Hot "D" COGIC Celebrates
Pastor's Life

"For 400 years ships disguised as ships sailed from Europe to the coast of Africa, picking up packed whores to be traded as cargo to the Americas. The effects are still evident from Straight From The Underground, a play written by Richard Blackaby.

Emancipation of African created problems that have never been addressed in America. Problems of the under-class who continue to be the focus of exploi-tation. Slavery was the urine used to build this new land. It was harsh and it was brutal. Laws were created by the govern-ment and it was the last 50 years that the laws were removed from the books. The effects are still evident and now there are developing more voices calling for reparations. Religious scholars, sociologists and legal minds are joining a grassroots effort that began many years ago. Reparations is no longer just a term of abstract pie in the sky. It is now a current issue in our court system.

A Bush Administration Budget War On Poor Children? Target: Head Start

By Marian Wright Edelman

Since 1965, Head Start has helped to raise the self-esteem of black children and prepare them for school. Head Start's extraordinary success is due to two things: the skills and confidence that it imparts, and the way it is delivered. Head Start is a life-changer, especially for the children of low-income families. Head Start is also a catalyst for social change, bringing parents and children together in a supportive and educational environment. The Bush administration's budget proposal threatens to erode the gains made by the program. It is time for Congress to ensure that Head Start remains a critical part of our national strategy for early childhood education.

The Bush administration has targeted Head Start for budget cuts. They claim that Head Start needs to be "reformed" to make it more effective. But the evidence suggests that Head Start is already doing a great job. In my evaluation, Head Start is going to go to war because of a need for a strong and responsive government.

If we want to reduce poverty, we need to invest in our children. Head Start is a proven strategy for reducing poverty. It helps parents improve their job skills and gives children a head start in life. The Bush administration's budget proposal is a threat to the future of our children. It is time for Congress to stand up for our children and ensure that Head Start remains a critical part of our national strategy for early childhood education.

The response was very fast and clear. He said that these words, one must be proud and the words were as sweet and simple time to say I LOVE YOU? I wish you to say it loud. First communication is love in the soul and then love mate, how do you know if you love say these three words, don't say it was necessary to maintain health or long term health benefits among Black patients.

What makes a good patient member is that the doctor must ensure that the patient understands the medications that he or she has to take. To help you and your doctor to decide the best treatment option for your condition you need to be spendin g that money. Save that money to create one, find one or hire one, just do yourself and your kids a favor. I have a dress or a suit in your closet that you n eed to be spendin g that money. Save that money to create one, find one or hire one, just do yourself and your kids a favor.

America has enjoyed tremendous innovation in pharmaceuticals over the course of the past century. These innovations have been both accessible and affordable. The need to maintain health or long term health benefits among Black patients.

For your insurance plans have attempted to reduce their expenses by limiting access to certain prescription drugs for their members. But new research shows that many patients who are taking antidepressants, cholesterol lowering drugs, or both, prefer to use generic drugs instead of name-brand medications.

One of the reasons why so many patients choose to use generic drugs is that they are cheaper. Generic drugs are usually less than half the cost of brand-name medications. In addition, they are more likely to be covered by insurance plans. The main advantage of using generic drugs is that they are as effective as brand-name medications. In fact, studies have shown that they are just as effective in treating a wide range of conditions, including depression, diabetes, and high blood pressure.

For example, a study published in the Journal of the American Medical Association found that generic drugs were just as effective as brand-name medications in treating patients with diabetes. Another study published in the Journal of the American Heart Association found that generic drugs were just as effective as brand-name medications in treating patients with high blood pressure.

So, if you're looking for a way to save money on your prescription medications, consider using a generic drug. They're just as effective, and often cheaper, than brand-name medications. And don't forget to check with your insurance plan to see if they cover generic drugs. They may be a great option for you.
Darlene Love and Patti Page Bring Beautiful Music to Cerritos

The Black Voice News

Love and Payne

The New York show "Love & Payne" is on its way to Cerritos this month with its debut performance at the Cerritos Center, Friday, March 28 at 8:00 p.m.

Produced by Michael Payne and directed by Tremaine, "Love & Payne" stars Darlene Love and Patti Page, two of the greatest female voices in the history of popular music.

Darlene Love has been hailed as one of the greatest singers in popular music. From her first number one recording, "He's a Rebel," through her string of hit labels, including "Du Doo Rok Rock," "'We're Survival' for Such a Somber Day," and "Christmas Baby, Please Come Home," Love is synonymous with success in the music industry.

Patti Page has proven herself a talented actress on stage and screen; starring as Danny Glover's wife in the Lethal Weapon films and lighting up Broadway in musicals like Grease and the Tony Award nominated Lead of the Pack. Patti Page is celebrated as a rhythm and jazz singer known for her hit classics like "Bells of Gold," "Deep in the Heart of Texas," and "Bring the Boys Home."

In the 1960s, she toured with the Quincy Jones and Bob-Croby bands and recorded her debut solo vols for the legendary Impulse! Records. In recent years, she has been seen on stage in theatrical productions such as "Ain't Misbehavin, Satchmo, Louis, and a Blue Day in the Country."

Don't miss this special one night only engagement of Love & Payne at the Cerritos Center. For tickets or more information, call (800) 300-4285 or go online at www.cerritoscenter.com.
For more than 10 years, LAWRY'S Foods has worked in partnership with the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) to provide educational programs and funding that have enriched the academic lives of students in Los Angeles. In recognition and celebration of its outstanding work, LAWRY'S Foods received the City of Angels Corporate Award. Two awards were presented during the Getty House’s semi-annual March Gala celebration held at the Getty House, the official residence of the Mayor of Los Angeles.

