Now that the Coyote Chronicle has been underway for nine (shudder) issues so far, the more substantial comments - and criticisms - are beginning to come in. And while I am very happy to hear any comments regarding the newspaper's quality - or how we can improve ourselves - quite simply, I have found many comments to be rather disturbing.

Simply put, the comments and criticisms we receive can be put into two categories: one, we don't run enough features or articles on Cal State San Bernardino itself; or two, we run far too many. The latter has been more of an ongoing comment. The former arrived with our recent decisions to publish stories that had more to do with the CSUSB community, rather than just the university.

Both disturb me, and not for reasons you might think. You see, in recent years I have been a first-hand participant in professional newspaper polling - so I'm used to answers of extremes. However, the readers of this newspaper are in a vastly different position than the readers of most newspapers - our readers have the opportunity to actually assist their paper in its quest for top quality. Unfortunately, rarely anyone has so far. It doesn't take a third-year journalism student to discover that that doesn't help anyone.

At some point during the 1985 Spring Quarter, it was decided that the Chronicle would only concentrate its attention on CSUSB-related subjects, and nothing else. As you might imagine, it had quite an unpopular result.

So, with the change in editorial staff this quarter, it was decided that we would live up to our motto on page one - to serve the community of Cal State, San Bernardino. We're not living in our own fantasy world, people; there's a real one outside there as well. Hence, we have tried to expand our coverage of stories and give you an idea of the things happening outside of the CSUSB boundaries. Let's face it - NO university or college can always be a constant source of excitement... and our world always is.

We are still covering events and happenings at Cal State, as you might notice in the majority of our usual 16-page issues. However, this leads us to an even larger problem in trying to bring you the most up-to-date Cal State news... our lack of writers to adequately cover everything.

Once again, you don't have to be too schooled to realize that if there's not many staff writers, there's not gonna be a lot of stories. Many of our published stories come from clubs or faculty/advisors, as well as numerous outside sources. So while you are seeing a good deal of bylines, you're not seeing a consistent, paid staff in action.

And that's sad.

It doesn't take much of your time to be a staff writer... you're asked to come in (to the office) twice a week, once for a staff meeting, and again to turn in your completed story. You have almost a full week to do a story, and we ask for ammunition of one story per week. Plus you get paid 50 cents a column inch for each story we use, and you get to see your story in print. Is it that tough? I really don't think so. At least you'll be immediately separated from the crowd of apathetic crybabies that turn tail and run the minute they're asked to back up their words with actions.

Before I get any more hot-headed, I'd rather just sum this all up with two words: get involved! Don't wait for others to solve your problems; get off your duff and do something yourself! In the long run, it will benefit everybody... and it will be one more step in helping to make the Chronicle a first-class news source for the CSUSB community.

Oh, while I've still got some space to ramble in, I'd like to mention that, in honor of an auspicious birthday that just happens to coincide with this issue's publishing date, any presents or monetary donations will be accepted at the Chronicle office (at the Editor's desk) all day long during regular business hours.

Well, I had to give it a try, right?

Student wants more activities on campus

To the Editor,

Although CSUSB is often thought of as a commuter school, I am one of the students who is on campus quite a bit besides when I am in class. My question to the person in charge of this is, where are the activities a college student usually enjoy? Where are the dances, bands, talent show, comedy nights, air bands, speakers, and etc.? Granted there have been some activities this year, but not nearly enough as far as I'm concerned. I am also not the only student who feels this way. What about the students in the dorms who have extra time and are close to any activity on campus? What about those of us who want our college years to be full of fun times?

Well I think it's about time someone does something. CSUSB has been less of a commuter school and much more social. Well let's have some activities so we can be social. Someone get on the ball and give us some things to do.

Signed,
A concerned student

Utopian Solutions

by Robert Ullery

Experts will wear scowling tales of knowledge and utopian solutions. Many have ridden on habits forming or trying to alter time. At last chance to loss for trying to choose a substance to broaden their minds. Our young people sleep eternally deep in valleis of betrayal and fear. The message goes out and many shout words that few want to hear.

All Things Considered

by Emery Brewer

Where would you rather be right now? No where, you say. That's good. Some of us would rather be somewhere else, all things considered. We dream, we want to state, all of us, whether lads or lasses or grown men or women. So dream on.

Woman defends Cal State officers handling of job

To the Editor,

This letter is in response to last week's "Cops too big for their boots" letter to the editor. This letter was written by Jeff Grotke. As a student and ardent supporter of the Cal State police, I found his letter very repulsive. First of all, Mr. Grotke claims the officers of the Public Safety Department have an arrogant attitude. I could not disagree more on this issue. In my four years here I have come to know most of the men and women who work for the Cal State police. I will attend to the fact that they are all truly dedicated to their jobs and are caring and friendly people. I admire and respect these officers who must put themselves through rigorous training so that they would be entrusted to "protect and to serve" the campus community. It is not my intention here, unlike Mr. Grotke's, to set myself up as an image of perfection. Two years ago I received a parking ticket for parking in a posted "No Parking" zone next to the dorms. I knew I was wrong to park there, I admitted it, and I paid the fine. But at least I didn't put down the police for doing their job. I would suggest that Mr. Grotke, not the police, has the bad attitude.

Shandinista defends letter

First off I am not my friend or my brother and second off I was unfortunate enough to have my name misspelled from originally "Shandinista Rebel", to "Sandiniista Rebel", sorry Sandiniista's. Shandinista refers to the Shandin Dormitory on this campus. Furthermore, I must commend you on your effort taken in writing a rebuttal. I was surprised to even get one reply. Maybe you're the only one that's literate. I may come off a little one-sided but then I'm perfect aren't I? I still present my views. That's a lot more than I can say for the rest of the people on this campus, other than yourself. Then I thought, maybe, just maybe, the mavericks of authority on campus might be out hindering the rest of the minorities for parking in the dirt ten minutes overtime or broken tail lights or carrying a loaded pep? Come on I could find hundreds of excuses too. I want my question answered "Where have all the minorities gone?" The issues are still here to be adressed. Mr. Mad Mexican, you're so caught up with the emotional aspects you'll probably never know how to mold your emotions into constructive criticism.

You are blind, stupid and your remarks are needless! Your philosophy doesn't win any merits in my book. You don't walk away from the problem, you take it on full force. This administration may not be a regime and it may be called an administration but only the wimps walk away from it, not the Sandinista Rebels, We Fight! Sincerely your brother. Sandinista Rebél

WHAT NEXT FOR SOUTH AFRICA?

by Donald Richard

When is the Reagan Administration going to wake up and realize that the present government of Pimper W. Borba in South Africa is on its way out? The Administration's way of handling the situation in South Africa is analogous to two people attempting to bail out the Titanic as it sinks to the bottom of the ocean.

First off, let's take the sanctions issue. The Reagan Administration states that sanctions would not have any effect on South Africa's policy of apartheid, or racial separation. In fact, the Administration claims that sanctions would only hurt the blacks who reside in South Africa. To this I would only say over 70% of the population of South Africa are already suffering. How much worse can it get? What about the round-up of men, women, and children from their families by the Pretoria police; the detention and torture of these people, sometimes for months? Do they ever disclose what occurs when children are separated from parents who must travel from the abominable conditions of the black homelands to cities, to work for scant wages in order to support their families in the impoverished townships of Soweto, Transkei, and Bophuthatswana? What about the disruption of funerals in black areas with bullets, tear gas, dogs, and tanks?

