Walk For Peace

by Nicole DuCharme

On Sunday, October 21, refugees from El Salvador assembled at Riverside City Hall to begin an eight day walk for peace which ended in Los Angeles on October 29.

The walk is supported by the Interfaith Committee to Aid Central American Refugees, IMPACT (In Mission Pursuit and Community Thrust) Presbyterian Church in Redlands and the Campus Sanctuary Committee at UCR. They hope that the walk will bring the people in the southland of the growing problems in Central America and the injustice of the government to the people.

The committees and people involved are practicing the new "sanctuary movement." Recently, UCR became a sanctuary as did many churches in the Riverside/Redlands area. Linda Dunn, a member of the Interfaith Committee, said "The press calls this the sanctuary movement, but for the most part it is the church deciding to be the church."

Dunn says that the immigrants are seeking help because of the current turmoil in their country. She went on to say that El Salvador is a fertile land that could easily support its people, but 60% of the land is controlled by 2% of the people and the land is being used to produce items for export. 25% of the children die before they are five. Overread or write because they have never been to schools. Dunn said that since 1979 out of a total population of 5 million people, it is estimated that 55,000 civilians have been murdered by paramilitary death squads or by military action. Another 500,000 have fled their home and are in refugee camps throughout Central America or have entered the United States. One out of every 10 has died or fled.

Both the refugees and the supporters question the laws concerning the refugees. Jesse Jackson stated, "United States immigration laws are such that it is illegal to provide sanctuary for these refugees and at the same time it is not illegal to employ such workers. Employers who hire such immigrants are protected while humanitarians who would provide comfort and shelter are not."

The United States Refugee Act of 1980 requires the United States to give refugee or asylum status to persons who cannot return to their country of origin because of persecution or fear of persecution. This clearly applies to Salvadoran refugees, yet the present administration refuses to grant either personal asylum or extended voluntary departure status to refugees. "Instead," Dunn says, "immigration officials hunt down people labeled as illegal aliens and hold them in what are called alien detention centers. Thousands have been sent back to their countries; many to certain death."

The sanctuary movement will continue to grow as the people become aware of the misfortune of the refugees. They do pose a threat to the employment system and economic system in the U.S. but they are not just asking to be let in to our society, but also for help to improve their own.

Dunn concluded by saying, "Through the Sanctuary Movement we say BASTA—Enough. IT IS TIME FOR PEACE."
Shakespeare Lover At Heart, Kay Stanton

by Abbie Baron

"Shakespeare is the greatest thing to ever hit literature," says Kay Stanton, a native of Chicago, Illinois, and a new faculty member here at Cal State University. This quarter she is teaching three courses: Shakespeare's Tragedies and Romances, analysis of drama and English 49S. When she is not busy in class, or writing literary articles, she can be found attending plays, reading or out dancing.

Stanton has extensive training and experience in her field. She has received three degrees including her Doctorate from Perdue University. She taught there for ten years following her completion. From there, she taught at Iowa State for a year before leaving the Midwest to teach at Humboldt State. There she was able to teach not only composition and technical ideal subject, a course in Shakespeare. She feels it is a privilege. "I love Shakespeare, ask any one of my students."

The emphasis in her literature courses is "meaning." She would like to see students thinking about the plays they read in original ways as opposed to merely feeding back information given in class; using them as a stimulus toward new ideas instead of a program. As she put it, "to thine own style be true."

In her composition courses, her focus is essay skills. She teaches students to express themselves in the clearest, most powerful effect on the reader. The metaphor she used was that "rules for writing are something like playing cards. Although there are the same cards (the same words) the rules vary according to the purpose and technique of the essay."

She has been very active in teaching three courses: Communciation Ethics, Introduction to Mass Media and Technical Writing. As you can see, Dr. Kaufman is highly qualified to teach many of the departments newly added course offerings. He will be an asset and surely instrumental to the growth of our Communication Department.

The Communication Department is pleased to introduce another new member of its faculty. Dr. Kaufman comes to CSUSB with professional experience in several fields of communication, and with extensive teaching experience.

Dr. Kaufman's first college teaching position was at Michigan State. He worked as a graduate assistant instructing courses in newswriting, editing, and communication law.

Once Dr. Kaufman made his way to California, he taught at Cal State Fullerton where he kept busy teaching newswriting, news reporting, editing, communication law and newspaper management, and also served as advisor to the college newspaper and coordinator of newswriting sequence.

