Moser-James: AS President Or Not?

by Jeanne Houck

"The office of AS President is currently vacant," stated President Pfau last Thursday in an interview with the PawPrint. "It depends on your perspective," said 1979-80 AS President Sydneye Moser-James last week. "As far as President Pfau is concerned, I was out May 3. As far as I'm concerned, I'm still legal.

The question of Moser-James' "legality" arose early this quarter when Moser-James learned she had fallen below a 2.0 grade point average (GPA) in her winter quarter grades.

According to Pfau, Moser-James' grades have fallen below a 2.0 GPA for the entire last quarter. Moser-James is required to maintain a GPA of 2.0 or better each quarter to remain AS President.

Moser-James is basing her interpretation on the AS Election Code, updated this quarter when Moser-James drew up a new "policy" that states: "If all it takes to initiate policy is for a representative from the General Counsel in the Chancellor's Office at Long Beach, then the said memo is not the 'policy' that is binding on this campus." Moser-James is charging that the Chancellor's Office is the only office that can remove her from office. "I get interpretative memos all the time that contain incorrect information," she said.

"Part of my job is to find out what's right," said Moser-James. "If it takes to initiate policies with the everyday people in Student Affairs to send out a memo, particularly on a matter which is outside their area of expertise and responsibility, that is what is to prohibit the placement officer or financial aid officer or anybody in Student Affairs to send a memo that is binding on the campus?"

Moser-James is basing her interpretation on the eligibility requirements of students. "In 1967," said Moser-James, "the Student Affairs Committee of the Faculty Senate drew up a proposal that said students must meet the requirements of their organization to hold offices. This proposal was passed by the Faculty Senate and approved by the Academic Council. Under that policy I am still eligible for the office of AS President as I meet the requirements of the AS." Moser-James maintains that she is eligible for the AS President's office June 1, 1979.

Pfau is basing his interpretation on a memorandum from Chancellor Glenn S. Dunmik to the college presidents of the CSUC system in December, 1972.

The memo summarizes the "Minimal Criteria for Qualifications for Student Officers" that were agreed upon by the Chancellor's Council of Presidents (CCOP) the preceding September.

The memo states that "all undergraduate and graduate incumbents of an office must earn, with a grade point average of 2.0 or better, a minimum of 7 units of academic credit each term while in office.

The memo also states that "these requirements are independent of any additional institutional, student government, or student organization requirements.

Moser-James said that Philip Johnston, assistant to the Chancellor's Office at Long Beach, called her "just a recommendation" that policy was asymptomatic in this, said Moser-James. "He said campuses could use it or not as they choose.

Pfau was equally emphatic about hearing a representative from the General Counsel in the Public Administration graduate student portion of the vote, with 240 ballots cast in his favor. Five hundred and eighty-three students voted in the run-off election, held last May 2 at 5:15 p.m., a voter turnout of 42 percent of the total student body of 4,420.

Fortner received 58 percent of the vote, with 337 ballots cast in her favor. Opponent Tim Hamre, Public Administration graduate student, carried 42 percent of the vote, with 240 ballots cast in his favor. Five hundred and eighty-three students voted in the run-off election, held last May 2 at 5:15 p.m., a voter turnout of 42 percent of the total student body of 4,420.

The women requested that the results of the elections be invalidated and the election procedures be lightened as they alleged campaign materials supporting Pfizer were at the polls May 2 at 5:15 p.m., a violation of the AS Election Code.

They also charged some supporters of Pfizer with conflict of interest as they alleged campaign materials supporting Pfizer were at the polls May 2 at 5:15 p.m., a violation of the AS Election Code.

Fortner became 1979-80 AS President during the campaign. I invite anyone to stop and talk to me anytime they feel like the need.

Fortner, as well as the other new AS officers, is scheduled to resume her office June 1, 1979. As was reported in last week's PawPrint: Debbie Tamayo, who came in third in the campaign for AS President, and Sandra Redal, who lost the Vice-Presidential to incumbent Bruce Jeter, filed a letter to Election Committee Chair Kevin Luster contesting the results of the general elections held May 2 and 3.

Both the administration and Moser-James stressed that although they disagreed with one another over this issue, they still respected one another. "Sydneye has been a fine, diligent president," said Pfau. "and she was an excellent PawPrint editor. She has done a lot for this college, and the system..."
Free Lecture On White-Collar Crime

What's the number one crime category today? Not burglary, auto theft, or even rape, but white-collar crime.

Embezzlement, petty business theft, commercial fraud, and the like make up the bulk of the crime problem, according to Gilbert Geis, author of the best-selling book, "White-Collar Crime," who will speak here tomorrow at 8 p.m. in PS 10.

His topic will be "Respectable Crime and Respectable Criminals: White-Collar Crime."

In his book, Dr. Geis, professor of social ecology at the University of California, Irvine, will examine the problems and reasons of white-collar crime, defined loosely as offenses committed by persons in government, business, and the professions in their occupational roles.

