Seat Belt Law - Friend or Foe

by Steve Karen

A new California Law which took effect January 1st requires motorists to wear seat belts. Drivers who don't comply with the new law will face fines of $20.00 for their first offense, and up to $50.00 for additional violations. California became the 16th state to adopt the seat belt law. Additional provisions of the law state:

- drivers and passengers will be ticketed individually for not wearing seat belts;
- passengers driving older model cars that do not originally equipped with seat belts are exempt;
- motorists with physical disabilities that make seat belt use impractical are exempt if cleared by a physician;
- citations can be issued only if the driver has been stopped for another violation;
- auto makers will be required to equip all 1989 model cars sold in California with automatic seat belts. California currently uses their seat belts 20% of the time according to a Raul Bettancourt of Human Dynamics, an evaluation and project research company from California State University at Fresno. Backers of the new law are hoping to increase that figure into the 70% range. Locally, San Bernardino is estimated to have an average use of 23%.

To find out what people think about the seat belt law here at Cal State, I went around interviewing people at random. A total of 47 people were interviewed. These are the questions they were asked, and their reactions.

What do you think of the new seat belt law? Is it good or bad? -- 83% said it was a good law, and 17% claim it is a bad law.

What is an invasion of your privacy? -- 76% answered no to this question, 15% yes and 9% unsure.

Do you wear your seat belt now because of the new law? -- 58% have always worn their seat belt, 21% wear one now because of the new law and 21% do not wear one at all.

Here are some of the typical comments:

Jimmie Frickelstilts--"I don't agree with the law although I feel wearing a seat belt is a good safety precaution, if people don't want to wear a seat belt to save their own lives, that's their prerogative."

Nancy Curriel--"I'm trying to get in the habit. The law is effective in my case because it makes me more aware, but I was wearing one before."

John Langer--"No, it is not an invasion of privacy because you are driving on public roads and you should have consideration."

Tom Rossi--"I think it's just a cop-out to avoid air bags."

Most people I talked to feel it is an excellent law, and couldn't praise it enough and almost everyone plans on wearing a seatbelt when riding in an automobile.

B of A Vice President to Speak on Banking Relationships

The CSUSB Financial Management Assm. will sponsor their second guest speaker on January 27th, 1986 at noon in student room A & B. Judy Maudsley, a Vice President with Bank of America, will be speaking on banking relationships. The title of the talk will be "Banking Relationships—What Your Bank Can Do For You". Topics to be discussed will include: Current trends in banking and their effects on the consumer, shopping for a bank, what to look for in a bank, and careers in the banking industry. All Finance majors as well as any other interested students are invited to come.

The FMA recently hosted its first talk of the quarter hosting Gary Corderay, from First E.F. National in San Bernardino. Mr. Corderay discussed such topics as starting in investments, choosing a stock broker, trends in the investment industry, and careers in the stock brokerage industry. More than 15 percent showed up for the talk and a good turn out is expected for the February 10th talk.

SCETA's Twelfth Annual Theatre Festival For Young Audiences will be held at California State University, San Bernardino, the home of last year's Festival, at which 35 professional, semi-professional and community groups performed for 3,000 people, during the three-day celebration. Cal State's Theatre Arts Department is planning and hosting the Festival in cooperation with the Superintendnet of Schools of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties. Dr. Ronald E. Barnes, Department Chair and Ma. Joy Murphy co-chair the planning committee, made up of campus and community members.

Robert Howell, Theatre Arts faculty, is the Festival Producer. Because of the success of last year's Festival, the celebration will be expanded to four days on Thursday, April 10, and Friday, April 11, children from the public schools will be bussed to the campus for a variety of theatre experiences. On Saturday, April 12, and Sunday, April 13, the Festival will be open to the public. Audiences will be treated to a wide range of performances and activities: theatre, puppetry, music and dance, clowns and jugglers, hands-on workshops, concessions and games, to name only a few possibilities.

One of the Festival highlights will be a kite-flying, under the direction of Harry Murray, San Bernardino Valley College, extremely "fun" person and flyer extraordinaire. Harry has assured us that under his expert tutelage, even novice kite-flyers will get "off the ground" and invites everyone attending the Festival on Saturday and Sunday to bring a kite and join the fun. He has promised a "grand finale" at 2:00pm Sunday afternoon, don't miss it!

