CSUSB
Coyote Debating Team

The 1984-85 academic year at Cal State, San Bernardino has seen a number of teams formed to participate in intercollegiate competition, joining the pack of Coyote debaters eager to establish a reputation for CSUSB are members of the recently-formed Cal State Debate Team.

The debate team is sponsored by The Communication Department and participation is open to all interested undergraduates and eligible graduate students. No previous experience is necessary to join the team and begin preparation for, intercollegiate competition, either the novice, junior, or senior division.

Similar to the early Lincoln-Douglas debates of 1858, and more recent tournaments televised in 1960, 1976, 1980 and 1984, intercollegiate debate follows the pattern of face-to-face confrontation in which opponents persuasively argue the pros and cons of a given issue or position. Each year the debate team, however, teams of collegiate debaters from across the country have an opportunity each year to meet opponents in local and national tournaments, to debate the pros and cons of a single national collegiate proposition.

The college topic being debated this year is "Resolved: that the United States Federal Government should significantly increase exploration and/or development of space beyond the Earth's atmosphere, in conjunction with the exploration and/or development for the United States Federal Government to substantially increase systems to explore and develop that portion of the Earth's atmosphere, and the Earth's miles above the Earth's surface.

In a survey of 160 leaders in politics, religion, the sciences, and the professions, it was discovered that 100 had debated. Of these 100, 90 believed that debate experience had been "extremely valuable" in their "personal and professional development."

Each student is expected to be prepared to argue in favor of adoption of the resolution for which one team of two debaters is for and the other is against adoption of the resolution, in favor of preserving the present way of doing things.

These members of the International Society for Krishna Consciousness were on campus recently as part of a day display of Krishna literature and Indian culture.

Deadline For Scholarship Applications Nearing

GETTING ACQUAINTED WITH DR. PETER WILSON

by John Cloud

In a dynamic mind, personality, and a progressive action... that set goals and driven to achieve them. At Cal State University, Chico, in Berkeley, and at Santa Clara University, and others. We have such a person. This person is our Dean of Students, Peter Wilson.

A 45-year-old working professional, Wilson was born in Philadelphia, Penn., the son of a AT&T executive. Due to his father's work, Wilson as a young man moved from city to city quite often. He lived in Pennsylvania and New Jersey before moving on to Pennsylvania where he attended Gettysburg College and receive his B.A. in Psychology in 1966.

After receiving his B.A., he studied for his M.A. degree in student Personnel Administration with a concentration in counseling at Colgate University in Hamilton, New York. He received his M.A. in 1968.

In 1966, Wilson, an Easterner for most of his life, set his sights on the west coast after accepting a job as the assistant dean of students at UCLA. Wilson directed an 800-student dormitory on campus for four years before moving up to assistant director of counseling and dealing with students personally. Wilson's responsibility to provide individual counseling and academic advising on a day to day basis.

At the University of Santa Cruz in 1972, Wilson accepted the position of assistant director of student services. He worked on his M.A. and M.D. at UCLA. He directed two student affairs departments, coordinated new student orientation as well as academic advising; he implemented policies regulating student activities and conduct.

Upon receiving his M.A. in Philosophy of Education in 1976, Wilson accepted greater professional challenges. From 1975 to 1980, he managed the student affairs structure by becoming assistant to the vice chancellor of student affairs. Wilson's line responsibility was for the departments concerned with student services. His next professional move was to director of campus-wide student programs whereupon he directed a total of eight student affairs department's with responsibilities in personal selection, training and supervision, student evaluations, development of programs, and budget preparation and planning. Wilson's strong leadership character gave him the reputation as an administrator at University of Santa Cruz.

Peter was married in 1977. He and his wife moved from Calif. to Ohio where he was hired as an assistant professor. It was still Wilson's responsibility to provide individual counseling and academic advising on a day to day basis.

Upon receiving his Ph.D. in 1985, he applied and accepted his current position as Dean of Students at Cal State University.

