MERIT INCREASES FROZEN; RECLASSIFICATIONS ARE NOT

Merit salary increases are frozen for the 90-day period ending Nov. 12, according to an executive order from Governor Reagan. President Nixon's freeze does not affect promotions or reclassifications to positions of greater responsibility, according to word received on campus.

The Chancellor's office has been urging federal officials to grant exceptions in the case of step increases for academic personnel, which would have been effective in September. Chancellor Dumke's staff contends that the CSC program of merit salary adjustments is an "employment commitment which virtually becomes an employee's right unless his performance is unsatisfactory." The Chancellor, who was in Washington recently, is continuing to urge favorable consideration of the request, President Pfau was notified.

Verne Orr, State Director of Finance, has notified agencies to continue processing merit salary increases in the normal manner, forwarding the paperwork to the State Controller. No payments can be made by the Controller until the freeze has been lifted. Federal regulations do not permit retroactive payments.

If the freeze ends Nov. 12, subsequent anniversary dates for merit salary increases will not be altered by the postponement, Orr said. An employee eligible for an increase Oct. 1, 1971, will retain the Oct. 1 anniversary date.