Get Involved with Uni-Phi

The start of a new year is an exciting time to get more involved. One of the many opportunities for involvement here at C.S.U.B. comes in the form of various clubs. The Uni-Phi Club would like you to make involvement in our club part of your college experience.

The Uni-Phi Club exists for disabled students and their advocates. The general population of C.S.U.B. that was aware of the Uni-Phi Club's existence in the past was under the impression that the club existed purely for the benefit of the disabled. Not so. We would like to see the non-disabled population as well as more disabled persons become involved in the club.

In the fall quarter, Uni-Phi was involved in various food sales, and appropriation of funds to be awarded in the form of two hundred and twenty-five dollar scholarships. The club had their first meeting at noon in the Redtail Room. It was an open meeting, and everyone is welcome to attend. The meeting was well attended, and more information about the club will be available at the next meeting.

There were twenty-three members present at the meeting, and discussions were held about upcoming events. The club plans to hold several events throughout the year, including a play and a dance. The club is looking for new members, and anyone interested in joining should contact the faculty advisor, Dr. Amanda Sue Rudier, T.A. or Dr. Lorea Filbeck, Music Department/Office, CA-175. The club meets every Tuesday at 12:00 p.m. in the Eucalyptus Room.

UNDERSTANDING HEADACHES

Headache Can Be Disabling. Is This True? Migraine headaches vary from person-to-person, but they are typically throbbing headaches affecting one side of the body. Some people have very little head pain but suffer from distorted vision and hearing or feelings of intense anxiety. Others may suffer from incapacitating pain for several days. Most migraine patients fall between these two extremes. A doctor can determine whether a particular prescription is indicated for individual migraine cases. Sometimes avoiding factors that may trigger migraines (certain foods and additives, emotional stress, changes, changes in the weather, etc.) might provide some relief. Again, check with your doctor or one of the medical staff at the Health Center to help identify possible factors.

What Are Cluster Headaches? These are a rare variant of migraine headaches which strike quite suddenly. These are extremely painful.

How About Sinus Headaches? Sinus headaches are associated with a swelling of the membranes lining the sinuses (spaces) of the nasal passage. They may be relieved by simple painkillers or, in some cases, a decongestant to relieve swelling.
Sharafinski Coordinates Campus Hosting Program

by Jackie Wils

Recently there was a change in positions for Clare Sharafinski. Formerly the Activities Advisor, Ms. Sharafinski is now the coordinator of campus hosting programs.

In her former position, Ms. Sharafinski coordinated club activities and served as advisor to Associated Students. Clare admitted that she misses her former job. She said "I loved the student contact. I liked getting involved with the students. I miss it."

The explanation behind Clare's sudden position change is due to University President Anthony Evans big push for recruitment of more incoming freshmen to the University. In order to accomplish this, there was a switch in resources to set this task into motion and Clare changed offices to assist in the recruitment.

As coordinator of campus hosting programs, Clare works very closely with the Relations with Schools Office. She is responsible for obtaining rooms in which to hold Cal State presentations at which the area high-school students are told about campus life, given financial aid information and a complimentary lunch. Soon she will also be training and hiring student assistants to drive vans which pick up the high-school students and bring them to the University for the presentation and also to act as student representatives of Cal State to help recruit first time freshmen from the high-schools. Clare says they hope to bring in as many as 1500 incoming freshmen to the university.

BLACK MOON RISING

by John Purcell

The Black Moon is an experimental car capable of traveling at speeds of over 300 miles per hour. It is the center of the film, Black Moon Rising, because the lives of the characters revolve around it.

Quentin, played by Tommy Lee Jones, is a professional thief who has stolen the information tape he has stolen for the government in the Black Moon. Linda Hamilton is intriguing in the part of Nina, also a professional thief who, with the help of her trained army of car thieves steals entire parking lots of cars from places where the well-to-do park them. During a heist, Nina steals the Black Moon and, to the chagrin of the demented boss, wants it for her own.

The car's owners, three men who have invested everything they own into the car, in the hope of selling it to a manufacturer, go along with Quentin in an attempt to get the car back. The film, while not academy award material is one which is sure to please the viewer who enjoys a good adventure. It features a slightly above average car chase sequence and several fairly well-performed fight scenes. Hamilton and Jones work well together. This is the first film I've seen her in, but surely not the last. She is an actress with a good amount of potential and who, given the right screenplay could possibly become a noted performer.

