L.A.'s Slavery Ordinance is all about “Due Respect”

By Gene C. Johnson Jr. Special to the Daily News

Since Los Angeles became a city 145 years ago, Plenty of California companies and the city have been able to profit from the bondage of slavery. If a company could find it would be required to disclose them.

Every step the councilman has taken to bring about a law requiring companies to go out of business, to say, ‘Let us know who they are.'

Nevertheless, the ordinance makes no provisions for investigating companies and the city would have little recourse if a business chose not to be forthright about its history.

The ordinance does require companies in business with the city to sign an affidavit that they or their firms or their predecessors ever profited from slavery. If a company finds it would be required to disclose them.

People are debating whether there was full recovery from slavery, he said. “The African-American community may never overcome the effects of slavery.”

Councilman Bernard Parks agreed with Sawyer.

L.A. Police Shooting to be Investigated

By Mary Shallenberger

The Community Police Review Board is expected to investigate the shooting of an African-American man by two Riverside Police Department officers, but their commissioners raised concerns that its investigation could be compromised because the most important information might be withheld from the commission.

“The information that we would ultimately need is withheld from us,” Commissioner James Wood said, adding that often the commission has to wait six months until after the criminal investigation of a shooting is completed before they can begin receiving the information needed for their own investigation.

Another Police Officer Shooting?

By Handy Brown

All of the facts are not in but the community is talking and waiting for the investigation of last week’s shooting which took the life of Lamont Volker Stokes. We have received many inquiries and Reverend Serrall Brown has been called to start protesting the shooting. Stokes was the 31 year old Black man who was shot and killed by two Riverside Police Officers. It has been reported that four minutes after the officers arrived on the scene Stokes was shot. According to Felix Medina, Public Information Officer, the responding officer felt threatened when Stokes raised the knife he was holding in one hand and a revolver in the other and started toward them. Stokes reportedly kept advancing toward the officers in spite of the fact that they ordered him to stop. The two officers have been placed on paid administrative leave while the investigation continues.

We will not speculate on what the officers should or should not have done in this situation, however I still cannot believe a better way cannot be found to handle people. Many of the people I have talked with are concerned that something is lacking in police officer training. This was one of the areas highlighted in every investigative report found around the country during the Tyshia Miller shooting. The training component in Attorney General Bill Lockyer’s, consent decree was stated as an area for improvement in the Riverside Police Department. We would suggest that Police Chief Leach, City Manager George Caravallas, and Mayor Cook make a status report to the community concerning the training of police officers. In addition we would ask the governing body of the city require the investigators give them a complete report that includes the good, bad and ugly of the officers’ action.

"Similarly, it was a life-changing experience. The conference made us ask ourselves what we can do to advance our issues. As we emerge from a season of setbacks, from attacks on affirmative action, from suits and fire-branding, as we emerge from our conference we see an opportunity. As long as we have the courage to act and lead, we can change America."

Dear P.E.,

My father is a long-time smoker. He was recently diagnosed with terminal lung cancer.

How can I influence my kids or other children not to take up smoking?

Dear P.E.,

Parents are the single most important influence on children's decision to smoke, drink or use drugs, yet many parents do not fully understand the extent of their influence. While smoking may not be your greatest concern, it's worth close attention because of its direct health dangers and also because it's linked with other risky behaviors.

"Raising Kids Who Don't Smoke"

According to the 2002 Monitoring the Future study, the number of teenagers who smoke cigarettes is on the decline. However, more than one in four high school seniors reported smoking in the past 30 days. If you think your child is too young to try smoking, think again. Almost 9 out of 10 high school seniors reported they had tried smoking by age 18. Elementary school is not too early to talk to your child about not smoking or even have conversations on an ongoing basis. If your child is 15 and doesn't smoke, the discussions shouldn't stop she's still at risk. If you present teens from smoking in high school, chances are greater that they won't smoke as adults. More than one-third of all kids who try smoking go on to smoke regularly. Even though smoking numbers have dropped recently, the Surgeon General for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) reported that in 2000, nearly 17 percent of high school seniors had smoked a cigarette in the past 30 days. Your child is at risk. Here are some health consequences. More Americans die from cigarette-related illnesses than alcohol, car accidents, suicide, AIDS, homicide and illegal drugs combined.

Almost 9 out of 10 lung cancer deaths are caused by smoking cigarettes. Among Blacks, the risk of death from smoking-related illnesses is twice that of whites. A person who smokes a pack or more of cigarettes every day lives, on average, seven years less than someone who never smoked. Smoking is the most preventable cause of premature death in the country.