Now let's talk about the African National Congress, or ANC, which has for years fought for equality for all in South Africa. The Reagan Administration believes without hesitation, the South African government in its claim that the ANC is composed of violent Communists and revolutionaries who are being directed by Moscow. Look, every time I hear this unfounded rhetoric I almost get sick to my stomach. The ANC has been fighting for change in South Africa for nearly eight decades, since its founding in 1912, with little support from the outside world. Now, I don't know if the ANC is a totally communist organization. I'm sure there are some communist members among them. On the other hand, I would not blame the ANC if even it were a communist assemblage (and I, seriously doubt that).

When you are fighting for freedom and equality in your homeland you accept aid from wherever you can obtain it. I'm pretty sure that the participants in the American Revolution did not sit around excoriating the political persuasions of the French who abetted the American cause. I see this tactic as an attempt by rightest elements in the United States to abort public support for the ANC. This policy, which attempts to brand ANC sympathizers as Communists, if by no means a novel one. It has been used in the past both successfully and unsuccessfully against advocates of justice and equality in places such as the Philippines, Vietnam, Chile, Nicaragua, Mozambique, and Grenada.

The application of sanctions against the government of South Africa as the Reagan Administration may or may not have a visible effect on the inhabitants of that nation. This aspect is irrelevant. What would it do? It is to put the current occupants of the South African government on notice, that some of its strongest allies, if that is what counts against it, South Africa, would do.

Hey, I am not advocating forceful revolution in South Africa, but change is going to occur there whether any of us want it or not. If it is a bloody overthrow, don't blame the black South Africans; you can place the blame squarely at the feet of the whites in that country. Don't you think that the U.S. should be prepared for that change when it takes place? Don't you think America should stand on the side of freedom and righteousness and not on the side of tyranny and gross injustice? Then turn off those idiot-producing, pablum-spewing television sets and Wake Up America!

ADVISEMENT

ED. SCHOOL OFFICE OPEN FOR WALK-IN

The School of Education announces the opening of their advisement center which is available on a walk-in basis to students without an appointment. This service is provided by the Department of Student Services. Hours for the Advisement Center are 1-6 p.m., Monday through Thursday and the phone number is 867-7571, Ext. 15.

Letter: Cont.

know then, as a matter of business ethics, it is not wise to put down people you must deal with. I would suggest to Mr. Grote to steer away from the ever-present negative things and focus on the many positive features of institutions such as the valuable service provided by the department of Public Safety.

"PRIMITIVE" PAINTINGS ARE SHOWCASED HERE

An unusual exhibit of "native" or "primitive" paintings by three contemporary artists opened Thursday, Nov. 6

The artists' works tend to be eclectic combinations of Old Master imagery with objects and visions from the surrounding environment, explained John Nave, gallery director. The exhibit includes the works of David Pettit Scott, a former San Bernardino resident, and the Rev. Howard Finster, a 70-year-old fundamentalist preacher, and Gaylen Hansen, who is well known in the northeastern United States.

The campus community is invited to the lecture and the reception. The show will be up through Dec. 4.

YES, VIRGINIA, THERE REALLY IS A SANTA CLAUSS

The Future Teachers Club is sponsoring a "Letter from Santa" this year. If you're a student who has a child or children at CSUSB day care, we have a Santa Mailbox and the application on the sign-in shelf. This year, if you're a student who has a child or children at CSUSB day care, we have a Santa Mailbox and the application on the sign-in shelf. This mailbox is not limited to children at the daycare. The cost per child is $.50 to cover postage and handling. So drop by, pick up the application and drop in Santa's mailbox. Give your child a memorable Christmas this year from CSUSB's Future Teachers Club.

INLAND AIDS PROJECT

P.O. Box 8330, San Bernardino, CA 92412

INLAND AIDS PROJECT was formed by a group of concerned citizens of the Inland Empire who want to reduce the impact of AIDS on our community and especially on persons with AIDS.

INLAND AIDS PROJECT provides:

- Professional and peer counseling for persons with AIDS
- Confidential referrals for HTLV III antibody tests
- Speakers on a variety of subjects relating to AIDS
- Opportunities for citizens to become volunteers

In this health crisis, there are needs for positive social growth. We must give emotional and financial support to those who have or are at risk of AIDS, and foster a community network to provide a supportive atmosphere.

WE ARE COMMITTED TO MAKING A DIFFERENCE!

Gillian:
Two years and no relief...

"To Gillian on her 37th birthday", a two-act play that ran three nights last week, and will continue for three more this weekend, is a sad tale about a widower rediscovering life and love after the tragic death of his wife, who died in a boating accident two years to the day before the fictional weekend that this play spans, and on her birthday.

The play opens with David, her former husband, torn between the love of Gillian and the needs of their child, Rachel. Their daughter, though, has become invisible since the death of Gillian (figuratively), so serious is David with keeping the memory of Gillian. David dreams of Gillian, at night he comes out of the house and talks with her, playing the games that only people in love can enjoy, and sadly, they never touch.

"Mishapen, misapplied, anguish," Gillian tells David. Why doesn't he forget? Gillian was a very dominating woman. She was sassy, she was independent, she lived life hard and she died because of it. Besides, as she explains to David, "I am very, very, very, very dead."

But Gillian was a captivating one, and Tami Silver portrayed her with a sense of genuine joy that lit up the stage and blew away the rest of the incredibly white cast. Indeed, you begin to realize why David misses her, even if the hope is so futile.

The confrontation comes when Esther, Gillian's sister, comes to the birthday remembrance with a badly named girl called Kevin who is a former close friend of David's, in the hope that she will bring David out of his monk-like rut.

All of the performances are well-done, especially the part of Paul, played by Peter Hughes, and the role of Cindy, who is played by Karen Hanson. Digmur Handlos, who played Esther, gave the play an earthy sense of reality, often jolting the audience into a realization that this is not quite the Cleaver family, no matter how hard they try.

The show is well-done, and worth seeing. It is filled with many sad and tender moments, as well as some that are funny and bawdy.

Brad Weisberg of Redlands, played the role of David with a keen eye for the type of retreats that people can develop for themselves, and a knack for burying these retreats only enough to make them real.

The play will be on stage this weekend in the Cal State theatre from November 19 to the 22nd. General admission is $5; $2.50 for students. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. For more information call 887-7452.

African art exhibit displays “native” pointillism

by Sharna Wilson

African Art is the subject of a new exhibit on display through Nov. 21 in Gallery II at Cal State University, San Bernardino.

The paintings were created by senior art student William W. Moore, of Victorville, who has been concentrating on African art history in his work toward a bachelor's degree at Cal State.

The art stems from the vast area surrounding the Niger and Congo basins. They are inspired by the conceptual and often abstract characteristics which are typical of African art, according to the artist.

"The vital force and energy emanating from African art captured my imagination," said Moore. "Normally, this style is synonymous with Negro African art, which derives its abstract manner from wooden carvings used in religious ceremonies to communicate with the spirit world."

Many of the bright, colorful paintings utilize dots to create their images, and they range in size from 18" by 18" to 4' by 9'.

Moore has had other works on display in Apple Valley and Encino, and one of his African paintings is currently on display in the San Bernardino County Museum as part of the 21st Annual Juried Exhibition of the Fine Arts Institute.

