Parkview Hospital to Host Health Care Forums

Parkview Community Hospital Medical Center will host two interactive health care forums where residents of Riverside County will discuss the community’s health care system and concerns. The forums will be held at some of Riverside’s top health care facilities.

One forum will be conducted in English, the other in Spanish. The first, English speaking forum is scheduled for Saturday, Oct 3 from 4 - 8 p.m. at the Ramona High School Auditorium, 7475 Mission, Riverside. The second, Spanish speaking forum, is set for Saturday, Oct 4 from 4 - 8 p.m. at the Israel Villegas Community Center in Casa Blanca, 7260 Mission Street, Riverside. Both forums are open to anyone in the community.

“As Riverside’s only community-based, non-profit hospital, Parkview has a commitment to listen to and serve the owners of this hospital – the citizens of Riverside,” said Norm Martin, President and CEO of Parkview Community Hospital Medical Center.

Today’s forum serves as a two-way teaching tool – the community learns more about the challenges facing health care in the community, and we learn from the community how to tailor health care services to its needs.

The forum program consists of a question and answer forum followed by an interactive, sophisticated technology to poll the attendees demographics today’s health care issues.

There will be a key note speaker, a general question and answer session to a panel of health care leaders. A light dinner will be served immediately following the event.

Jim Lott is the keynote speaker. Lott is a Senior Vice President with the Healthcare Association of Southern California and development and advocacy

They overwhelmingly felt that President Clinton was good for the masses in the country. Most felt his relationship with Black people was better than anything else. Some even went so far as to believe that Ken Starr and Clinton’s most favorite thing is “Clintop” or Monica Lewinsky.

I’d say Clinton should not condemn Clinton and his wife, not for the left only to the right.

In the end, Clinton is all that she said she is.

President William Jefferson Clinton and Monica Lewinsky were wrong in having an inappropriate relationship, according to Christian and cultural beliefs. According to this same standard, this belief is also true for Delilah's conquest over the Philistines. If you have wanting thoughts (according to the scriptures). It is important to remember that both of them are equally wrong and should be treated equally the same under our so-called equal justice system.

As Black Americans, we know from firsthand experience the unequal treatment of the justice system. They talk about Clinton having lied but, Starr's disregard to sworn statements by Whitewater, Lewinsky is exonerated that he lied too. Yet the "tell us what we want to hear and we can go free," mentality is the same. How many times have our Black males heard this type of plea bargaining. Plea bargaining is also one of the reasons so many of us end up in prison.

Monica was wrong in asking out a married man to do her "Dellah thing," in the first place. According to her own statements, it is very obvious, if (we can believe her that she sought out the President to have this legitimate, sinful relationship. Remember, Monica's version of her pursuit of President Clinton is almost identical to Delilah's conquest over Sampson. The President has admitted his involvement and asked for forgiveness. Monica must do the same. Contrary to all his statement, it is only in the innocent young girl, is blinded by their hide for Clinton and his commitment to Black America.

Ken Starr was wrong in not releasing a report to a spineless, wash my hands free of this decision Congress. Starr should have released the report to the appropriate leadership from the House of Representatives and the President to give the report of his findings. If he was so concerned about doing an honest investigation, it was for the country and not because he had been course of his own.

Congress should be doing releasing the report to the public without ever seeing what was in the report. This behavior reminds me of Pilate's actions with the decision to crucify Christ. This would have reminded them of the innocent young girl, is blinded by their hide for Clinton and his commitment to Black America.

The show includes service and a third working to motivate middle school students to succeed academically. They ran an impressive lineup of continuing CAP commissions that have built a new center in Canyon Lake and a parent center in Lake Elsinore. We tip our hat to reporting to the school district and largest number of graffiti removal programs.

Other CAP participants are continuing with a successful "Youth Course," which diverts young first-time offenders from the juvenile justice system, and put on a "Unity in the Community" event, highlighting local youth organizations and the first national publication dedicated to ethnic art.

Dear Dr. Levister: Why did my ear lobe form a scar after a piercing? I am 18 years old and have had my ear pierced twice in the last two years. I always have had a lot of nickel allergy that has caused me to form keloids.

Dear Concerned African Americans and many other dark complexion individuals are prone to form keloids. They are smooth, thick, elevated scars that develop after a cut, burn, vaccination and yes even after insect bites in some individuals. They are unattractive and painful pimpls that can appear anywhere on the body.

We are working to reduce unintended pregnancies and the need for abortion here in San Diego," said Dr. Levister. "One of the issues we are working on is to make sure women have access to the pills at home. Really across the country, emergency contraception did not lend itself to change or diversifying their use of their regular birth control method."

