The account of the policemen doesn’t exactly hold that out. Officer Hotard had his body inside of the car to the waist with his stomach resting on the driver side window. The gun which was supposed to be in Hotard’s hand was standing to the side of the car and behind Hotard who was, by his own account, peering through the back window (Buggard) said he saw her pickup the gun and shoot Hotard. This was not true. She never shot them and they later found that the gun would not even fire.

The four easy steps to prepare for Y2K are:
1. Start planning now don’t wait until December 31st. Y2K countdown will be loud.
2. Make a list of inventory that is hardware and software.
3. Categorize hardware and software, use a technician to lessen your computer stress.
4. If you have purchased your computer within the last 15 years your computer will less likely be compatible.

Mentally-Ill Woman Gunned Down By Police. Isn't Enough Enough?

Communities reside that virtually everyone in the neighborhood knew that Mitchell was mentally ill. She loved small animals and spent a lot of time laughing and talking with them. She had been living on the street for at least a year and was very protective of her cat and hawks, which scared people—out of_repairs—left alone.

Strong enough, the woman was a college-educated preschool teacher. He loved to play golf and spent a lot of time with his mother, who is mentally ill. She went into her own state, the son. Richard Mitchell, said his mother resisted his attempts to seek treatment because she didn't believe it was enough. "I always had my mother in mind," he said.

So when the LAPD was intent on capturing the woman for whatever reason, they could have used pepper spray or called a mental health unit. Or, why didn't they try reasoning with her?

She didn't trust people and wanted to be left alone. It seemed that no one would believe her or care what she had to say.

"I have no prejudice, I am a Christian," she said. "I have no preconceived notions. I have no bias."

The police had to go to a frugal gun store to go and buy the firearms they needed to defend themselves.

"Every time you use the slogan "I was only following orders," it becomes an other crime against humanity. It is not acceptable to claim that you were just following orders. It is a premeditated act that will be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

I have informed my kids that when they use this phrase, they are accepting and adopting it, society will accept and adopt it. They will be conditioned to believe Blacks are inferior. White cops believe it is their duty to control and dominate Blacks.

So, why did they allow this to happen? Why didn't someone step in to stop it? We need to start addressing these issues.

"Ethnic Cleansing" is a phrase that has been used to justify the murder of innocent people. It has no place in our society, and we need to work together to make sure it is removed from our vocabulary.

What's Happening?

Let me just say that I'm surprised by the lack of Tyisha Miller's sincere condolences to her family. I just don't understand what is happening. The people who are protesting are using phrases like "innocent teen" and "murderer.

"Innocent" is not enough. We need to do more than just say "innocent." We need to stand up and demand justice for Tyisha Miller and all other victims of police brutality.

"Ethnic Cleansing" is technically inaccurate and unhelpful. I'm against using such a demeaning and offensive phrase. The epithet "Ethnic Cleansing" is incorrect and harmful.

I have been told by police officers who are at the forefront of the protests. They are saying "Enough is enough." It is enough, isn't it?

Into it, providing a much stronger bond and therefore a longer lasting artificial joint. The decision to replace a joint is usually a quality of life issue. People usually have tried physical therapy and medications first. The prosthesis will work better and have a longer life if you are near your ideal body weight.

Dr. Leavitt owns a private practice in San Bernardino and Riverside. When she isn'tauughing at the jokes of the patients, she is writing letters. Your letter will be incorporated into the column and posted at the Riverside, Riverside Times, and Riverside, Riverside Times.

Dear Dr. Leavitt:

My mother is scheduled for a hip replacement. Will this new joint help her?

Dear Mr.

For many people, the arthritis pain in their hips, knees, or shoulders becomes so painful and movement so restricted that they want something done. Joint replacements are being replaced with a prosthesis that is surgically implanted since the knee, or shoulder becomes so restricted that they want some kind of a replacement. Will this new joint help?