Dr. Kaufman then went on to Cal State Polytechnic University instructing courses such as: Communication Ethics, Introduction to Mass Media and Technical Writing.

"I like to play captain," Dr. Kaufman says with a crooked grin on his face. Dr. Kaufman also likes to enjoy the company of others and one of his recent weekend nights was devoted to a party given for Communication majors in his home. Students and staff were asked to bring a record reflecting their personality and much of the night was spent doing what else? Communicating, of course!

AS Board Of Directors voted not to fund travel to away games for the intercollegiate pep squad (cheerleaders) at the Oct. 19 meeting.

Appropriations Committee Chair, Dave Swedlowe, reported that he contacted four Cal State universities and none recommended financial support by A.S. for pep squads. The reasons varied. A Dominguez Hills A.S. representative told Swedlowe 22% of their organization’s budget is now going to the pep squad. The representative added this was an unfair proportion, compared with amounts designated for other campus organizations.

Several other schools reported that either they did not have a pep squad or that their squad is financed by the athletics department through IRA (Instruction Related Activities) funds.

Miss Ellen Kowalski, CSUSB cheerleading advisor, stated that the squad needs $400 to cover costs of travel to away games. She said the athletics department has supported the pep squad far more than any other campus organization, commented Price.

Miss Kowalski plans to approach the A.S. President and Vice-President with the issue again.

The “girls will end up spending $500 each for uniforms which they themselves will purchase,” said Kowalski.

“All we are asking for is travel money, to defray a portion of the total cost involved,” she added.

Regnold Price stated the board’s agenda, Ken Whiston, Cal State Association (CSSA) legislative director, presented a CSU change to the board consolidating two student fees. The two major student fees, student services and state university are combined and called the state university fee.

Whiston stated that the fee consolidation enables the chancellor’s office to take action in ease of financial hardship.

CSSA is looking for a new legislative director to begin training winter quarter. In March, the individual would take over Whiston’s position at the state capitol. CSSA has two permanent staffs, one in Sacramento, staff services and state university are combined and called the state university fee.

Student Union Wrap Up

by Robin K. Porter
Professional Food Management’s (PFM) contract will be up for renewal soon and Student Union Board (SUB) members are wondering what CSUSB students think about PFM’s Pub and Snackbar operations.

“We, like students to complete the survey (clip out survey adjacent to this article) and turn it in to my office,” stated Helga Lingren, SUB director. Board members also discussed the transfer of kitchen equipment from lower commons to the Snackbar. This issue was referred to the SUB committee for expansion, remodeling and maintenance.

Chair Pauline Barbour appointed Board members to SUB’s standing committees: personnel, finance, policies and procedures; ad hoc; pay raises and personal classification; expansion, remodeling and maintenance; by laws review and revision.

Ms. Barbour said committee meetings are open to the students and she welcomes student participation.

SUB members voted to file an appeal with (two other Cal State schools) with the IRS so that its employees will not be required to contribute to Social Security. A total of $291 per month goes to Social Security from CSUSB SU employees.

SU employees belong to PERS (Public Employees Retirement System) and give a monthly percentage of their salary to this system. Mrs. Lingren stated that the employees believe PERS will sufficiently cover their retirement needs.

SU building air conditioning repair may cost the student union up to $11,400. Ms. Lingren has contacted several businesses to obtain cost estimates and is still researching the matter.

The Versateller (electronic cash machine) installation at the SU building is postponed until Jan 1 1985. In a letter from the Versateller company to the CSUSB SU, the company stated all construction start dates for school units have been deferred.

A new SU clerical assistant was introduced to the SUB. Terri Majula will greet students at the front desk as assistant to the SU director.

The next SUB meeting will be Nov. 14 in the SU senate chambers, and is open to all students.

Escape

by Elyand Lawrence
Many people usually associate the word “escape” with Clint Eastwood breaking out of the cell, or Luke Skywalker sneaking out of the Death Star. But at CSUSB, our “Escape” program is on a less serious nature. In fact, it can even be classified as downright fun.

The “Escape” program is a chance for CSUSB students to break out of the dreariness of the “same place, same thing” routine and get out to discover some of the other aspects of the CSUSB campus.

Students get the opportunity to discover and learn about the outdoors of California while participating in leisure time activities. An informal atmosphere is created in the “Escape” outings, with the goal being to get students to do things on their own and to learn by doing. The programs are planned for people experienced in outdoor activities as well as beginners.

