ASB Senate meets

Priority registration considered

By Ray Byers

"Members of the ASB Senate should get priority in registration. I feel we are entitled to it and it would attract qualified people into student government...otherwise, the only thing you get out of being in student government is the "buzz" of being in it," Doug Cole said.

The subject under discussion at the ASB Senate meeting Nov. 16 was whether the members of the senate should press their case for registration priority to enable all members of the senate to schedule their classes so they would all have a specific hour to meet when none of them would have a class to attend.

"I think we should just pick an hour when everyone is free," John Atkinson, facetiously suggested that if they were trying to attract people, perhaps each senator should be paid $50.00 a quarter and see who could affect the most.

"I don't think that's going to cut it. I think we should do a campaign," Fred Deharo, ASB vice president, informed the senate that while a registration priority would be nice, it was not possible. He cited a report released by the chancellor's office which stated that priorities for special interest groups were not advisable since special interest groups make up approximately 25 percent of a college student population and all of them wanted priority in registration.

After comments by several of the senators, Deharo brought the discussion to an end when he told the members that they would not get registration priority, but if they wanted to try they could have an ad hoc committee draw up a resolution to that effect. The senators agreed to this and a committee consisting of Doug Cole as chairman, Jim Gallen, Mike Messer and Mark Teranusa as members was appointed.

Jim Austin, editor of the Pawprint, was at the meeting in response to reports that the newspaper was not cooperating with the senate. He was the consensus of the senate comments that the Pawprint should print more news of student government, and there are still positions in the ASB student government that are still unfilled. Sources within ASB have expressed concern about the small number of people seeking ASB positions. The following are some of the vacant positions waiting to be filled:

- 1 chairperson and seven (7) voting members. Committee responsible for all ASB student services - Book Co-op, Carpooling, and all evening services
- 1 student services committee: One (1) chairperson and one (1) voting member. Committee responsible for all ASB student services - Book Co-op, Carpooling, and all evening services

The revised code should be finished occurring in the future Deharo said. The ASB Election Committee is re-writing the election code at the present time which will take into consideration anything like this occurring in the future Deharo said.

The revised code should be finished by the start of the Spring quarter, but they could use a little help and asked if there were any volunteers to help.

Other business conducted during the meeting pertained to:
- Appointment of Jane Heister as President Pro Tem during any absence by Deharo.
- Appointment of Jane Heister, Jim Gallen and Art Millward as permanent members of the Senate Appropriations Committee.
- Bill Warner was appointed a member of the Senate Rules Committee and John Atkinson was confirmed as the chairman of the committee.
- Approved and sent to the Appropriations Committee for action, a request from the Alumni Association for a $130.00 donation.
- The fall quarter is almost over, and there are still positions in the ASB student government that are still unfilled. Sources within ASB have expressed concern about the small number of people seeking ASB positions. The following are some of the vacant positions waiting to be filled:

ASB wants you

Publicity Committee: Three (3) voting members of the Committee. Committee responsible for publicizing all ASB services and activities.

Judicial Board: Four (4) voting positions open. Board responsible for arbitrating, any and all disputes within the ASB. The Board has final authority in arbitration.

Anyone interested in any of these positions contact the ASB Trailer at 887-7494, or drop by and fill out an application.

George M. Cohan life subject of film

George M. Cohan was born on the 4th of July. And if that isn’t enough to make him a fire cracker, nothing is. James Cagney plays the Cohan role in “Yankee Doodle Dandy,” today’s offering at 1 p.m. in the Library’s classic film series on the fourth floor.

Is it a good film? Let’s let three 1942 film critics decide: LIFE Magazine, June 15, 1942, had this to say: “...Kinetoscope Jimmy Cagney...Cagney’s performance may win him the 1942 Academy Award.” (It didn’t Greer Garson won it for “Mrs. Miniver.”)

The New Yorker, June 6, 1942, put it this way: “...As a resumé of the Cohan career, ‘Yankee Doodle Dandy’ is a complete delight, an extravaganza of tunes the country has most liked for decades; as a private portrait of the actor, something intimate or revealing, it is dubious and out of drawing.”

Time, June 22, 1942, said: “...It is a remarkable performance, possibly Cagney’s best, as it makes Yankee Doodle a dandy.”

The story is told in flashback as Cagney visits the White House and President F.D.R. prior to being awarded the Congressional Medal for his support of the war effort in World Wars I and II.

An interesting note: Life reported that on opening night of the film on Broadway, Warner Brothers sold the first night tickets for war bonds. Cheapest seats sold for $5. Highest went to 10 moviegoers for $25,000 a piece.

