CHANCELLOR REYNOLDS TO SPEAK AT 20TH CONVOCATION

Commemorating its 20th anniversary, California State University, San Bernardino will hold a special convocation for the public, alumni, students, and university employees to attend at 3pm, Thursday, Oct 24, in the university gymnasium.

"We are especially honored to have both the chair of the California State University Board of Trustees, Roy T. Brophy, and CSU Chancellor, Dr. W. Ann Reynolds, present for this occasion," said President Anthony Evans.

After greetings from Chancellor Reynolds, Brophy will speak about the future of the CSU and the San Bernardino campus' role in California higher education. Brophy, a Sacramento builder and developer, has been a member of the Board of Trustees for 10 years and is in his second term as chairman. He was first appointed to the board in 1972 by Governor Reagan for an eight-year term and was board chairman in 1977-1979. He began his second term under an appointment by Governor George Deukmejian in 1983 and became chairman this year.

Chancellor Reynolds provides leadership for the CSU, the country's largest system of four-year and graduate level higher education institutions with 19 campuses, over 315,000 students, and 35,000 faculty and staff.

Before becoming the CSU's third chancellor, Dr. Reynolds was provost of Ohio State University for three years. She was also president of the CSU Research Foundation's board of directors and held joint professorial appointments in the department of anatomy and the department of obstetrics.

NAVA WELCOMES TULLIS COLLECTION

by Theresa Ross

The collection of Garner Tullis is featured in the first exhibition presented to the Cal State, San Bernardino community by its new art gallery director, John Nava.

Nava, a nationally known artist himself, believes we are very fortunate to be able to exhibit the works of artists who are such valuable contributors to the growing printmaking form of art.

Nava, who came to CSUSB after ten years with the University of Redlands, brings enthusiasm to his new position, and hopes to make the art gallery an integral part of our university education. He hopes to obtain approval for several new ideas that will make the campus art gallery more accessible to evening students as well as San Bernardino area residents.

Nava has extended the gallery viewing hours to enable the evening students to see the eight different exhibits planned for the school year. A color brochure describing the exhibit and artists, as well as illustrating many of the works on display, will be given to students free of charge, if they show their student I.D. cards at the office located inside the gallery.

Tullis, a highlight of the exhibit, is regarded as an innovator in the printmaking art form, due to his use of large scale, industrial type techniques used to produce monotypes. The size of his works have made it necessary for Tullis to develop a method of papermaking that would enable him to make his large "one-of-a-kind" prints.

The exhibit also consists of works by several prominent national and international artists.
Support Budget Approved by Board

A $1,451,963,032 Support Budget request for fiscal 1986-87 was approved by the California State University's Board of Trustees.

About 14 percent larger than the current year's appropriation, the budget is intended to address infrastructure needs as well as limited program improvements.

"All of our 19 campuses would take a step forward to recover from the severe financial hardships of the early 1980's," Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds said. "In addition, the budget would enable us to address critical problems of student access to higher education, to build the scholarship base and to support programs to train faculty advisors and recruit minority students into teaching, would be expanded."

Other program change proposals would enhance opportunities for faculty to improve their knowledge and teaching skills ($2.5 million); in-service training, supplies, and equipment ($6.1 million); provide for environmental health and safety ($2.2 million), and special line items for the colleges.

The Support Budget is based upon predictions of 244,955 full-time equivalent students next year, representing a 1 percent increase over the current year.

Part of the CSU request implements a new state law (SB 195, Maddy) providing for a maximum 10 percent annual increase in the State University fee.

The Support Budget request will be submitted to Governor Deukmejian and the Legislature for recommended inclusion in the next fiscal year's State Budget.

Among these are plans for a unique joining of forces with the state department of Education to help public schools identify and better prepare future college students.

The $4.9 million proposal would include teaching improvement centers in minority high schools. Research and counseling is included in the plan to train faculty advisors and recruit minority students into teaching, would be expanded.

Selection for this scholarship is based on merit, GPA, military bearing and performance while training at Advanced Camp during spring training in each of the two years.

PREPARE YOURSELF FOR FLU SEASON

What is influenza ("flu")? It is a viral infection of the bronchial tubes and lungs that can make someone of any age ill. Usually the flu occurs in the United States from November to April.