Activities for the Fall “Escape” program have included events such as Canoe Races at Glen Helen Regional Park, a Dodger baseball trip, even an outing to Las Vegas. Other “Escape” activities have included canoeing down the Colorado River and hiking to the summit of Mt. San Gorgonio.

The next “Escape” outing is the trip to Santa Anita for the Oaktree Racing Autumn Classic, scheduled for November 10, and the Mammoth Ski Trip for December 9/13.

So, if you want to get away from it all, or even if your club has some ideas for the Winter and Spring quarters “Escape” programs, contact Helga Lingren at the Student Union and “Escape.”

Saturday, November 4 will be the annual Open House at CSUSB. Come out and see the many activities at California’s newest university.

As in years past, our ROTC program, in conjunction with the army, will be landing a UH-I helicopter. The helicopter may also be doing a repelling demonstration down the side of the Pfau Library.

The helicopter, nicknamed a “Huey,” is used as a utility aircraft, transporting anything from fuel to troops.

ROTC cadets will be repelling onto campus from the “Huey.”

ROTC cadet Alan E. Horn, former crew chief in a “Huey” company, explains that repelling from the helicopter is useful for fast deployment of troops where the aircraft cannot land.

The repelling demonstrations you will see on Saturday are used by the military for rescue or personal deployment in rugged areas.

For further information regarding ROTC activities during Open House contact Capt. Heynen at 887-9545.

Nutrition Quiz

1. Which of these foods is the highest in calories?
   a. 1 tbsp. margarine
   b. 4 whole apricots
   c. 1 cup skim milk
   d. one-third cup cooked lentils

   ANSWER
   1. a. Margarine has 100 calories per tablespoon. Skim milk has 90 calories per cup; apricots have about 20 calories each and cooked lentils have about 200 calories per cup.

2. Which of these nutrients does not yield energy when metabolized by the body?
   a. alcohol
   b. vegetables
   c. protein
   d. fish & lean meats

   ANSWER
   2. b. The B vitamins are needed to convert food to energy but they yield no energy themselves. Proteins and carbohydrates yield about 4 calories per gram; fats yield 9 calories per gram. Alcohol is not commonly thought of as a nutrient, but it contains 7 calories per gram.

3. Pecan is a type of dietary fiber commonly found in:
   a. fruits
   b. vegetables
   c. whole grains and cereals
   d. fish and lean meats

   ANSWER
   3. a. Fruits and legumes are good sources of pecan. Vegetables and whole grains and cereals contain cellulose and hemicellulose. Animal products don’t contain dietary fiber.

4. Which vitamin is present only in animal products?
   a. niacin
   b. thiamin
   c. vitamin B-12
   d. vitamin K

   ANSWER
   4. c. Vitamin B-12 is not present in plants.

5. Linoleic acid is:
   a. vitamin
   b. an essential fatty acid
   c. an amino acid
   d. a product of glucose metabolism

   ANSWER
   5. b. Corn, cottonseed, soy, and safflower oils are excellent sources of linoleic acid.

6. Which of these foods contains the most cholesterol?
   a. 6 oz. lean beef
   b. 3 oz. drained canned tuna
   c. 1 medium egg
   d. one-fourth cup butter

   ANSWER
   6. a. Egg yolks are very rich in cholesterol; egg whites contain none. One medium yolk contains about 250 mg. cholesterol, compared to 25 mg. cholesterol per ounce for lean beef, 100 mg. cholesterol for 3 oz. of drained canned tuna, and 140 mg. cholesterol for one-quarter cup butter. Plants contain no cholesterol.

Flu Vaccine

Flu vaccine is now available in the Student Health Center. Flu vaccine is usually not recommended for young healthy adults, but can be given if a younger person wants it or is subject to getting the Flu. It is highly recommended for people 55 years and older who have chronic diseases especially lung problems.

The vaccine will not be administered if any of the following conditions is present:

1. Pregnancy
2. Neurological disorders such as Parkinsons and Multiple Sclerosis
3. Upper Respiratory infections or if patient is running a fever
4. Prior allergies to the vaccine
5. Allergy to eggs.
Acoustic Music Part 2

by John Cloud
Entertainment Editor's Note:
John Cloud is the music director for KUOR FM in Redlands. He is also a student here at CSUB. He is studying communications. Photos and information are from his personal collection.

