Miller to appear during Homecoming

Newly signed ABC-TV sports commentator Cheryl Miller will head up a basketball clinic Friday, Jan. 16 as part of the university's Homecoming Week activities.

Miller's appearance from 4:30 to 6 pm in the Cal State gymnasium is free and open to the public. During the clinic Miller will demonstrate several plays which will be analyzed by Cal State women's basketball coach Jo Anne Bly. A 1986 film of the four-time Kodak All-American athlete will also be shown. Following the clinic, Miller will greet the public and sign autographs before the Cal State women Coyotes face the University of LaVerne at 7:30 pm.

Best known as a member of the 1984 US Olympic gold-medal women's basketball team, Miller has also been named Player of the Year three times at USC. She currently is serving as a graduate assistant in the women's basketball program at her alma mater while working toward a master of fine arts degree. Miller is interested in an acting career as well.

Under a three-year contract with ABC, Miller will make her debut as a television sports commentator on the 'Wide World of Sports' airing on Jan. 10. Her first appearance will be taped during the Harlem Globetrotter's game in Kansas City, Mo.

Other Homecoming Week activities at CSUSB include a food festival from 5 to 7 pm on Saturday, Jan. 17 in the SUMP. Sponsored by the Cal State Associates, the dinner will feature food booths at which entrees may be purchased with coupons bought at the door. The food festival, which precedes the men's basketball game against the Claremont Colleges at 7:30 pm, is open to the public. Reservations are requested by the Alumni Office, which can be reached at 887-7811.

The Cal State Chronicle is partly funded by an annual allocation from the Associated Students to cover the costs of printing and expenses. The remainder of the funding is generated by the Chronicle itself. It is distributed free to students and the community. The Chronicle is published under the control of the CSUS Media Commission. It is published weekly during the school year—excluding quarter breaks and summer sessions—for a total of thirty (30) issues.

Advertising requests should be addressed or directed to the Advertising Manager at the address and number below. The Chronicle accepts advertising in good faith, but makes no warranty, and does not check advertised goods or services for validity.

Story contributions from students and faculty are welcome. Copy deadlines are the Wednesday or 12:00 noon, preceding the date of publication. Copy received after that date will appear in the Chronicle on a space-available basis. Letters to the Editor must be written in good taste, and must include the writer's name, address, phone number, and signature.

All submitted copy must be typed, and double spaced. Editorials and/or commentary that are unsigned represent the majority opinion of the Cal State Chronicle newspaper staff. Signed editorials, commentary and cartoons reflect the views of the author or artist, and not necessarily those of the Cal State Chronicle.

Geane, pharmacist, dies at 50

Peggy J. Geane, pharmacist in the Student Health Center, died Jan. 3 after being hospitalized for three days. Services were Tuesday afternoon, with internment at Mountain View Cemetery in San Bernardino.

Mrs. Geane, 50, was the university's first pharmacist, coming to work in the new Health Center on a part-time basis when it opened in 1979. She began to work full-time with the beginning of the 1981 school year.

Mrs. Geane was active in the community and in her professional organization and was a member of St. Prophet Elias Greek Orthodox Church.

She is survived by her husband, Nicholas; a son, Greg, and his wife, Jeanne; and a daughter, Stephanie; plus a brother and a sister.

In lieu of flowers, the family requested memorials to the Peggy J. Geane Memorial Scholarship Fund, in care of the Cal State, San Bernardino Foundation.

The university community extends its deepest sympathy to the Geane family.

Scholarship chance now open

The California State University, San Bernardino chapter of Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society is presently accepting applications from outstanding senior students for a Graduate Fellowship for up to $6000 for first-year graduate or professional study. Fifty fellowships will be awarded nationwide, as well as thirty additional Honorable Mention Awards of $500. The San Bernardino chapter will be nominating one student from the university for these awards.

Graduating seniors who are members of Phi Kappa Phi or who will be eligible for membership in Spring, 1987 may apply. The deadline for submission of completed application forms is Monday, February 2, 1987. Those interested should contact the Phi Kappa Phi Chapter Secretary, Professor Edward Erler at 887-7238, or in AD 130.

The general criteria considered in the selection process are scholastic achievement, high standardized test scores (including Graduate Record Exam, Law School Admission Test, Medical College Admission Test), transcript record, honors and enrichment programs, promise of success in graduate or professional study, leadership, participation in university and community activities, experience, evaluation by instructors, and expression of study plan and career goal. Outstanding students from all disciplines are given equal consideration.