The exhibit can be viewed from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday.
Laughter and claps cure ills, frowns

By Seth DeLord

The best medicine?...Penicillin? No. Tender Loving Care?...No. Try laughter. Sure, it won't cure AIDS, and it won't make your long lost leg grow back, but it sure can bring you out of the doldrums pretty fast—sometimes even if you happen to have one of these problems.

We often forget how therapeutic a night at the club, a few laughs, and a couple of drinks can be.

Friday, November 7, the recently opened Laff Stop in the Montclair Entertainment Plaza (not the old Laff Stop in the boiler room in Claremont) featured a two-hour show with headliners Roger and Roger, and warm-up men Evan Sayett and Jack Mayberry.

Roger and Roger, who have worked extensively in Las Vegas, ended the show with an amazing array of comic impressions and send-ups that included Edith Bunker finally telling Archie just what we've all wanted to hear for years (even if we are unable to print it).

Moving on, we got to see Mr. T as a ghetto rabbi and Redd Foxx singing a commercial for Eldorado Muzak!, and even Hands Across America, (We had our own fundraiser, Feet Across the Couch).

Of course Julio Iglesias and Willie Nelson, Rick James, Lionel Richie and Al Jarreau were all easy targets as well, with the Rogers not only making fun of them, but sometimes outdoing them in the process.

Their set eventually ground to a halt during a should-be-parodied musical tribute to dead comedians (stuff, stuff, or is it that how they got that way?) that I'm sure the dead comedians are glad they did not have to witness. By this time though, even this was not enough to ruin the show.

Opening the evening, Evan Sayett drew strength from something that didn't make sense and Sayett jumped on him.

"Oh sure, just yell out any kind of incoherent shit you can think of." This was extremely funny at the time.

Moving on to Jack Mayberry, perhaps the most cerebral comedian of the evening, the show began to focus on more mundane topics such as TV and getting squashed.

"TV's a vacuum, you know. That's why there's a piece of glass over the front of it, so you don't get sucked into it." He then hit on it again, saying, "It should have a sign on it that says 'Brains washed: 254'"

After getting good response from this topic, Mayberry moved on to the subject of religion, saying that one day a man knocked on his door and asked him if he (Mayberry) intended on going to heaven. He had not yet woken up. His reply, "Are you going to be there?"

Mayberry's funniest bit was about getting squashed, or squashed, as he put it. He noted that he never wanted to die this way.

"Did you hear about Jack?" Pause. "No." Pause. "He was squashed." He also illustrated what happens when a bug gets squashed. "You step on them and try to clean your shoe all at once." (He then stamped the stage and squeaked his foot back towards himself).

The Laff Stop is open seven days a week. There is a sizable menu that includes both drinks and food items, including pizza, hamburgers, nachos. It is located in the Montclair Entertainment Plaza just off the 10 freeway, (See coupon).
Students: Travel, Romance, and Study

by Kathleen Audet

Are you one of the many San Bernardino residents turned students who have never ventured out of the county (except for the occasional trip to L.A. or Palm springs)? Do you feel as if you need a change in your life, but you're not sure if you're ready? Are you looking for a challenge...an excitement...an experience? Well...here it is! You've found it.

The CSU system has an International Program (IP) for academic exchange in fifteen different countries. You can choose from Brazil, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand, Peru, Quebec, Taiwan, Republic of China, Spain, Sweden, and the United Kingdom.

Each country is unique in its offerings of majors and culture. Yet, all have certain elements that apply to all countries. They include:

- Financial Aid at a CSU campus.
- Students do not pay any overseas tuition or administrative costs. Students will pay only the regular CSU campus fees. (Sounds great, doesn't it?)
- Students are enrolled for a full academic year and earn resident credit for the coursework.
- Financial Aid at a CSU campus is applicable overseas. Students with dependents (spouse and/or children) can take the family along.
- To be eligible, students must be enrolled in the CSU system no later than Spring 1987; have a cumulative grade point average of 2.75 or older; be a regular, degree-seeking student on program; have upper-division or graduate standing by end of Spring term 1987; and have the necessary prerequisites, including college-level foreign language where required.

The most interested students will be concerned with the cost of studying overseas, all should be pleased to know that costs are appropriate for a single student for the academic year range from $4,755 to $10,000, with an average of approximately $6,768.

Now you might be thinking that that is a lot of money. (Am I right?) Well, it's not really when you compare what a student spends for the year at CSUSB ($4,410).

The cost varies widely because of several things. They include the cost of living in the particular host country, the cost of the academic year, the currency exchange rate, the rate of inflation, and the student's own habit when it comes to spending money.

All types of expenses are included in the total cost, such as fees, student health insurance, flights, trips, personal expenses and housing and meals are estimated in the total cost.

Another good feature about the program is the fact that a student does not have to pay for everything all at once. A student will pay what must be, or can best be paid according to a group rate, according to the student. The actual advance amount depends on the country that you choose. Other expenses will be payed as they are needed overseas.

When the academic year ends, students will receive a refund for the actual amount of any money that was not spent on their behalf.

(Just think, you might even have money left over. Are you mentally packing your bags yet...getting excited, well...wait there's more. You need to know how to apply.)

The deadline for submitting applications for the 1987-88 academic school year is February 1, 1987.

After the completed application is sent off, a board of students and staff at CSUSB will hold a personal interview with the student. From this interview, the board makes a recommendation to the IP main office.

Once the applications from all 19 CSU campuses are received, a statewide faculty committee looks over the recommendations of the different board and makes the final selection.

In April, students will be notified of the selection results.

Applications and more information can be obtained from Dr. Rowland, Coordinator of the program. His office is located in SS152.

Now that you know more about the International Programs, I bet you want to know even more. (Where do I live?, What kind of people are offered?, WHAT'S IT REALLY LIKE?)

For those of you who are really interested in this opportunity, you are encouraged (GO) to attend the IP orientation session that is being held on Tuesday, November 25 from 11-3. It will be in PL241.

Student representatives who have participated in this program in the past will be on hand so that you have the chance to ask questions.

A slide show, depicting each country, will also be featured.

The orientation will be open-house style so that students can come and go at their schedule permits.

If you are one of those students who get to participate, don't forget about those at home. While you are enjoying yourself, which I'm sure you will...remember to drop a postcard now and then (they make great gifts). Oh...and don't worry, old San Berdo, will still be here when you get back...so will Las Vegas...the beach. And if you come to San Berdo, we know wish they would of at least applied.

Special thanks to Kitti Mele, IP Rep, who helped me with obtaining this information. Look for her story (Mexico) in next issue.

GERMANY

Two different cities in West Germany have universities designed for international students.

The University of Heidelberg is located on the Neckar River midway between Frankfurt and Stuttgart. The countryside surrounding it is covered with orchards, woods and vineyards.

Students must have completed two years of college, level German by the end of Spring term 1987 to attend the university. A wide variety of courses are offered.

The University of Tubingen is located on the Nectar River south of Heidelberg.

The program is intended for students with less than a year of elementary German language experience.

Total estimated cost is $7,570.

Does not include vacation expenses, students will pay between $300 and $1,700. Academic year ends July 28, 1988.

Departure date from L.A. is July 21, 1987 for Tubingen and July 28, 1987 for Heidelberg.

FRANCE

The CSU International Programs is located in the region of Provence in Southern France. The city of Aix-en-Provence is 18 miles from Marseille, the busiest French seaport on the Mediterranean.

The program's history dates from pre-Roman times, and Aix has long been regarded as a center of art and learning.