How Do I Know I Have The Flu? Flu symptoms are usually similar to a cold, only worse. The major differences are that the flu usually lasts 2 to 7 days, whereas a cold usually makes you feel more ill and have more fever, and can give you stomach problems as well as respiratory ones. Flu can cause any combination of the cold symptoms, plus high fever (up to 104 degrees), headache, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain, chills, and pain in the back and limbs.

Should I Get A Flu Shot? Flu vaccine can prevent illness caused by most strains of the flu. A vaccine is available in the Health Center right now. Because the flu is usually mild and most people recover fully, routine vaccination of healthy children and adults is not emphasized. However, flu vaccine is recommended for people who are more likely to get infections or complications. Included in this "high risk" group are: persons over 65 years of age, people with severe anemia or diseases of the heart, lungs, or kidneys, and diabetics. Remember that even if you are at high risk, you will not be given the flu vaccine if you are ill or have a fever. Also, if you are allergic to eggs, you should not be given the flu shot.

How Else Could I Avoid Getting The Flu? You may be able to avoid being infected or infecting others with the flu by following these suggestions:

Avoid spreading your symptoms to others.

Avoid unnecessary exposure to those who have flu.

Wash your hands regularly.

Cover your nose and mouth.

Wear protective clothing and equipment.

As a Marine Officer, you could be in charge of a Mach 2+ F/A-18A, a vertical take-off Harrier or one of our other jets or helicopters. And you could do it by the time you're 23. But it takes a special commitment on your part. We demand leaders at all levels. We teach you to be one. If you're a freshman or sophomore, ask about our undergraduate officer commissioning programs. If you're a junior, check out our graduate programs. Starting salaries are from $17,000 to $23,000. And you can count on going farther... faster. We're looking for a few good men.

Relocate With the CSU International Programs

by Jackie Wilson

Are you bored? Or maybe fed up with a particular class or professor? It just may be that you are plain tired of the San Bernardino scenery and in need of a drastic change. If so, how does taking a year off from CSUSB and spending that year studying in sunny Spain or romantic France sound pretty good? If not Spain or France, maybe in any of the other 14 countries that the CSU International Programs offers for the 1986-87 academic school year. This program gives students the opportunity to continue their studies overseas and earn resident credit for their work, while at the same time experiencing new cultural surroundings.

The program assists students for their year abroad in the way of visas, housing, transportation, and a Resident Director and/or local staff overseas further assists the students once they have arrived. Each university offers a variety of academic majors such as International Business, Human-Language, Social Sciences, and so you can pursue your major and have fun at the same time. Another terrific characteristic of the program is the cost, which in comparison to studying at CSUSB can be considerably less. Each participant pays current home campus fees, round-trip transportation, living expenses and other minor expenses. The total costs range from approximately $4,000 to $10,000.

Student eligibility requirements for the CSU International Programs are as follows: 1) Be a current CSU student or California Community College student with upper-division or graduate standing by departure. 2) Have an overall GPA average of 2.75 or 3.00 depending on the program, and 3) Have the necessary academic preparation which includes college level foreign language where required.

If you are still skeptical, Mary Bruton, a 1984-1985 program participant who spent her year studying in Spain and returning back to the USA, had this to say about the program: "Having studied overseas looks good on your resume, and it tells your employer you are flexible and adaptable. I don’t have a negative thing to say about the program, it’s affordable and one of the best things I’ve done."

The application deadline is February 1, 1986, and applicants will be notified of selection sometime in April. For more information, contact Dr. Rydell or Mary Bruton in PL-201 or 887-7471.

ALPACA: The New Club on Campus

by Linda Hadji
A South American beast of burden loose on the Cal State Campus! Not quite. ALPACA is the name of the new Anthropology Club recently organized at CSUSB by Lois Aguilar, aided by advisors Jim Piersen and Russel Barber. As an acronym, ALPACA will focus on the fields of Archaeology, Linguistics, Physical Anthropology and Cultural Anthropology.

The club's first meeting was held May 31, to discuss the possibilities of "Life after Graduation for Anthropology Majors." At the October 2 meeting, Dr. Alan Meising of the Cal State Chemistry Department presented slides of his travels to further investigate cave art in remote regions of Baja, California. ALPACA's next meeting will be November 6, 1985, 6:30pm, Room 103, Lower Commons. Interesting topics and unique refreshments promised. For further information, contact Linda SS-139, 887-7531 or leave a message in the ALPACA box in the Student Union building.