Preston Reed's new album, Playing By Ear, will make you appreciate the ability of a master musician behind the neck of a six and twelve string guitar. Playing By Ear is generally fast paced and explosive. Reed's music changes rhythmic moods at the touch of a string. About recording with Playing By Ear Reed says, "The album was recorded live to a two track, with no overdubbing or equalization, using a match pair of Neumann microphones. Special attention was given to the microphone placement and the acoustical environment of the performance."

The special attention Reed has placed in the sound quality, results in ten of the most excellent arrays of folk guitar composition Playing By Ear, is recorded on Flying Fish Records. The address is: 1504 W. Schubert, Chicago, Ill. 60614.

The album, Runoff, by Chris Proctor is not new. In fact, it was released on Kicking Mule Records in 1982. Nevertheless, it is another example of superb acoustic musicianship. Chris Proctor, a native of Utah, had the honor to be chosen the 1980 National Finger Picking Champion; he displays his expertise on Runoff. Proctor's music is hard to define. According to Proctor, "simply patterns have given way to advancing technique and intricate arranging, flavored with Jazz, Classical, Irish, Ragtime, and Blues; and the boarders between the genres are often blurred beyond recognition...Yet, there's still something right and 'folk' about the instrumental tunes played on steel strings."

Proctor's music is a delight to the ear. Moreover, the images along with the rich blend of styles are a treat for any mind. Kicking Mule Record's address is: P.O. Box 135, Alderpoint, Ca. 95411.

Record Rack:
"The Warning" by Queensryche

After a brief hiatus, I am back with another album review. "The Warning" is the first full-length effort from Queensryche. They released a self-titled EP last year. The band hails from "The Great Wet Northwest," somewhere around Seattle.

They are league ahead of their competition in the genre of hard rock music. The Queensryche sound blends elements of early Styx, Uriah Heep, and a touch of Judas Priest thrown in for good measure. They are very adept at using dynamics and melodic in strumuals. Combine this with very serious and intriguing lyrics and you have the potential for excellent music. New bands such as Ratt and Motley Crue cannot compare.

The group is a quintet in structure. Geoff Tate is the lead vocalist. He has the range and power of a young Rob Halford, and makes very good use of it. The guitarists, Michael Wilton and Chris DeGarmo, work very well as a team. They employ all the tricks of the trade, and pull the stops out on every track. The rhythm section, Eddie Jackson, bass and Scott Rockenfield, drums and percussion, is strong throughout the album.

The album has several strong cuts. "Enforcer" is a well orchestrated track dealing with societal oppression by the "Master of Nations." Also on side one is "NM 156." This is an Orwellian type story about a society that is controlled by machines. The lyrics tell of a poor soul who watches his number appear on the screen as part of a population termination program. The instrumental and lyrics of side one give the side a very tense feel.

Contrasting side one, side two is less tense and more surrealistic. It contains the album's first single "Take Hold of the Flame." It also contains the epic story "Roads to Madness." This track tells the story of the traveller of time in search of eternal wisdom. Do not look for light and cheerful songs on this album because you will not find them. What you will find are a selection of well crafted songs that take a look at society's problems and beyond.

Queensryche will probably not get the airplay that they deserve, because the average radio listener is ignorant to the concepts being brought forth on the album. None the less they will be opening for Kiss on their upcoming world tour.

"Reducing Test Anxiety"

Do you ever go blank or freeze while taking an exam? Do you want to raise your grades, have a better test-taking ability, and become known as an outstanding student? The answer is yes! If this sounds familiar, we have a seminar that is especially designed for you.

Learning Assistance Services is co-sponsoring a seminar with Counseling and Testing in PL 37-B on Wednesday, November 7 from 12:31 p.m. entitled "Reducing Test Anxiety." This seminar is the first in a series of Learning Assistance Workshops that will be on-going over the academic year. Bridget Tucker and Sandy Hall of the Counseling and Testing Center will conduct the session.

An additional seminar on the same topic will be presented on Wednesday, November 14, at 1 p.m. Bridget and Sandy are earning Master's degrees in Psychology and are experts in this area.

See Rosemary Binney in the Learning Center, PL 37, or call extension 7812 for further information.

-Live Pop Music
-A taste of university life

Picture this. Generous, freshly-ground half-pound USDA patties grilled to order on gigantic, just baked sesame buns right from our ovens.

After we grill your burger to order and place it on a fresh-baked bun — that's where the challenge begins — YOU dress them with lettuce, tomato, veggie and onion; spice it up with all the pickles, salsa, and condiments; and ladle on rich melted cheese. America's Best Burgerx — our buns right from our ovens.

