Dr. Maya Angelou Arrives

By Dennis Schatzman

Justice William O. Douglas, noted Black Supreme Court Judge, who died last year, is said to have been a great admirer of the civil rights leader and Nobel Peace Prize winner, Dr. Maya Angelou, who arrived in San Bernardino Thursday evening for two appearances.

Dr. Maya Angelou Visit San Bernardino

Dr. Maya Angelou, award winning poet of such works as "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings," "Shine, Woman, Shine," "I Shall Not Be Moved," and "The Heart of a Woman," is in town for two events this weekend.

The first event was a reading of her works at the University of California, Riverside, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. The second will be at her home in Los Angeles on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Dr. Angelou, who has been a highly visible figure in the civil rights movement for many years, is known for her powerful speeches and her works of literature.

She is also a poet, a singer, and an actress, having starred in several films and TV shows.

Dr. Angelou is a scholar and a teacher, having taught at Stanford University and Yale University, among other institutions.

She is also a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and has received numerous awards and honors for her work in the arts and in civil rights.

In addition to her work as a writer and poet, Dr. Angelou is also a political activist, having worked for various causes, including women's rights and the fight against racial discrimination.

She is known for her powerful speeches and her ability to inspire and motivate others.

Dr. Angelou's visit to San Bernardino is part of her ongoing tour, which includes appearances in various cities across the country.

Race, Media, American Law and the Simpson Controversy

By Dennis Schatzman

The media played a significant role in the O.J. Simpson civil trial, which was held in 1995.

The trial was covered extensively by the media, with networks and newspapers providing live coverage.

This coverage included interviews with witnesses, experts, and legal analysts.

The media's role in the trial was criticized by some, who argued that it was too much and that it could have an influence on the jury's decision.

The Simpson trial was seen as a test case for the role of the media in legal proceedings, and it raised questions about the balance between the public's right to know and the rights of those involved in the trial.

Genocide in Rwanda

By Dennis Schatzman

Hundreds of thousands of Rwanda's ethnic Tutsi were killed in 1994.

The genocide was committed by Hutu extremists, who targeted Tutsis for political and social reasons.

The Rwandan government was complicit in the genocide, which was carried out with the support of neighboring countries.

The genocide resulted in the deaths of over 1 million people, and it had a profound impact on the country.

Our Bodies

Ernest C. Loewen, M.D.

The April 17, 1997, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association outlined the results of the “Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension” study. The DASH combination diet was found to lower blood pressure less than low fat dairy products and carbohydrate foods significantly lowered systolic and diastolic blood pressure in all patients and sub-groups by gender, race and hypertensive severity of the condition.

Our Bodies

The patients were African-American and 49% were women. Comparable blood pressure reductions were seen in men and women. Minority subjects had a somewhat greater reduction than non-minorities but the difference was not statistically significant. Hypertensive subjects, however, had a greater blood pressure reduction than normotensive patients. In addition, the reduction in blood pressure was comparable to the effects of using one medication for treatment. In hypertension when compared to drug treatment trials. The combination diet may represent an alternative to drug therapy for those patients with mild hypertension who are willing to make behavioral changes. In addition, it can be combined with treatment of patients with moder­ate and/or severe hypertension hopefully decreasing the number of medications used.

This information should be used in conjunction with other dietary modifications. Reducing your salt intake to less than a teaspoon of table salt per day reduces the chance of the invisible salt, natural part of the food mixed in during cooking or eating. Reducing sodium hypertension or reduce your sodium intake if it is elevated.

Prioritizing

Jonathan and I were discussing the priority of values, career, mate, family, and preparation for old age. After drawing a triangle, we looked at categories of baseball players. At the bottom of the triangle, we placed Sub-Apex 4 to represent boys and girls playing little "lot" pick-up games just for fun and fun only. Sub-Apex 3, indicating the high school players; above that, Sub-Apex 2, the college players. At the top — the Super-Apex 1, the professional players; and just below the top, Sub-Apex 1, the professional players; and just below the top — The Apex — the all-star players from whom the most valuable person (MVP) is chosen.