His book, "White-Collar Crime," is considered the primary work in the field. He has published more than 200 articles, research papers and books in this area and has conducted research in England, Sweden and Australia.

He has studied at the University of Stockholm, Colgate University and Brigham Young University. He received his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

Campus Attacked! Police Chase Bovine Villains

by Mark Kamenovich

During the early afternoon of Tuesday, May 8, Campus engaged in a cross country vehicular chase to stop a small black and white cow and mother, entered the campus grounds during the day and were driven off by a police siren.

Early reports of a junkie assault on the Health Center were proven erroneous.

This report states that the bull came to the electric corral, which opened, and he wandered through the corridors.

White caution is advised while walking on the grass, there is need for further alarm or concern.

PawPrint Visits Child Care Center

by Patty Wagner

Last Friday morning when everyone else was participating in the same “ho-hum” routine of attending classes, I set out with the PawPrint Undercover Agent, Dan Kopulsky and the well-known photographer, Miles Boyter to visit the CSCSB Child Care Center.

While Dan entertained some of the children (or vice versa) and Miles took pictures, I decided to be useful and find out some details about the Child Care Center. Here is what I discovered:

The Child Care Center primarily services students at CSCSB. It allows single parents to have the opportunity to take classes. In addition, some of the members are children of faculty or staff, and some are children of the community.

According to Theresatantz, director, there are children of faculty and staff, and some are children of the community.

“Entry Level Positions in the Federal Government” is the topic for the Career Conversation on Wednesday, May 23. The event will be held in Student Union meeting rooms A and B beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Ada Halbrook from the Social Security Administration in San Bernardino will be the resource person. She has worked in various Federal office locations including Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, and several California cities.

The positions she will be describing require a bachelor’s degree but not advanced degrees such as the master’s or doctorate. These are people-centered jobs requiring interaction with clients and include many one-to-one situations in which procedures and requirements are explained.

Most of these entry level positions begin at the GS 5 level, which currently is $10,507; the positions are part of a career ladder arrangement which goes to $17,532. There are no restrictions regarding academic major.

Halbrook is knowledgeable about the entire process including the PACE examination and related application details. This will be an excellent opportunity for students to become aware of federal career possibilities at the bachelor’s degree level.

Career Conversations is a series sponsored by the Career Planning and Placement Center. It is designed to provide students with an opportunity to talk informally with a person in a particular professional or career area. Freshmen through seniors are invited to participate in the Conversation. Questions will be welcomed!

As part of its efforts to expand operations, the California State Student Association has announced an opening for a newly formed position of Fundraiser.

Applications are available at three locations on campus — the Placement Office, the Dean of Students Office and the Associated Students Office. Interviews will be held in June.

Careers are to become available no later than June 1.

The position is open to all CSUC students and recent alumni. It is a one-year position paying $585 per month, plus 17 percent commission for a total salary not to exceed $15,000 for the first year. The Fundraiser would start as soon as possible after July 1. The Fundraiser will seek cash donations and grants, develop travel programs, insurance plans, conferences, etc., on behalf of the CSSA.

The position is made possible due to one-year special allocations by several campuses, and will exist on a one-year trial basis in an attempt to make the CSSA self-supporting. It is the intent of the Association to have the position self-supporting within

They're On The "Horns Of A Dilemma"

You never would have guessed that the office of AS President was vacant (see "Moser-James: President Or Not?" page 1) if you had walked into the AS office last week. I'm sure the first thing you would have volunteered the information. Everything was business as usual, at least on the surface, to the point of Sydnee Moser-James being out of town for three days as the California State Student Association's liaison to the Statewide Academic Senate. She sure looked like she was AS President anyway.

"I don't know what Sydnee is doing," said President Pfau last week. What Sydnee is doing, is "everything I usually do except for anything that would commit the AS, such as signing payment authorizations."

This has gone on for two more weeks. It will be time for the new AS President to assume her office anyway.

"What Is most striking about this situation Is not Moser-James handling of it. Moser-James always does her homework. Did the administration really expect Moser-James to step down when she was quietly asked to resign? Just because a Vice-President, Treasurer, Justice and a couple of Senators did for the same reason this year? Of course not. Moser-James has been well aware of the eligibility policies "floating around campus" (her words) and proceeded to turn up "an incredible amount of evidence" to show she Is in.

"So?" Moser-James said that only Jeter, Sweeney, and Executive Assistant Tim Hamre knew of the problem. Moser-James, of course, has also known of the problem for some time, and has been working within it for half a quarter. In fact, If she can hang on to her undisclosed "last shot" and "float around campus" (her words) and proceed to turn up "an incredible amount of evidence" to show she Is in, she has also shown her office anyway.

"We don't intend to take any further steps to remove Sydnee from her office," said President Bruce Jeter last week. "We don't need to."

"No!"

"No?"