The film also features a small part for Bubba Smith, the ex-football player. Smith is perfectly cast in the role of a government official in charge of making sure Quentin performs his appointed task. There is also a brief appearance by Keenan Wynn, who plays the old and dying man who taught Quentin everything he knows.

For adventure and excitement Black Moon Rising is a film which should be entertaining to all but the most discriminating viewer.

P.R. Certificate program geared to working student

by Blane Harrington

A public relations certificate program is being offered by the Office of Extended Education this quarter.

Courses in the program cover five different areas of public relations, including an introduction to public relations, principles and techniques of advertising, two separate sections of communication graphics and promotional writing. Each course is five weeks long, and the certificate can be earned in two quarters.

"People should finish the program with a higher degree of marketability."

by Keith Johnson, program administrator for Extended Education, and Fred Jandt, head of CSUSB’s communication department, designed the program with the working student in mind. The program will give students job-related knowledge of public relations, and help people who aren’t currently students sharpen their public relations skills.

"This program will prepare students for public relations work at a small organization, or to assist p.r. people at a larger organization," Johnson said.

Johnson has set up successful public relations certificate programs in Buffalo, N.Y., and at Cal State Los Angeles. He said that degree programs in California are more flexible than in other states, and that a certificate program like this to supplement those programs and programs and requirements.

The program will help develop skills needed in business. It will concentrate on the legal and ethical aspects of public relations, as well as marketing aspects. Students will learn what a successful campaign should say and how it should be said. They will be instructed in graphic work, and how it relates to public relations. A certificate holder should have a greater ability to promote himself or herself.

"People should finish the program with a higher degree of marketability," Johnson said.

Enrollment Services many and varied

by Jerry Nye

The Enrollment Services Office accommodates many different departments and functions, which many and prospective CSUSB students need to be familiar with.

The Financial Aid Office and Records, Registration, Relations with High Schools, Transfer Services, and Veterans’ Affairs are all part of the umbrella of Enrollment Services, said Don Kajcienski, the associate dean of the department.

"We provide more services for on-campus students," said Kajcienski, "but we are probably better known for our off-campus services."

For on-campus students, the Admissions Office coordinates all applications for admissions, transcript evaluations, change of major requests, and graduation checks. Their information counter provides general campus information.

Registration and Records maintain the records for the school. Registration includes initial enrollment in classes, program changes, and withdrawal from the University. Records maintenance handles transcript requests, enrollment verifications, and masters relating to students’ academic status here at CSUSB.

The Financial Aid Office coordinates all of the federal, state, and local aid programs including grants, loans, work-study, and scholarships. A number of major programs are available to students with different needs, and any students with need are encouraged to apply.

If you have any questions or a need for services, Kajcienski pointed out, you should go first to the individual department to get information or help.

Kajcienski’s role is that of management, to make sure that all departments are on time, that their planning goes as scheduled. Problems in each department are referred first to the director of that department, and then to him, if need be. The directors of all the areas report to Kajcienski, who reports to the dean of students.

Two major changes are in the works that will greatly improve the campus life of students, Kajcienski said. The first is in registration.

Students will have the opportunity to register well in advance for classes, starting this spring. This will not necessarily be a confirmed schedule, he pointed out, but if the student has no changes after registering, the process will be complete for them. If changes are necessary, students will be able to make them well in advance. This CARS-computer aided registration system will begin in the spring quarter for Fall of 1986.

Are you really protected?

by Shawn Baker

If you were born prior to 1956, or between 1956 and 1967, you may not be properly immunized against measles, mumps, and rubella.

In 1967, scientists discovered that the vaccine used since 1956 to protect against these diseases did not give life-time protection.

From 1967 on, a "live" virus vaccine replaced the "inactive" one, making immunizations permanent.

Dr. James Savage, at the Cal State Health Center, is concerned that many students may not be properly immunized, and are not sure of the seriousness of these diseases.

Measles, the most serious of common childhood diseases, usually causes a rash, high fever, cough, runny nose, and watery eyes. These symptoms last one or two weeks.

Measles causes an ear infection or pneumonia in nearly one out of 10 children who get it. Approximately one of 1,000 get measles and suffer an inflammation of the brain, which can lead to convulsions, deafness, or mental retardation. About two out of 10,000 who get measles die from it.

Mumps is a common disease, usually causing fever, headache, and inflammation of the testicles, the adrenal glands, causing the cheeks to swell. A mild inflammation of the coverings of the brain and spinal cord (meninngitis) occurs in about one out of 10 people who get mumps.