The Institut d'études francaises pour étudiants étrangers, the division of the university where students are enrolled, offers a special curriculum for foreign students.

All courses are taught in French but are designed for non-native French speakers.

Courses in many of the social sciences and humanities are offered.

Students with advanced proficiency in French may enroll in regular university classes at the Faculte des lettres et sciences humaines, Institut d'études politiques, or Faculte de droit et science politique.

Extra eligibility: Two years of college level French. Advanced study at the University requires even more French.

Total estimated cost: $6,565.

Does not include vacation travel. Past students spent between $300 and $1,750. Academic year ends May 31, 1988.

Departure date from L.A. is August 30, 1987.

BRASIL

It is the largest country in South America, both in geographic area and population. It is currently the major economic power on the continent.

Students will attend the University of Sao Paulo. It is located 300 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro and 60 miles inland from the port of Santos.

Sao Paulo is in the southern hemisphere, winter lasts from June through October.

Students will be attending the University of Sao Paulo where courses are taught in Portuguese.

From June 30 to August 5 all students enroll in a 6-unit preparatory language program designed to give intensive training in Portuguese and an introduction to Brazil.

A wide variety of courses are offered.

Group student activities are arranged throughout the year. They include attendance at theatre or music performances and trips to different places in or near Sao Paulo.

Extra eligibility: Completion of two years of college-level Spanish or Portuguese is required.

Total estimated cost: $6,615.

Does not include vacation travel. Past students spent between $800 and $1,500.

Departure date from L.A. is June 25, 1987.

JAPAN

The Waseda University is located in Tokyo, one of the world's largest cities.

Waseda is a private, non-sectarian institution. It is one of the largest and most renowned universities in Japan.

The International Programs are offered in cooperation with Waseda University.

The International Division offers a program of Japanese language, history, culture and society.

Students are required to study the Japanese language as a major part of their academic program. Other than language courses, all instruction is in language courses.

The university will not sponsor visas, female students 30 years old or older, or male students 35 years or older.

Total estimated cost is $9,305.

Does not include vacation expenses. Past students have spent between $300 and $2,500.

Departure date from L.A. is August 26, 1987.

DENMARK

Spend the year in Copenhagen. It is a city graced with an array of towers, castles and parks.

The spirit of the royal city (home of Danish Kings and Queens since the 1400's) has been maintained with many well-preserved buildings, old winding streets, open squares, and relatively few high-rise structures.

Two separate academic programs are offered at the University of Copenhagen.

One is European Conflict and Cooperation. This course of study is designed to acquaint students with the political, historical, military, and economic factors that influence the policy and diplomacy of contemporary Europe.

Classroom work is supplemented by local field trips and study tours to Stockholm, Sweden, western Denmark, eastern Europe, and to Brussels, Belgium. An optional excursion to the Azores is also available.

Total estimated costs for each program is $10,100. Does not include vacation expenses because credit for student vacations is on spending. Past students have spent between $400 and $4,000.

Departure date from L.A. is August 30, 1987.
15 Historic Countries of the World

TAIWAN

The Republic of China has undergone a revolutionary economic development in the relatively short periods of its existence on the islands of the Formosa Straits. Academic programs are offered.

Chinese Language and Culture is a program which emphasizes language instruction and enrollment in lecture, courses taught in Chinese culture and society.

The Chinese Art and Art History program consists of language study, cultural orientation, art history, and studio instruction in technique and media.

The International Business program consists of language study, cultural orientation, and courses in business in an Asian context. The result is a bicultural approach to international trade based on both theory and practical experience.

Total estimated cost: $6735. Does not include vacation travel.

MEXICO

Mexico City is one of the largest and most diverse of the world's cities. It displays the full range of ethnic and social aspects of modern Mexican society.

Students will be placed at the Universidad Iberoamericana, a private university. Participants are enrolled through the University's Dirección de Programas para Estudiantes Extranjeros, the division of the University that provides instruction to American students.

The student can choose from three different academic programs:

UNITED KINGDOM

The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland lies off the north-west coast of the European continent. It has its economic and political relationship with the United States, based upon the common language, ideals and democratic practices of the two countries.

Students will be assigned to one of three institutions: University of Bradford, located in the industrial city of Bradford in the north of England, University of Bristol, located in a port city in the southwest of England; Kingston Polytechnic, located in London.

Students will be provided with a university and department based upon their subject and academic preparation.

Total estimated cost is $4755. Does not include vacation travel. Past students have spent between $400 and $2000.

Quebec, la belle province, is Canada's largest and oldest province, which has maintained its culture, religion, and national tongue of French.

Students will attend a university in the province that is determined by the Three Exchange Committee. Some are English speaking, some are French speaking. Courses are offered in most major fields.

PERU

For thousands of years Peru has been the location of highly developed Indian civilizations of which the Incan is the best known. While Lima today is a cosmopolitan city of 5 million people, there are still areas in the Andes Mountains and Amazon jungle regions where native Peruvians live much as they have for centuries.

Students will attend classes at the Pontificia Universidad Católica del Peru (La Católica). It is located in the Pueblo Libre section of Lima. It is basically a liberal arts school.

A unique feature of the Peru program of particular interest to graduate students is the possibility of undertaking field work outside of Lima as part of a student's academic load in the final semester.

ITALY

Spend the year in Florence with its Renaissance characteristics and cultural legacy.

The International Program has its own study center which provides academic programs exclusively to CSU students.

Academic concentrations are Art History, History and Politics, and Italian Language and Literature.

Students will have opportunity to take field trips to acquaint themselves with the surrounding version of Italy.

Region of Italy: Number of festive group meals and parties in observation of major American holidays are held. Students can take advantage of low-cost student tours and recreational activities during vacation periods.

SWEDEN

The University of Uppsala is about fifty miles east of the Mediterranean and 20 miles northeast of the Dead Sea. It is one of the oldest and most historically important cities in the world.

Subjects focus on Israeli Studies, Jewish Studies, and Middle East and Islamic Studies. Courses taught in English are also available in human and social sciences.

The program is appropriate for majors in such fields as archaeology, business, religious studies, comparative literature and history, political science/interational relations.

Total estimated cost is $5235. Does not include vacation travel. Past students have spent between $500 and $5500.

SPAIN

Students can express their preference for either Madrid or Granada.

Madrid is the highest capital city of Europe, situated on the Meseta, a plateau which rises 2,400 feet above sea level. It is the political, economic, and cultural center of Spain.

The University of Madrid is located in the northwest corner of the city. All courses are taught in Spanish but are directed at the language level and interests of American students.

Granada is located in Andalucia, about 75 miles inland from the Mediterranean. The Sierra Nevada ski center, one of the Mediterranean beaches, and the historic cities of Malaga, Sevilla, and Cordoba are within weekend travel distance of Granada.

Students in Granada take special classes in Spanish, Geography, History, Political Economy, Music, and Spanish Language.

Total estimated cost for the academic year is $5855. Does not include vacation travel. Past students have spent between $300 and $1000.

NEW ZEALAND

Sheep and dairy farm to the world, New Zealand has become the leading exporter of lamb and mutton and is one of the leading exporters of dairy products.

Students are placed at one of two institutions. One is the Lincoln University College of Agriculture. The other is Massey University.

Lincoln College is located on New Zealand's South Island near Christchurch. It now operates two separate farms, including a dairy, a sheep farm, a crop farm, a research farm, an irrigation farm, and two experimental farms.