Moser-James says she spends about 60 hours a week on the AS, and was on the road 21 days last quarter. Moser-James has provided many beneficial programs for the campus community. Each quarter we have three or four meetings in which topics are discussed concerning gay men and women in our society. These topics encourage gay students, as well as gay staff and faculty, to express their views on gay lifestyles. Moreover, we can learn more about ourselves, and counteract the negative social biases we have been given. Gay men and women, as well as supportive non-gay students are encouraged to attend.

Although discussions entail much of our program, we also have sponsored other events and activities. For example, during the fall quarter, our efforts in the No On Proposition 6 campaign proved to be a rallying force for many students, faculty and staff who were stirred by such a threatening legislation. In the winter quarter, our special presentation of the documentary, "Word Is Out!" produced a large audience.

Our future activities include: Wednesday, May 16th, 1 p.m. in the Free Speech Area (between the Information and Library) a picnic; bring your lunch. Next Wednesday, May 30th, in the Student Union meeting room A: an open forum with Dr. Pat Blumenthal, psychologist, speaking on counseling with gay people.

In conclusion, the Gay Student Union has been and continues to be an organization actively supporting the students on our campus. The GSU provides an opportunity to meet and know each other; to learn about our lifestyle and counteract negative self-images; and to develop a healthy, integrated identities as men and women who happen to be gay (in a society which often understands little about sexuality, and less about diversity in lifestyles).

President, CSCSB Gay Student Union

There will be a general meeting for the Committee For Clubs on Monday, May 21, in the Student Union meeting rooms A and B at noon. It is important that all clubs send a representative to this meeting. We will be electing officers for next year, approving a small change in the Rules and Procedures and discussing the guidelines for the "Club of the Week" award. The Spanish Club meets every Monday at noon in LC 271.

The Gay Student Union will meet tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Free Speech Outdoor Arena, between the Administration building and the Library. This will be a casual affair and will give students a chance to get to know each other. In case of rain the GSU will meet in Student Union meeting room A.

See The Winter's Tale This Thursday

by Patty Wagner

The Theatre Arts department's presentation of Shakespeare's The Winter's Tale will open this Thursday at 8:15 in the Creative Arts Theatre.

Theatre Arts Professor William Slout is the director, Theatre Arts lecturer Fred Chuang is the designer, and Theatre Arts junior Suzanne Kruk is the stage manager for this production which features 22 actors and a huge supporting crew.

Chuang is responsible for the set, lights, and costumes of this play.

He is using only a plain platform and a few props for the entire set, as was done in Shakespeare's time.

Lighting plays an integral part on this set as it provides all the background effects. To create different effects with the lights, Chuang is using "gobos," square pieces of metal with a design carved in them. When attached directly to the lights, gobos send out spectacular arrays of light shapes on dark backgrounds.

The costumes were designed in a fundamentally Gothic fashion. Chuang modified the fashion a bit both because he prefers individual expression over strict historic design, and because of the lack of time needed to build authentic Gothic costumes.

Although this is Kruk's first position as stage manager, she has had minimal past experience, according to Slout, she instinctively knows what the director wants from her and what she must do to accomplish it.

Kruk says that through this experience she has learned that there is a lot of work involved in a production and that everybody must work together to "launch it off the ground."

When asked why he chose a Shakespearean work, Slout stated that this is an "educational institution" and that his main objective in a production is to "train young actors."

He can see no better way to do this than performing Shakespeare. For in Shakespeare, said Slout, the challenges are endless and the young actors encounter various problems which they must solve.

Winter's Tale will be presented May 17-19, and May 22-26. Call the Theatre Arts department for tickets at 887-7452 or 887-7580. Students with ID's and senior citizens will be admitted for $1.50, everyone else $2.50.

Choir To Sing With San Bernardino Symphony

The CSCSB Concert Choir will join with the Riverside City College Chamber Singers and Victor Valley College Singers for a performance with the San Bernardino Symphony Sunday, May 20.

The combined 70-voice choirs and symphony will present Ralph Vaughan-Williams' "In Windsor Forest" at 3 p.m. in San Bernardino's California Theatre of Performing Arts. The special presentation is part of the San Bernardino Symphony's season program.

Directing the musicians will be Dr. Albert Bolet, who is in his second season as musical director of the San Bernardino Symphony Orchestra.

"In Windsor Forest" is a five-movement cantata arranged from Vaughan-Williams’ opera, "Sir John In Love," which is based on Shakespeare's "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

The first movement, "Sigh No More. Ladies," will feature the women's chorus and orchestra. The second piece, "Drinking Song," will be for the men's chorus and the orchestra. In the third section, "Falstaff and the Fairies," Carol Woodruff of Highland, a junior music education major at Cal State, will be the soprano soloist.

The final movements, "Wedding Chorus" and "Epilogue," will feature the mixed choirs and orchestra.

Popular selections by the symphony will complete the afternoon's program.

The Cal State choir is directed by Loren Fillbeck, associate professor of music. John Ross is the director of the Riverside City College Chamber Singers and Thomas Miller directs the Victor Valley College Singers.
