San Bernardino Pioneer Releases First Edition of New Book

SAN BERNARDINO

By Cheryl Brown

The Westside community came out en masse attending two community meetings Tuesday night. Each meeting was held for five days of each other in two different churches. The events included major drug alcohol and worst violence.

The meetings were held last Thursday at Sixteenth Street Seventh Day Adventist Church and this Tuesday at City College. So many people showed that there was standing room only in both.

Residents were outraged at the proposal, especially since they were never properly notified by the city. The proposal, according to one resident, was also changed considerably. No city official or city planner attended the first meeting, but Councilwoman Brenda Daye did attend the second meeting at the request of residents of the Sixth Ward.

City Attorney Jim Penman, after reviewing the newsletter “Burchinsanity,” and the San Bernardino County Department of Public Works, placed a stop work order on the project because he said the applicant mis-re-presented the project to the City Planning Staff. The application challenged the lack of notification which is clearly mentioned in the San Bernardino Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). The following day the “Stop Work Order” was ignored by the workers who reportedly took it off the office door and began working anyway. Dr. Robert B. Penman, a law enforcement examiner who later was kept off the site because he was a witness, stopped on Friday where Sixth Ward Councilman Matt Anderson went to the site and explained the order. Continued plans have Penman’s office visiting the site three times a day or until the court ordered the stoppage.

In San Diego based Custom Group, a limited partnership and beneficiaries of the facility who own a 19 percent interest in the county for up to $40,000 a month would have to move to a Conditional Use Permit, which the Penman warned that if they could not have any legal challenges as well as civil challenges just as he did when they started developing the community drug center.

Architects of the plan are now backing down and fingers are being pointed. The city was worried that it was losing the opportunity to negotiate for that $40,000 a month and as a Conditional Use Permit, which is far more advantageous than it was before they started negotiating the Conditional Use Permit.

A word to crime that the head who gets the blame, now that they really feel about Blacks who have made significant strides in bringing about positive change.

Congresswoman Maxine Waters, comedian Dick Gregory and talk show host Joe Madison saluted the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA) for its support of the submitting the 1995 Young Men With a Vision.

The three were selected by NNPA’s 200-plus member publishers for "outstanding and commitment in expressing the horizons of the CIA-Contractor conflict world," said NNPA President Dorothy R. Leavell. "We must honor these who lift us up, on the road to freedom. These three people have truly lived with the torch."

The NNPA’s Youngmaker of the Year, which is in its second year, recognizes four Americans who have made the most significant of issues to concern America and who have made significant strides in bringing about positive change.

Everyone Knew, Except the Citizens

By Harry Brown

The City of San Bernardino citizens who live in Ward 6 are furs the hottest seat of political and mental bankruptcy that built in their community. This is what citizens contend: (1) no notification to any citizens in two immediate areas ever took place; (2) when the citizens did become aware of the project, the city official said they did not have to notify anyone; (3) some city officials said they were responsible for the project; (4) the city officials said the county was responsible for the project; (5) the city officials said the city Planning Commission brought it before the city's Planning Commission.

The residents got busy and researched the origins of the medical office project and this is what they discovered.

Mike Antonovich, Los Angeles County Board Member is reportedly a limited partner. The rent on the building will be $48,000 a month in taxpayers money equaling a grand total of million dollars.

Our local San Bernardino County Supervisor, Jerry Eaves knew about the project. Jim McIntyre, Director of Mental Health knew about the project. Mayor Teen Minue knew about the project. Councilwoman Betty Anderson knew about the project. Some members of the city planning department knew about the project. Everyone knew about the project except the local citizens. So, what did the city do? They solicited another proposal and told the developer to proceed “full speed ahead.” Jim McIntyre then released a newsletter explaining that the medical office project was the city’s biggest development center with some clients being so sickly, that they will need a special extension, and hence, need more sleeping and placing telephone calls after the meeting to their elected officials explaining that a lawsuit would follow. The city attorney, Jim Pumain, then issued a code that was for the developer to stop the grading of the land. It was pointed out to the city that none of the plans had not been approved. The facility was approved.

The Seventh Day Adventist church across the street from this new structure was not notified and offered to become a supporter in the lawsuit. Hundreds of local citizens came to voice their concerns about this building.

I want to commend the citizens of San Bernardino who exercised their rights. They complained to many officials of their responsibility to serve the people and not of laws developed in the Board of Paving and Planning process. I want to commend the county and city officials to still work with the local citizens in bringing in a new code that is helpful and not behind closed doors, hush, but out in the open. Look for other alternatives.

What's On Your Mind?

Thank you for writing to us.