Massey University offers degrees in the sciences, social sciences, and humanities. Included among the resources available to the university are a wool research station, orchards, a food technology laboratory, demonstration pastures and experimental farms. It is located near the city of Palmerston North and the North Island of New Zealand.

Application deadline is May 1, 1987. Notice of acceptance is in mid-June. The academic year runs from February to November because the seasons are reversed in the southern hemisphere.

Total Estimated Cost is $5,315. Does not include vacation expenses. Past students have spent between $300 and $1,000. Field trips have cost from $50 to $850 with $250 being the average.

New Zealand Government visa regulations exclude students with dependents and students who will turn 30 years old by the time of departure.

If Twin Panda, the restaurant we reviewed last week, rated a batch of bear hugs, then Boo Bear’s Den in Big Bear Lake will really grip you. And you’ll have to get a grip on yourself when you taste their special dinner offerings for only $4.95.

As the evenings turn from brisk to downright cold and skiers gaze hopefully into the skies waiting for that first snow flurry, have we found a place for CSUSB snow bunnies. Located only 15 minutes from Snow Valley and 5 minutes from Gold Mine, Boo Bear’s Den offers dinner specials guaranteed to nourish ski-weary students.

Boo Bear’s Den restaurant in Big Bear is skier's paradise

If Twin Panda, the restaurant we reviewed last week, rated a batch of bear hugs, then Boo Bear’s Den in Big Bear Lake is a skier’s paradise. Located at 572 Pine Knot in Big Bear Lake, Boo Bear’s Den is sure to provide you with an unvariably delicious dinner at a price that is not overbearing.

Food

Boo Bear’s other regular ‘special’, the red snapper dinner is sauteed in butter and delicately seasoned with paprika, and is served with tartar sauce. A savory mound of rice pilaf rounds out the meal. For those who enjoy a mild fish flavor, the red snapper dinner might just be your dish.

Amazingly, one regular menu item, also for $4.95, is Boo Bear’s mesquite grilled one half large chicken. Seasoned on the grill or smothered in a zippy barbeque sauce, this dish may be more than a match for any starving skier.

Boo Bear’s lightly seasoned cream of broccoli soup and salad bar sports beets, whole button mushrooms, cucumber slices, bell pepper pieces, tomato wedges, sunflower seeds, bacon bits, croutons, and your choice of four salad dressings.

Besides the choice of sumptuous dinner special, Boo Bear’s offers four distinctively different dining atmospheres, too. With winter approaching rapidly, the outdoor patio is far from practical. If you desire a fast meal, try one of the eight counter chairs or four booths from the front entrance. Or, if it’s mood you want, try either the Dining Room or the Garden Room.

The Garden Room, toasty and humid, is replete with hanging tropical plants. Round glass- topped tables, a suspended television, and large exterior windows complete the bright, up beat decor of the Garden Room. For romantic and secluded moments a touch to the Dining Room. Though it has a massive 20 foot open beam ceiling, the nine high-backed leather chairs ensure a rustic privacy to your meal. The massive brick fireplace, gas lamps, large aquarium, and a fish-to-foot- long mounted swordfish lend a seafarer’s touch to the Dining Room where entertainer Jay Johnson is featured on weekends.

The most colorful aspect of homecoming will be the Float Competition, which will take place just before the pep rally. Stepping away from the traditional, people-powered floats will be scaled-down in size to allow them to be displayed in the small gym, as well as at the pep rally, club fair, and half time at the games. Awards will go to the "Most Creative," "Most Bizarre," "Most Likely to Go to the Rose Bowl," and "Best Engineered." Dean of Students Peter Wilson will also select a winner, as will Associated Students President Patti Ovand. The Homecoming Committee encourages all clubs, departments, and other campus organizations to take up the challenge of competing in this event. All interested groups should plan to attend an informational meeting on November 25 at noon in the Student Union Senate or call x7811 or x7407.

Homecoming is sponsored by the Cal State Alumni Association, with assistance from the Associated Students, Coyote Spirit Boosters, Student Life, Faculty Senate, Serna Village, and Greek Council. A complete schedule of activities will be available in the next few weeks. For more information, call x7811 or x7407.

Attention Juniors and Seniors

If you are a Math, Engineering, Physics, or Chemistry major with a 3.0 GPA you may be eligible for a $1,200.00 a month scholarship! After graduation, candidates are commissioned officers in one of the Navy's Nuclear Programs. This position offers unmatched technical and management training. Benefits include 30 days paid vacation each year, a military-style dormitory core, the opportunity for advanced education of little or no cost to you, and much more.

Navy representatives will be on campus Wednesday, November 18, in Career Services and Placement Office from 9am-2pm. Call toll-free 1-800-222-6289 for more information or to set up an appointment.

Homecoming set for January 15

Two basketball games, floats, a pep rally, and good food are just a sample of the activities planned to welcome back alumni at the Second Annual Homecoming, which begins on Thursday, January 15.

This three-day event will kick-off on Thursday night with a first-ever Float Competition and Pep Rally in the gym led by the CSUSB cheerleaders. Friday’s events include a colorful club festival in the Student Union, and the first of two homecoming basketball games, Cal State Women’s against LaVerne at 7:30 p.m. A special attraction of Friday will be a basketball techniques clinic led by Cheryl Miller, Olympian and All-American player. This clinic, free and open to the public, will be held in the gym at 5:30 p.m.

A pre-game dinner for the entire campus community will be held in the Student Union Saturday evening, hosted by the Cal State Alumni Association. After dinner, the men’s team will play the Claremont Colleges, with tip-off also at 7:30 p.m. The celebration will culminate Saturday night with an informal dance after the game sponsored by the Greek Council. Homecoming spirit will be promoted throughout the week by the sale of special homecoming moments and festive displays around campus. An added feature of homecoming will be special guest presentations by alumni on various topics.

Is Accepting Acceptable?

Should journalists accept the gifts, free tickets, trips, discounts, free drinks and dinners commonly referred to as "freebies"? This is one of the many ethical questions faced by every journalist.

The problem of accepting freebies begins when government, business and other segments of the American society want favor with the press as a means of communication with the public. The freebies, such as trips, firee tickets, Christmas gifts, free tickets to the theatre, the baseball game or the carnival in town. Although most newspapers do not allow journalists to take freebies, some accept freebies in certain situations.

"I will take a freebie depending on what it is, who supplies it, and what the circumstances are," said Dave Rader, Fontana Herald News writer. "I feel the limitations to immediate consumables," he added. "If the freebie is something more than a meal, I will not accept it."

Student Union Set To Expand in 1989

by Joe Cortez

Expansion of Cal State's Student Union is slated to begin in 1989, following the students' approval of the fee increase referendum last fall.

The referendum, approved by 68 percent of student voters, will raise the yearly Student Union fee from $41 to $70 per student. The increase will allow the Student Union to nearly double in size, according to Student Union Director Helga Lingren.

The Student Union, located just south of the Plau library, contains 16,000 square feet, of which only 10,900 is usable. Lingren explained that the usable area does not include any restrooms or storage closets.

Entrance Requirements to get Stricter in CSU

Entrance requirements for college seem to be getting tougher every year, many students claim. In 1988 these requirements will be even stricter with added course requirements. The California State University system will be changing requirements for incoming students in 1988. Will this cause a problem with enrollment at the CSU system? This is the question most high school counselors and public school administrators are asking.