SIGMA CHI OMICRON

What do John Wayne, David Letterman, Tom Selleck, and Barry Goldwater Jr. all have in common? Other than the fact that they are all men, they all belong to Sigma Chi International Fraternity! Now, Cal-State has the honor of having Sigma Chi Omicron, a local of the 130 year old fraternity, on campus. Began last year during spring quarter finals by four students, it has already grown to 20 members, including pledges. Primarily a social fraternity, the purpose of the group is to promote brotherhood, scholarship, and campus/community awareness. Oh, and yes we party! Already we've had an excellent mixer with the girls of Alpha Phi, and the future holds even more activities. Our men have also been active on campus, serving as ushers, along with the Delta Sigma, at George Plimpton. So, if over this next year you see some guy wearing a white or blue shield on their shirt, ask them why they are wearing it. They'll all tell you the same thing, "It's a Matter of Pride!!" For more information, see Fr. Chris Potter on campus, or call the office at 887-1248.

Newman Club Hosts Biblical Studies Program

The Cal State University Newman Club announces scheduled time for Sunday Mass, a weekly Bible Study, and a presentation on the Catholic Bishop's letter on Economics. A Bible Study program will be held on Wednesday evenings at 6pm in McShog 112. All are welcome. We begin by developing some tools necessary to understand Scripture, then use those tools to discover some deeper meanings behind the words.

Beginning October 27 (this Sunday), the Newman Club celebrates Mass every Sunday in the Lower Commons (11:00 in the morning). For both students and faculty, this regularly scheduled mass will continue throughout the school year. Come and join us. The Catholic Diocese of San Bernardino (through the office of Theological Formation) and the Newman Club are sponsoring a debate on the second draft of the Bishop's Pastoral letter on Economics. This letter deals with the critical issues of poverty, unemployment, and hunger in this country. Last year's presentation on the first draft produced some valuable insights and challenging ideas. Members of CSUSB, faculty, together with Bishop Phillip Strickling shall present their points of view on Wednesday evening, November 6 from 7:00pm until 10:00pm. The discussion will take place at Our Lady of Assumption Church at the crossings of 48th and H streets in San Bernardino.

Many more activities through the Newman Club are happening right now! For more information, see Fr. Chris Potter on campus, or call the office at 882-1248.

CBEST Scores Show Dramatic Increase

Undergraduate students taking CBEST tests in 1984-1985 topped the CSU in passing score percentages, the annual Commission on Teacher Credentialing report revealed this week.

The marked increases in the CBEST (California Basic Educational Skills Test) showed an upturn in test scores at CSUSB, as the campus had rated near the bottom of the CSU list in the initial Fall 1982 round. The scores showed improvements over the last year by as much as 18 percent.

The test is required of all persons seeking a teaching credential. It is taken by individuals still enrolled at Cal State, as well as those who have already completed their classroom work.

Dr. Pritchard credits several factors with increasing the scores among enrolled students, including English 495 and a general warning to prepare for the tests. He also believes a major help for the students would be completing the general education requirements earlier in their time here and certainly before undertaking the CBEST.

The School of Education now requires prospective teachers to take the CBEST before they are admitted to graduate courses in education.

In addition to covering campus history, current activities, students and faculty, the book devotes twelve pages to the first year of intercollegiate sports competition. Team pictures and action shots are included in the coverage.

Pictores of the June 1985 commencement are a highlight of the 82 page book which was edited by Sheryl Hammer with assistance from student staff.

Only 250 copies of The Coyotian, first named The Windjammer, were printed. Pre-sale copies are being distributed from the Associated Students office. The remaining copies may be purchased at the AS office for $2.00. Call 887-7494 for information.

LADY COYOTES POST TWO WINS

Cal State's volleyball team achieved two "firsts" Saturday Oct.12 as it hosted its first tournament, the CSUSB-Soroptimist Club Volleyball Invitational, which it won.

In the championship match, the Coyotes defeated Master's College three games to one (14-16, 15-13, 15-6, 15-11). Third place was won by Whittier College which beat Cal Baptist 15-9, 15-5, 15-2.

Six players were named to the all-tournament team. They included Lisa McDonald and Laura Isbell from Cal State, Michelle Carter and Shelmarie Teum from Master's College, Lambeu Larn from Whittier College and Stacy Pincock from Cal Baptist.

