Health Center

It is hard to believe that Spring is already here. The quarter break was a short one. To refresh your memories, and acquaint new students to our campus, we would like to remind you of what you may expect this quarter. Things You Should Know About Your Student Health Services:

Most services are prepaid in your registration fee.

Hours are Monday to Thursday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (Note: Limited services are available from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.)

- Prompt Service: Make an appointment. Students who find themselves pressed for time should make an appointment rather than request service at a drop-in visit. This reduces your waiting time and ensures prompt service. Call 887-7641 for appointments.
- Your health service provides a complete range of quality services including: diagnosis and treatment of illnesses and injuries, men's/women's health care, pharmacy, injections, immunizations, etc. We offer other services, so be sure to check if there is something you need.
- Your medical record is confidential. Information will not be released without your written permission, except for legal subpoena or in the case of some communicable diseases which by law must be reported to the Public Health Department.

A supplementary accident and illness insurance policy is available to all registered students. This plan provides partial coverage for services if a student requires hospital care or emergency treatment. The plan also comes to complement the Student Health Center, by providing coverage for services not offered at the center. The cost is $41.50 per quarter. Brochures and applications are available at the Health Center. By the way, no insurance is necessary in order to go to the Student Health Center.

Local Organist Performs

Professional organist Malcolm Benson will perform in concert at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, April 2 in the Recital Hall. Accompanied by the university's Chamber Singers under the direction of Dr. Loren Fabelk. Benson will play several Bach chorale preludes which were featured in a Yale University premiere he attended last year.

An organist for St. Paul's Methodist Church in San Bernardino for the past 18 years, he has traveled widely and played professionally in England, Germany, and Australia. Tickets for the concert are $5 general admission, $3 for students and senior citizens.

CSUSB Army ROTC

The Army ROTC Coyote Battalion will be on the campus on Wednesday at 6:30 a.m. in the student services center atrium for physical training. Those interested in ROTC should contact Capt. Heynen in SS-124 or call 887-9545.

WANTED!!

Student leaders for fall quarter are needed for new student orientation. Interested students must sign up by April 11 at the Special Events Office in the Student Union. Any questions call wiggy Coder, Orientation coordinator at 887-7943.

Traveling Sculpture Show

Art; as you travel, traveling art show, known as the Shoebox Sculpture Exhibition, debuts April 8 in the Art Gallery. More than 100 artists have contributed work in small scale, many specifically for this touring exhibit which will be displayed here through May 10.

De. Helene Koon Exhibit

The literary accomplishments of Dr. Helene Koon (English) are on display in the Library as part of a new rotating series of exhibits highlighting faculty professional development. Her work includes the recently-published biography of 18th century actor/manager/playwright George Colman as well as several articles and other writings. The display, mounted in mid-March, will be available for viewing until early April.

Kaplan. The father of test prep.

No lie! Stanley H. Kaplan was the first. And nearly 60 years later he's still the best in test prep. Kaplan will chop down any firm you may hold, travel taking the SAT LSAT GMAT MCAT GRE, NYE, CPA, or MCAT and 150 other test-techniques and educational programs have helped over 1 million students boost their scoring power and test confidence. He can do the same for you.

So if you have 'presidential' ambitions, call Kaplan. And prepare with the expert.

The Origins of Emergency Student Loans

by Edwin P. McDaniel II

Last year, the Student Emergency Loan Program (SELF) processed more than $77,000 worth of short-term loans to students in need of a helping hand. This year, however, will beat that record. In just the first two quarters of this school year, SELF has processed over $79,000 in loans to students in need of a helping hand. At the time, that was the highest amount the SELF had yet given out in a single school year. This year, however, will beat that record.

SELF operates out of a fund originally created twenty years ago by community donations. At that time, the fund was just $4,005. With the help of the Cal State alumni Association and occasional allocations from the Associated Students, the operation capital has since grown to its present value of about $22,000. Because of the fact that each dollar of operating capital is recycled about four times a year, the present total loan ceiling is about $80,000 to $100,000 per year. Unfortunately, this loan ceiling is not sufficient to handle the growing number of students needing to use SELF. The growth of the operation fund has not kept up with the growth of the student body. Since SELF must shut down when its operating fund runs down, it may be shut down for several periods, totalling over three months, since the beginning of the fall quarter. Indeed, the program was shut down just seven days after the beginning of the fall quarter and remained so for six weeks. A similar situation occurred at the beginning of the winter quarter.

SELF changes no interest on their loans and the service fee is only $1.75. Depending on the number of loans given out, this amounts to an income of about $1000 per school year. However, due to the nature of the loans processed by SELF, many of the students receiving loans are in a poor financial state. Even though SELF requires that students present a means of paying the loan back within sixty days, there is about a 5% default rate. This amounts to about $4500 per year. With only $1,000 of income over the same period, SELF needs to replace about $3500 per year to remain even.

Where does this money come from? Since SELF directly benefits the student body, the major portion of this money must be expected to come from the Associated Students. So far this year, A.S. has given $2500 to the program. Clearly, if the program is to continue to help the average student, more money will be needed. Because of the fact that every dollar of operating capital generates about four dollars worth of loan power, a contribution of just $5000 would increase the operating capital to only about $27,000, but would increase the total loan ceiling to over $100,000! Ted Krug, Director of Financial Aid, has estimated that the program could have given out well over $100,000 this year if the money had been available. Remember, SELF makes no money off the loans. The loans that might have been processed this year and weren't that mean Cal State students couldn't be helped by the program.

Last year, SELF helped over 6000 students with their short term financial problems. This year that number is expected to surpass 700 if funds are available, and next year even more. As the enrollment at Cal State San Bernardino grows, it will be the responsibility of the Associated Students, whose resources will grow as the student body grows, to keep the Student Emergency Loan Program going.

