COLLEGE TO CHANGE
FOREIGN LANGUAGE
REQUIREMENT IN SPRING

The foreign language requirement, which became a mandatory part of the College-wide General Studies Program in 1968, has now been changed upon unanimous recommendation of the Faculty Senate, President John M. Pfau has announced.

Students may now select from a variety of alternatives to learn about culture, literature and language of other countries through a program in other cultures. The new, more flexible program will be implemented in the Spring, 1972 Quarter.

This change in the General Studies requirement has been under discussion among faculty groups for a long period of time and came under intensive scrutiny last weekend at a faculty retreat at Monte Corona.

The "other cultures" requirement means that a foreign language will not be required of students in order to graduate. In some majors, however, a foreign language may be required. Departments are meeting now to decide the issue.

Alternatives in the revised program include:

1. Proficiency in any foreign language through the first intermediate level (generally interpreted as three quarters);
2. Three courses, conducted in English, in foreign culture, foreign literature in translation, linguistics or the nature of language; or
3. Two quarters of a foreign language (or equal proficiency) plus a third course from among the above list.

Under these options, transfers from community colleges or

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT CHANGED (Cont'd from Page 1) other institutions who have had a foreign language will still be able to utilize those credits in meeting CSCSB's graduation requirements, said President Pfau. Students with no college background in a foreign language will be able to elect courses in culture, literature and linguistics. Lower-division courses transferred from other colleges will count toward this requirement.

In submitting the alternatives for the foreign language requirement, the Department of Foreign Languages recognized a number of problems encountered by students in the past.

Students now will be able to explore the culture and literature of more than one area if they desire.

TREES TO BE PLANTED AT COLLEGE PARKWAY Trees to beautify the State College Parkway entrance to the College will be planted tomorrow by students from the San Bernardino City Schools.

A program sponsored by the City of San Bernardino Parks and Recreation Dept., Standard Oil Co., Natural Beauty Program, Southern California Edison Co. and the College will result in nearly 200 trees being planted by the students, who are participants in the Natural Beauty Program.

Crape myrtle and palm trees, grown by the Parks Dept. nursery, and eucalyptus provided by Standard Oil Co. will be planted with the help of an auger furnished by the Southern California Edison Co. The planting, part of the City's commitment to the College, was delayed last year because of Feather River Water Project work in the area where the trees were to be planted. The City installed an irrigation system for watering the trees as soon as the water project was completed. A crew from the Department of Parks and Recreation will direct the planting.
