Chavez speaks out for Proposition 14

Cesar Chavez, leader of the United Farm Workers (UFW), spoke before the St. Edwards Church mass which he held in his home last week, Oct. 28.

In his effort to promote a "yes" vote on Proposition 14 in the Nov. 2 election, Chavez said, "There's only one real issue on Proposition 14 — whether or not the workers will have a guaranteed right to have a union — to make sure that the workers have the law and the money to operate a union."

He denied that a yes on 14 would infringe on the growers' property rights. "Proposition will stabilize the relations between the workers and the growers," he said.

"There is a connection between you in the audience and the workers," Chavez continued. "Every time you sit at the table and eat three times a day, the food you eat has been touched and contributed to by men, women and children. The terrible irony is: how can it be that they who are the great instruments to feed all of us, go hungry?"

Also speaking was Bishop Chavez, who had recently returned from Ecuador. "Let us participate in the vision of Cesar, which is really the vision of Jesus," the Bishop said, "Let us struggle for the success of Proposition 14."

Father Pat Guillau of the St. Edwards Church declared, "All men are God's children. We are to comfort the afflicted and to affect those who are too comfortable at the expense of the afflicted."

New VA benefits signed into law

By Ray Byers

The Veterans Administration (VA) has released information which could save the informed veteran a little money and make life a little more meaningful.

On June 30, 1976, President Ford signed into law the Veterans Housing Amendments Act.

Under this law, beginning Oct. 1, 1976, "peacetime" veterans, who served at least 180 days, will become eligible for VA guaranteed home loans. Eligibility is also extended to the unremarried widows of veterans who served in the peace time period if the veteran died while on active duty or as the result of a service-connected disability.

A VA home loan guarantee under the Veterans Housing Amendment Act may be used to buy, build, repair, alter, improve, rent, or occupy a home; buy a residential unit in a certain condominium project; or buy a mobile home, with or without a lot.

For conventional homes and condominium units, the VA can guarantee the lender 60 percent of the amount a veteran borrows, up to a maximum of $17,500. The new law establishes the VA's loan guarantee for mobile homes and lots at 50 percent of the unpaid balance up to a maximum of $12,500 on single wide units and $20,000 on double wide units.

A new VA information booklet, available now, provides a list of condominium properties and describes how to obtain the booklet. The booklet reveals that large numbers of World War II veterans have not heeded the warnings of the Veterans Administration about the heavy premium increases they will pay, unless they convert their term policies into permanent plans.

An example indicated a veteran holding a $20,000 on double wide units, $12,500 on single wide units, and lots at 50 percent of the unpaid balance up to a maximum of $12,500 on single wide units and $20,000 on double wide units.

By converting the term policy to one of the VA's permanent plans, the veteran pays a slightly higher premium initially, but the premium does not increase with passing years.

One option listed for conversion is the Modified Life-70 plan, which is available to veterans holding policies prefixed by the letters V, W, H, RH, J, JR or JS.

If a term policy is converted to the Modified Life-70 plan, at age 50 the insured would pay a premium of $17.70 a month for the duration of his life.

If the same policy is converted at age 60, the monthly premium would be $26.40.

Under the Modified Life-70 plan, the face value of the policy is reduced by 50 percent on the insured's 70th birthday. The face value of the policy could be retained by applying for a special "7th birthday" extension on the policy prior to the 70th birthday. This action would result in an additional premium being charged, but this no health examination would be required.

The VA also believes that some NSLI policy holders may be making unnecessary premium payments.

A veteran owning an NSLI policy is not required to pay the premiums on the policy if he or she becomes totally disabled before reaching the age of 60 and the disability has existed for at least six consecutive months.

"Total disability" for insurance purposes means that the veteran is prevented from working because of the disability.

Waiver of premium payments for disability is not automatic however. The veteran must apply for the waiver. Premiums already paid after the onset of the disability are refundable, but the refund is usually limited to the premiums paid one year prior to filing the disability claim.