The MVP, the super-star at the Super-Apex level above the top of the triangle, has first priority for acclaim. Pri­ority means precedence and denotes a place or position of importance. In prioritizing anything, as with necessities of life, attention is placed on the super-apex. I told Jonathan that Selecting the Super-Apex Defines Bliss Purpose. Then, below the Super-Apex the rest of the subject matter under consider­ation can be put in put in put in put in put in put in put in put in put in put in put in put in order.

$100,000 Awarded Tenants of Riverside

Riverside

Two Riverside apartment owners, John Harding and Mary Harding, have agreed to pay $100,000 to tenants and former tenants of the Smoke Tree Apartments for violating their fair housing rights as part of a consent decree signed by Federal Judge Robert J. Thiele.

Tenants of the Smoke Tree Apartments in Riverside initially filed housing discrimination complaints with the Fair Housing Council of Riverside County. Christopher Buncic, civil rights attorney, represented the tenants.

This suit charged the Hardings, with violation of the Fair Housing Act, by discrimination on the basis of race and familial status in the operation of the Smoke Tree Apartments in Riverside.

The Hardings had received one side of the apartment facility for families with children, excluding them from the other side. Also, charges of racial discrimination and harassment of children through unreasonable rules and regulations were included in the complaint.

The defendants were also ordered to pay the tenant's attorney's fees and to pay for and attend a seminar on fair housing practices sponsored by the Fair Housing Council.

The suit included a complaint from the former manager of the apartment building who said he was ordered to apply policies by the ownership, which were graphically related how she came to realize how precious and fragile a resource water was when she was on a week-long program in Guatemala.

Lewis, Mt. SAC Relays still have magic and love of fans, youth

Olympic star Lewis bids farewell to Southern Cal and Mt. Sac.

By LELAND STEIN III

WALNUT - The 39th Annual Mt. SAC Relays are always special and supported nicely by the Southern California track and field aficionados. But this year was even more special in track and field in America and around the world.

Lew is who has won 19 races at Mt. SAC, including two this year, has said he's retiring at the end of this year.

The nine-time Olympic gold medal winner, including four consecutive in the long jump, and 8 World Championship gold medals, has been the major spokes person for the advancement of track and Field in America and around the world.

Lewis has been a fixture at Mt. SAC since 1981, capturing 3 long jump titles and anchoring the Santa Monica Track Club to a spectacular world record in the 4 x 200 meter relay in 1994.

At this version of the relays, Lewis ran legs on the Santa Monica Track Club winning against medley relay and 400-meter relay squads.

After each victory, Lewis took a victory lap and received a standing ovation from the 10,000 fans at Mt. San Antonio College's Stadium.

"It been a great day," Lewis said. "When it's your last time you can't help but have a special feeling. So far every meet this year has been like this. People have really been very well and seem appreciative of the career you had."

As usual the three day event brought over 200 hundred high schools and 150 colleges, and that is the very reason the event is billed as America's largest and best relays. Nailed between the rolling hills of Walnut California there can't be a a better and more refreshing place setting to track, and field in America.

At note of honor is Justice Haye's head Bryan Howard. Both from former California State champion, Haye (Riverside North star) at UCLA and Howard ( ex-Moreno Valley Canyon Springs star) at U.S.C. and Howard finished second in the 100-meters with a time of 10.05.

Hayes won the 100-meter race with a time of 10.15. Hayes won the 100-meter race with a time of 10.15. Hayes won the 100-meter race with a time of 10.15.

"I think it's a blessing from God," said Stein about his inclusion within the Olympic family, "and I'm thankful for the opportunity. I think that in a lot of ways, you can have an attitude that maybe was positive; moreover, I've always worked harder than most.

The United States Olympic organization has 18 various committees that oversee and is the linchpin for the U.S. Olympic team's effort.

"The USOC is in the administrative organization that is the centerpiece for coordination with each sports National Governing Body (NGB), for example USA Basketball or USA Swimming or USA Track and Field," Stein noted. "When we bring a team to Nagano, Japan or Sydney Australia, the USOC will be the driving force that makes that happen."