And that was before inflation! For those who miss the 1 p.m. showing today in the Listening Facility on the Library’s fourth floor, they can drop by tomorrow.

Same show at 10 a.m.

Lunches are OK.

The seats are free!

Faculty wives to conduct fund drive

The Cal State Faculty Wives Club has a self perpetuating scholarship fund which is responsible for awarding scholarships to C-CSBS students totaling $300 or more annually.

The club mainly finances its scholarship fund by a unique joint exchange of holiday greetings by all members of the college community, instead of sending individual greeting cards to each friend.

To participate, all staff, faculty, and students are invited to send checks in care of Phyllis Blackey, 19110 Knollwood Ave, Bialto 93728 or via Robert Blackey, Dent. of History, AD-140, payables to the Cal State Faculty Wives Scholarship Fund before Dec. 12.

Donations received on or before that date will ensure that names of donors will be included in the holiday greetings sent to all contributors and that donations will be included in this year’s addition to the scholarship fund.

Committee overruled

By Jim Austin

The Election Committee decision to hold new elections was overturned by the ASB Judicial Board. The decision was rendered by the only member of the Judicial Board, Robert E. Olson, associate justice, who conducted a personal investigation of the issue.

It is not known at this time what areas were investigated, but Olson ruled that the complainant, Mark Womack, did not make his complaint within the 24-hour limit “as set forth in the By-Laws, section 9, paragraph 7, subsection C.”

Thus the Board “...rules in favor of Mr. (Joe) Baldino (who was elected Homecoming Class President) and finds the Election Committee in violation.

Doris “Cookie” Pallard, chairperson of the Election Committee, when contacted said, “The Election Committee feels that some kind of by-laws should be written up so this type of thing won’t happen again. The Committee still feels the same way (that it) did the right thing.”

Winter registration in progress

There is still time to enroll for the winter quarter at Cal State, San Bernardino, Cheryl Weese, admissions officer for the college, announced last week. Applications will be accepted for all undergraduate degree programs and all graduate programs except the M.S. in clinical psychology.

Prospective students whose application forms are received at the college by 5 p.m., Friday, Dec. 3, will be given a regular priority number for registration. (This helps the student to get the classes he needs.)

However, new students will be accepted through the winter registration period, which is Jan. 3 and 4, Weese said.

Applicants submitting their papers after Dec. 3 must make an appointment to see Weese and will register for classes in the last period on Jan. 4.

Weese urged students interested in attending Cal. State this winter to submit their application forms ($20 fee) immediately.

Transcripts from prior colleges or high schools can follow, she said.

Metrics taught here

Dean Hane, the instructor, who is mathematics coordinator for the Riverside County Schools, assures prospective students that they need not be a mathematician to take the course. Only prerequisite, and that's not official, is third grade arithmetic.

Cost for the one-unit education course is $22. Registration is at the first meeting or in advance through the Office of Continuing Education at Cal. State, San Bernardino.

The Child Care Center will now offer an extension class in the use of the metric system. This practical workshop experience is designed for everyone.

This includes educators, health service employees, homemakers, engineers, students, firemen; in fact no one is excluded.

Meetings are set for 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., Friday, Dec. 14, to 13 noon, Saturdays, Dec. 4 and 11, in room 32 of the Library Building at Cal. State, San Bernardino.
Opinion

Fundamental Issues

By Jim Austin

Some of the more basic political issues concern things like democracy versus dictatorship, freedom versus tyranny, private interests versus the public interest, capitalism versus mixed economy versus socialism (of various stripes). The resolution of such issues is contingent upon the resolution of the more fundamental moral issues. This is why little is accomplished in political dialogue where people submerge each other with memorized facts and get nowhere.

The most basic of all moral issues is between the two theories of morality, altruism and egoism. Altruism holds that an act is morally worthy to the extent that it benefits (materially or otherwise) others. It holds that we all have a duty to others, that the obligation is binding regardless of one’s wishes, desires or interests, and that selfishness is evil, to be tolerated, if at all, as a grudging concession to pragmatic considerations.

Egoism holds self interest as the purpose of morality and considers it evil to demand that action be motivated by anything else. One can think of all kinds of reasons to act in self-interest. After all, it is one’s self that is enjoying the benefits. But why should anyone be altruistic? Attempts to answer that question usually break down to circular reasoning or contradiction.

Answers such as “because it’s right,” “because one should,” “because it’s a duty,” etc. fall into the first category. The other kind is an appeal to self interest (“I’ll make you happier!”) which contradicts the assertion it’s attempting to support.