As Dean of Students, Wilson has spent the majority of his time focusing on the development of the four senior officers that reports directly to President Evans. The senior officers are responsible for the overall management of a comprehensive student services division. Wilson oversees many organizational operations in the student services spectrum. Such operations as, counseling and health, enrollment, education, student government, general student affairs, and the Associate Students are the foundation for many of the services a student may utilize on a daily basis. Wilson's job is to manage effectively the services students so that students can have maximum benefit.

At the beginning of every school year, Wilson drafts a set of purpose goals and policies that students are expected to follow. Wilson's job is to manage effectively the services students so that students can have maximum benefit.

In 1985, Wilson began his work on the construction of the new Southwestern College, which is scheduled to be completed in 1987. He is responsible for the overall management of the new building. Wilson's job is to manage effectively the services students so that students can have maximum benefit.

Marketing Assn. Victorious In College Bowl

For 10 points, who has quick recall, the longer, bars of steel, a storehouse of arcane knowledge, and is a member of the Marketing Association defeat the Math Department team in last Wednesday's College Bowl tournament. The Marketing Association, led by Mitch Slagerman, won two games to the Math Department's one win in the championship finals. Members of the Math Department team include Bob Dietzel, Jan Brock, Patti Reynolds and John Sarli. The Marketing Association and Math team advanced to the finals by defeating Alpha Kappa Psi, Associated Students, and the Green Unideckers.

The tournament was considerably calmed by the on- and off-the-record comments of the moderator, John Hatton, Associate Dean of Students. In the finals, Kent Karke, psychologist professor, served as announcer and Michael Weiss, psychologist professor, assumed judging duties. The task of scorekeeping was ably handled by mathematics professor, Dan Ruzick, Joe Long, director of intramural, served as timekeeper.

During the preliminary matches, Steven Mellor (psychology professor), Steven Levy (administration professor), Carl Waggner (criminal justice professor), Joanne Hogenson (director of activities), Roberta Stathas-Ochoa (academic programs coordinator), and Helga Lingein (director of the student union) served as game officials. Other members of the College Bowl executive committee include Dick Moss, Keith Delano, Sherry Hammer, Jeff Schofield, and Susan Altran.

Prizes for the first and second place winning teams were donated by Associated Students and the Student Union. First-place winners received a coyote mug and CSUSB window decal; 2nd place winners were awarded a book entitled How To Improve Your Memory.

This first College Bowl tournament seemed to bring cross-freaks out of the woodwork. The University is tentatively planning to host another College Bowl competition in the spring. Students interested in serving on the College Bowl committee should leave their names at the Student Union information desk.

Special thanks are due Cal Poly, Parsons for loaning the equipment and game packets, and for providing expertise.

Health Fair Expo Set For April 20th

Rising medical costs and economic stress account for some of the attraction of RFE. However, its overwhelming success is also due to the medical and lay volunteers who handle everything from assisting participants in filling out forms and the actual medical screenings, to the professional health counseling and referrals and follow-up phone calls after the event to ensure that patients with abnormal results are taking proper action. Many of these volunteers at our CSU Health Fair are CSU students and faculty. Perhaps as important as the screenings and educational experiences, the Health Fair creates a spirit and a feeling of being involved in a process that cares about the individual by bringing health care to the participants rather than demanding that they bear the burden of finding their own health resources. If you are interested in getting involved in the planning for this event or would like to donate your time on April 20th, please sign up in the Health Science office in the Physical Science Bldg. on campus, or call 887-7348 to leave your name.

Health Expo Corner: Possible Herpes Cure

Medical help is Acyclovir marketed under the trade name of Zovirax by the Burroughs Wellcome Company. The Burroughs Wellcome Company's Research Department claimed the scientific, medical, and prescribing information to interested physicians early this week. The company stated that it should be available at pharmacies the week of February 11, 1985 in 200 mgm size capsules. The company will provide additional information on this. The physician, issuing the prescription discloses the medical information to the patient. It contains, in part, the following information:

Genital herpes is a sexually transmitted disease and patients should avoid intercourse when visible symptons are present because of the risk of infecting intimate partners. Zovirax capsules are for oral ingestion only. Medications should not be shared with others. The prescribed dosage should not be exceeded. Zovirax capsules do not completely relieve sores. Some patients experience increased severity of the first episode following cessation of therapy; the severity of subsequent episodes and the effect on the natural history of the disease are still under study.