The Past American Games, U.S. Olympic Festival and numerous other events are also part of the USOC's focus.

Continued Stein: "The Committee that I'll be working on is the Minorities in Sports Task Force. What we are going to do is look around the country and identify qualified minorities for inclusion in the Olympic family.

The USOC sought members with noteworthy abilities who bring diversification to the organization.

As an African-American English teacher and a journalist know nationwide, Stein's efforts are indeed noteworthy. He was selected as one of only 100 participants by the U.S. Olympic Committee to attend Project GOLD (Governed Olympic Leadership Development), a workshop aimed at enhancing the involvement of more qualified women and minorities in leadership roles within the U.S. Olympic Movement, in May of 1996. The workshops were the first of its kind implemented by the USOC.

Stein's love of sports came naturally, his father, Leland Jr., was a high school coach, and, of course, Stein had a chance to play sports, and did, gaining noteworthy acclaim as a three sport athlete - football, basketball and track. His sports experiences is what led him to working with young people. Every year for the past fifteen years he has coached at either Magic Johnson's, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's, Norm Nixon's and/or Mayo Clinic's summer basketball youth camps.

Next came his marriage with the Black Voice News and is currently associated with Stein covering the Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta. The Super Bowl, NBA All-Star Game, NCAA Final Four and championship boxing, tennis, golf and track are all part of his writing resume as well. Plus, the combined coverage of high school and local college is still an important part of his agenda.

"I started (writing) just to give back to my community via athletics ... I knew I could contribute something positive to this arena since its been a part of my life since I was a kid," Stein said. "I never expected to be here. What's most important and it was all about recognizing our youth and being a big brother and I believe we do the sport's upstandingly and, if you are patient, good things will happen for you."

About the USOC is such a wonderful organization, surely one of the most important organizations in this world. It is fortunate by the past history of the USOC tended to be made caucasions.

Stein said it was a good sign that many people watched in front of the circle and they just kept perpetuating the interest.

"Because the world is changing, the Olympic movement is changing, with women, men, and minorities they'll be better. The more diversity they have ... well, they can't help but have a better organization."
Disney Sports positions itself on national sports stage

NOW IN Orlando — When you think of Disney World in Orlando, Florida or Disneyland in Anaheim, California, it will mean more than just a giant theme park. In that thought will be the everlasting memories of family or close friends.

Now add in America's pastime, sports — to your Disney thoughts!

Recently in Orlando at Disney's Wide World of Sports Fieldhouse, the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) held its first pre-draft camp and USA Basketball's Junior Select National Team played the International Select team, both events coinciding with the grand opening of the sports complex fieldhouse.

The WNBA Pre-Draft camp brings us one step closer to the opening of our inaugural season," said WNBA President Val Ackerman. "We are excited that the camp was conducted with the help of Disney's first-class facilities and staff."

Added Disney World of Sports Vice President Reggie Williams. "With the tremendous growth and appeal of women's sports, it's something we encourage and celebrate at Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex."

The Third Annual Nike Hoop Summit was broadcast live by CBS and was witnessed by a crowd of close to 4,000 at the fieldhouse. On display were the USA's best high school basketball talent. In front of players and coaches from around the world (the International Select Team). The exciting contest was won by the USA Team 97-90. The proceeds from the Nike Hoop Summit benefits the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

The fieldhouse's grand opening was the third for Disney's Wide World Of Sports Complex. Previously, the Atlanta Braves and the Cincinnati Reds opened the baseball stadium. The grand opening of the sports fields hosted the NFL, Quarterback Challenge. The tennis complex was opened by the U.S. Men's Clay Court Championships.

Later this month the beach will be opened with the WPVAs Pro Beach Volleyball Tour and the track and field complex will play host to the Golden South Classic.

Wait Disney Sports Public Relation Manager Ellen Branchos noted that it hasn't been "too difficult" to book events, not when you've got the "most popular" or No. 1 vacation resort in the world. "It's been in our advantage to open a new tradition, but that's not to say there haven't been a lot of hard work involved," she explained.

