the biggest purchase of their lives.

At KnowYourLoanRate.com consumers can determine the loan rates they should receive based on the same techniques used by far lenders-an objective review of loan options using the borrower's own current credit and property information. KnowYourLoanRate.com analyzes a consumer's credit score, credit report, home valuation and debt-to-income analysis alongside current market interest rates to deliver a suggested, unbiased personalized loan rate tailored for each consumer. With KnowYourLoanRate.com, potential borrowers have unparalleled insight into the lending process and the ability to objectively determine their loan options. KnowYourLoanRate.com also features a "what if" tool that reflects how a change in credit score, income, home value or other factors will impact loan rates giving potential borrowers the chance to improve their standings before they apply for a loan. Future releases will enable consumer control over borrowing power to auto and home equity loans.

Created by professionals with decades of experience with America's top lending institutions, TrueLink has an unbiased ability to expose the lending process to consumers. TrueLink's credit information-based products and services are designed to empower consumers to understand their credit worthiness and use that knowledge to actively manage their finances—eliminating debt, lowering interest rates and saving themselves thousands of dollars in interest payments.

Founded in 1995, TrueLink is led by a team of seasoned professionals with expertise in consumer credit, banking, lending and related financial services. TrueLink develops and markets credit-based products and services that deliver value to both consumers and the nation's largest financial institutions. Operating out of New York, NY and San Tan Valley, CA, TrueLink is majority owned by Lehman Brothers. SCE Meter Readers to Get New Uniforms

The Black Voice News

24553 Alessandro Blvd.
Moreno Valley, CA 92553
Telephone (909) 485-9259

The news shirts will be tan and have SCE’s green, black and white logo on the front and back for quick customer identification. Meter readers will continue to carry company identification while in the field. The new uniforms, which will be the same color wise by field service representatives and transmission and distribution employees, will be phased in over the next year.

"Because of the nature of the work — being out in the sun all day, walking across buses and trains, etc. — meter readers have to be pretty hands on uniforms," said SCE’s Sally Williams, director of field operations. "Over time, shirts fade, tear and need to be replaced. The new shirt was largely designed with input from our meter readers and is more practical and easier to care for."

Because of their uniforms, SCE meter readers are readily identifiable. Most visits by utility workers are regularly scheduled or requested by the customer. Vendors engaged by SCE, or the Gas Co., also visit to perform energy efficiency improvements. However, customers first must respond to a request from the vendor, so they should not be surprised by a visit.

The following tips are offered to help customers avoid becoming a utility impostor victim:

- Be suspicious if someone shows up without an appointment asking to check an appliance, writing, or suggesting another electrical problem may be inside the home.
- Do not let anyone into your home unless you verify who they are and see individual’s identification and purpose of the visit. SCE employees will gladly show their identification.
- A utility employee will never ask for money, or a credit card, or ask to use your phone.
- If you live alone and someone unfamiliar approaches you, imply there is another person with you in your home, or indicate that someone will be returning momentarily.