There are still unanswered questions concerning reproductive/ genital toxicity and mutagenesis. Long term studies are continuing. Decreased sperm production has been seen at high doses in some animals; preliminary analysis of a study using 400 mgm or 100 mgm of Zovirax per day for six months in humans did not show similar findings. Chromosomal breaks were seen in vitro after brief exposure to high concentrations. Some other currently marketed medications also cause chromosomal breaks, and the significance of this finding is unknown.

Patients are instructed to consult with their physician if, they do not receive sufficient relief in the frequency and severity of their recurrences; they experience severe troublesome adverse reactions; they become pregnant or intend to become pregnant; they intend to breastfeed while taking Zovirax capsules, or they have any other questions.

How is this medication given for an initial attack of herpes?

One 200 mgm Zovirax capsule is taken five times a day for ten days. For suppressive therapy for those patients with recurrent herpes, one 200 mgm capsule is taken three times a day for up to six months. For intermittent therapy, one 200 mgm capsule is given five times a day for five days. Therapy should be started at the earliest sign of recurrence.

Will this medication be so expensive that no one can afford it?

It is estimated that the cost of the medication will be $1.00 to $1.25 per 200 mgm capsule. And you must remember that Zovirax is not a cure! At present, there is no known cure for herpes. In conclusion, when tempted to be self-reliant, remember that herpes is forever!

Don't forget to submit any health related questions to the Chronicle's question box.

Remedial Classes To Be Reduced?

by Craig Timpany

The Chancellor’s office has released a plan to reduce the number of remedial programs offered by CSU campuses. The plan, using annual target goals, hopes to reduce by three-fourths the number of students enrolled in remedial English and math classes. The Chancellor’s office believes that this can be done by the fall of 1990.

The plan will require a strong commitment to working with high schools, adult schools, and junior colleges. According to trustee George Marcus, “the plan recognizes where the solutions will be most effective.” The plan does fit into current efforts to bolster standards for performance in college preparatory classes. Also the CSU faculty to consult with school and state and local officials to bolster performance on basic skills tests. It is important to note that the solutions will be most effective.”

Other aspects of the plan include increasing the opportunity for secondary school faculty to assure their abilities to teach college preparatory to assure their abilities to teach college preparatory.

CSUSB's women's basketball team played its last home game February 5 against Christ College. The team played most of the season with 6 members. They are Becky Carranza, LaTonya Johnson, Renita Lee, Rhonda Smith, Shane Trickey and Sippor Thomas. Ms. Thomas is the team's number one player, scoring an average of 24 points per game and 9.2 rebounds. She is currently ranked 2nd in the nation in division three scoring.

Did you know that the National Intramural Recreational Sports Association (NIRSA), formerly known as the National Intramural Recreation Union (NIRU), was founded by Blacks in 1960? In fact, the entire membership of NIRSA was Black. The conference was hosted by Dr. William Wasson, at Dillard University in New Orleans. The Association later became the National Intramural Athletic Association and now includes nearly one thousand members, including this writer.

The Moot Platform Explained

To the Editor:

Due to the uncontrollable millions who have applied for membership since the last letter to the Editor, we the council for Terrorism Action and Garden Show Fund-Raising of the National Anarchists Peoples Liberation Front have decided to make known our platform.

First, our platform is MOOT.

Second, here is what we hold to be most:

1. Old people are MOOT.
2. Young people are MOOT.
3. Everybody is MOOT.
4. Anything not included in 1, 2, or 3 is MOOT.
5. Make the MOOT.

Third, beware of things which appear to be of importance or meaning, as they are trying to trick you into believing they are not MOOT. Also beware of any organization other than the National Anarchists Peoples Liberation Front, as all other parties except the ones who are Moot are MOOT. Finally beware of the Night Beasts, who eat non-party members and those who are MOOT. Who do not join you have been warned.

Sincerely,

The Woman-eating Monster Council for Terrorist Action, etc.
National Anarchists Peoples Liberation Front, et al.