Pressing Disney's Wide World of Sports Complex events calendar, indeed, they're moving forward on the national sports stage. The complex has events booked every month through December, including U.S. National Wrestling Championships, AAU Gymnastics Championships, AAU Raw Powerlifting Championships, AAU National Karate Championships, just to name a few.

Brandon says in five years they have a chance to host an "increasing variety" of sports. "Our mission is to have and maintain the state of the art facilities for the celebration of the spirit of sports," she said.

The multi-million dollar sports complex has already signed the Atlanta Braves and will be their spring training home. The Braves General Manager John Schuerholz calls the 7,500 seat baseball stadium "the finest in the world... but next.''

The Amateur Athletic Union's (AAU) headquarters has relocated to Orlando and the complex will play host to over 30 of it's championships this year alone. Also, the Harlem Globetrotters will make the complex its training site.

Top rhythm and blues crooner Keith Sweat, whose first four albums have sold more than 8 million copies, will perform an outdoor concert at 8 p.m. May 17 at Fantasy Springs Casino near Indio. R&B and hip-hop artist Stevie B will open for Sweat.

Tickets are $35 for VIP seating and $25 for general admission and can be purchased at the Fantasy Springs Casino box office either in person or by phone at 760-342-5000 or 800-827-2946.

With four hit albums under his belt and countless memorable songs, the charismatic singer/songwriter and producer has embarked on his fifth effort, simply titled "Keith Sweat." The unassailing Sweat first swooped down on the club world with his 1987 multi-platinum smash, "Make It Last Forever."

On his new self-titled CD, Sweat offers 12 great songs, mixing his familiar cathartic, jazzy inspired approach to "Evans couples the jazzy feel, and it makes them happy, that's..."

The musical relationship continues with the music and production on Adriana Evans' album being credited to Dred Scott while at Long Beach State, Evans spotted outside her window in South Central L.A.

Also included on the album is "Look! For Your Love," a tribute to the exuberant Black music anthems of the '70s and '80s, and "Say You Want" and "I'll Be There," which examine the complexities of love with seductive melodies and a rhythm and blues edge. Evans' "The Black Voice News" urban Web site has been compared to the likes of legendary Pharoah Sanders. "It appears on the split single, purely because people..."

Keeping the Arts Alive in the Inland Empire

By Fredy Mordica

Last September 28 and 29, on a rainy night on the campus of the University of California - Riverside, an Inland Empire tradition was established. The "Riverside Jazz & Art Festival '96," shocked and surprised its sponsors and producers by selling out on both days, to an audience of jazz enthusiasts from all over Southern California. In a geographical area where previous attempts at producing contemporary jazz concerts have not been successful, the acceptance and support of this event was overwhelming, even to those individuals responsible for its existence. This event drew 7,000 people over the two day period. Says Rich Sherman, promoter and organizer "We know that fans of entertainment would support this event, but the degree of support was wonderful. We hope to build on this success with new and exciting events each year."

The Inland Empire Music and Art Foundation is the brainchild of Moreno Valley based artist and business owner, Charles A. Bibbs. Bibbs co-founded the organization in 1996 with Sherman, owner of Omega Events, an event promotion company located in Orange County. The two had worked together previously when Sherman selected a Bibbs image as the official poster for the 1995 Newport Beach Jazz festival. Both were in agreement that there was a large contingent of jazz fans in the Inland Empire, and that those fans could and would be supportive of the right venue and line up close to home. Bibbs, personally aware of the financial hardships facing students pursuing a career in the arts, wanted to establish a way to lend support to that area. The Inland Empire Music & Art Foundation seemed to be the perfect vehicle to accomplish both goals. A non-profit organization was established, and an advisory board established, comprised of local business people and community activists who commit their time, input and support to assure the success of all events produced by the IMFA. Through the production of annual music and arts events, money is generated and earmarked to assist art related visual, music, dance, theater non-profit organizations in the Inland Empire. Individual scholarships will also be awarded. By producing quality jazz events in the Inland Empire, IMFA hopes to be able to attract those residents who normally travel to Orange County, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and other Southern California locations to attend music events. IMFA hopes to market the entertainment aspects of the Inland Empire, and in doing so, bring together a strong network of businesses and individuals who are committed to supporting the local artistic community.