FESTIVAL FOR CHILDREN

The Orange County Opera will perform "The Barber of Seville" during the 12th annual Theatre Festival for Young Audiences at Cal State San Bernardino Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 12-13.

Family entertainment is at the heart of the 12th annual Theatre Festival for Young Audiences, which is being held on campus for the second year April 10-13. Performances will include staged plays, mime, music, dance, comedy, acrobatics, magic, juggling, puppetry, drawings and storytelling. Productions will range from well-known tales, such as "Rumpelstiltskin" and "The Frog Prince," to more modern stories, including "Ride a Blue Horse," based on "Child's Memory," by Truman Capote. More than 30 professional and semi-professional theatre companies will perform during the four day event, which includes two days "for kids only" April 10-11.

Approximately 2500 public school children in grades 4-6 from Riverside and San Bernardino counties will be bused to the University for the festival. The festival will be open to the public Monday through Thursday from 6 p.m. on April 12, and noon to 6 p.m., Sunday, April 13. Admission will be $3 per person, $8 family ticket, which includes up to six people and $1 for each additional person; and a group rate of $2 per individual.

MANIAC MONDAYS ARE NO MORE

by Randy Smith

After considerable thought and many trips to the refrigerator, I have come up with a new calendar that makes more sense than the one we presently use. The many reasons for such a calendar are as follows:

1. Everyone hates Mondays so why not get rid of them and make them Fridays! This way we won't feel so bad waking up after the weekend because we know it is already Tuesday. This eliminates the problems of Monday morning blues, and by adding an extra Friday, we get another day to party at work. Everyone has parties and goods off on Friday so why not party for two days instead of one? People might enjoy going to work now.

2. There are seven extra days at the end of the month for those end-of-month jobs that never get done during a normal month. These are the days that are set aside for the honey-does (i.e. that list on the refrigerator that you keep putting off).

3. With this new calendar we don't have to worry about paying those bills that come due on the 1st or the 31st since they no longer exist.

4. Ever get tired of ordering something on the 2nd and not getting it until the 6th? Well now you can order something on the 6th and have it delivered on the 2nd.

While this calendar is not widely recognized, I feel it has merit because it is more realistic. It focuses on such important concerns as our money and time. I know I'll sleep better when we start using it.
Choosing a long distance company is a lot like choosing a roommate.

It's better to know what they're like before you move in.

Living with someone for the first time can be an "educational" experience. And living with a long distance company isn't any different. Because some companies may not give you all the services you're used to getting from AT&T.

For instance, with some companies you have to spend a certain amount before you qualify for their special volume discounts. With some others, voice quality may vary.

But when you choose AT&T, there won't be any surprises when you move in. You'll get the same high-quality, trouble-free service you're used to.

With calls that sound as close as next door. And discounts off our Day Rate on your state-to-state calls. With savings of over 50% during weekends until 5pm Sundays, or nights from 11pm to 8am, Sunday through Friday. And 40% discounts evenings between 5pm and 11pm, Sunday through Friday.

With AT&T, you'll continue to get services like immediate credit for wrong numbers and collect calling. And long distance operators to help you anytime there's a problem on the line.

So when you're asked to choose a long distance company, choose AT&T. Because whether you're into Mozart or metal, quality is the one thing everyone can agree on. Call 1 800 222-0300 for more information or to choose AT&T. Reach out and touch someone.

AT&T
Having fun and learning, too

The Children's Center at Cal State provides a warm, friendly atmosphere where children are encouraged to develop a positive self-concept.

Children of CSUSB students and staff learn and play at the center from 7:30 in the morning until 8 in the evening. Programs are provided for pre-school, extended day care, and evening recreation. Learning how to be constructive and creative is an important part of daily activities, as depicted in the accompanying photographs.

The atmosphere at the Children's Center is special. Parents are welcome to come throughout the day to spend time with their children, helping them adjust to changing schedules from quarter to quarter. The center has developed a flexible program designed around the individual needs of the children and their parents.

"Not all children learn in the same way or the same rate," notes Pam Dortch, director of the center, "so our organization provides a variety of different programs to help children reach their individual potential."

Dear Editor:

This is being written to describe the difficulties faced by the Admissions Office which Thomas Thompson pointed out in the February 26 edition of the Chronicle. There have been as Mr. Thompson points out, delays in receiving an official credit summary for previous college level coursework completed. The evaluators in Admissions feel just as badly as Mr. Thompson does that they cannot provide evaluations prior to registration for the student's first term at CSUSB.

While excuses don't make the situation better, Mr. Thompson and all other students confronted with this problem deserve to know what has caused this and what steps are being taken to resolve this situation.

The people who perform transcript evaluations require a minimum of two years of intensive training to be able to adequately complete transfer credit summaries. Any change in the number and/or composition of the student body negatively affects this group and the service incoming students receive. Slightly more than a year ago, two of the four trained evaluators resigned to stay home with their newborn children. A third evaluator resigned in August of this past year to accept a counseling position at one of our local community colleges. This left Admissions with one fully trained evaluator and three trainees. Two additional evaluation trainees were hired in June as a result of the increase in student enrollment experienced by the campus in the Fall. And in March, two additional staff members were hired to determine eligibility student transcripts and complete grad checks for continuing students.

Mr. Thompson, the Admissions Office and the University as a whole is attempting to resolve this situation so that incoming students receive prompt and accurate information regarding the placement of transfer courses. The problem is a complex one and the nature of the tasks involved require lengthy training. Your patience and understanding and that of all other students is appreciated. We appreciate your concern and share it.
