JESSE HIRAOKA ACCEPTS NEW POST AT WESTERN
WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

Jesse Hiraoka, a member of the CSCSB faculty and administration since the College opened, will take the position of Dean of the College of Ethnic Studies and Professor of General Studies at Western Washington State College in Bellingham later this month.

Since his arrival on campus in 1965 as a Professor of French, Dr. Hiraoka has served as Chairman of the Division of Humanities from 1966 to 1969, when he returned to full-time teaching. In 1970 he ended a one-year term as Chairman of the Faculty Senate. He also served two years as a member of the State-wide Academic Senate and was Coordinator of the French Department for a number of years.

In addition to many other duties he headed an ad hoc committee to develop the Experimental Admissions Program, now the Educational Opportunity Program.

At Western Washington State Dr. Hiraoka replaces Sergio Elizondo former CSCSB Coordinator, Spanish Department, who is leaving to accept a position at New Mexico State University.