I want to thank you for the story that you wrote about the abuse of power in Palm Springs and the antagonisms when it accords to every person, regardless of race, color or creed, full human and legal belief that you wrote about the abuse.

Conquering Doubt, Fear, and Procrastination

"A fit mind starts in the Axioms: The Best Knowledge

In school, I was always looking forward to playing high school football. When my coach told me that I was black, it was the same for all the other young men who had just been discharged from the armed forces who had been drafted. War was also there. At the try-out, it was like David (i.e. me) vs. Goliath but this time I wasn't afraid, I was just too much for them. I knew that I could beat them."

Police Chief Dennis Hegwood is Good for Rialto

By Paul Jos Beckley of Eaglecliff Christian Fellowship.

"The brother's doing a great job. Police officers have been a lot better since he's been the Chief."

In April of 1993, he accepted a position with the Rialto Police Department as the Captain and was appointed the Commanding Officers Bureau. He was responsible for patrol, traffic, detectives, narcotics and the Crime Analysis Team (C.A.T.).

In June of 1993, Hegwood was appointed Chief of Police. The department has a staff of 32 sworn and 14 civilian personnel and operates and operates, with a budget of $12 million. "Our agreements will start on his next contract," says inside sources who also say he has been good for the Department.

He is proficient in all areas of law enforcement and is particularly good at community relations. He is a healing force," said Wilmere Carter, city council member. Rialto Board of Trustees.

As Police Chief, Hegwood is building a strong partnership between the department and the community. He is committed to open public safety through youth programs and the community oriented policing philosophy.

"We must recognize that we are all stakeholders in our police department, we have an interest in it, we are affected by it, the performance of our department. By weaving these interests together, we will develop a stronger social fabric for our city," said Hegwood.

Hegwood holds a Master's degree in Management from Pepperdine University, Pomona and a Bachelor's Degree in Criminal Justice from California State University, Long Beach. He is particularly proud of the fact that he is a graduate of the California Law Enforcement Standards and Training (P.O.S.T.) Command College and has completed the police development program for law enforcement officers.

At Twins a 54-year resident of Rialto and Administrative Office Manager. "Police officers sum up how many feel that Hegwood is one of the top law enforcement officers in California. He feels that it is important to build community enforcement leadership in our city, to support him 100%," he said.

Prayer Day For Million of Americans of Every Faith

Millions of Americans of all faiths will gather together across the country to pray in square and capitol steps, stadiums, parks, churches, synagogues and other public places on Thursday, May 1, to observe the 46th consecutive National Day of Prayer. More than 15,000 events are planned in local communities to pray for the nation, its leaders and local and state officials, educators, law enforcement personnel and American families.

An army of nearly 40,000 regional and local volunteers have worked for a year to organize community-wide observances. This year’s theme, “In God We Trust,” refers to a tract expressing the same sentiments that appeared on all of our currency, the words as our standard, seal of our country, and as our model this trust in God — who supplants the supernatural. Hence, whenever we realize that we can make the same difference today. Abraham Lincoln put it this way: “Unless the great God who assisted (President Washington) shall be with us and aid, we must fail. But in the common mind, we feel the presence of God, and with that presence he will not fail us. Let us pray that God of our fathers, our dependence upon God’s supernatural protection. It is the foundation of the nation’s course ... we should trust in the benevolent God to guide our dreams, and aspirations on the surety of divine protection.”

President Clinton echoed this theme in his 1996 National Day of Prayer proclamation. He stated: “So many of the same challenges as our forebears-enduring the survival and spiritual faith in an often hostile world and we continue to pray, as they did, for the blessings of a just and benevolent God to guide our nation’s course ... we should trust in the benevolent God to guide our future.”

The annual National Day of Prayer was established by federal law in 1952 when the United States Congress passed a joint resolution, which was signed by President Harry Truman. The law was amended in 1988 and signed by President Ronald Reagan, specifically designating the first Thursday in May as the official National Day of Prayer.

The Colorado Springs-based National Day of Prayer Task Force is a nonsectarian, non-profit organization with no political affiliation the provides resources for National Day of Prayer events throughout the country. For more information on the National Day of Prayer, contact the National Day of Prayer Task Force (719) 531-3779 or P.O. Box 1556, Colorado Springs, CO 80955-3616.

Arizona 'Cats streak past defending NCAA champions

Exciting NCAA Final Four over-time game at RCA Dome won by Arizona's young 'Cats, with Simon driving them home, 84-79.

By LELAND STEIN III
BVN Sports Editor

INDIANAPOLIS, April 1 - Twice as nice? Double-up for the Kentucky Wildcats? Wait a minute — the Arizona Wildcats had a lot to say about those lofty goals.