Thus this most fundamental issue is not one where reasonable men may differ. Reason is entirely on the side of egoism. Indeed altruism originated from primitive times where mysticism was in full force and supernatural punishment was threatened against the disobedient (You’ll roast in Hell!).

Notwithstanding all this, altruism is accepted by practically everyone as morality. Most people are unable to conceive of a different moral code. The idea that one can pursue an action motivated entirely by selfish considerations in full moral rec-

PawPrint defended again

Dear Editor,

Thank you for your prompt response to my letter in the Nov. 9, 1976 issue and for printing a listing of your staff members. Such a masthead is a standard component of all legitimate publications and should never have to be requested. Also I wish to commend you for the somewhat improved content of the Nov. 9 and Nov. 16 issues. They are not, however, as free of journalistic breakthroughs by any means, but better than previous issues. The articles by Mary Martin, Kerry Kugelman, Barbara Baird, Jim Austin and even Dave Fowler's review of Three Men on a Horse (by golly, the boy is illiterate), were interesting and reasonably well written. (Fowler would stick to reporting and leave the light fare to someone else.) You suggested in your Nov. 9 response to my letter that I was looking for "heavy weight," intellectual material. This is not correct. Lightweight material has a place in a well balanced presentation of news, commentary, and general interest material. But there is no reason why "lightweight" material cannot be written, creative, and of interest to more than a handful of special interest people. Even material for particular interest groups is okay if balanced with other articles for the rest of us.

In response to my criticism in the Nov. 18 issue: Why you poor little handful of special interest people. You think you have been victimized by "le grand bitch." Unfortunately, I am all out of purple hearts, and don't expect a new shipment before next October, but in conclusion, I am enclosing several.bandaid's for your bruised egos and battered pacifists. You can expect more up at the PawPrint office. Since you are so easily startled, I hope that you confine your journalistic efforts to CSSB and stay from places like ALA, USC, UCR, SBCC, or even most of other State Colleges. You would be laughed off campus. No cries of unfair comparison, please. Our small enrollment, limited funding, and lack of a journalism department is no excuse for printing anything that will fill space. If necessary, I would rather see a smaller paper with three well written articles. What a pity the "heroic" and "herculean" efforts have produced so little of merit. But to each of you who responded, a big Hooray! There hasn't been this much action in the "letters" column in a long time.

To Mr. Henke: While ignoring my critics in the Nov. 9 issue, I am hardly an apathetic journalist. Regarding the "letters" column in a long time. It was something in the PawPrint that maintained you as "an eager student." You think you have been ignored. You are not great journalistic journalists. But to each of you who responded, a big Hooray! There hasn't been this much action in the "letters" column in a long time.

Apathy charge; I am hardly an apathetic journalist. Or assist them, obviously you have perhaps it is because your readers simply didn't understand what you were saying. Hopefully a listing of your articles got lost in the rambling and the readers were unable to find anything worthy of response.

Critic rebuffs critics

Dear Editor,

We are a diversified group of people. Some, like you, are strictly analytical. Others, like me, are possibly just as academically serious, like a little humor and fun and even occasional monotony. Some of us are exhibitionists who enjoy entertaining you on the sidelines. I, for one, watch, listen or read, that's your prerogative. For I am grateful that the world is filled with so many different kinds of people with such a vast range of ideas, whether good or bad.

Quite frankly, a more humorous attack on the PawPrint, et al, would have been less offensive to me — but I would never fault you for your lack of humor.

Possibly, Sydneye, you might contribute some ideas on how to make activities more attractive to a greater number of students. You ideas just might stimulate interest or at least greater participation.

It does seem like the same persons keep doing things and I guess that is why it is impossible to keep things aren't completely stagnant — and the same persons doing these things enjoy themselves and that's not all bad, either. I say join with them or assist them, obviously you have some ideas or you would not have been so critical.

Mozart to be featured

A Mozart piece described by Dr. Einstein as "a fountain of spirits and fresh invention" will be featured in a Cal State, San Bernardino concert Sunday afternoon, Nov. 28.

The program of music by the Qalatorio Orchestra will begin at 3:30 in the Lecture Hall of the Physical Sciences building. Dr. Richard Saylor, Cal State Music professor, is the conductor.

"The second movement was so personal in concept, so completely individual in character" that he was unable to play it and asked for a revision. It's the original version that will be performed, with Candice Mitchell as soloist. Mitchell entered Cal State as a freshman a year ago. While at San Bernardino High School, she was a member of the all Southern California High School Honors Band. She plays with the San Bernardino Symphony and last season was a member of the Redlands Bowl Orchestra.