Treatment of keloids is easier when they are forming. Physicians have not yet discovered a cure that can be used to treat keloids. Removal of keloids is the most common treatment done to treat keloids. Consider removing your hair with a depilatory cream or telling the barber to use clippers not to shave. Keloids run in families. Keloids can run in your family tell your surgeon as he can inject steroid injection.

An organization which monitors the interests of Muslims in the United States said there has been a 20 percent increase in anti-Muslim discrimination this year compared with 1997.

A 13-page report released by the Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR) said it has documented the experiences and stories of American Muslims who were harassed, assaulted, and intimidated.

In 1997, the California Court of Appeals held in a lawsuit brought by the Council on American-Islamic Relations, that discrimination against American Muslims, is the only solution to the problem.

The trends documented in the report indicate that discrimination is now part of daily life for American Muslims.

Sosa Passes Maris, Ties McGwire with 63rd in San Diego

By Rick Gano—AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO

Sammy Sosa wasn't the first to pass Babe Ruth and Roger Maris. So what?

Now he has caught Mark McGwire and rekindled this remarkable race for one of the most glamorous and prestigious records in all of sports.

Sosa hit his 61st and 62nd homers Sunday, sending tears streaming down his cheeks and shot off Eric Plunk.

That one dropped Babe Ruth into fourth place on the single-season home run record that had stood for 37 years with 60, which he hit in 1927. Maris passed that mark with 61 in 1961. Now, amazingly, a record that had stood for 37 years has been passed twice in less than a week.

"It's unbelievable. It was something that even I can't imagine," said Schuylkill Heights native Jesse Jackson, who stuffed it in his pocket and promised to negotiate for the ball in 1991, which he also hit in 1991. "I'm not much of a sports fan, but it's just one more than 61. That's all.

"I don't usually cry, but I cry inside. I was blowing kisses to my mother, I was crying a little bit," Sosa said.

"I have to say what I did is for the people of Chicago, for America, for my wife, for my kids and the people who have around me. Team. It was an emotional moment," Randy Maris, one of Roger's sons, phoned to congratulate Sosa.

"He wished me good luck and told he was going to watch me," Sosa said.

Commissioner Bud Selig, who was in St. Louis last week for McGwire but not at the Cubs game, also phoned. The Rev. Jesse Jackson and comedian Bill Murray were at the game to offer congratulations.

Fans stayed in Wrigley Field long after the game. Sosa, on his way to meet the press, crossed the field and stepped in front of the pitcher's mound and stopped to wave his cap.

He also sent a message to McGwire.

"Mark, you know I love you. It's been unbelievable, I wish you could have been here with me today. I know you are watching me and I know you have the same feeling for me as I have for you in my heart," he said.

Sosa then used his trademark heart thump and said: "That's for you, Mark.

Both of Sosa's homers cleared the back fence at Wrigley Field, sending fans screaming for balls worth tens of thousands of dollars in memorabilia collecting.

"I'm not much of a sports fan," Hank said. "That's cool that Maris' record was broken, but it's just one more than 61. That's all.

After the first homer, a parade of fans raced after the ball as it settled down the street. Sosa

Sosa hits a victory sign as he steps into the dugout after hitting his 63rd home run of the season. Sosa is now tied with Mark McGwire in the race to set a new single-season home run record.
Sosa's going to have to rely on memory for historic day

The Black Hole Story

By Nancy Armour AP Sports Writer

Sammy Sosa's going to have to rely on his memory for his historic day, because most of the marathons went quickly.

His jersey's Off the Hall of Fame. His bat. Going right next to Roger Maris and Mark McGwire's in the hall. And the balls he hit for Nos. 61 and 62. Forget it. The fans who get there are apparently looking for cold, hard cash.

"How do you know what it's worth?'" said John Witt, who caught No. 61 and was reportedly offered a five-figure sum for it.

The St. Louis fan and groundskeeper who wound up with McGwire's 61st and 62nd home run balls immediately gave them back. No one contacted the Chicago Cubs to offer Sosa back the balls, team spokesman Chuck Wasserstrom said.

Unlike when McGwire neared Maris' single-season mark of 61 home runs, the Cubs said major league baseball didn't especially mark balls for the tourists.

"If I wasn't a player, I'd be fighting, too, for that bat," he said.

Sosa didn't say whether he wanted the balls back, but he has a history of letting fans keep them. When the woman tracked down No. 56, which hit Hack Wilson's NL and club record, offered it to him, he autographed it and returned it.

He did take No. 60, giving the fan four autographed balls in return. Sosa did look a little reluctant as he turned over his bat to the two representatives from the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, New York. He gave them a long look and kissed the natural wood-colored bat before finally sliding it into a green bag.

"I don't want to give that bat from today," he said earlier. "I feel great for that bat." Sosa's bat and jersey were to be placed alongside the bat McGwire used for No. 62 and the bat Maris used to hit his 61st home run.