The ASB Executive Cabinet held its first meeting of the school year at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 30, in room SS-171. Attending were ASB President Kevin Gallagher, Vice President Fred Debahr, Robert DeSilva, Paul Martinez, Diane Glyn, Gina Bacca, and Martha Romero. Since not enough of the school year has passed for business to have accumulated, the meeting was informational.

Among the items discussed were the upcoming meetings with the publicity director, Len Ehurst. Ehurst has produced several flyers to be passed out on campus to keep the student body informed. The publicity director position was created last spring by President Gallagher. According to Ehurst, his function is to "get rid of student apathy," increase attendance at ASB activities and to duplicate information otherwise found in the Pawprint.

It was also mentioned that the Commons would begin an experimental policy of staying open from 7-8:30 Monday through Thursday for the night students. Gallagher claimed the credit for causing the change in policy.

Vice President Fred Debahr reported on "College Hour," as used on some other campuses of the Cal State system. A specific time of day and week is set aside for student government meetings and activities. No classes are scheduled during this time to enable all students to participate. A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

Doris Pollard was appointed chairperson of the Elections Committee. Curis Phelps was appointed to the Activities Committee.

The next meeting of the cabinet is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 7, 6:30 p.m., SS-171.

Health services to expand

By Cheryl Brown

An expanded health service will benefit students at Cal. State San Bernardino in the near future. Groundbreaking for the new Student Health Center is tentatively set for January or February of 1977, with an opening planned for the beginning of next school year.

The new center will be located north of the present Commons, and will occupy approximately 10,000 square feet. Dr. Joseph K. Thomas, Vice President for Administration stated, "It will have all the equipment that modern health centers have. We feel that it will be a nice addition to the campus." He also said that the new facility will accommodate the student population up to 10,000.

Architects are doing working drawings of the center at the present time. Dr. Thomas stated that advertising for construction bids will begin in December or January. Actual work on the new building will start in January or February. Construction time will be approximately nine months. The cost of the new building is estimated at $850,000.

Dr. Ross Ballard, director of Student Health Services, has contributed much to the design and planning of the new center. Dr. Ballard stated that the new health center will be run like a clinic. The center provides this type of treatment, but on a walk-in basis to any student.

Presently, the health service provides the services as well as doing its own lab work, having a pharmacy, and providing much more room for private examination and minor surgery.

A new pharmacy has also been planned. Hopefully, students will be able to obtain prescription drugs at a discount with the pharmacy maintaining these drugs at 10 percent of the actual costs. The current method of dispensing drugs is for the doctors and nurses to give out samples they have. If the needed drugs are unavailable, then a prescription is written, and the student must take it to a regular pharmacy.

At the present time, very little lab work is performed at the health center. Many students needing lab work done must be referred elsewhere, with the exception of women needing pregnancy tests. The new laboratory facilities will enable the staff to perform needed tests, run them, and obtain the results themselves.

The health center staff presently includes two doctors, Dr. Ballard, one of the consultants (on a rotating schedule) from the Loma Linda University School of Medicine, and two nurses. The Health Center hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week, with each doctor taking a four hour shift. When asked about night services, Dr. Ballard replied, "We are trying to institute night service from 5 to 7 p.m. These services would be primarily for evening and dorm students, but night services would benefit all students who could not get to the health center during the day time."

Veteran Fair

Virginia Mae Days, director of the State Department of Veterans Affairs, announced that the Inland Empire's Veterans Opportunity Fair is being co-sponsored with the Riverside County Veteran Service Office. The Fair will be held at the San Bernardino Convention Center, 303 North E Street, San Bernardino, today, 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. and tomorrow, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Correction

In the Sept. 21 issue of the "Pawprint," the word, "creden­ti­al," was erroneously used referring to the women's studies program. It should have stated that Cal. State, San Ber­nardino will offer a designated subject certificate (not credential) for vocational teachers.

