Dear Journal,

This is weird. It's only just been my third day at college and it honestly still doesn't even feel like I'm back at school. MAYbe it has to do with the fact that I am the only one still going to school. Like my boyfriend took a gap year and now it just feels weird because I'm so used to seeing him every day at school but knowing I'm the only still at school is kind of weird you know? Then there's my sister waking up late and not that I'm complaining but I haven't gotten a lot of homework but then again it is barely the beginning of the year. Oh well.

See you later.

Okay so I honestly forgot that I had this journal because I'm also doing this in a way for another class and I don't know I forgot I guess. So school honestly still hasn't been that bad. Not at all what I imagine. Like I remember being in AVID and past seniors from that program that have gone back to tell us about their experience have all said how stressful it is but I'm feeling no stress and I don't know if I'm doing something wrong or what. COVID SUCKS!!!!!!!!!! Like honestly I could have had a better freshman experience. Not going to lie but as much as I was dreading moving away from my family I really wanted to know if living at campus is really how they have it in the movies. Lame right? Oh well but that won't be happening this year hopefully maybe next year! So my anniversary with my boyfriend is 4 days crazy! It's honestly so crazy because we're going to be 4 years! I'm so excited!

See you later.

I don't know what's wrong. I have no energy attending classes and my mom honestly doesn't make it any better by always asking me to do things for her while I'm either in class or doing homework. What's even worse is that she can easily ask my sister to do it for her but she doesn't! Then when I tell her that I'm busy she says that I'm always using that as an excuse. I don't know what to do. This was honestly one of the main reasons I didn't want to go to a community college or a university nearby my home. I mean yeah I'll miss my family but I know my mom won't understand me and being home gives me no energy to do anything. It's fine, I'll figure something out. Halloween is coming up well not really but considering I love Halloween it is for me! I wonder what it will be this year.

See you later.

Okay so it's been a couple of weeks and honestly it still feels the same. Like it still kind of feels like I'm in High school I literally feel no different from when I graduated from High school. This pandemic sucks like I want to go out and enjoy it without having to make sure that I have a mask in my bag before I leave my house. So I think I already said this but I want my freshman experience!!! I want to live in the dorm rooms, meet new friends. Then to make it worse I kept thinking that maybe next semester we will be on campus but I don't think it's going to happen. Who would have thought that I would actually miss going to school and walking around campus.

See you.

This online learning is definitely not for me!! This has helped me realize that I can't teach myself the subjects like I honestly learn better watching my professors actually physically show me how to get to an answer. This is like what my second or third month and I have already questioned whether or not I should have gone to college. Then to make it worse my parents just keep saying "don't drop out like your brother and sister." I mean I guess in a way they mean well but that constant reminder just I don't know I wouldn't say helps me motivate myself because it really doesn't at times because it just makes me feel like they don't believe in me.

See you later.

So I've been depressed. I didn't think it was actually possible to get depressed if I'm not even away from home like I originally thought I would've been depressed over. Like I said before this pandemic sucks so bad!!! It's the same routine everyday that gets to me. Wake up, watch tv for a little bit, go to my classes, then I eat after I'm done after I'm done eating is when I do my hw and after that I go to sleep and I do it all over again the next day. I seriously need a break.

December 1, 2020

Just 10 more days!!! And I can finally have that break that I've been wanting for the last 2 months. Trying to look at the bright side of things because like most people can agree this year was definitely not our year. As much as I would like to spend Christmas with all my friends and family I'm just trying to look at the fact that we're all safe and healthy. Like I'm definitely ready for this year to end even though just because the year ends doesn't mean COVID would be out of the way but I don't know I'm just trying really hard to just keep moving forward. This year has definitely made me realize not to take anything for granted. Like before I would dread waking up just to go to school now what I would give just to be able to do that again. Without having to get on a computer and see my class on a screen.

Thank you for listening.