Phi Kappa Phi is the only major national cholaistic Honor Society which recognizes academic excellence in all disciplines. It was founded in 1897, and today there are 244 Chapters in universities and colleges throughout the nation. The fellowship Program was established in 1932 and since then has honored over 825 scholars with fellowship awards and 325 scholars with honorable mention awards. This is the second year that California State University, San Bernardino will be participating in the Graduate Fellowship Competition.

Neo-baseball league now forming: own your own ballplayers

By Bill Gropp, Jr.

The intramurals department is sponsoring simulated major league season beginning February 2. There are no franchise fees in this league; your AS fees have already paid for the league. This is your chance to own Dwight Gooden, Nolan Ryan, Roger Clemens, or any hero of your choice. The league will follow Strat-O-Matic rules. Any franchise may have up to four managers/owners, and the deadline to register will be

January 29 at noon. League draft will be held at 2 pm on the 29th, as well.

Strat-O-Matic is a realistic portrayal of the grand old game, and the only simulated baseball game displayed at baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown. The games are fast, and can be finished in only 45 minutes, which is less than most intramural contests. For more information, leave a message for Bill J. Gropp, Jr. the League Commissioner, at 887-7416 or 887-7662.

the Writer's Corner

The Writer's Corner is a weekly feature of the Coyote Chronicle, spotlighting short stories and/or poetry from Cal State San Bernardino students and faculty. Interested students or faculty may bring their work(s) to the Chronicle Office, located in the Student Union. The Chronicle editors oversee all submissions, and decide which works shall be published.

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY DAY

By Lillian Holden Johnson

What's to say about a peanut-butter-and-jelly day?
Not much, just simple things.
We play ordinary games
Like ring-around-the-tub
And who left the dirty sock
Behind the rocking chair.

Some days we eat tuna-salad-sandwiches and potato chips
For lunch.
Then we say, "Please," and "Thank you."
The kisses are not so sticky
On days like these.
Oh Lord,
I wish there were
More tuna salad days!

Beginnings

By Robert Ullery

Beginnings,
Extensions of something that was,
As dreams are extensions of having been awake;
Abstract derivatives of living.
Misnamed,
Ignored...yet, there.
Sudden,
In fact,
Something of a reality;
Another form of the same energy.
As we are...

So all else is;
All extensions of something else,
Arriving at different places upon one minute
Point over time,
Just to be...
To exist
For what seems to be fleeting moments
Interrelated
With other fleeting moments;
From simplicity to abstractions
In the same time,
Singular in a multi-faceted way.
Energy!

Best savored in small quantities,
Eaten slowly by firelight
As the liquid filling
Drips cheerily down,
Till the final bite is devoured
And the last trace is licked

Legalize drugs? He thinks so...

By J. F. Nesmith

It seems that the time has come for this country to legalize most controlled substances. I should like to see a movement towards and ultimate legalization of cocaine, pot, and heroin.

Approximately 80% of all residential burglaries are committed by dope users in an effort to obtain your property to sell or trade for dope. If the dope listed above were legalized, the price of dope would drop drastically. Ergo, the number of burglaries would also drop as the doper would need less of your property to purchase his drugs.

Legalizing cocaine, heroin, and pot would entail certain restriction. In order to purchase any of the above, a buyer would have to be 21 years or older. Some might argue that adults would buy dope for minors since minors now have adults buying them booze. Well, minors get dope now anyway so the increase in underage users would probably not increase too much.

The traffickers in dope would of be subject to taxes such as is currently placed on liquor. The taxes could be used to finance new freeways and schools.

Look at all the money we taxpayers spend trying to enforce our archaic drug laws. Look at all the DEA and other narcs that could be laid off or transferred to other areas of law enforcement. Other areas that can use some additional manpower are homicide, kidnapped children, and wife and child abuse cases.

Some might argue that costs to society incurred by dopers driving while high and causing wrecks would be very high. Section 23152a of the CVC already provides for penalties for dope drivers. Would society suffer hidden costs by dopers not performing well at work? Maybe, but there are a lot of non-dopers out here who could take the dopers' jobs should they, the dopers, slack-off at work.

Some might argue that there would be an increase in over doses.

I would say, "Who cares?" If a person wants to O.D., let them. One less burglar to worry about.

Who are the opponents of legalizing cocaine, pot and heroin? Joe Holies police (they would have to start paying for theirs'), big time dope dealers, and politicians (looks bad on their records if they support legalization).

Next we should start to look at legalizing prostitution. Do you know where the term 'hooker' came from? General Hooker, during the Civil war, used to bring ladies, who had lost their amateur standing, along for his troops.

Prison officials concerned about security

by Kathleen Audet

Prison security became a big concern of prison officials following the escape of Kevin Cooper from the California Institution for Men located in Chino.

