A comedy which explores people's nonthinking acceptance of situations which initially appall them, Ionesco's "Rhinoceros," will be presented at Cal State, San Bernardino May 23-25 and May 29-31.

Last year, torn sweatshirts; four years ago, cowboy hats; forty years ago, swastikas. Next year, nasal horns. Fashion is a funny thing, at least, Ionesco thinks so and in his Comedy of the Absurd, "Rhinoceros," he explores the tentative hold man has on his identity and the ease with which he is swept away on the tide of fashion. Nonsense becomes logic, foolishness becomes fashion and people become pachyderms in pursuit of uniformity.

Ionesco, concerned by the rise of fascism in his native Rumania, creates a character, Berenger, who represents the struggle of an individual mind against any tyranny which becomes idolatry, explained Dr. Amanda Sue Rudisill, director of the production. One by one Berenger's friends and townspeople turn into rhinoceros, the monster which came into their midst and they accepted because everyone else was accepting.

Through his writing, Ionesco calls our attention to how people rationalize away individual human values to belong to a group which unquestioningly follows an ideology to idolatry, whether the ideas are political, religious or even business advertising. On the one hand, we use language, not to communicate, but to hide behind, to confuse or to control others. On the other hand, we are the victims of such usage. We substitute indifference for involvement, slogans for thinking. (If you doubt this is so, just walk through the campus parking lot and read the bumper stickers.) We throw away morality, culture, friendship and love. Robot-like, we join the herd.

The play is a comedy because Ionesco exaggerates so the audience perceives the points he is making, according to Dr. Rudisill. "The playwright believes one of the best ways to get rid of anything which frightens you is to laugh at it. The power it holds over you then is lost.

CSUSB To Receive A Chapter Of Omicron Delta Epsilon.

The Economics Department has recently been approved to open a chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon. ODE is an international honor society in economics. The chapter name will be Alpha-Delta of California.

ODE is one of the largest academic honor societies in the world. Its history dates back to 1915 when John K. Commons and Frank Taussing founded Omicron Delta Gamma. The society encourages the advancement of economics as a discipline and promotes excellence in economics scholarship. ODE has many objectives. Foremost is the recognition of scholarly achievement in economics. The society also recognizes achievements by economists at all levels. It provides a medium for faculty and students to interact outside of the classroom. ODE also provides information about careers in economics.

Membership in Omicron Delta Epsilon is open to all students with an interest in economics. The student must have had at least 12 units in economics, with a grade of B or better. Also an overall GPA of 3.0 is required.

Members will receive a scroll and a one-year subscription to the American Economic Association's official journal. ODE membership fees are $20 per year. Anyone interested in joining ODE must contact Dr. Mayo Turuno by June 10. Dr. Turuno's office is SS 132 and his phone number is 867-7659.

A.K. Psi Plans Weekend Car Rallye

A car rally is planned for Saturday, May 20. The event is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi, Professional Business Fraternity. The rallye is open to everyone. It will begin at 9 a.m. in the Commons parking lot. First price is $100 in cash. The prize will go to the team that completes the course in the least amount of time. Other prices will be awarded.

Student Simulation of International Council

The San Bernardino Model United Nations is to be held May 15 in the Student Union and Commons. The simulation of the actual United Nations was deemed by both the National Model United Nations and the principal organizer of the San Bernardino Model U.N. to be successful for California. While these and many other individuals helped organize and operate the S.B. Model U.N., deliberations were placed largely in the hands of the participating students themselves. Each student went home with a better idea of the problems facing the world today and the U.N.'s role in resolving them. Due to the success of this year's M.U.N., students can look forward to the San Bernardino Model U.N. in 1986.

Delta Sigma Phi Talent Show

You can see yourself on a star studied stage. As the spotlight shines upon you the audience remains silent, watching intently and anxiously sighing with your every breath. You end your singing or as the curtain falls the audience rises in ovation, applauding wildly for eight curtain calls. Flowers bombard the stage as your agents give you the news that the critics have elected you the hottest act on Broadway since Ethel Merman. In an outburst of emotion you cry "Thank You! I Love You All" and you are awakened by your own scream to find yourself wet with perspiration and panting heavily before your bathroom mirror.

The men of Delta Sigma Phi and A.S. realize the secret desire of everyone to be a star. Because of this, they are offering the opportunity for you to take the stage and display your star qualities. Delta Sigma Phi and A.S. are sponsoring a talent show on Thursday, May 20. The extravaganza will take place in the Student Union Multipurpose Room at 8 p.m. and prizes will be awarded to the top acts. This is one of the many future events scheduled by Delta Sigma Phi.

A.S. and DSP needs fresh, and not so fresh, talent for the show. So dust off those old dancing shoes and warm up your vocal chords. If you play the piano, the violin, the radio, or if you sing, dance, tie your tongue in a knot, please contact A.S. Activities, 867-7527 or Paul Reiner, Waterman dorm, 867-7422. Tryout times will also be posted on campus. Even if you own a comedian quizzed named Maurice your act will be considered for the show. Get up on stage and display your talent to the world. You may not only take home an award, but a million dollar move contract. Hollywood scouts will be advised to attend.

MORE ABOUT HYPERTENSION

Hypertension or High Blood Pressure is the leading cause of heart disease—the nation's number one disease—causing kidney failure, stroke, heart attack, and heart failure. Many people don't consider high blood pressure dangerous because they don't feel any symptoms. They do not realize that high blood pressure was the underlying cause. Often there are no symptoms or warning signs. Therefore, it is important to have your blood pressure checked once or twice a year, if it is elevated, then it should be checked more often.

Having your blood pressure checked is not just an exercise. Things can be done to bring an elevated blood pressure down. We at the Health Center can help you to "come on down" and have your blood pressure checked.

Thinking About Graduating This JUNE Maybe?

by Elrod Lawrence

So you thought you want to graduate... huh? Well, if you're a senior this year, the big moment is just around the corner and may just catch you looking the other way. In that light, this particular column is being written to serve as a graduation "checklist" filled with all sorts of nice last-minute tips to make sure your final days at CSUSB be as insane. So, read on, and we'll see if I can squeeze this all into one article.

First of all, you'll probably need a cap and gown for the event; you can fill that need by visiting the Coyote Bookstore and picking them up. Next, it would be smart to settle any on-campus financial matters, which can be done by paying any fees and debts well ahead of time, and by returning any and all library books. And don't forget to get that Grad Check filed; hopefully, you've done it already.

Another facet of graduation you should think about now is your life after graduation. Look into the various graduate programs offered for graduating persons. Also, work on getting your letter(s) of recommendation now, while you are still fresh in your professors' minds. And finally, join the Alumni Association, an organization made especially for graduates such as yourself. It has a number of chapters and through it you can help spread the word about your university even after you leave.

There's really not much left to say except participate. Each school's CSUSB will hold a reception for its graduates hosted by the faculty and staff. It's a chance for you to show your family all you've done. So, read on. and we'll see if I can squeze this all into one article.