Bryce Anderson, scholarship director for CSU at San Bernardino High School, feels the added requirements will affect the students in a negative way. "The new course requirement is one year of performing arts. The kids just don't want to take this class. Instead they're opting to attend the UC colleges," Anderson said. It seems high school students are scared off by the term "performing." Most of them don't want to sing or paint," Anderson explained. "Many would rather bring their GPA's up to attend the UC's instead of taking this performing arts class. This will hurt enrollment at CSU schools and help the UC's."

Mary Chouinard, an evaluator at CSUSB, said the college is aware of the possible problem. "Students may not have the ability to perform in these classes," said Chouinard. Actually the classes they could take may prove to be fun and interesting, such as pottery, drama, or a variety of others."

"Counselors at surrounding high schools are worried. Many have called fearing that the new course requirements will damage the college," Chouinard said.

Chouinard added that the requirements could affect transfer students. Requirements starting in the fall of 1988 will include, one year each of U.S. history, American government, geography, problems of Democracy, a lab science, and performing arts, two years of foreign language, three years each of math and approved electives and four years of English.

"The performing arts class and the foreign language requirements may or may not hurt enrollment. But if enrollment did decrease, changes cannot always be made," the CSU schools do have a lower GPA requirement then that of the UC school, which gives many students a chance to attend college," Chouinard said.

Whether or not this cracking down on requirements that the CSU schools won't be recognized until 1988. Until then students who want a small college and want to work harder. These new requirements may aid in the success rate of college students.

San Bernardino and Riverside county schools will burst with a 26 percent projected enrollment growth in the next five years, but Cal State San Bernardino's High School Relations Program must scramble in the numbers game for freshmen.

The leap in enrollment, according to the State Finance Department, is "the largest increase predicted for any urban county in California." Current enrollment is approximately 212,000 in San Bernardino County's 33 school districts.

Cal State San Bernardino's campus bulted this year with a 15 percent increase in enrollment, a high percentage than any other campus of the California State University system, according to Gilbert Sanchez, the pre-college outreach program director.

"We have three outreach efforts targeted at the first time freshman and the under-represented students," Sanchez said. These programs are Early Project Upbeat for 6th to 8th graders, Upwardbound for 9th to 12th graders, and the High School University program for seniors.

CSUSB is expanding its facilities now to meet the needs of the community and the future influx of students. The San Bernardino and Riverside areas are the fastest growing population centers in the state.

The state and federally funded outreach programs are designed to encourage capable under-represented students to consider college when they otherwise might not. The main efforts to recruit the under-represented students involves going to schools, talking with walking in the door from local students and meeting with their parents to give them a better understanding of the possibilities and advantages of a college education. This includes stressing the need for college preparatory courses in high school.

San Bernardino will phase in stricter admission requirements.

"If you don't have people eligible to go to the UC's, there are a lot of numbers don't mean anything," Sanchez said. To aid in their preparation, upper and junior high school students come to the Cal State San Bernardino campus for academic enrichment programs. High school seniors can also take a class and receive full credit.

"If you have a student interest in college is job-related. Students are most interested in computer science, business, business systems, and business management. The business world equates a degree of any kind as proof that the prospective employee has the ability to learn, Sanchez noted."

Short Takes from American History

In January 1835 the United States became the only major nation in modern history to pay off completely in national debt.
The Chronicle November 19, 1986

The Health Corner

Has everyone finished up the Halloween candy? I don't want to get into this subject until that pressure is off. In fact, prior to writing, I purposely polished off a full-size Payday bar...the last personal haunt from my son's October 31st collection.

Lest you think I crave candy frequently, I will describe my theory of effective weight control. Technically, I am a fat person. As a young adult, I accumulated more fat cells than a woman weighs! (Human fat is quite denser than chicken fat.) Although my body weight now stays within suggested limits, the battle goes on. Some researchers say it is a struggle between the fat cells and me. I see it more as psychological warfare...between me and me. It goes back to early uncertainties about self-image, before I knew what a weight problem was or the medical reasons for achievement and maintenance of normal body weight. Hypertension, diabetes, breast cancer, joint degeneration, heart disease...the list goes on, and each has been connected to obesity. But intellectual knowledge often isn't enough to achieve internal change that permits weight control to be natural and comfortable.

In most cases, excess weight is but a symptom of the real condition...psychological need. There are as many variations on the theme as there are differing psychological seas among people. Treating the symptom alone by diet changes, calorie counting, exercise...all magic, habit changes...is as hopeless as treating a bleeding wound with a cup to catch the drops. It's not going to change the origin, plus the anxiety and perceived uselessness can aggravate the condition.

So, what then is the solution? While there is no one plan that would suit every overweight person perfectly, there is an underlying change that can contribute to the effectiveness of diet and exercise efforts. The goal is increased self-esteem to allow behavior modification and a side effect of weight loss. Consider it very long-term. Don't even think the word "diet." Otherwise it will just be one up and down after the other, and you will fall right into the initiatives that show that a great percentage of people lose weight soon regain it.

Before weight loss is attempted, conscious self-esteem enhancement must begin. Personal achievement of a creative nature is good. Recognition can be private or public. It would be wise to go to the Student Counseling Center for help toward self-esteem growth; then take a trip to the Student Health Center for some down-to-earth weight control measures. They offer a weekly self-management program which incorporates behavior modification. The program looks promising to me...even for those who have large amounts to lose.

Once weight loss begins, a self-perpetuating cycle will start as personal esteem increases and pounds decrease. Watch out, though! Don't be tricked into thinking you've got it under control too soon. You'll know it when it's true. There will be a peaceful feeling in which you know that you will eat only what you want and need. There may be little "slips"...they may even be planned, for example. Thanksgiving is coming up...but you'll learn that they are fleeting and will not set you off on eating marathons.

One more suggestion: try not to set any time-limited special occasion goals for which you have to starve. They increase stress and interfere with your real goal to improve lifelong patterns. Go ahead and wear your belt in the last notch for next week's party. If you progress slowly and steadily...going for the trend instead of the end...you'll soon be using the tightest notch. And best of all, you'll stay there. Good luck, and don't forget to get help.

Donate Life: replenish campus blood reserves

The Student Health Advisory Council (SHAC) and the R.N. Association will co-sponsor a Blood Drive on Wednesday, November 26th. Local Blood Bank staff will be assisting donors in the waiting room of the Health Center from 10:00 until 3:00 p.m.

The purpose of the Blood Drive is to replenish supplies in the campus Blood Reserve Fund. This fund was established so that there would always be a supply of blood available for any student, staff or faculty member or their dependents.

Donating blood is a very simple process. Anyone who is in good health, weighs over 110 pounds, and is between the ages of 18 and 65 can donate blood. Please do not fast before your donation, and allow about 45 minutes for registration, donating, and light refreshments.

Each donor will receive a free t-shirt, courtesy of the Blood Bank. Members of the two sponsoring groups will be recruiting donors. Start the New Year’s resolution right by "giving" a special gift. Every tomorrow needs blood donors today.

Adopt-A-Smoker

Great American Smoke-Out Ready This Week; Are You?

Thursday, November 20th, is the day set aside for the Great American Smokeout. This originated in California in 1976 as a light-hearted way to get smokers to quit for one day, in hopes to get them to quit for good. As a result, it has now developed into a national event. A special emphasis is on adopting a smoker and helping him or her to stop smoking if only for the day. So, if you're a smoker, we challenge you to give it a try on November 20th. If you're not a smoker but know someone who is, we encourage you to get involved with them. Adopt that person for a day. You may be saving someone's life.