McDonald and Isbell have been strong, steady performers at the hitter position for the Coyotes. McDonald is a 5'7" sophomore from Redlands and Isbell, also a sophomore, is from Culver City.

Calling the tournament "outstanding", Coach Naomi Ruderman said, "The team was very evenly matched and anyone could have won. I'm pleased that we did. The tournament would not have been possible without the support and help from our co-sponsor, the Soroptimist Club. We are looking forward to an even bigger and better tournament next year," she added.

Cross Country Takes First

After a fairly easy week, Cal State's San Bernardino's undefeated cross country teams will face stiffer competition when Whittier College and Cal Tech at they hosted a triangular meet with not compete as Christ College.

Choosing a long distance company is a lot like choosing a roommate.

It's better to know what they're like before you move in.

Living together with someone for the first time can be an "educational" experience.
And living with a long distance company isn't any different. Because some companies may not give you all the services you're used to getting from AT&T.
For instance, with some companies you have to spend a certain amount before you qualify for their special volume discounts. With some others, voice quality may vary.
But when you choose AT&T, there won't be any surprises when you move in. You'll get the same high-quality, trouble-free service you're used to.
With calls that sound as close as next door. Guaranteed 60% and 40% discounts off our Day Rate—so you can talk during the times you can relax. Immediate credit for wrong numbers. Operator assistance and collect calling.
So when you're asked to choose a long distance company, choose AT&T. Because whether you're into Mozart or metal, quality is the one thing everyone can agree on.
Reach out and touch someone.

AT&T
Counselors Help You Cope

by Jerry Nye

Depression and anxiety cloud your life—What do you do? Where do you go? Who can you turn to when you need a friend? If you're a student at Cal State, San Bernardino, the answer is simple and free—the Counseling Center.

Located in the Physical Sciences building, room 227, is a staff of three psychologists and three interns, headed by John M. Haricot, who has been with the college since 1967. He and his staff, including the other two psychologists, Martha Kazlo and Don Wood, are well-prepared to handle your situation, whatever it may be.

The Counseling Center's hours are from 8:00am to 4:30pm Monday-Friday, and on Monday and Tuesday evening until about 7. Students are welcome to walk in for a session or to set up an appointment, by calling them at extension 7437. The evening sessions are by appointment only.

There are three types of counseling available to students: personal, educational, and for couples.

Personal counseling covers just about anything you can think of. The major concerns, as Dr. Haricot states, are with suicide contemplation and substance abuse, but anything that may affect your academic work, well-being can be discussed with the staff. He emphasizes that it is important to discuss a problem before it gets out of hand, before it seriously interferes with your life. The emphasis is on short-term therapy. They are not geared for long-term psychotherapy or personality adjustment.

He also points out that it is not necessary to be certifiable before you seek help. The trick is to work it out before it can get to that point.

The educational or vocational counseling available is generally designed to define the nature of the problem only. Once that is done, the student is generally referred to another department.

Counseling for couples is not restricted to married couples. Maried or dating couples frequently need assistance in resolving problems concerning their relationships. Counseling is available if one member of the couple is a student here.

Dr. Haricot explains that they are really in the education business. The basic goals of the program are to:

Deal with the short-term problems first.

Once that is done, they will focus on the learning of coping skills for an entire lifetime. This will hopefully enable the student to deal with similar problems in the future, should they come up.

The center also provides from time to time various small-group education dealing with such themes as stress management, and assertiveness training. A bulletin will be made available to students when they visit the center.

So, if you need someone to talk to, for any reason, now you know where to go. The services are free to students and completely confidential. It's the place to go if you need a friend.

Cultural Consciousness

Will Be Raised at Workshop

by Elrood Lawrence

A program designed to expand cultural awareness in the classroom is scheduled to begin workshops at CSUSB in the 1986 Winter Quarter.

The program, known as Cross-Cultural Perspectives in Curriculum, is a year-long project, divided into three phases. It aims to incorporate curriculum by and about women, ethnic minorities, and possibly gender issues as a normal part of studies, explained Dr. Elliot Barkan, chair-coordinator of ethnic studies.

Barkan added that the program is meant to help people think of everyone as "Americans". Through the workshops, instructors also can learn to expand their curriculum and revise syllabi in social science-related classes, including GE and lower-level classes.