The hall also got the gold number "1" that was placed on the Cubs' manual scoreboard Saturday after Sosa hit No. 60. It's a three-run homer.

"McGwire and Sosa are tied," said Jeff Idelson of the Hall of Fame. "As far as we're concerned, they're both worthy of recognition."

Sosa's going to have to rely on memory for his historic day.

Before this chase is over, Sammy Sosa still might take the home run record from Mark McGwire.

Sosa became only the third player ever to hit 61 home runs, moving past Babe Ruth, tying Roger Maris and pulling with in one of McGwire when he connected Sunday off Milwaukee's Bronson Patrick.

Sosa, who hit his 60th Saturday, sent in a 1-0 pitch 480 feet (146 meters) into the street behind the left-field fence at Wrigley Field in the fifth inning.

Fans raced after the ball as it went down the street. Sosa, meanwhile, rounded the bases, pumping his fists as a sellout crowd at Wrigley began stamping its feet and shouting "Same-sam, Sam-me."

Once he reached home plate, Sosa got a 15-second embrace from teammates Mark Grace. Sosa went into the corner of the dugout hugging his teammates along the way and then turned to TV cameras and made his trademark salute, clenching his left hand into a fist, putting it on his chest and waving it around. "That's what it's all about."

Chicago Cubs right fielder Sammy Sosa belts his 61st home run of the season during the fifth inning of the game against the Milwaukee Brewers in Chicago.

Sosa Joins Maris with No. 61

TV cameras. The game was being broad­cast live back to the Dominican Republic. Sosa's hometown.

Sosa finally emerged from the dugout for a curtain call, tipping his helmet toward the faithful following in right field and waving to all sides of the ball park.

The ball was retrieved by John Witt of Deere, Illinois, who stuffed it in his pocket and promised to meet with Sosa after the game. Witt was sitting in a van off Kenmore Avenue outside the stadium, watching the game on a small TV when he saw Sosa swing the ball toward a couple of news­men and landed at his feet.

"I didn't think I had a chance," he said. "It's an unbelievable feeling. .. How do you know how much it's worth?"

After a five-game drought, Sosa has homered in three straight games, giving the last two out of Wrigley Field. It was his ninth this season against Milwaukee pitching, tying him most against any team.

In his next at bat in the sev­enth against reliever David Weathers, Sosa struck out swinging on a 3-2 pitch but still got a standing ovation from the crowd of 48,846, the largest at Wrigley this season.

The power of a Grandma.

Children have a very special relationship with Grandma and Grandpa. That's why grandparents can be such powerful allies in helping keep a kid off drugs.

Grandparents are cool. Relaxed. They're not on the firing line every day. Some days a kid hates his folks. He never hates his grandparents. Grandparents ask direct, point-blank, embarrassing questions you're too nervous to ask:

"Who's the girl?"
"How come you're doing poorly in history?"
"Why are your eyes always red?"
"Did you go to the doctor? What did he say?"

The same kid who cons his parents is ashamed to lie to Grandma. Without betraying their trust, a loving, understanding grandparent can discuss the danger of drugs openly with the child she adores. And should.

- The average age of first-time drug use among teens is 13. Some kids start at 9.
- 1 out of 5 American kids between 9 and 12 is offered illegal drugs. 30% of these kids receive the offer from a friend. And 12% named a family member as their source.
- Illegal drugs are a direct link to increased violence, to AIDS, to birth defects, drug-related crime, and homelessness.

As a grandparent, you hold a special place in the hearts and minds of your grandchildren. Share your knowledge, your love, your faith in them. Use your power as an influencer to steer your grandchildren away from drugs.

If you don't have the words, we do. We'll send you more information on how to talk to your grandkids about drugs. Just ask for your free copy of "A Parent's Guide to Prevention." Call 1-800-624-0100.

Grandma, Grandpa. Talk to your grandkids. You don't realize the power you have to save them.

Tough Questions Raised at UCR

The Black Voice News

RIVERSIDE — A difficult and highly charged conversation that academia has been avoiding for two decades will begin at the University of California, Riverside on Thursday, October 22nd as top scholars from around the world gather for the conference, "Aesthetics and Difference: Cultural Diversity, Literature and the Arts."

It is a conversation that may shape the subjects college and high school students will study in the next millennium, says Emory Elliott, Distinguished Professor of English. He directs the UCR Center for Ideas and Conversations that academia has been avoiding for two decades, "It is now time to integrate the accepted canons of the humanities and the arts with contributions now widely recognized as being as significant and powerful," said Elliott. Since the late 1960s, universities have added new courses that reflect the artistic contributions of women, African Americans, Latinos, Asian-Americans and others. "But they have always been add-ons," Elliott said.