One out of four adolescent or adult men with mumps develop painful inflammation and swelling of the testicles, and while this condition usually goes away, on occasion it may cause sterility.

Rubella, also known as German measles, is a common disease of childhood which also affects adults. Usually it is mild causing slight fever, rash, and swelling of the glands in the neck. The sickness lasts about three days, but sometimes (especially in adult women) there may be swelling and aching of the joints for one or two weeks.

In some cases, Rubella causes inflammation of the brain or temporary bleeding disorders.

The most serious problems with Rubella occur when the disease is contracted by a pregnant woman. There is a serious threat of miscarriage or severe defects in the unborn child.

An epidemic of MMR has already occurred in three major universities across the United States, and the Cal State Health Center urges students to come in right away and make certain they are properly immunized.

CSUSB’s Health Center offers free immunization or free testing to discover if your blood contains the proper antibodies for protection.
Innovative Ideas

by Jackie Wilson

Last quarter, the Innovative Ideas committee was formed to create a process by which faculty, staff, and students could submit their ideas to improve campus life. We promised to attach a prize to each idea, which we hope will be quite outstanding. The following ideas have been chosen in our first batch of ideas that have been received and these are the names and ideas of those people.

Sam Kuchera-Director, Sponsored Programs. He suggested that "bakery" tickets be provided at the Drop/Add window while you wait to cut down on time consumption standing in long lines. Don Pingleton-He suggested that more residence halls be added to Serrano Village. This will be costly but it is planned that more will be added in the future. This will take 3-4 years to complete. Mark Cuneo-He suggested that the electron microscope be repaired in the biology lab. Unfortunately, this is not feasible due to the high repair costs and that too few classes are offered in this microscope is used.

Todd Hilton-He suggested that the SUMP be kept open on weekends during finals. Student Union Director Helga Lingen says this has been done before and proved to be quite useful.

George Martinez-He suggested to have prepared sack lunches ready in the Pub that could be delivered around campus or picked up for those who are in a hurry during lunch. Associated Students is looking into this.

Carl Nelson-He suggested to place a dart board in the Pub. Student Union Director Helga Lingen said there was one once before and she is looking into the possibility of another one.

Michael Oswas-He suggested that the electron microscope be repaired in the biology lab. Unfortunately, this is not feasible due to the high repair costs and that too few classes are offered in this microscope is used.

The following winners may pick up their hamburger coupons at the front desk of the Advising Center in Pi-207. More great prizes are in the works.

Ideas have been pouring in. We greatly appreciate the positive response. Please keep the ideas coming! Remember, ideas can be submitted until June 1986.

If you would like to submit an idea, a form can be filled out and dropped off at either the Advising Center or the main desk of the Student Union. You may submit your idea on any piece of paper just as long as the paper contains your name, address, social security number, phone, and a clear statement of the problem, how to solve it, and its benefits! Thanks!

Study Overseas Via CSU IP

CSU offers students the opportunity to study overseas! Applications will be accepted through the first week of February. So, if you have a cumulative G.P.A. of 2.75 or 3.00 (depending on the program), have upper division or graduate standing by June, and have the necessary academic preparation, a world of knowledge and adventure awaits you!

Business students become more marketable with first hand travel and language experience. Art-As History students live in Florence, Italy, home of Michelangelo.

Language students have an invaluable opportunity to live in an environment that makes learning a foreign language fun and exciting.

The CSU International Program has study centers in 16 different countries and represents a wide variety of majors. Since CSUIP is an official CSU program, all financial aid is applicable overseas and all coursework is transferred as resident credit. Don’t put it off any longer! Come to PS 201, or call Dr. Rydell at ext. 7471 for an appointment. Time is running out.

Bird Carvings Adorn Campus

From a quick glance, it may seem that our feathered friends are flocking to campus more frequently, but a closer look reveals several wooden carved birds are perched upon the woodshop gate and near Admissions and Records. The carvings are courtesy of Leo DePile (Art), who originally wanted to attract attention to the woodworking and furniture design studio.

Resume Writing Workshop

The Career Planning and Placement Center's first monthly Resume Writing Workshop for the Winter Quarter will be held tomorrow, Thursday, January 23, from 2:00 to 3:30 p.m. The workshop will be held in the Student Services Building, Room 171, and is available to all students, regardless of major or class level. Signups are not required.