On Saturday, May 3, 1997, IMFA will co-sponsor its first event of 1997, "A Spring Jazz Concert." Presented in conjunction with radio station KUOR 89.1 FM, proceeds from this event will benefit both IMFA and KUOR. This event will be held in The Chapel on the campus of the University of Redlands, and features a top notch line up of today's hottest contemporary jazz performers. Trumpeter Rick Braun kicks off the festivities, for this evening of smooth jazz and vocals, followed by Jazzopedia, an all star jazz band featuring sax man Everette Harp, with vocals by Slim M. backed up by guitarist Mark Antione and percussionist Steve Reid's Bamboo Forest with members of the Rippingtons. The next project to be undertaken by IMFA will be the "First Annual IMFA Student Art Competition." High School seniors from around the Inland Empire will have their art work judged in a competition, where over $5,000 in prizes will be awarded. The competition will end with an exhibition of the works of the winners. The exhibition will start June 15, 1997, and be held at Bibbs' newest gallery in Moreno Valley, "Studio B at Plaza Del Sol" Bibbs states, "It is important for those of us in the artistic community who have made some inroads to lend support and advice to young people interested in pursuing art as a career. My studio, my gallery, and my time will always be available to assist the emerging or 'struggling' artist."
The second annual "Riverside Jazz & Arts Festival" is set for October 4 and 5, at UC Riverside. This year's event promises to be even more exciting than last year. The 1997 IMFA Advisory Board members have been selected, and plans are underway to secure talent, sponsors, and vendors. Announcements will be forthcoming shortly about the line up and ticket prices. It would be wise to purchase tickets early since only 1000 tickets per day will be sold this year, to help eliminate some of the overcrowding experienced last year.

Local Woman Named to Assistant Superintendent

Judy D. White, who was raised in San Bernardino, attended California Lutheran, Pomona Junior High, and graduated with highest honors from Cajon High, is the new Assistant Superintendent for Student Services in the San Bernardino City Unified School District and the first African-American woman to hold this position. She was selected from a field of other candidates—candidates who were well qualified but simply did not have the vision, commitment and energy that White brings to the job. She credits her former teachers for helping her decide on education as a career, and her success is certainly evidence that her teachers’ confidence was well placed.

Dr. E. Neal Roberts, district superintendent, says, “We were delighted when Mrs. White accepted the assistant superintendent position. She is extremely well qualified for this job and because she is one of our own, San Bernardino-grown, I am extremely well qualified for this post and became one of the leaders of the California Athletic Committee. Additionally she was 1996 recipient of the John Treadway Loving Care award. She is a member of the CCT Violence Committee, an adjunct professor at Azusa Pacific University, adjunct professor at Azusa Bible College, member-at-large to N.A.A.C.P. consultant on PeaceBuilders, Christian Education director of Faith Temple Church of San Bernardino, and chairman of the Concerned Christian School Social Service Center Scholarship Committee. Currently serving as Interim Director of Special Education and has been a principal assignment for the district for a year. She has also served in this position at Mt. Vernon and Emerson. She became principal at Emerson in 1993. White was one of the leaders in the formation of the Emmerton Collaborative in which community agencies are invited onto school campuses to assist families and students. Because of the unique nature of the Collaborative and success, White and several other administrators from San Bernardino were invited to participate in the Working Conference on Comprehensive Schoollinked Services for Children and Families held in Los Angeles, Virginia in 1994. They were the only elementary school group from California. That same year Emmerton School was visited by California Secretary of Health and Welfare Sandra R. Smiley.

The first principal in San Bernardino to start a PeaceBuilders program on her campus, under White's guidance the program became a model for PeaceBuilders in southern California.