Cooper escaped from the prison on June 2, 1983, under the assumed name of David Trautman. Three days later, four members of the Ryen family and a neighbor boy were brutally attacked. Only one member of the Ryen family survived the ordeal.

Cooper's escape, and his later conviction of the murders, prompted a state-wide probe into the security systems of all prisons.

Many changes appeared at the institution for men that has seemed to reduce the number of escapes. Similar changes can be found at other local institutions for both men and women, though none have been as intense as the changes taken on by the Chino institution.

The California Institution for Women is located not far from the men's institution. Though not as weak in their security as the men's, the women's prison officials did re-evaluate their system.

Four new manned and armed guard towers have been added and perimeter lighting that circles the entire complex has been installed.

Officials at the prison are now working on two new projects that they hope will still further reduce the number of escape attempts.

One of the new projects is the installation of a second fence around the prison. Money has been budgeted for the project but work has not yet begun.

The second project in the works is the reconstruction of the sallyport that is on the grounds. The sally-port that is being used now is considered to be too large. Prison officials want to make it smaller with space for only one truck. Currently there is too much space between the two gates and it is hard for only that one correctional officer assigned that post to handle.

A sally-port is a security device used on the grounds where automobiles and trucks enter when making deliveries. Vehicles enter one gate that is closed before it can enter the second gate. All vehicles are searched coming in and going out.

Captain Ron Candelaria has been at the women's institution for seven months. Before being promoted to Captain, he was a reentry special agent at the California Correctional Rehabilitation Center in Riverside. He has also worked as a Community Resource Officer.

The population of the prison is a concern to anyone involved in the prison system.

Current population at the men's institution is just over 5,000. The capacity of the facility was designed to be 2,634.

In May, the population at the women's institution was 2,069. By adding bunks in the old gym and ice rooms and by putting two women in a cell built for one, the facility has the capacity to hold 2,191. Built in the 1950's, the institution was designed to hold only 700 women.

Candelaria feels that the overcrowding of the facilities is a major problem to security. Having too many people in one place can cause a problem.

"It is ironic to know that the facts show that regardless of how a prison is built in the way of capacity, the number it was built to accommodate will always be doubled immediately upon opening," said Candelaria. "For example, if a prison is built to hold 1,000 inmates, it will open immediately with a population of 2,000."

"This kind of over-crowding can result in staff and or computer errors, as in the case of Kevin Cooper," he said.

Other preventive measures at the institution for women include program units to review all of the inmates' central files and screen out any who may be escape risks or undesirable for minimum security areas.

This process, along with other escape-preventive measures, has been helpful in keeping the number of escapes and escape attempts down to a minimum.

Although they are not in the state prison system, the escape of Kevin Cooper has made other correctional facilities look twice at their security.

A spokesperson for Patton State Mental Hospital, who did not want to be named, said that he often questions how some patients can just roam the grounds. "Even though these people are not considered dangerous, one cannot tell what will set a person off. Look at Kevin Cooper. He escaped from a state hospital and look what he did."

Military spending questionable

by James Yarrow

Billions of dollars are spent each year on it. Thousands of the world's top scientific minds pore over it. Millions of dollars are poured into political campaigns to assure its future. Most of the findings in this field are obsolete within a few years. Only a small margin of the information obtained by it has any other useful purpose. They call it "defense." Actually, it is the Industry of Death.

To call this industry "defense" is totally absurd. It's like the military, who like to claim that "Peace" is their profession. Rubbish. Death is their profession. They are highly trained people with one final objective in mind—kill.

I'm sure the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) located on campus would strenuously argue the above point. I'm sure some will feel that I am and will call me a communist or some other derogatory title. But the fact remains, and my question is: Where are the Murder Merchants getting you? Do you feel more secure now that there are enough nuclear armaments to blow up every man, woman and child on earth 12 times? Is war the final solution?

Then again, looking at the points that began this commentary, is the approach that the government, military and industry (sometimes referred to as the "Iron Triangle") getting us anywhere? The Earth is facing a deadly crisis. Depletion of natural resources by rape of the land, in addition to pollution of the precious few left are creating more problems. Do those in the Iron Triangle deal effectively with those problems?

Two examples that come to mind are nuclear energy and Space Defense (called the Space Defense Initiative 'SDI', or 'Star Wars'). Do the billions of dollars poured into these industries benefit mankind as a whole?

As has been shown by examples in the past few years, nuclear energy is highly dangerous, as shown at the Three-Mile Island and in Chernobyl. As a means of energy, the costs (both financially and economically) outweigh the benefits. The key advantage to nuclear power? Its key byproduct: Plutonium, used to create more warheads.