Officially nervous? well, how could any 18 to 21-year-old not be? I was and I was only stripping the event as it unfolded. Pressure? How could it not be when over 42,000 fans packed the RCA Dome to watch their collective heads off for friend and against foe? The national television audience, and the finality of it all — from 6 to 2 to the final one - the NATIONAL CHAMPIONS!!

Three No. 1 seeds (Mississippi, North Carolina and Kentucky) and Arizona were the survivors of the ROAD to GLORY. The do- or-don't NCAA Tournament that ran with 64 teams and concluded with the Final Four is the ultimate test of skill, heart, teamwork, luck, fumbling and coaching. And all the important play that occurs above the fray to produce a career type game.

In the end the young and restless Arizona 'Cats pulled off one of the most improbable runs in the history of the NCAA tournament, beating a team that had felled Kentucky Wildcats at their own game; push, press and other big game experience. The team committed only one turnover in the first half against Kentucky's bread and butter: fickle becomes the press.

When the final horn sounded on this college basketball season, the unawed Arizona 'Cats had a 84-79 overtime victory to take back to Tucson with them. And they did it in grand fashion in a masterfully played close game that was indeed fun to watch, with physical play free and easy, messy drive to the basket, and tough rebounding.

The young Arizona team was led by tournament MVP Miles Simon, the tournament's Most Outstanding Player, following an exceptional run of effort that took us into the Final Four. Miles, the Arizona guard, has come into his own in the crucible of the big game in the world. We weren't serious out there, not today.

The excitement and energy of this shoot-tempo after almost shook the roof of the RCA Dome in Indianapolis. It surely had my hair standing up and my heart pounding as the 'Cats made these three-pointers in the last minute of regulation time to send the game into overtime.

Usually when a team gets caught at the end like Arizona did, they become ruffled and the momentum swings and carries over into overtime to the fury that makes the second half, but this was Arizona's, day, year, team and season.

The young Arizona Wildcats (25-9) that were supposed to be a year away from glory, and return to that starters from next year, beat them No. 1 seeds in succession - Kansas, North Carolina and Kentucky - to earn the national title. And this was a team that finished 2nd in the Pac-10 Conference and lost its last two regular season games.

The young hungry 'Cats became the "Fat Cats" as they feasted on each opponent in their post-season games. They went 6 for 6 from the foul line.

The Arizona victory over Kentucky (35-5) was Coach Lute Olson's first title and lifted a major monkey off his back. He had been to the Final Four two other times losing in the semi-finals. "What a great game and effort. Neither wanted to lose this one. Shoots were hard to come by and you had to expend a lot of energy to make up a point both defense.

"Nobody thought we'd be here. I mean we thought we could do this ... three No. 1 seeds went down. This was a tough group of young men," Olson said.

"No one expected us to win, but they were coming out so hard that hurt them."

Simon said, "but they were coming out so hard and we had something to prove."

"It was definitely a Cat fight," explained a happy Olson in the post-game interview sessions. "What a great game and effort. Neither wanted to lose this one. Shoots were hard to come by and you had to expend a lot of energy to make up a point both defense and offense.

Clarence "Big House" Gaines is still touching lives

Legendary Hall of Fame coach Clarence "Big House" Gaines is always and will always be a do-gooder for those that came into his life.

We never lost desire despite the segregated world of this rural South. We lived the American dream, because we had big dreams and — surely Black folk had an extra lot of problems, and we were taught that we could struggle and change them.

The Black Voice News

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2 — Born in Paducah, Kentucky — in the Deep South, Clarence "Big House" Gaines has had an extra lot of problems. He got a little extra baggage because the segregated society in which he was raised, and the teachers and the coaches — the most, and most importantly, folks around him taught him that he could struggle, big a l l of us. Gaines is the legend.

And change things he did!

Over a 47-year career at the helm of the Winston-Salem State Rams, Gaines lived the American Dream, and upon his retirement in 1981, he had a record that relied on athleticism to blow by opponent after opponent.

The "Big House" won 12 CIAA championships, NCAA Division II titles and was named the 1971-72 and 1979-80 CIAA Coach of the Year, leading the Rams to Chicago.

Jon Lovett, Gaines' assistant coach, once said that Gaines taught life lessons.

And change things he did!

But, I didn't have any money, so in 1947 I just took the

Mr. Van Leer enjoys a successful and varied career in film and television as a featured performer. His most recent appearance was in the role of Mohammad Amin in the HBO original movie, "The Second Civil War," which premiered on HBO in March. Van Leer has also appeared in the NBC-TV's Movie of the Week "Women to an Execution," the NBC original film "Against the Wall" and in the grounds keeper in the feature, motion picture "A League of Their Own," starring Tom Hanks and Geena Davis.