The Riverside-Berndeno Counties Counselor Association has named White "1997 Administrator of the Year." Additionally she was 1996 recipient of the John Treadway Loving Care award. Immerse yourself in an underwater adventure of intriguing corals and bright fish in The Bahamas by snorkeling, a fun water activity for vacationers of all ages and experience levels. Discover the mysteries of the coral reef located in more than 700 islands and over 100,000 square miles of ocean when snorkeling in The Bahamas. You may find yourself engulfed in a school of stingrays or playful territorial fish protecting their territory.

In The Islands Of The Bahamas, particularly the Out Islands, the waters are clear, shallow and offer an abundance of fish, coral reefs and underwater gardens to explore. The world below is like a bustling city, rich with life, energy and action. Grab a towel, sunscreen and snorkeling gear and check out these exciting spots for viewing the inhabitants of the Bahamian sea:

1. THE NORTHERN ABACOS: This unique chain of islands are known for their rich, shallow reefs, encounters with friendly fish and a blend of Bahamas and West Indian cultures.

2. THE SOUTHERN ABACOS: At Pelican Cays National Park on Southern Abaco Island, snorkelers can combine their resources with surrounding bands of lush, sub-tropical coral gardens. Schools of snapper and large green moray eels permeate the clear waters, providing an unforgettable underwater experience for seasoned divers and novice snorkelers alike.

3. ANDROS: Offshore of Andros, the largest island in The Bahamas, lies the third largest Barrier Reef in the world which boasts a marine preservation second to none. Over 100 miles of healthy (mostly shallow) coral formations stretch between the island and the coral blue waters of the tongue of the ocean. Central Park Bahamas boasts three large stands of elkhorn in less than 15 feet of water while snorkelers can spy on school of grunts swimming in unison in Red Shod.

4. BIMINI: The clear turquoise waters of the southern Atlantic Ocean break against the most western shores of this tiny island, the former site of a fishing village and retreat of Ernest Hemingway. Located 50 miles east of Miami, Bimini lies along the warm currents of the Gulf of Mexico, forming a remarkably diverse preserve of coral reefs, white sand beaches and spectacular marine life such as spotted dolphins. Bimini Road is a dive spot of stone mounds that was once thought to be part of the lost city of Atlantis. Sponges feature an interesting snorkel-dive through a cone-like ship.

5. CAT ISLAND: The dense green forests, miles of magnificent beaches and reefs of this fertile island are virtually unexplored. The combination of the crystal clear water with abundant mangroves and inland waterways creates a plethora of marine life, including large lobsters.

6. DEVIL'S BACKBONE, HARBOR ISLAND: Harbor Island is famous for its 3 mile pink sand beach and Devil's Backbone, a stretch of more than 3 miles of pristine reef. Devil's Backbone is the graveyard for dozens of vessels where snorkelers can enjoy both a sense of historical history and an appreciation for the marine world as fish mill around ancient anchors that once defined the busy trade routes.

7. RAINBOW REEF, LONG ISLAND: With talcum-like, white sand rolling into sun-pattered shallow sea waters, Long Island offers high cliffs, peaceful coves, sloping beaches and unexplored coral reefs ideal for salt production and fishing. The reef's ability to attract a great variety of marine life over its long extent has not been matched in any other place in the Bahamas. Rainbow Reef is home to elkhorn corals and a plethora of sponges and anemones and bonefish descend far beneath the sea.

8. THE EXUMAS: Stretching for 130 square miles, these islands are known by yachtsmen as the "Sailing Capital of The Bahamas." The shallow, clear waters of Great Exuma and Little Exuma showcase the jewels of the ocean: corals and sea fans scattered across the glistening, white sand bottom. Groupers and turtles cluster with lobster under each sun-dappled nugget of coral while schools of grunts and yellowtail snapper permeate the reef of Jolly Hall.

9. WRECK OF THE FRASCA, SAN SALVADOR: The isolated, beaches and clear warm waters of the quaint island of San Salvador have changed little since Christopher Columbus' arrival in 1492. The island is surrounded by waters thick with marine riches and the local grouper are known to act like loyal pets and swim with the ocean visitors. Discover the mysteries of the Wreck of the Frasca, a 261 foot freighter run aground in 1902.