The second cited example is SDI. Space Defense is the brainchild of various aerospace corporations across America, ones that poured thousands, perhaps millions of dollars into political action committee's (PAC's) to assure success of their programs. And Reagan as a Chesterfield kind of guy (that was the brand he used to endorse) he was a very loyal supporter. So, even though SDI faces humungous obstacles (like a computer program requiring 10 billion lines of code, for starters), he will continue to stick in there. Even though top advisors have as much as directly stated that by the time SDI is completed, it will be totally obsolete, he sticks to his gun. The unholy alliance between members of the Iron Triangle continues.

Well, this is all just dandy. So big deal. Here we are at Cal State San Bernardino, and what are we going to do. I don't know about "we" but I have a very simple philosophy. It is embodied in the quote found outside the United Nations building in New York City. The quote is from one of the Bible writers --Isaiah, and it says in part, "and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation shall not rise up against nation, and they will not learn war any more."

And that is what I intend to do. Some may say, is that a feasible alternative to international diplomacy? Obviously, some people, and even some nations feel that it is. Some may feel that such a dogged approach to national affairs would leave the United States open to attack by communistic forces. But is that realistic? With the Soviets having so many problems running their own country, do they really have the manpower and the resources to effectively control an entire nation of unwilling "amerikans?" I think not.

Addressing the issue of this commentary, I feel that peace is the answer. And you are asked to make the decision. The Murder Merchants will be here in force on campus from time to time. Companies like TRW, General Dynamic, Rockwell, and the like. And they will want you to work for their companies. You will be asked to work in some portion of their machinery, which in the end makes more bombs, and the like. And the military will be here too. ROTC is a permanent installation here on campus, and they would like you very much to join their efforts at "Peace." And if learning how to kill people is your style, go right ahead.

But if you decide that you would rather work on something with a future, something with hope, something that may contribute to the building up, rather than tearing down of the place you live, you may choose my alternative. I do not speak from a place of ignorance. I have worked in companies whose primary goal is support of these mammoth Death Merchants. And I realized, just like one professor here on campus did, that what I was doing was a waste of time. It was nice money, but if I look back at my life, is that all I want -- to know I spent my life designing, redesigning and tearing apart bombs, and then again from the start? Not a very cheery prospect.

You too can learn peace. Peace is kind of elusive, though. You might have to do more than pick up the New York Times, or Newsweek. You may have to go to the library, and read an article or two in The Progressive, or The Nation. And then you might have to sift through both to get to the real truth of the matter. But you will find out something. There's more than one side to an issue, and if you look -- you will find.

So when the Murder Merchants come to town -- what will you do? Is Peace your bag? There's a lot to be said for it.

Fellowship Program now accepting applications for scholarships

Applications are now being accepted for participation in the California State Assembly Fellowship Program. Set to begin in August 1987, twelve persons will be selected to work with state Assemblymembers and their staffs at the State Capitol in Sacramento.

"The Fellowship Program is one of the best ways to learn about California policy making" noted Assembly Speaker Willie L. Brown, Jr. "It's an invaluable experience for anyone with an interest in politics and state government."

The Assembly Fellowship is the oldest and most distinguished program of its kind in the state. Fellows serve in the State Capitol with responsibilities equivalent to those of legislative or committee staffers. Tasks include legislation, analyzing bills, working with constituent groups, organizing press conferences and helping to develop legislative strategies. A stipend of $1300 per month, plus health benefits, is paid for the eleven month Fellowship year.

Fellows also earn twelve graduate credits from California State University at Sacramento by participating in periodic seminars and discussions sessions which provide important theoretical base and further enhance their hands-on experience.

Minimum qualifications for selection are a BA or BS degree (by August 1987), and completion of applications along with three letters of recommendations and transcripts.

Application forms are available from Dr. Carol F. Gos, Political Science or by contacting the Assembly Rules Committee, Room 3016, State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814, (916) 324-1761.

Deadline for applications, including letters of recommendation and transcripts is February 20, 1987.

INLAND AIDS PROJECT

P. O. Box 8330, San Bernardino, CA 92412

INLAND AIDS PROJECT was formed by a group of concerned citizens of the Inland Empire who want to reduce the impact of AIDS on our community and especially on persons with AIDS.

INLAND AIDS PROJECT provides:

- Professional and peer counseling for persons with AIDS
- Confidential referrals for HTLV III Antibody test
- Speakers on a variety of subjects relating to AIDS
- Opportunities for citizens to become volunteers

In this health crisis, there are needs for positive social growth. We must give emotional and financial support to those who have or are at risk of AIDS, and foster a community network to provide a supportive atmosphere.

WE ARE COMMITTED TO MAKING A DIFFERENCE!
