GEORGE PLIMPTON VISITS CAMPUS

by Carl Morgan

Every so often there emerges an individual who appears to defy all human limitations. A person who has seemingly done it all. One such person is George Plimpton.

A writer, adventurer, intellectual, and athlete, George Plimpton has truly done things that most of us only dream about. CSUSB is honored to welcome an individual of his stature to campus. On Thursday, October 10, at 7:30 pm, the Student Union Multi-Purpose room will become the site of George Plimpton's presentation, an "Amateur Among the Pros."

Most people may recognize George Plimpton as the writer of Paper Lion, the true story of his experience of playing quarterback for the Detroit Lions; the movie version starred Alan Alda as George Plimpton. Plimpton's further adventures include playing basketball for the Boston Celtics, hockey for the Boston Bruins, percussion with the New York Philharmonic, bullfighting, and flying on a trapeze for the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers Circus. These are just to name a few.

George Plimpton has received degrees from Harvard University and King's College, Cambridge University. He has written eighteen books and numerous articles pertaining to his experiences and many interests. His film appearances include "Red," "Lawrence of Arabia," and the current release "Volunteers." In 1953 he founded The Paris Review, a literary quarterly of which he is still editor, and he has been associate editor at both Hornets and Harper's magazines. His interest in fireworks has prompted him to his present position as fireworks commissioner of New York city.

The list goes on. Bringing George Plimpton to campus is just the first of many major events which the A.S. Special Events Committee hopes to sponsor this year. As Sandy Weiser-Doyle, the coordinator of the year-old committee states, "the Special Events Committee will play a strong role in sponsoring events which appeal to a wide variety of interests." The committee sponsors events independently and solicits ideas from campus organizations and individuals. The SEC offers a new potential for funding major events on campus. As CSUSB Activities Director, Jeanne Hagenston, said in response to the committee's role, "it is really exciting to see the campus start to draw big names, we've wanted to see this change for a long time."

Tickets to see George Plimpton are on sale at the Student Union desk while seating is available ($2.00 for CSUSB students with I.D. and $3.00 general admission).

For more information call the Student Union at 887-7757. George Plimpton's reputation as an entertaining speaker and his appeal to a wide variety of audiences should prove to make his appearance one of the most memorable events to take place on campus. Joanna Koch, director of Alumni Affairs and former Special Events coordinator, said it best in stating that "George Plimpton has the suavity to appeal to students, faculty, and staff, as he is an intellectual and at the same time a sportsman and adventurer—he is someone we can all look up to."
Student Exchange Adds Excitement

Current Cal State students have the opportunity to pay CSUSB fees while attending a college in another part of the country.

The National Student Exchange program adds an exciting dimension to this campus, according to Theron Pace, chairman of the exchange program.

"You can imagine attending the University of North Florida and paying only CSUSB tuition rates," he said. "For the University of Northern Colorado and again at the CSUSB bargain tuition rate!"

"There are over 75 colleges and universities participating in this exchange program. The student applying must have a 2.5 grade point average and is a program designed for the student so that there is a minimum of red tape," Pace continued.

You are invited to follow Krishna and Lisa and explore this possibility for yourself. Theron Pace is the person to see and his office location is in the advising machine room in the library. It is also the Services to Students with Disabilities office; the telephone number for Theron Pace is 887-7662.

Library Receives Trial Computerized Reference System

The Library has received a 60-day free trial of InfoTrac, an automated reference database system which has access to information from 1000 periodicals (from 1982 to the present) and two gazetteers (past 60 Days). Provided by Information Access Company, the two-station system allows two users to search the database simultaneously and receive printed copies of the search results. The full database is updated monthly.

There will be no charge for the use of InfoTrac during the trial period. Patrons will be asked to complete a survey questionnaire evaluating the system. Daniel Neeley, head of patron services said, "The staff members are available to help patrons, but the system is designed for use by untrained patrons and is reportedly very user-friendly," he said.

More information is available by calling the Reference Desk at Ext. 7335 or Pola Patterson, head of information services at Ext. 7601.

Faculty And Staff Invited To Play Volleyball Next Week Volleyball is your game, then the Cal State gym is the place to be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 8 and Thursday, October 10 when Recreational Sports presents the Ford Volleyball Classic.

"We've been holding the tournament for students for the past two years," said Joe Long, director of intramural sports. "This year we decided to hold it for faculty and staff only, and we're hoping departments will put together teams to challenge each other each day."

Co-ed teams will be assembled based on turn-out, Long said, and everyone who participates receives a free volleyball shirt. More information is available from Joe Long at Ext. 7564.