On becoming involved

By Francesco X. Siqueiros

I will like to welcome all you newcomers. The faces and their computerized tongues, I heard my friend Big Cheez's round voice is communication and, is there again faces on this campus of ours . . .

"Hello, Dave," said Potted Palm between hiccups. I raised my glass to return the salute.

"Sure, Dave," said Potted Palm between hiccups. I raised my glass to return the salute.

"Sure, Dave," said Potted Palm between hiccups. I raised my glass to return the salute.

Biggee was talking to our ASB President, Potted Palm, but stopped when I came up. Since they never returned to the subject, I didn't know what it was to "dumby," said Biggee, "you have a sense of timing that could get you killed. But you're here, so all down and drink your beer."

"Sure, Dave," said Potted Palm between hiccups. I raised my glass to return the salute.

Then, the front door opened and in walked Alan Apathy, the new student whom I met last week. As a foreign student followed him in.
Liberalism is bankrupt

By Jim Austin

The liberal-left ideological movement is bankrupt, morally, intellectually, culturally, you name it, it is bankrupt. This may come as a surprise to many of those on the right who have been inundated with misinformation and challenged on any major issue.

The reasons for the apparent failure are many, Liberals do dominate the mass media including the television networks, mass circulation magazines and news service organizations as well as the major newspapers. They have near total control of the educational system, particularly higher education. Liberals are thus in the position of being the sole judge of what is considered "respectable opinion" in this country.

Nonetheless, as a political movement, liberalism is bankrupt. Its direction and movements can be explained by inertia, conditioned response and other random influences. There is little evidence of any conscious direction towards any goals. Those in the entire left-wing spectrum have not been conditioned response and other random influences. Most of the liberal intellectuals are intellectual lightweights, there are within the leadership certain hoards who despise such respectable hearing. Such ideas represent vitally new, daringly antithetical premises. Their motive consists of nothing more than a vague desire to "do good," without much of an idea what that consists of.

It does little good to criticize the various causes and proposals that kneekjerk liberals support. They are basically indifferent to the implications, workability or ultimate consequences of their program. They are angered by any suggestion that their specific proposals won't achieve their stated goals. Such suggestions are entirely irrelevant. It is enough to denounce them, that the knee-jerk liberals support. They are mere phrases in his mind. They are mere code words which trigger all sorts of good emotions, nothing else. Their motives consists of nothing more than a vague desire to "do good," without much of an idea what that consists of.

Liberalism is not really a movement; it's a drift. Its direction and movements can be explained by inertia, conditioned response and other random influences. Those in the right who have been conditioned to accept definitions, misinterpretations and other random influences. Those in the right who have been conditioned to accept the findings of their studies have not been conditioned response and other random influences. But they don't know much about the basic premises behind the positions, what their implications, costs and ultimate consequences are, or whether it really accomplishes what they think it accomplishes.

All this could probably be said about the majority of all political movements. However, it could be said that while most of the partisans of ideological movements are intellectual lightweights there are within the leadership certain heavyweights who are aware of the directions, implications and ultimate consequences of the movement. It could well be asserted that the liberal-left movements have shared leadership.

Well, don't. Certainly not those professors in the right who have all the "right" things to say about the subjects. They are people who have been conditioned response and other random influences. Those in the right who have been conditioned to accept definitions, misinterpretations and other random influences. Those in the right who have been conditioned to accept the findings of their studies have not been conditioned response and other random influences. They do little good to criticize the various causes and proposals that kneekjerk liberals support. But they don't know much about the basic premises behind the positions, what their implications, costs and ultimate consequences are, or whether it really accomplishes what they think it accomplishes.

The liberal-left had its last intellectual fling in the 1930's with shifting definitions, misinterpretations, manipulative methods of flattery and belligerent. Most of the liberal partisans are intellectual lightweights, there are within the leadership certain hoards who despise such respectable hearing. Such ideas represent vitally new, daringly antithetical premises. Their motive consists of nothing more than a vague desire to "do good," without much of an idea what that consists of.