The Moot Platform

Dear Editor:

This is a rebuttal to the editorial that Kathe Morrell wrote in the February 6 issue of the Chronicle. She believes that Alpha Kappa Phi was irresponsible for not prevailing those who participated in Monte Carlo Night regarding the time that gambling will come to an end.

Well Miss Morrell, you are greatly mistaken. Everyone that attended Monte Carlo Night knew that the event was to end at 11:30 p.m. Not the gambling itself, but the event as a whole. Let’s be realistic. There aren’t too many people that would have stayed till after 3 a.m. for the fun.

Miss Morrell also mentioned that “people’s reactions were upsetting.” I believe that this is gratuitous. Miss Morrell was the only person I heard complain about the gambling coming over the last year. Everyone else seemed to have a fantastic time. I have bad people come up to me and ask when AKP is going to put on another Monte Carlo Night.

The president of AKP, Todd Turco, may have brushed Miss Morrell aside, I however, distinctly remember Mr. Turco talking to Miss Morrell right before the auction was to start. He also sent someone in his place to meet with her because he couldn’t make it due to prior commitments.

Another fault I found in Miss Morrell’s editorial was her belief that the event was Moot. As such, she should not allow personal feelings to “get in the way of an assignment.” The way I see it, she let her own “personal(sic)feeling” get in the way of her editorial. She was obviously upset with AKP for halting the gambling at midnight and asked with Mr. Turco for brushing her aside.

Alpha Kappa Phi is a professional business fraternity that uphold(s) professionalism. Monte Carlo Night was a “class act” put on by a class group.

Sincerely,

Mimi Paulino
Vice Pres. Alpha Kappa Phi

Pub/Snack Bar Story Clarified

Dear Editor:

What a nice surprise to find a student concerned enough about what happens in the Student Union Snack Bar to research and write an article for The Chronicle. My only regret is that not all the facts were accurate. In reference to Ronnie Reynolds’s article allow me to correct a few points.

First of all, let’s get the beverages right. The large beverage sold in the Snack Bar is 16 oz. not 14 oz. The maximum beverage is 16 oz, not 12 oz, and the small beverage is 12 oz not 10 oz. So I guess that brings the beverage prices right back in line with Poly Promos, UCR, and Redlands U.

Secondly, thank you Miss Reynolds for briefly commenting that my sandwich prices are comparable to other universities. I must admit though that I’m not as concerned with the university prices as I am concerned with what the merchants’ prices in the immediate area of CSUSB are charging. After all, I would be led to believe customers of the Snack Bar would go to an area merchant before they would travel to another university. Therefore, Snack Bar prices are more comparable to local prices and will help keep students on campus so they also have the opportunity to partake in other activities and facilities offered on campus. I do look to the schools and promotions to enhance the Snack Bar and encourage students to actively partake in their university and the events happening there.

Thirdly, again another thank you for the salat bar suggestion. You just forget to mention one thing where would you put it? Installation of a service and dining area is very limited. To remove any tables would reduce seating by 20% to 25% which would be a major problem during the lunch rush. Also, the service area certainly doesn’t allow room for a salat bar so until the area is expanded to make room for a feasible way to put a salat bar in the current times, we are stuck with cellophane wrapped salads. Which, I hate. All of them are made and wrapped fresh daily.

Fourthly, I would like to know if the prices Ms. Reynolds quoted from the Student Union Snack Bar prices did. The ounce sizes for the Snack Bar beverages were inaccurate and therefore so were the prices Ms. Reynolds quoted from student union prices. After all, I must admit though that I’m not as concerned with the university prices as I am concerned with what the merchants’ prices in the immediate area of CSUSB are charging. The ounce sizes for the Snack Bar prices were inaccurate and therefore so were the prices Ms. Reynolds quoted from student union prices.

The Cal State Chronicle encourages the Student Union Snack Bar to research and write an article for the Chronicle. I do look to the schools and promotions to enhance the Snack Bar and encourage students to actively partake in their university and the events happening there.

Sincerely,

Sam, the Woman-eating Monster Council for Terrorist Action, etc.