Talk to your child. Keep the communication lines open. Look for signs of poor performance. State your values clearly. Practice what you preach. Focus on short-term consequences. Explain that bad breath, smelly clothes, yellow fingernails, poor performance in school and other problems can happen with only one or two cigarettes. If your child already smokes, take a deep breath and find a good time and place to begin the talk. Encourage a two-way conversation and resist the temptation to launch into a lecture or a debate over the pros and cons of smoking. The facts on smoking are very clear and deadly so much so that Philip Morris USA in conjunction with the CDC and other health-related groups, has released a colorful and informative brochure on teen smoking called, "Raising Kids Who Don't Smoke." The brochure is created for parents just like you. While it's probably too late to save your father, his plight can help you save your kids or someone else's family member.

Copies of the Philip Morris USA Smoking Prevention brochure are available at www.phillipmorrisusa.com or call toll free, 866-Help-Talk (866-435-7825.)

Donovan criticized the department for its actions. He said that they were not doing their job properly. The department's policy mandates that officers must turn on their body cameras at the slightest provocation, but that was not explained at the meeting by Dominguez. Jim Martin, a representative of the public, said that the police department had not been transparent in its handling of the case. He said that there was no evidence that the officers had acted properly.

"At the slightest provocation, the police department is out of control by an administration that should be held accountable," Martin said. "We need more information on the police department's actions." The group of lawyers said that they were not satisfied with the police department's handling of the case.

General Order Number 3

One of General Granger's first orders of business was to read to the people of Texas, General Order Number 3 which began most significantly with:

"The people of Texas are informed that in accordance with a Proclamation from the Executive of the United States, all slaves are free. This involves an absolute equality of rights and of duties of whatever race. And no power on earth can make one slave less equal in any respect than another."

The reactions to this profound news ranged from pure shock to immediate jubilation. While many lined up to learn of this new employer to employee relationship, many left before these offers were conveyed.

How Well Do You Know the Young People around You?
Easy Ways to Connect with Young People

D o you know someone who s old use a rock? The story goes: "A fifteen-year-old girl has a nasty fig h t with her mates, slams the door shut, and cries herself to sleep. She wakes up in the morning to discover a small package outside her bedroom door.
It's a rock wrapped in a piece of paper on which 20 words were writen. It took less than a minute to read, but she'll have a lifetime to hark in its meaning. The note read:
'This rock is 30 million years old.
That's how long it will be before you ever give up on this.'" This story is just one example of how a simple action can have a positive impact in the life of a child. Studies in the fields of youth development and resilience repeatedly point out how the presence of caring adults is the single most important factor that can make a difference in the life of a young person. But research also continues to show that most young people state that they don't have eough caring adults in their lives.
While the Search is compelling,
that voice inside your head may be asking, 'is it for me? You may be thinking that you don't have the time "one more thing" -- or that you are not a professional youth worker,
so you do not have the qualifications with youth? But think about this.
We are talking about our future employment, teachers, parents and our peers. We have the power now to influence their lives and shape the career, choices and the health and doesn't have to be difficult or really make a difference? Take a time and think back to people who supported and nurtured you in the past. Maybe it was a teacher who believed in your abilities, maybe it was a neighbor who invited you over for dinner, maybe it was a coach or music instructor who encouraged you to keep practicing; or maybe it was a babysitter who took the time to play with you. While these actions all may seem small, you still remember them and what they meant to you.

Von's and Abbottson's are interested in carrying Red Hill BBQ's sauce on their shelves. According to Diane, Red Hill's goal is to distribute the tasty sauce in every supermarket in the nation. Red Hill has given back to the community through organizations like the Alta Loma Basketball Team, annual sponsorship of the Upper Library Literacy Awards Banquet, The Rancho Cucamonga Library, and Positive Choice for Youth.

Diane advises anyone who plans on starting a business or taking their business to another level to try everything possible to keep your doors open. Don't be afraid to reach out to help. Keep your self surrounded with positive people that give wise feedback. The help from family and friends are invaluable. Diane contributes Red Hill's success to strong support from family, a lot of hard work and positive encouragement. In fact Red Hill wouldn't be where it is today without the family. The first Red Hill BBQ opened at 8111 Foothill Blvd, Unit 81 in Rancho Cucamonga. The restaurant offers to go orders and catering. For additional information call (909) 920-6554.

The second location is at 5470 Moreno Street in Montclair, CA. The restaurant can hold up to 136 guests with a full dining room and a banquet room. Look for Jazz and Kebab in the near future. For additional information please call Diane Price at (909) 962-5744. Red Hill BBQ recently opened it's third location their Mother's Day at 16101 Baseline at Citrus in Fontana, CA. Foundation Grants $55,002 to Riverside Company Agencies

The Community Foundation serving Riverside and San Bernardino Counties approved $57,000 in new grants as of April 2003 board meeting. Of that total, $55,002 will directly fund programs in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

"These grants represent our donors' wishes to "give back" to the communities in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties," said Sheryl Alexander, Community Foundation CEO. "Many of our donors specify the programs and services they wish to support, but in some cases they rely on The Community Foundation to identify and fund the most urgent needs," Alexander continued. "Through their giving, we fund programs as valuable and diverse as urban planning and art therapy."