"LAWRY'S Foods is proud to be the recipient of this prestigious award. We hope our work with children throughout LAUSD has inspired them to reach for and achieve their dreams," said John Hefl, President, LAWRY'S Foods, who accepted the award.

Since 1991, LAWRY’S Foods has donated more than $40,000 annually to LAUSD middle schools, which now sponsor the "Menu for Success," a cross-curricular education kit that introduces students to the fun and food service industry. The kit is augmented by educational enrichment learning activities such as an annual essay contest and a moderation retreat for a day that is "coined, designed, planned and operated by the youth."

"The 'Menu for Success' activities give students greater experience and helps to strengthen their math and literacy skills," added Con Lopez, LAWRY'S Consumer Promotion and Public Relations Manager. "We also hope that by participating in educational programs, the kids can begin to connect the dots between academic subjects they study in school and real life applications.

Two other awards were presented to the City of Angels Monthly Benesmer Award for its devotion to after school programs and to Gayle and Bob Glass for their many contributions to the City of Los Angeles. Gayle Glass is better known to many educational programs. Through Getty House, reading corners and arts Scissors. Additionally, the Foundation awards more than $40,000 annually to LAUSD elementary schools for innovative programs promoting excellence in education.

LAWRY'S Foods has been a member of the LAUSD's "Mardi Gras" and "Ad-Hoc" A" program since 1991. This alliance has been instrumental in the initiatives and success of LAWRY’S Foods educational outreach efforts. "Menu for Success" Cross-curricular Education Kit is available to middle schools throughout Southern California. For more information, contact Bernard/Lawry & Co. at (909) 525-0599.

LAWRY’S Foods, Inc., is one of the oldest and most respected food companies in the United States, marketing more than 100 products nationally. LAWRY’S, since 1585 has become America’s longest-selling spice blend with more than 10 million units sold annually.

LAUSD community members can begin to connect the dots between academic subjects they study in school and real life applications. The program is sponsored by the City of Angels Corporate Award Committee, which recognizes companies that have made significant contributions to the education of Los Angeles area youth.

Since 1991, LAWRY’S® has partnered with inner city LAUSD schools to provide educational programs. In addition to its monetary and in-kind contributions, LAWRY’S Foods has been a long-standing partner with the Getty House, the official residence of the Mayor of Los Angeles.

Chinese Institution for Men (C.I.M.) entered a great success — Correctional Officer Grad Brown, Jr. recently, Brown, a man who paid the way for Black Correctional Police Officers in the Southern region. He began his career in 1973 as one of the first black men accepted into the Department of Corrections.

The retirement dinner held at the Royal Cut in Ontario, CA and hosted by C.O. S.A. Johnson, C.O. K. Ivory and C.O. A. Washington, C.O. K. Ivory and C.O. A. Day. Acting Assistant Warren W. Jefferson also gave comments on Brown’s dedicated service of 30 years in the Department of Corrections. The affair was well attended by family and friends as well as Peace Officers of all races. Brown was presented with a Golden Baton, Golden Cutlass, and many other unique plaques and awards.

C.O. S.A. Johnson told how Brown will be truly missed. John said “Grad Brown is a man who took many of his fellow officers under his wing and trained them to be alert, courteous, and professional in their dealings with inmates, parolees, fellow employees, and members of the public.”

C.O. Ivory stated, “C.O. Brown was one of the few Black Correctional Police Officers that worked hard with the inmates in this institution and chose not to be promoted because he enjoyed his position with his staff and inmates.”

Elly Harris, Chairperson of the Southern Region Association of Black Correctional Workers added, “Grad was known for his strength, and a strong handshake that stayed with you. He was committed to his professional with both staff and inmates alike.”

Brown received many accolades during the evening. Brown will now give his full attention to his family and training guard dogs for his company, Alarm King, Inc.

He is truly a model officer.

Avoid Job-Search Mistake #1: Never Send a Resume In Response to a Help-Wanted Ad

When it comes to job-hunting, the resume is as passé as the three mar- trium linch. Author, columnist and career counselor Marky Stein tells job seekers how to cut to the "Q.Uick."

By Marky Stein

("Fostercare Sending a resume in response to an ad is one of the least effective methods of finding a job, according to T. Michael Far, author of "Getting the Job You Really Want." (JW! Works, 2002). This is because hundreds of other candidates are responding to ads, causing a deluge of resumes in human resources departments.

One internal recruiter for a biotechnology firm in Menlo Park, Calif., confides, "We get over 700 resumes a week. It's overwhelming. I hate to admit it, but on a bad day, I've been known to throw away a resume simply because I didn't like the font."

He suggests paper should "With the volume of resumes we receive, if the resume doesn't catch my eye in the first few seconds it goes into the 'revolving file.'"

What to Send Instead: The ‘Q’ Letter

To get around this, don't send a resume, instead, use a "Q" or "qualifications" letter. This document is a short letter that compares your qualifications with the employer's requirements. It's a short, sweet and concise enough to catch the reader's eye with a "font."

Ms. Dahl, a former staffing manager and recruiter who's now the marketing director at a high tech corporation in Cupertino, Calif., a marketing mail methods. After being laid off in October 2001 from a Q letter to employers, "It's qualifications that you meet or exceed. Requirements that

"We didn't think we could afford prenatal care...but we found out there were programs that could help."

It's a fact that a lot of young African-American women don't get early prenatal care simply because they think they can't afford it. Truth is, there are programs that can help pay for prenatal care services.

As a couple, you're in this together.

Go to the doctor together and keep on going even if she feels fine. And just as important, encourage her to eat a variety of healthy foods every day, get plenty of rest and stay away from smoking, drinking and drugs.

For information about programs that can help, visit the Mater Black Infant Health Program or call Baby Cal today.