Welcome, welcome, welcome all our fans! Last year in the Cal. State International Marching Kazoo Band would like to welcome you to this illustrious campus. We love it...you will, too!!!!!

The Kazoo Band, renowned for it's exquisite sounds, is planning numerous fun-loving expeditions in which you will definitely want to participate. Absolutely, everybody is welcome. Our only qualifications are that you enjoy music! And, as usual, any and all degenerates are welcome. It will be held Oct. 16th which is Corporal Wattson's birthday! A cheery birthday wish for the Watts! Shaffah running for Vice, Bumper Stickers and Superbowl fun!!

Anyone that knows Jackie B. is invited to his wedding in Vegas on Oct. 21st. Be there or be square!!

The annual Donkey Basketball Game will be represented by Kommander Korn for the Kazoo Band. Last year the Kommander fanked out — the donkeys looked better from the rear view than the good Kommander. We will provide yourselves with the usual trappings and, as usual, any and all degenerates are welcome. It will be held Oct. 16th which is Corporal Wattson's birthday! A cheery birthday wish for the Watts! Shaffah running for Vice, Bumper Stickers and Superbowl fun!!

The 16th of October shall witness an excellent display of Kazoo talent accompanied by Kazoo kazoo-eramatic antics at Held's Hideaway in Crestline. This will be our 2nd Annual Held's Kazoo Knight. There isn't a better time to be had. For further info call 338-2763. We need everybody!!!

As you all know, being intelligent and aware Cal. State students, this is an election year. The Kazoo Band has nominated its own candidates for the "E-State You vote" campaign. Kommander Korn will be the nominee for President with Field Marshall as his running mate with Liberals lies dominated by superficially-guaranteed (The efforts of a certain Republican candidate in this area who insists on running a chiclet-bit campaign comes to mind.)
Letters on day care needed

Judy Calkins, director of the California State College, San Bernardino Day Care Center, says interested parents, students, and all concerned citizens alike to let Governor Jerry Brown know before November 30 that sufficient interest is expressed for a day care center to be established in the greater San Bernardino area who have never seen the likes of us. Little do they know what awaits them. There is a possibility of a Kazooers game of the一本书的Eve to those of you who are Lit Majors — we'll be having a Kazooers special on October 28. Recoup your losses from the Donkey Basketball Game on the 28th and join us at Shaff's Steak. For info call 337-2763 or 337-6574. We're bookers but we have more fun than the rest of this campus put together!! Join the Kazoo Band for fun and profit — now!

Report to the coach immediately!

The Wells Fargo Stagecoach, that is. Because, for a dollar a month, you can have a student checking account at Wells Fargo Bank. There's no minimum balance required and you can write as many checks as you want. We'll even send you a statement every month.

The plan also has a built-in "see you in September" feature: If you don't write checks over the summer, we don't charge you, and we keep the account open until fall even if there isn't any money in it.

Ask about our special Master Charge credit plan for sophomores, juniors, seniors and grad students. It provides extra money when you need it—a good way to build credit standing. Plus you can have overdraft protection on your checking account at no additional cost until you use it. Wells Fargo Bank. Because every college should have a good coach.

Once a year, the ASB is required to have its financial affairs audited. Here and on page eight is the auditors report for the monies spent by the ASB last year, for those people who are remotely interested in where all that money went.

Certain administrators were anxious to inform students that the $12,771 figure in parenthesis in the "Budget" column, Exhibit "B," page eight) represents money carried over from the previous year rather than a budget deficit. The ASB budget was audited by Eadie and Payne, certified public accountants, 330 North D St., P.O. Box 1199, San Bernardino, Ca. 92402.

Child Care law passed

Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr., signed into law Assembly Bill 3790 which allocated $500,000 to the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the expansion and maintenance of child care services on public and private college campuses. This appropriation will provide matching funds (three to one state-local match) which will be used to subsidize parent user fees for low income parents.