Consider this: the number of premature deaths is equivalent to 920 fully-loaded 747 jumbo jets crashing annually. That's 350,000 people each year. Can you imagine how concerned we would get and what action we would take immediately if that were to happen?

BLOOD BANK OF SAN BERNARDINO - RIVERSIDE COUNTIES

The San Bernardino Community Hospital Blood Bank has been granted renewal of accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Jack Hamilton, M.D., Medical Director. Accreditation follows an intensive on-site inspection by specially trained representatives of the Association and establishes that the level of performance within the facility meets or exceeds the rigorous standards set by the AABB. The San Bernardino Community Hospital Blood Bank can now join more than 2,200 similar facilities across the United States and abroad that have earned the Accreditation rating and recognition.

Dr. Hamilton explained: "The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. Our facility has sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional expertise that exceeds government regulations. The primary goal of the program is to provide higher quality blood, blood components, and other services to patients."
The California State University has experienced an increase of more than 9,000 students in fall enrollments according to figures released in October by Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds. The 1986 fall enrollment is expected to reach nearly 334,000 students, a reflection that potential students have recognized our continuing commitment to provide quality education to the people of California,” said Reynolds, and the many achievements of our faculty and staff.

This year’s enrollment jump marks the second consecutive major increase in the number of CSU students. The system increased 8,600 students last fall. CSU wins three McAllister awards.

The California State University was named winner of the nation’s top award for exemplary teacher education programs in state universities. The award to the CSU system was for building and sustaining new strategies involving the entire university in teacher education programs and enhancing the institutional climate for teaching and learning.

In addition, teacher education awards were presented to CSU Stanislaus and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

The awards resulted from intensive competition sponsored by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and were presented July 24 at the annual convention of the Educational Commission of the States in San Diego.

AASCU’s program was initially entitled, “The Showcase for Excellence Awards Program.” It was renamed “The Crista McAllister Showcase for Excellence.”

CSU entries won three out of five awards in the competition. The other awards went to Western Kentucky and Southwest Texas University.

“It was a great tribute to the momentum for reform that has built up within CSU that we won this prestigious honor,” said Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds. “A reform of this magnitude and complexity has rarely, if ever, been attempted within a system such as ours.”

The CSU Stanislaus award was for a special training program for administrators. The award to Cal Poly was for an innovative curriculum in science enrichment.

UN delegation to be selected

A Cal State delegation will be selected to attend the National Model United Nations in New York, April 13-18, 1987.

Deadline for receiving applications is Friday, November 28, 1986 at 4 p.m.

Applications are available in Room ADMIN. 130.

INTERESTED CAL STATE STUDENTS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY.

Hockey clinic slated

Since there was not enough interest to conduct a Women’s Street Hockey tournament, the Recreational Sports Staff will offer the following:

Hands on Hockey Clinics at 3 p.m. on Nov. 19, 26, & Dec. 3.

If you have never played, this is a great opportunity to learn the game. If you know how to play, come on down and get ready for the (Winter) Co-Rec season.

Check out a stick and shin guards at the P.E. Equipment Room and come down on the outdoor basketball court.

Reggae band quakes LA

The Reggae band "Boomshakka," from Los Angeles, sew the roof off the Coyote Pub before an S.R.O. crowd Tuesday night. Between sets, requests came in from a number of students in attendance for a space to be cleared in front of the stage for dancing. From then on it was a real party, as the crowd enthusiastically danced, cheered and yelled for more, resulting in numerous encores from the first class Reggae group from the Big Orange. It was a memorable night of music, incense and revelry and rumor has it that "Boomshakka" will be meeting Thursday, Nov. 27, in PL 263 at 3:30 pm. Anyone interested is invited. Information and tickets will be discussed at the club meeting.

Scholarship ready for health-related majors

The Kaiser Permanente Company is providing two $500 scholarships for the CSUSB campus according to Ted Krug, Director of Financial Aid.

“We are delighted that Kaiser Permanente has selected CSUSB as a campus to receive these scholarship monies,” Mr. Krug commented.

The Kaiser representatives are very interested in having individuals apply who meet these criteria:

- Person with a disability
- GPA of 3.0
- Majoring in a health field

The number for Financial Aid is 887-7441.

The university’s B.S. program in nursing is being reaccredited for an additional eight years by the Nation League for Nursing, following an uncontested vote for the NLN Board of Review. Dr. Janice Layton, department chair, and Dr. James D. Crum, dean of the School of Natural Sciences, reported today.

The accreditation decision was the culmination of a year-long process which included a thorough self-study by the nursing faculty, a detailed report based on criteria of the League and an in-depth, on-site visit by two league representatives last May. Dr. Layton attended to meeting of the Board of Review to observe the proceedings and to answer questions. Recommendations from the board will be sent to the university within four weeks. Dr. Layton believes all aspects of the review were very favorable. Of the 36 criteria for accreditation, 33 were fully met. She expects some recommendations to be made on the three criteria. “This is a very good outcome. All programs receive some recommendations,” she said.

Many people on campus were helpful when the accreditation team visited last spring. Dr. Layton said. She believes the campus input contributed in a positive way as the visiting team specifically mentioned the cooperation received from all of the university administrators who were interviewed as well as staff of the Library and the Admission Office.

Dean Crum expressed the excitement of the entire faculty of the School of Natural Sciences over the extension of the accreditation. “Over the past decade, the faculty of the Department of Nursing have worked very hard to meet the needs of students at the baccalaureate level,” he said. “This has indeed been a challenge because of the extremely diverse needs of these upper-division students. The nursing faculty have worked together to help the university implement a quality program. I can sincerely say that we are proud of them.”

The Cal State Men's basketball team finished the 1985-86 season by winning 11 of their last 13 games. Coach Jim Ducey and the updated 1986-87 basketball squad plan to continue that legacy.

The optimistic outlook has several origins. Although the team is returning only one starter from last year, 6'7" Randy Horton, Ducey's assistant, Craig Williams, feels the Coyotes have added several good players, "and includes both returning players (not starters) and incoming recruits (freshmen) and junior college transfers," said Ducey.

Unfortunately for the Cal State team three key players were lost to injuries or grades. These were the height on Ducey's team and forced him to play a smaller squad than he had envisioned.

The lone starter from last season's 11-15 team is Sophomore Greg Bujnovsky from Mission Viejo. Ducey feels the six-foot Bujnovsky has solid liabilities for this year and he can play at the guard spot where he also handled some tough defensive responsibilities for the Coyotes.

Another guard or possibly a small forward returning for 86-87 is six-foot-tall Gerald Duncan. He is a sophomore from Garden Hills. "Gerald jumps and shoots well and this year we will rely on him to make the most of his play together," indicates Ducey.

Assisting at the guard position is, Reggie Smith, a product of coach Scott Ray at San Bernardino High School. Smith comes to Coyote Country after transferring from Citrus JC. Ducey characterizes Reggie as a sound, hard-nosed ballplayer who is mentally tough and can put the ball in the hoop. Another transfer player who adds size for the Coyotes is 6'6" Michelle Rose, who comes to CSUSB by way of Chico St.

"Rose is an excellent ballhandler and has a keen insight into the game. These qualities enable Michelle to lead the team at the point-guard positions," said Ducey.