The first performance of "Partitions," a composition by Dr. Saylor, will be performed by a chamber ensemble. It combines pairs of instruments to create a rich, instrumental fabric and incorporates vocal sounds as part of the texture.

Admission is $2.50. Children and students with identification are admitted free.

GOLF RESULTS

AMATEUR DIVISION:

The "Boys from Dover" had trouble getting their putters out of their bags during this year's tourney.

Black and Blue
Geeks vs. Headhunters
Raiders vs. Mickey Mouse Club
Go to it, kiddies!

PROFESSIONAL DIVISION:

Monte Pearson (18) and Andy Carey (18.5) led the dubious doublets. Monte, who doubles as a baseball glove in the off season, had no trouble with his putter and thus led to a squeaker victory over Andy Carey, though somewhat disgruntled, did offer to "drive Monte home" after the contest. Way to hang, Andy.

IN SEARCH OF "BIG FOOT"

You won't have to go to Mammoth to find "big foot"; there will probably be about 19 of Uiem on the bus with you.

Ron "Letter to the Editor" Henke

The "Boys from Dover" had trouble getting their putters out of their bags during this year's tourney.

When watchful father "Ben" was asked about it he angrily mentioned something about the fact his boys spent most of last night smoking the green.

So you could spend the time you might have spent looking for "big foot" doing a number of interesting things. Skiing, sauna, jacuzzi, watching girls, watching guys (and whatever these last two lead to) are just a few of the "groovy" activities you can "get off" on.

Yes, Cal State is going, by bus, to Mammoth. The bus will leave from the P.E. parking lot on Sunday, December 12 at 10:00 AM and return to the same place between midnight and 1:00 AM on Wednesday, December 15th.

You say you're interested, wellll, then go to the activities office with the full amount of $29.99.

This price includes 3 nights lodging at the Chateau d'Oex and transportation up to Mammoth. This trip is limited to the first 20 Cal State students and guests to register. The registration deadline is Monday, November 29th.

For information on equipment to bring, lift ticket prices, etc., contact Joe "Big Foot"" Long in P.E. 124, extension 7564.

FOOTBALL

Well, the lord again outscored all of our teams in both leagues, as all of the games were rained out.

If the skies are cloudy on Thursday, please go to P.E. 124 where our intramural director, and part-time religious leader, will be passing out St. Christopher's Stars and assorted other paraphernalia, the use of which may, hopefully, assure fair weather.

This week starts the play-offs. The games include:

PAN-TWAIST
M. M. Goods vs. EBA's
Grabbers vs. Cougars

BLACK AND BLUE
Geeks vs. Headhunters
Raiders vs. Mickey Mouse Club
Go to it, kiddies!

JIMMY THE FREAK'S "FEARLESS FORECASTS"
PANTWAIST
1. M. M. Goods vs. EBA's
The Rober "Butt Plug" Odle and Ron "Letter to the Editor" Henke will just annihilate the EBA's led by (?), M. M. Goods by 18 points.
2. Grabbers vs. Cougars
The Cougars look good after a hard week of practice and are going to beat Diane's Dormie Grabbers by 6 points.

BLACK AND BLUE
1. Geeks vs. Headhunters
Ron Miller and Ivan Glasco are going to have a big day unless Gene Martin gets some help on defense. As for the Headhunter offense, Geeks by 14 pts.
2. Mickey Mouse Club vs. Raiders
Two big physical teams, this game will be rough. But, the M. M. C. J.B. Jerry Trip, and number of talented receivers will be the difference. There is a big question, however, a very inconsistent M. M. C. defense. M.M.C. by 6 points.

3 PERSON BASKETBALL

"B" LEAGUE
The Commodores led by Battling Bruce, the less than lovely Mike Hughes and Frank "Leaper" Rengal lost to the J.D.L. in 3 straight games last week.

Jim "Twinkle Toes" Roessler and the young and innocent Jim Given provided the offense, while Connie "Animal" Myers ate up the Commodores on defense, all of which led up to this one-sided affair.

Next week we will see the Chicago Bulls led by Headless Gene Garver and Larry "Crab" Kramer against the unsuspecting 1 Don't Cares, a team that is not led at all.

At the same this week. Bod Randall is still holding the number one position. Behind him, in second place, is Mike Locklin.

The schedule includes:

1. M. M. Goods vs. EBA's
Raiders
Geeks vs. Headhunters
Grabbers vs. Cougars