A series of workshops—three per quarter—beginning January 11 will be attended by 36 faculty members-half from humanities, and half from social sciences. Workshops will be headed by Gloria Cowan (psychology), Walter Oliver (foreign language), Jennifer Randini (English), and Thomas Meisheinder (sociology).

The workshops will focus on four disciplines—English, fine arts, psychology, and social science.

Barkan describes the program as a consciousness raising project whose goal is to get students not to classify people as Black or white, man or woman, but to see them as part of the norm.

El Chicano Collection Available Soon

by Susan Mc Clain

California State University, San Bernardino, will house all of the back issues of El Chicano, a local Hispanic community newspaper. The issues were donated recently to the Plato Library by publisher Gloria Macias Harrison and her sister, Marta Macias McQueen, who was co-founder, and editor of the early issues.

The complete collection of El Chicano issues, which almost all of local history, will be available to interested students and researchers.

According to Ms. Harrison, the papers are being gathered together to be appraised by someone independent of the paper.

Ms. McQueen said it is appropriate for Cal State to receive the collection because the campus has an established communications department, which includes a Hispanic media emphasis.

Ms. Harrison and Ms. McQueen both have strong ties to CSUSB. Mrs. McQueen graduated in 1970, and was involved in the development of the M.C.A. chapter on campus. Ms. Harrison, who graduated from UCR, is a member of the president's advisory board at Cal State.

Once the collection is available, it will be in restricted circulation and students will need to make a formal request to examine issues of the paper.

The library staff hopes to put the collection in microform, according to Arthur Nelson, director of the Plau Library.

El Chicano published a "sensitive political cartoon". The response to the cartoon prompted UCR to stop funding the publication. When that happened, the two sisters assumed the responsibility of editing and publishing the paper, obtaining funds through advertising sales.

El Chicano was later moved into a formal office, transforming the paper from a community project into an actual business.

Today's El Chicano is a community press reporting the news and raising issues.

Overcoming the Walsh Syndrome

by Eirond Lawrence

"I can't complain, but sometimes I still do." Joe Walsh

Complaints, complaints, complaints. Isn't that all we ever seem to hear? Quotes like "Oh, my class is so-o-o boring," or, "Is this food still alive?" as well as, "God, this school has no-o-o social life," seem to infest every other sentence in CSUSB student conversations.

Well, what can be done to solve the problem? If you think about it, Cal State has roughly 60 organizations—in the forms of clubs, committees, and even fraternities—who are more than willing to "create" an exciting social life on our beloved campus. So it seems we have made an effort, and we do have resources to draw upon. Then what are we lacking? What could be that vital ingredient we need to spark some interest and get the ball rolling?

Quite simply, it can be said in one word: ENTHUSIASM! That's right, kids—can you say enthusiasm? I knew you could!

You see, what is there in having clubs if hardly anyone joins? What good is there in having events when everyone seems uninterested? And what good is there in having a sports program when only a hundred or so people show up to root for our Coyotes? The answer to all these questions is no good whatsoever. To have a social life, there has to be a crowd to socialize with.

So what could be the cause for this outbreak of apathy? The most likely answers would be 1) class overload, 2) shyness, and 3) it's not someone's "thing".

Let's face it, folks, there just isn't anyone out there who is that studious. And for those who aren't all that "outgoing", the best way to overcome shyness is to get as extraverted as possible. And finally, to those who think Cal State events aren't their "cup of tea", let me ask this: How do you know something isn't your thing until you've experienced it? It seems hard to believe that out of the wide variety of offerings on campus, there wouldn't be even one thing to fit a student's taste. No one person is that fussy—or are they?

Before you answer that, let me move on with this little pep talk. You might be wondering what the point is of having a "school spirit" in an institution of higher learning. Well, put simply, it gives you a buffer—something you can fall back on when things are getting you down. It gives you that charge you need to get out of those schoolwork doldrums. It allows you to meet a greater variety of people, which can only put a little more color in this experience we call life. And if nothing else, some school spirit can keep you from getting bored.

Hopefully, some of that school spirit is materializing in you now, and you're beginning to feel the charge that goes with it. Now, quick! Before it goes away, do something about it! Run to the Student Services 122, and see what there is you can get involved with! Or run to the Student Union desk, or the Associated Students Office, and see what's cooking! Just run! Take some of that newfound energy and use it! Remember, you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink. So let's get drunk on a little school spirit, for a change. And let's stay thirsty!!!