Hardest Working Woman in Gospel Music

The Black Voice News

The hardest working woman in gospel music, singer Vickie Winans, is told in this issue of the newspaper of her new trilogy project on CD, Records. Never Gospel Stageplay Comes to San Bernardino

The date was Saturday, October 10, 1998. The venue was a 2,400 seat auditorium in Ontario, California. The occasion was...what? Was it a revival service that had been somehow attached to a musical stageplay? Reminiscent of a Shakespearean tragedy in some respects, was the occasion a model of legitimate theater interwoven with gospel music? And the cross-racial, cross-cultural, cross-age mixture of men, women, and children, who were they? Were they traditional theatergoers who identified with Willy Loman and who attended any opening of The Glass Menagerie? Were the attenders there to be entertained or to participate in a collective form of worship? Should the quality of the production be measured by the depth of the language and the rhythmic cadence of its delivery, or by the ability of each performer to perfectly caricature the urban comedy of the atrazine and uncle, brothers and sisters, mothers and fathers, and friends of those persons who had already selected gospel theater as their genre of choice, but who also introduce gospel theater to mainstream theater audiences.

Composed as a two-year tour, Land Ho! As It Was Meant to Be consists of the very popular subcategory of gospel theater—a gospel comedy. Julian Caesar and his family have been blessed with material abundance. However, their lifestyle has been disrupted and threatened by two poor relatives who come to visit for two days and never go home. On a last Saturday night, the Caesar family leaves home and returns to discover that their home has been invaded by not one, but two separate and independent robbers. The ensuing events are hilarious as the robbers compete with each other for ownership of the Caesar's goods, and as the family rediscovers the value of family. Using a blend of original blues, Broadway music, rhythm and blues, and gospel, this production anesthetizes through laughter.

This national tour is a first time ever event. In addition to the national tour, a film version of the stageplay is in pre-production. The producers of the stageplay are also currently completing an anthology of gospel plays that includes critical essays about gospel theater as a subset of the urban theater phenomenon.

Land, Ho! If You 'Eer Me! opens to rave reviews at the West Las Vegas Library Theater this past January. The short-term schedule for the stageplay includes Sunday, July 24, and Sunday, July 25 in San Bernardino at the Sturges Center Theater and final plans is for tour of Florida in July as well.

For further information, contact Betty Burton, Ph.D., at (818) 966-3191 or (888) 927-6887.

Dear Betty Burton,

I put my petition before the Lord. Shortly after the death of my mother, I asked God to allow me to go to Paris for my birthday which was April 15th. Didn't have any money. I'm on a fixed income but this was God release in October, is a ballad project entitled, "Woman to Woman: Songs of Survival." The three albums display the three faces of Winans: the sun-filled church-woman on the first project, her comic side on the second album, and her softer side on the final album. It's a known fact that Winans is the hardest working woman in gospel music—performing over 200 concerts a year. In June, for example, she's booked to perform 24 concerts in 25 states. In July, she performs in 20 states.

Winans burst on the gospel scene in the late 1980s with the smash gospel song "We Shall Behold Him" which firmly established her career in the gospel field. Over the last five years, Vickie has experienced a career rejuvenation since signing with CGI Records circa 1994. Her album Live in Detroit featured the smash gospel hit "As Long As I Got King Jesus" which helped the album sell well over 200,000 copies.

Hardest Working Woman in Gospel Music

With roots that extend far beyond James Weldon Johnson and Langston Hughes, to the so-called "Saints plays" of the medieval period, gospel theater has, over the last decade become institutionalized. Each year, three to five gospel musical stage plays emerge from amongst a far larger pool and achieve among urban populations the same degree of notoriety that musicals such as Cats and Wicked Story are assigned among majority theatergoers.

Towards this goal, FalconQuest Productions is pleased to bring Sid Burton's Lord, Holle If You 'Eer Me! to be staged in a national tour. The company seeks to not only have a gospel label ventured such an ambitious project. The "His glory" concept is the first time the project's concept is all the gospel as a new kind of gospel theater—a gospel comedy. Doretha Smith, 69, a retired officer, Joe Rubbo, said. "Somebody has to be held responsible. They have been murdered if we went not there. They (officers) did their job and got fired. I hope you people are saying what a great police department you have."

Then he turned to the attack of the Tyisha Miller Steering Committee. He said they were out of line, because they started violence and shoot. "Just because a guy calls himself Rev. doesn't mean he is God like. All we know is that they have made money." He told the City Council, "You have to start check your own."

The Black Voice News for his remarks to the minister. Debra Rice and Minnerva Butler were angry and felt that had the police were again blaming the victims. "Where is the urine from the officer (who was celebrating his birthday)? How much was he drinking?" said Minnerva. They are down here attacking our kids who are drinking the they need to check their own."