A graduate from Western Massachusetts University with a bachelor's degree in Graphic Communications, Mr. Van Leer began performing excerpts from the words and writings of Dr. King in 1988. "POWER ON EARTH," his one-man show "POWER ON EARTH," can trace its lineage to Van Leer's powerful characterization of Dr. King in the one-man touring success "A MESSAGE TO THE WORLD." Those early performances evolved into an on-going series of performances on campuses across the country over the next two and a half years. In addition to his dramatization of Dr. King's works, Van Leer developed a series of one-man performances that focused on the lives of other African-Americans who truly made a difference in their time.

Today, Darryl maintains an annual performance schedule of more than 60 colleges and universities, and to-date, he has performed his one-man show to well over 100,000 people. Mr. Van Leer's work was recognized by the National Association of Campus Activities in 1994 as "Best Performance" and by Campus Activities Today as "Performer of the Year." "POWER ON EARTH" is presented by E. J. Elliott Productions. The performance schedule in Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., Sunday at 8 p.m. All tickets are $20 and are available by telephone through Theatre 816-973-9995 or 213-466-7767. Group sales are available at the same numbers. The Beverly Hills Playhouse is located at 254 South Robertson Boulevard, in Beverly Hills.

"I've been looking at those $500 signs on homes around town and I wondered what they mean," pondered Paris Ragin, a membership coordinator for the American Water Works Association. "It's one of those things that makes you go hmm." One doesn’t really think of why except there are many throughout the San Bernardino region. The $500 will give a down payment for a home. For those who can’t afford a down payment attend the seminar presented by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and their local partner, The Black Voice News; The Sun, San Bernardino County’s newspaper; Variedades, 97.5 FM; and Excelsior of Orange County.

Coalition of Brothers and Sisters Unlimited's 5th Annual Awards Dinner

By Cheryl Brown

The theme of the evening was encouraging role models for the youth. The dinner honored children of theWarn area, scholarship recipients, and the accomplishments of successful people who have made extraordinary accomplishments.

Recipient Ramona Ripson, ACLU Executive Director said briefly that she believes in what she does at the ACLU and she's still ready to help those in need.

Cheryl Brown, President of the Independent Employees Association has managed million dollar businesses. She gave credit for her successes to her mother who died recently and to her family.

Dr. William Cornelius Grant, a talented singer, song writer and guitarist and a member of the original Temptations, now manages talent and bookings for his own cable television show. He was happy to give a few words to the youth, "Stay in school and stay away from drugs and alcohol.

Felton Perry, an actor who has a long list of movie and television credits, was modest in his acceptance. Although he is busy he still finds time to volunteer two afternoons a week at the Marine Veterinary Equipment Repair Center.

Another familiar face was Robert Doigai (pronounced oke dogai) originally from Oklahoma. Known for many credits including Robocop I, II, and Ill, he is known for his roles in strength, energy and hope. He spoke about his beginnings in Oklahoma and told the youth that the sky and beyond is the limit, you can do whatever you want to do."

F. Gary Gray, director of "Get Out," "Pride," and many music videos, is up the youth. Being a little closer to the age, he gave tips and words of wisdom that electrified and stimulated the crowd. His energy was contagious as he encouraged the students.

Klaus-Dieter Machtke, president and CEO of K3M, a security consulting firm, is known for bringing an international focus to Black businesses in Los Angeles. Although he was unable to attend, his deputy officer graciously accepted the award.

Dr. Shawn Stolar, has taken on the organization in his own. When he was down and needed help, the coalition was there to help him.

His wife Michelle was also recognized for her contributions. He donates time and money to the organization and was recognized for his involvement over the past five years.

Percy Pinkey, Sr., a hard working businessman who has helped to shape the political destiny of California and the Democratic party for over 20 years, received special awards by many legislators and politicians.

The "Keeper of the Flame Award" was presented to John L. Hill, a community leader who helped with accessibility of community resources. He is on the Board of Directors and gives time and talent to the Coalition.

The scholarship recipients were Eddie Wayne Cross, who dreams he will be the first in his family to graduate from college and wants to fulfill his dream by attending California State University at Northridge to achieve a BA in Civil Engineering. Also receiving a scholarship was Rashida LaSaan Roberts who is on her way to becoming a lawyer. She presently attends Cal State University at Dominguez where she plans to receive a BA and MA in English before going to Law School.

The event was very successful under the direction of M. Fred Minor the Project Director. "I'm very satisfied with the results of the event, this year was bigger and better than previous years and with the continued cooperation of the community we will continue to provide more and bigger scholarships to the youth in our community."