CSU Trustees Adopt New Teacher Standards

For the first time in 20 years, CSU trustees adopted tough new standards, which will go into effect next year, for anyone seeking to become a public school teacher.

Students will have to be in the top half of their class to enter a teacher education program, and later, to be recommended for a state teaching credential. They also will be required to demonstrate teaching skills in addition to subject matter competency.

The 19 CSU campuses turn out more than 6,000 candidates each year, more than half the state's total output. The newly adopted standards are considered a minimum for the system, and campuses are encouraged to add to them.
TOP NAMES IN CANOEING

by Kim Alverson

Intramural Canoe Race was held on Friday, Sept. 27 at Glen Helen Regional Park. Teams consisted of one male and one female on a team. Ceramic mugs, painter hats and mineral water were given to the top four teams. The following are the top four teams and their winning times:

1st place Steve Cline and Nancy Weber (1:28:37), 2nd place Hal Bernardy and Andreas Johnson (1:34:22), 3rd place Shawn Broiles and Robbyn Gee (1:38:34), and 4th place Joe Lynch and Annette De Jong (1:38:73).

The race was co-sponsored by Anheuser-Busch, Inc., San Bernardino-Rivendale and Cal State Recreational Sports Department.

VICTORY FOR WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM

On Tuesday night, Oct 1 Cal State's women's volleyball team defeated Claremont College at home. The final scores were: 15-17, 15-13, 10-15, and 15-9.

This was the first time in three years that the Coyotes have defeated Claremont. Their overall record now stands at 6-4.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM TO FACE STIFF COMPETITION

After an impressive finish last week at the Westmont Invitational, Cal State University, San Bernardino's cross-country teams will face their toughest competition to date as they run in the upcoming Cal State Bakersfield meet.

"Bakersfield's race will be a six mile run for the men and a 3.1 mile race for the women," said Coach Tom Burleson. "It will be a flat course and the competition will be our toughest test yet so we're really looking for some improved times from our runners," he said. Impressive seems to be the word to describe this year's cross-country teams, especially the women's. At the 11-team Westmost Invitational, the women's team ran to a fourth place finish while the men's team captured eighth. Loyola-Marymount, CS Bakersfield and Arizona-Pacific were the only teams to beat Cal State's women while NCAA Division I schools Pepperdine, Santa Clara and UC Santa Barbara finished behind the Coyotes.

"This will be the best competition we've faced all year and it was a real learning experience. We were one of the smallest schools there but we were very competitive," said Coach Burleson. Closely bunched in 14th, 16th and 19th places over the 3.1 mile course were Cathy King (21:26), Lori Wilson (21:41) and Rebecca Hodde (21:58) respectively. King is a freshman from Fontana while Wilson is a junior from La Costa (Palomar College) and Hodde is a freshman from Sunnymead.

The two top Coyote finishers for the five mile men's race were Eric Rigney, 40th place (28:58) and Jeff Carter, 43rd place (29:14). Rigney is a freshman from Riverside and Carter is a junior from San Bernardino.

SHE SEASON OPENS

The Coyotes faced the busiest week of their schedule last week, as they played four games in a span of six days.

The Coyotes, 1-5 on the year, lost 3-0 to UC SanDiego on Monday and played host to Whittier College, Point Loma and Christ College on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday respectively. Cal State posted their first win of the year in convincing fashion with a 10-4 victory over Cal Baptist. The Coyotes were led by Victor Urbe's three goals and Tim Franklin's two. Tallying one goal each were Mark Tetler, Marc Owen, Hugo Bustamente, Jerry O'Hara and Chuck Campbell.

Manuel Prado, Fred Horvatis, Owens and O'Hara each tallied an assist.

STUDENT REPS NEEDED

Nearby decisions made on this campus are the result of committee work. There are presently six Faculty Senate committees, 14 student committees, and eight Associated Student committees which have student representation. They implement CSU system-wide policy, and make it relevant to the CSUSB community. Student consultation and participation in the governance of CSUSB must happen through these committees.

Students sit on these committees either by virtue of holding office, or by appointment through an application process. Through a position as a committee representative, you will:

• Acquire knowledge of CSUSB and the groups it serves;
• Get to know the faculty and administrators who make important policy decisions;
• Meet other student leaders like yourself who can learn from you, and help you grow;
• Grow confident as a student who can learn from you, and help you grow;
• Gain experience working closely with people who have different value systems;
• Create a positive image for OF THE SAME OLD THING?