We get so enthusiastic about our burgers, we sometimes forget to mention our fries, baked potatoes, hot dogs, meaty chili, sauteed onions, old fashioned hand-dipped milk shakes, chocolaty brownies and cookies and long-necked beers and wines.

AMERICA'S BEST BURGER is the one you build yourself at . . .

The Seventh Annual Mission Inn Run

The Seventh Annual Mission Inn Run will take place in Riverside on Sunday, November 11, 1984. The 10k race and 10 kilometer runs follow their traditional routes, beginning and ending near Riverside's famed historic national landmark hotel, and passing through Fairmount Park and near Mt. Rubidoux.

The 5k race will begin at 8 a.m. and Race Director, Chris Rinne will start the 10k at 8:30 a.m. Check-in and registration is at Raincross Square from 6:45 a.m. to 7:45 a.m. Fees for registration in advance of November 7, 1984 are $9 with t-shirt, $4 without t-shirt. For late registration add $2. Trophies awarded for overall male and female winners. 140 medallions will be awarded in 37 age divisions, with presentations at the Mission Inn after the race. This year two wheelchair divisions have been added. All ages welcome to participate.

The Mission Inn Run started in 1978 as a benefit for the Mission Inn. In the past six years more than $29,000 has been raised for restoration. Proceeds from the 1984 run will be used to care for some of the most valuable art and artifacts in the Inn's collection. T-shirts this year will feature a new design by well-known Riverside artist Marty Tobias.

Entry forms are available at the Mission Inn front desk, Running Center in Rialto, any Riverside Park and Recreation Center, or by calling 781-8241.

For more information please contact the Mission Inn Foundation at the above number.

Presidential Poll

by Greg Timpany

The results are in! According to the survey sponsored by the Management Association of Cal State San Bernardino, President Reagan has a 47.5% lead over Democratic challenger Walter Mondale. The survey was conducted over a two day period, October 22 and 23, by the Student Opinion Survey Group. With the assistance of Dr. Barbara Sirotnik the group created and administered the questionnaire to 320 students.

The project was funded by a grant from the Management Association of Cal State San Bernardino. Management Association President Jack Vaughan said that his group was excited about the project, and was glad to be involved.

Of those polled, 70.2% responded that they would vote for President Reagan if the election were held today. Twenty-two and seven tenths percent indicated that they would vote for Walter Mondale if the election was being held today. When asked about the strength of their support for that ticket, 77% indicated strong support, and 23% indicated that their support was not strong.

On issues pertaining to National Security, President Reagan held a commanding lead over challenger Walter Mondale. When asked which candidate came closer to their way of thinking on the Moral issues of Abortion and School Prayer in Public Schools the respondents gave a slight edge to President Reagan. Almost a quarter of those polled were unsure which candidate came closer to their way of thinking on these issues.

According to the results either candidate could keep Social Security and Medicare solvent. Again nearly twenty-five percent of the sample were unsure about which candidate could handle the task. Of those who responded, 43% felt Reagan could improve the quality of Public Education, while only 29% felt Mondale could improve Public Education.

Mondale edged out President Reagan on the environmental issues. Interestingly enough a significant percentage of the respondents were unsure of their opinion on the environmental questions. When asked if their vote would not have an impact on the 1984 Presidential election 63.4% either disagreed or strongly disagreed.

When asked which issue facing the country was the most important 51.1% of the respondents indicated that the nuclear arms race was most important. Budget Deficits were the most important issue to 20.1% of the respondents.

According to researcher Brian Oulman, "the results of the survey indicate a conservative tendency on the part of students at Cal State San Bernardino. In the past students have tended to conceptualize issues from a liberal standpoint. I found it interesting that a large number of students favored President Reagan's views on Abortion and School Prayer. I believe that the liberals of old might find themselves being replaced by a new class of young conservatives."

Researcher Mitch Slagerman agrees. "The new wave of youth and conservatism is founded upon young people's desires to feel good about themselves and live self-fulfilling lives. President Reagan has been telling the people how great they are, and that they should be proud of being an American. This is fine for the new wave conservatives because they don't have time to focus on the issues. They are too busy seeking materialistic gains. It is frightening to think that the voting public may become so uninformed and unconcerned with national issues that they unknowingly give up the unalienable rights that our forefathers fought so hard to acquire."
