Today was a good day, my WiFi was finally installed and I no longer have to use my hotspot. Currently 8:30 pm I got my floating desk in today, I finally have a good workspace in my room. I miss doing my work at school in the library, I can't concentrate the same, all of the kids in my house stay running everywhere.

I remembered to log today. I've been so busy I feel like online school gives way more work than regular in person. Could that just be me? I feel so exhausted. It's 11:03 pm, I've been working on homework, helping my needs with their schoolwork and doing housework all day. I hope I stay consistent with these journal entries.

Today I got my gym installed, my mental health has been poor lately and I think its because Im cooped up all day. I am hoping working out will help me release so stress and anxiety. My days go by so fast I forget to write in, I had to help create a fun maze for my family. Halloween was a little more depressing this year, everyone was bummed they couldn't go out.

November 7th

Finally, my week is over. A lot of technical difficulties on my end spectrum sucks! I missed a lot of class time and I feel like I am behind for the most part. I used to hate going to school but I miss it, guess the saying is right you don't miss things till they're gone. I was away most days because of the lack of service but working out helped me get it out, its nice to have me time in a loud house. I am going crazy.

November 14.
I think logging in weekly is much better because it's a summary and it helps me reflect. My family is stressed out because of the elections, everyone always gets tired up. Better week with my classes made the time up in after hours, although I have learning virtually I feel like I'm not learning anything. It makes me sad because there's nothing I could do about it. My brother got sick and his wife had to quarantine alongside him, they're struggling financially I hope things get better.

November 26
Currently 10:27 pm, Thanksgiving was a lot more lonely / intimate this year. I miss the rest of my family but I am glad I got to spend it with my immediate one. I have been blessed with a lighter workload but have bombed my math quizzes I need help, I don't learn virtually.
I hope next semester is better.
On a good note my eating habits got better, I eat less junk due to staying home.