SEE YOU THERE!
HEALTH CENTER OFFERS LOW COST SERVICES

The staff of the Student Health Center wants to welcome you back to another year of intellectual challenge and personal growth at CSUSB. This promises to be an exciting year since our campus will be celebrating its 20th anniversary. Your Health Center is here to help you learn how to protect and enhance your health so that your time here can be productive. One way in which we try to carry out this role is through weekly articles in this newspaper. We are starting out this year with a series of articles about factors that influence your health and what you can do to maintain it. We hope you will find it helpful and will help support topics you would like to see us address.

Many times students worry too much about exams, eat the wrong foods, lose sleep, or don’t exercise enough. As a result, they become exhausted and get ill just in time for finals. This year, don’t do that to yourself. Play it smart and concentrate on wellness and remember, your Student Health Center can help you in this endeavor. You might be surprised to know that aside from the routine diagnosis and treatment of illnesses, your Health Center offers nutrition and diet information and counseling, men’s/women’s health care, immunizations and much more. So before you get too bogged down with school work, stop by the Health Center and learn how it can best serve you.

We encourage all students to use these services because in today’s time of tight budgetary constraints, it is important that students use all available resources to save money ($$) and help survive the academic year. Health care is an area that can be very expensive to a student unless you have insurance coverage and/or have access to free or inexpensive health care coverage. Although in-patient services are not provided, the Health Center is just the place for all of your out-patient needs. To satisfy your curiosity, compare prices and determine your savings. The following is a list of services and other important information about Your Health Center.

Welcome Back ROTC Summer Trainees

A welcome back and congratulations to all 25 ROTC members reporting back to school last month from various summer training assignments across the United States. Eighteen juniors and seniors attended the six week evaluation and training at Advance Camp in Fort Lewis, Washington. "AGNES OF GOD"

by John Purcell

From its opening moments, Agnes of God is a gripping film. Centering around a young nun who gives birth, the film quickly develops into a dilemma for the viewer.

A nun giving birth is shocking enough, but after seeing Agnes the idea of her becoming pregnant seems ludicrous—at least by natural means. Meg Tilly is tremendous as Agnes, successfully portraying a woman who from her first to last scene, seems to be the most innocent woman to grace this earth since Mary, the mother of Christ.

Jane Fonda and Anne Bancroft take sides in a debate that starts out as one over Agne's innocence or guilt and escalates to a war of words over scientific fact and a belief in miracles. Fonda and Bancroft are equally brilliant.

Fonda plays Dr. Martha Livingston, a psychologist appointed by the court to decide whether Agnes is sane and can be held responsible for the killing of her child. Dr. Livingston is not content to confine her investigation to Agnes' sanity. After talking with the young nun, Dr. Livingston decides that Agnes may be a victim rather than a criminal.

Dr. Livingston is determined to find the truth and her efforts clash with the Mother Superior of Agnes' convent, portrayed by Anne Bancroft. Sister Miriam Ruth is not a typical nun. She is a down-to-earth woman who long ago convinced herself that miracles don't happen anymore, yet she finds herself wanting to believe that Agne's pregnancy was just that.

Fonda and Bancroft have their best moments during the frequent confrontations their characters share. While nothing is left sacred during these quarrels, the two always seem to end up laughing and gaining respect for each other. One particular argument ends with Dr. Livingston snaking a cigarette to the Mother Superior.

John Pielmier's screenplay adapted from his own play is most enjoyable since it makes the viewer question whether Agnes really could be the mother of God's child. It makes the viewer question his own beliefs—not just whether we believe in miracles, but whether we want to believe a miracle could happen.

Chauvinism Lives?

Dear Editor,

When I enrolled at CSUSB a few weeks ago, I came with the assumption that the men of my daughter's generation had grown up with more enlightened attitudes about women than their fathers had. Apparently I was mistaken.

Imagine my surprise when a young stranger with whom I had spoken briefly over the microwave in the Pfau Building said to me, "Your being a housewife, I guess you know all about microwaves." I informed him coldly that I was not a housewife. I was so taken aback when a man who grew up in a world where his female counterparts, on the main, have not been denied their civil rights merely because of their sex, I rudely accused him of an acute case of testosterone poisoning by loudly proclaiming "OINK—OINK—OINK!!" to his face.

My poor manners were inexcusable. I can only plead momentary shock. You see, no one had said anything like that to me for ten or fifteen years. I certainly didn't expect it from a man who grew up in a world of an acute case of testosterone poisoning by loudly proclaiming "OINK—OINK—OINK!!" to his face.