Three freshmen hopefuls that have worked hard for the Coyotes in pre-season are 5'10" Troy Adams, 6'2" Mike Arias, and Ricky Bell, also 6'2". Ducey believes they may mature to varsity caliber at the guard spot this season.

For rebounding the ball return of 6'4" Scott Perong and 6'3" Randy Horton. "Perong and Horton need to be monsters on the boards for us," said Ducey. Perong saw limited action in 21 games last season for the Coyotes. The Coyotes will count on Horton to use his strength and jumping ability to help the team, reports Ducey.

"I look for them (Perong and Horton) to score when they have the opportunity, but the major concern is for both players to play aggressive post defense and get the ball off the boards," said Ducey.

Giving the starters ample help will be a strong 6'4" junior college transfer, Elroy Moses. Ducey cannot say enough about the efforts Moses put forth. Owning a 3.5 G.P.A., Moses is a "Post and wing player who will take on a big role for the Coyotes," said Ducey.

Also to help bring down the ball are four of the six recruits from the class of '86. The power spot freshmen are Julius Davison Jr., Arthur Newsome, Mark Atmore, and Joel Pilt. Ducey's intention is for these four to improve enough to provide help at the power position this year.

Another highlight for the Coyotes is the return of 6'4" Tim Watkins from the inaugural 85-86 team. Watkins will be charged with scoring and rebounding at the wing position. Ducey adds 6'3" Richard Morales into the wing spot with Watkins. Morales has transferred from San Bernardino Valley College to play at the Coyote court.

Complementing the experienced players are the final two freshmen in the class of '86. Jim Carney and Greg Rowe, 6'4" and 6'5" respectively, could develop enough to see varsity playing time this season, says Ducey.

CSUSB coaches, Ducey and Williams, feel that Bujnovsky, Duncan and Moses will provide most of the scoring threat for the Coyotes. However, the team has balanced assistance from their teammates in the scoring regard. Provided the power spot can get the rebounds and play aggressive post defense the Coyotes will be successful this season.

VOLLEYBALL
Lady Coyotes Finish Best Season Ever

The CSUSB Lady Coyotes Volleyball team finished among the top four teams in the NCAA Division III Western Region. The successful Lady Coyotes competed in the NCAA Western Regionals this past weekend losing to San Francisco State University at LaVerne team.

The highlight of our season is the fact that we are here and deserve to participate because of the five year we had. A lot of teams in Southern California would like to have been in the post-season. With no seniors on the 1986 edition, the CSUSB Volleyball team should remain intact for next season added Ruderman.

CSUSB controlled the first game against LaVerne, winning 15-12. The young Lady Coyote squad also allowed a more experienced LaVerne team to make the plays and dictate the tempo, ending the CSUSB bid for a national championship.

The score of the final three games were 5-15, 6-15, and 4-15. "This was our best season ever and next year we will return with a little more determination and a whole lot of experience to draw from," said Ruderman.

The Lady Coyotes finish the season with a 26-12 overall record.

CROSS COUNTRY
Men's, Women's Seasons Finish Strong

"I have to feel good about every runner on the team turning in their personal best (season time) in the final meet of the year," said CSUSB Cross Country coach, Tom Burleson. The meet Burleson is referring to is the NCAA Division III Western Regional meet held last Saturday at the UC, San Diego course.

The CSUSB Women's squad placed sixth out of the 15 teams competing and the CSUSB Men's team finished in the eleventh spot. In a front-running spot that she felt was indicative of the tenacity of the Coyotes in 1986.

The entire CSUSB Men's team also turned in season best times at the regional meet. Tom Burleson was equally congratulatory to the Men for that performance, which he felt was indicative of the tenacity of the Coyotes in 1986.

"The guys really hung in there even though we had some pretty tough times this season," said Burleson.

CSUSB's top finisher at UCSD was freshman Rob Horvath (Twenty-nine Palms/Twentynine Palms HS). Horvath was 50th overall, completing the 5.2 mile course in 28:52.

Tom Burleson feels the Coyotes will return in 1988 a more respected team because of their performance this season.

WHEN IS THE RIGHT TIME TO CALL YOUR GRANDPARENTS?

a) Five minutes into "The Lawrence Welk Show!"

b) About a week before your birthday.

c) When you just want to tell them you miss them, and that you ate the last of Grandma’s chocolate-chip cookies this morning.

There's nothing grandparents like better than a call from a grandchild in college. But if you do accidentally happen to interrupt Lawrence, you ought to have something worthwhile telling them.

For example, you could mention that you called using AT&T Long Distance Service because you can depend on AT&T's high quality service and exceptional value. And then you can tell them that AT&T gives you immediate credit if you dial a wrong number.

And that you can count on AT&T for clear long distance connections.

Finally, of course, you should quickly reassure them that you're eating enough, then let them hurry back to the TV to catch the rest of the Lennon Sisters' Blue Oyster Cult medley.

Bikers ride to fund community development

Stanford, CA - "When I started the ride," begins Lisa Wolf, a Stanford University senior, "I was not an avid cyclist. I didn't even buy a bike--I used my ten-speed from the eighth grade." Last summer Lisa joined a group of 75 enthusiastic Americans, who represented 28 different campuses, and ranged from 15-55 years in age. They rode 3,000 miles across the country, braving mountains and deserts, averaging 70 miles a day. The riders arrived at the United Nations building in New York City eight weeks after their departure.

They were part of Bike-Aid/Pedalling for Progress, an event sponsored by the Overseas Development Network. The nation-wide student organization uses the money raised from Bike-Aid pledges and student chapters to fund projects promoting community development from the local level.

In 1986, Bike-Aid riders earned roughly $100,000, 50% of which is matched by ODN campus chapters and given to small self-help projects in the Third World. 30% goes to organizations sharing ODN's grass-roots philosophy: Trickle-Up, Bikes not Bombs, Ashoka, and IDEX. Oxfam America will be added as a beneficiary in 1987. 10% funds student internships in Africa and India, and 10% is used on ODN's American project in Appalachia.

"Every penny goes to the projects. We spend none of it on operational costs," explains ODN director Nazir Ahmad proudly.

After the success of 1986, Nazir has high expectations for Bike-Aid '87. He encourages people of all ages to get involved. Shirley Twigg was 54 years old when she rode from Portland to New York. She highlights: "Just ride at your own pace and keep moving; you'll keep up no matter how slowly you go. You'll surprise yourself!"

Not everyone dedicates the full eight weeks. Riders can participate as much as they want, for a week or even a day. For Lisa Wolf, though, continually meeting people throughout the country was the most rewarding part of Bike-Aid. "I stayed with a semi-driver and his wife in Ohio, sharing their food and hospitality and learning about their life. In Bismarck, North Dakota, we met a priest who drove all the way to Wisconsin to see us one more time. And I just got a letter from an 8-year old boy in Montana who offered us a place to sleep. That's what makes it such a great adventure."

On June 17, 1987, cyclists will depart from Seattle, Portland, and Francisco, Los Angeles, and Austin. A Canadian route from Vancouver may be added as well. All groups converge in Washington, DC, then pedal together to New York for two days of festivities. This year, Bike-Aid and the Harvard based, "Cyclists Fighting Hunger" will pool their resources, experience, and enthusiasm. Individuals interested in becoming involved with Bike-Aid '87 as participants, organizers, or donors, are encouraged to write: Bike-Aid '87, Dept. CN, Box 2306 Stanford, CA 94305, or to call (415) 725-2869.