The Community Foundation's Bertha M. Green Fund purchased an air conditioning and heating unit for the shelter's cafeteria. This fund was established in December 1979 to provide funds for the care of domestic animals.

Finally, The Community Foundation's own Community Impact Fund granted $3,000 to the Inland Empire Economic Partnership to support the Sustainable Communities Initiative for planned growth in both Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

The Community Foundation made this spring to San Bernardino County programs included $30,000 to the Rolling Start Center for Independent Living in San Bernardino; and five grants totaling $12,000 to agencies in Upland: Pacific Life Foundation, Down Syndrome Foundation, Advocates for bookmarks, and Life.

$55,002 will provide 10 new grants in the areas of mental health, homelessness, and animal welfare. A list of recipients, their projects, and grant amounts is as follows:

- Riverside County.
- Better Angels Church and Elementary School.
- United Family Furniture.

Grandma, am I up to date?

Are your grandkids safe from preventable childhood diseases?

It's easy to make sure. Ask Mom to:

1. Find your little one's shot record and show it to your doctor or health care provider.
2. Take your little ones to get all their shots on time.
3. Stay on schedule—a little shot can make a big difference!

For more information, contact your local Immunization Program. Make sure your grandkids are up to date.

Performance Riverside Presents "Once On This Island"

Performance Riverside is set to open the highly anticipated Island Empire professional premiere of the Lynn Ahrens and Stephen Flaherty musical "Once on This Island" for a three weekend run beginning June 6 at Landis Auditorium. Featuring an all African-American cast, the show is a Caribbean retelling of Hans Christian Andersen's The Little Mermaid, centering around Ti Moune, the Black peasant girl who rescues, meses and falls in love with Daniel, a mutate from a wealthy family. When Daniel is returned to his people, the gods who rule the island guide Ti Moune on a quest to test the strength of her love against the powerful forces of prejudice, hatred and death. "Once on This Island" was the first Broadway show by the prolific composer/lyricist team of Ahrens and Flaherty, whose other work has included such hits as "Ragtime," "Anastasia" and "Sesame Street," currently on National Tour starring Cathy Rigby.

"We set our sights on "Once On This Island" as a show to allow it to blossom. II says Performance Riverside's Executive Director and Producer Steven A. Glaudini. "Then when I saw it in New York, I was struck by the humanity and the powerful simplicity of how the story is told. There are eleven actors who rarely leave the stage and play multiple roles in a unique storybook style. It was incredibly inventive for Broadway."

Seeking the same sort of inventiveness, Glaudini turned to longtime Performance Riverside director Gary Knikke, whose innovative staging has been seen in such past productions as "Triumph of Love," "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." "Gary has a unique sense of style," explains Glaudini. "But he also sees the heart of this piece and is passionate about allowing it to blossom."

The cast includes Darlecia Caney, who starred in Sarah on Broadway in Ragtime, in the role of Ti Moune. Her other credits include principal roles in "The Goodbye Girl" on Broadway and the National and International tours of "The Who's Tommy." Miles Wesley will be returning to Performance Riverside as Daniel after wowing audiences earlier this year as Caius Lucius in "Children of Eden." Wesley starred as Simba in the Los Angeles engagement of "The Lion King" at the Pantages Theatre, a role he is also playing on the show's National Tour. In addition, Regina LeVert, who starred in the national tour of "FAME" and in the World Premiere of "Dorcas" at the Denver Center, will appear as Asaka, Mother of the Earth. Audience favorite Vonetta Misson returns to the Performance Riverside stage as Mother after such celebrated roles as Alice in "Big River," Miss Jones in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," a storyteller in "Children of Eden," and part of the quintet which made up "Ain't Misbehavin" nearly four years ago. Glaudini emphasizes that the show is not about race. "It's message is universal," he says. "This is a show which will speak to everyone with its themes of acceptance and love."

"Once on This Island" runs June 6, 7, 13, 14, 20 and 21 at 8:00 p.m., and June 8, 9 and 22 at 2:00 p.m. at Landis Auditorium, located on the Riverside Community College campus at 4800 Magnolia Avenue in Riverside. Tickets are $21, $24 and $28. For reservations or more information, call the Performance Riverside box office at (909) 222-1100 or visit them on the web at www.performanceriver­side.org.
