GUIDLY: U.S. Puts Drugs in Black Community

[Excerpt from The Black Voice News, page 2-A, September 19, 1995]

The publication of a secret affidavit created in 1991, and the source of many of the facts in this article, Meneses had also been a member of the National Police, and was the main man in the fight against drug dealers in the United States, according to the affidavit. Meneses, who had a long history of drug-related offenses, was indicted in 1993 on charges of cocaine trafficking. The affidavit revealed that Meneses had been using the United States mail system to distribute large quantities of cocaine to his associates in the United States. The affidavit also stated that Meneses had been using the United States Postal Service to transport cocaine to his associates in other countries, including Colombia, Mexico, and El Salvador. Meneses was eventually convicted of cocaine trafficking and is currently serving a 20-year prison sentence in the United States.

In 1995, Meneses was released from prison and returned to his home in Colombia. He was subsequently arrested and charged with cocaine trafficking. He remains in custody and is currently awaiting trial in Colombia. Meneses's case has been widely covered in the media, and has sparked a great deal of controversy. Many have wondered if Meneses's release from prison is a sign of leniency by the United States government, or if it is a way of preventing Meneses from testifying against other drug dealers. The case has also raised questions about the role of the United States government in drug trafficking, and the extent to which the United States government is willing to compromise its own policies in order to protect its own interests.

He also talked of the importance of the candidates or elected officials track record. "It is important to know what they did before seeking office and what they did while in office," said Brown. The Black Press serves as a vehicle to motivate and provide direction. "We are a vehicle for candidates to reveal themselves through paid advertisement. We provide a place for people to express their opinion of the candidates and we provide news information about the candidate," Finally Brown said the Black Press takes all the information and gives an independent opinion about the candidate.

Once Again Trojans Run By, Over Beavers: Knight and Morton shine

USC's offense explodes with big plays in 46-17 win over Oregon State.

By LELAND STEIN III

SPORTS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15 - There's always a chance in sports that a favorite can be beaten, right?

Well, look at Mike Tyson-Buster Douglas or the Los Angeles Dodgers over the mighty Oakland A's or North Carolina State over the slumbering Houston Cougars, not to look the New York Jets over the Baltimore Colts.

But one thing remains constant in the world of sports: USC (2-1 overall, 1-0 Pac-10) never loses to Oregon State (0-2, 0-1).

Before 48,069 at the Coliseum, the Trojans enacted "Business as Usual" in their 46-17 win over the Beavers. USC's mastery over Oregon State has now reached 23 consecutive games dating back to 1967.

For this year's loss the Beavers can thank the very quick foot of 5-foot-8 freshman Chad Mortin. Doing his very best Barry Sanders routine on the suspensions of Shawn Walters and Delon Washington prompted the switch. I don't care where I play just as long as I'm on the field.

Added USC Coach John Robinson: "I'm not a pessimist, but you figure if you get to the line and the guy doesn't fall down."

On the opposite side for USC, senior safety/linebacker Sammy Knight from Riverside keyed that effort. He produced 10 tackles and scored on a 14-yard touchdown run when he intercepted a pass and returned it 60 yards.

"The line did a great job blocking and I just cut back off those blocks and ran as hard as I could in the end zone," said Knight, who was penciled in as a defensive reserve before the suspensions of Shawn Walters and Delon Washington prompted the switch.

"I don't care where I play just as long as I'm on the field.

DEFENSE: USC Coach Keith Burns fires up his defensive troops. Listening are Riverside North's Chris Claiborne (#55), Rubidoux's Darrell Russell, Cedric Jefferson- and Matt Keneley are the handful. Knight and Edwards rush Falcons to opening victory

SPORTS

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 14 - One yard from a California Interscholastic Federation championship. Being so close to glory can either make you or break you.

Well, the '96 version of the Rubidoux football team has most of the participants back from the team that lost in the finals to the Christ Clai bors in Riverside North.

I think if you asked the San Bernardino San Gorgonio Spartans if the Falcons are hungry, you would get a resounding yes!

Rubidoux neither the No. 1 team in CIF Division IV, 4ever the Spartans on their way to a 46-0 blowout victory.

Before the contest Rubidoux Coach Wayne Cochrun wondered how his defense would respond after losing the entire defensive front to graduation.

"I was happy with our defense," said Cochrun, whose defense held San Gorgonio to seven first downs and 100 yards in total offense. "We didn't expect us to play with so much intensity as we did, but I'm pleased with the effort.

"About the team's possible return to the CIF finals, he noted: "That's been a goal of the kids since we ended last year. We didn't talk about it in meetings, but there is always the hunger."

Led by quarterback Darryl Knight (160 yards on 7 rushes and three touchdowns) and tailback Curtis Edwards (76 yards and two scores), the offense gobbled up the Spartans to the tune of over 400 total yards, of which 360 were gained on the ground.

"It was great to come out in the first game and play well," Knight said, "but we have to keep it coming."

Concluded Coach Bush: "We played real well. We can't help but think if we do our jobs we will have another chance at the CIF Championship. If we keep focused and work each week, we will get better and better.

Sports Coach Darrell Woromak, whose team is in the midst of a 12-game losing streak, believes his team is a lot better than last year's team that went 0-10, but he notes "Rubidoux probably is even better than they were last year."

With the return of Knight, Edwards, Darrell Bush, Rodney and Ron Granderson, Jason Lundblad, and Daniel Berry, it's safe to say the Falcons No. 1 ranking is as solid as ever.}

Still there's work to be done. Says Edwards: "We need to pick it up on "O" side defense, not look ahead, and challenge ourselves every day in practice. Then we'll be alright."

Traditions are a core aspect of our society. They provide a sense of continuity and stability, allowing us to preserve cultural values and practices for future generations. However, as our world evolves, so too must our traditions. In recent years, there has been a movement towards reevaluating and adapting traditional values to better reflect the diverse backgrounds and experiences of our society. This process is not without its challenges, as it requires a delicate balancing act between preserving the past and embracing new ideas and perspectives.

In this article, we will explore the landscape of traditional rights movements, focusing on their evolution and adaptation over time. We will examine how these movements have been influenced by social, political, and cultural changes, and how they continue to shape our society today. By understanding the complexities of these movements, we can gain a deeper appreciation for their significance and the role they play in our world.

As we delve into this topic, we will consider the following questions:

1. What are the defining characteristics of traditional rights movements, and how do they differ from other social movements?
2. How have these movements evolved over time, and what factors have contributed to their development?
3. What are some of the key challenges and opportunities facing traditional rights movements today?
4. What can we learn from the history of these movements, and how can we apply these lessons to our current social context?

By exploring these questions, we hope to provide a nuanced understanding of traditional rights movements and their role in shaping our society. Through this examination, we can gain a greater appreciation for the dynamic interplay between tradition and innovation that characterizes our world today.

If you don't, the Dole-Gingrich Republicans may get the chance to continue cutting, slashing and eliminating the things that are important to you and your family. They've already voted in our school budgets. Little child immunization programs and Head Start.

President Clinton is meeting the challenges of raising a family, protecting our children. He promised a balanced approach, and he delivered. He cut taxes for working families, reduced crime. He gave communities hope.
