AIDS Quilt visits CSUSB

By Toni Calviao Mellinger
Staff Writer

Part of the NAMES project, the AIDS Quilt, touched the CSUSB campus Thursday and February 6, and 9. The quilt consists of thousands of 3x6 foot panels decorated by friends and family members of AIDS victims.

Quilt representative, Rev. Ed Sunderland, brought part of it to the Student Union Mult-Purpose room at CSUSB for people in San Bernardino to see.

Several of the panels in the display bear the names of some of Sunderland's close friends including Jack Caster, one of the founders of the NAMES project who had actually been involved in bringing the quilt project to life.

The purpose of the project said Sunderland, is to "help people understand that AIDS isn't just a gay disease," and to take seriously the lives of those who have died from it.

Each 3x6 foot panel in the quilt is sewn together with cable ties.

The huge memorial has been displayed as one unified patchwork on the White House lawn once a year, for the last three years.

The quilt idea was conceived during a gay pride march in 1986. Members of the marchers carried cardboard picket signs bearing the names of loved ones who had died of AIDS. At the end of the march, the marchers leaned their pickets in one large group against a wall, creating a sort of temporary memorial - until it started to rain, smearing the writing on the cardboard.

But from this short lived spectacle grew the idea that the people who had died from this era changing epidemic deserved a more permanent display of recognition.

The first quilt panel was made in early summer of 1986 by Cleve Jones, memorializing the name of Marvin Feldman. In a few months seventy panels had been created and by October 1987, when the quilt was first displayed, it contained 2,000 separate panels.

That number grew to 8,000 in 1988, and according to last count in 1989 there are now over 11,500 panels in the quilt which, if put together, would weigh 13 tons.

"They won't be able to do that (put the quilt together) ever again," said quilt volunteer Michael Schaefer, "because there are just too many panels."

Each panel is a very personal and emotional-evoking work of art that serves as a very effective statement about AIDS.

Denise Saalfeld pauses in front of several of the panels of the AIDS Quilt.

Old policy still prowling dark, unsafe campus

By Kim Kelley
Staff Writer

The Public Safety policy for CSU campuses has not been changed in more than ten years. This policy provides a formula for the amount of officers each campus Public Safety department can employ.

During the 1960s, rises in urban crime was reflected in campus communities. Social and political changes brought student rebellion and demonstrations to campuses. Police problems, were dealt with by security departments. Personnel were not sworn peace officers, and they lacked proper training.

In July 1974, a Public Safety pilot program was implemented at CSU Northridge. The two year program focused on promoting a proactive approach to student safety.

A Public Safety Advisory Committee was established throughout the entire CSU system to review the program's progress and develop recommendations for the followings for one Public Safety Department. The committee was formed by Chancellors Lauritsen and Dinkins.

At the end of the trial period in 1976, recommendations were given to adopt the Northridge approach. But from this short lived success, the formula was established by Leonard Farwell said. "We have a very safe campus, we have to look at it in relation to other campuses."

CSUSB currently has five dispatcher positions.

The formula produces a very safe campus, we have to look at it in relation to other campuses, sometimes for two dispatcher positions are not adhered to but usually they are not followed exactly," he said.

While the formula provides for two dispatcher positions, CSUSB currently has five dispatchers. "We have used all of these positions for one year, and augmented the budget with two additional," said Captain Farwell. "After that, we felt it was more important to have this additional officer position used for a dispatcher, we had ten full time officers, and these positions were not used because of our small size." Farwell said.

The formula was designed to help people understand the pain of AIDS.

"They won't be able to do that (put the quilt together) ever again," said quilt volunteer Michael Schaefer, "because there are just too many panels."

By William Lundquist
Staff Writer

ASl President dodges motion of censor by Board of Directors

The Board of Directors of Associated Students, Inc. (ASI) voted on February 6 to table a motion of censure against ASI President Aaron Watson.

Though the motion, described by Vice President Ruma Said as "a small slap on the wrist," was tabled, it could be resuscitated at a future date.

A motion was made to erase all charges as if they had never existed, but it lacked the necessary two-thirds majority to pass.

Watson was accused of not carrying out the duties of ASI president. The specific charge had to do with not posting required office hours, not attending meetings and conferences, and not making appointments for vacant positions.

Watson countered that he has appointed more people to the various ASI committees than most prior administrations.

Watson said "We executed the office of the presidency better than anyone in the past ten years."

Satisfied that Watson is now more aware of his duties, the board resumed the business of taking care of the needs of CSUSB students.

Watson added "My hand was always out to work with the executive officers. But it has to be a two-way street."
PERSONALS

Hey you married men in 103 E. No, I aint got no girlfriend, NO, I aint got no baby, A lot of ladies? NAH, They want money! One Short Spike

Elisa R. Please call Cheryl G. about France, as soon as possible.

To all Sigma Nu Brothers, Here's to the best and safest special day. Sheri-Ciao! In love ya guys.

Chris, Thanks for being such a good friend! Your listening ear has made my life a lot easier. Remember, stress is good for the soul. Ha! Ha! Love, Tracy.

Deanna, Tim, and the K-Man, Tuesday nights would not be the same without you! Happy V.D.!! Love ya guys. B.O.Q.

Team Chalk, We did it! HFGGBAGMF was a great success. Thanks for your dedication and hard work. Your mighty leader, Kyle.

Brother commander, Why are we here? (R.M.'s says) to be a chapter of Sigma Nu

Dear certain Alpha Phi's, Be nice and Be careful, remember we got you on tap! Sigma Nus.

To: Li C. The last two weeks have been the greatest. Glad your mom, SN forever. E.C.

To Tami (Alpha Delta Pi) I'm not mad at you! I was just joking. Randy (Sigma Nu)

To Kristin, Christy, and Gwen, I'm glad that we've still stayed friends. I hope we'll do a lot together this year. Let's get together and party this year. Friends, Randy (Sigma Nu)

T.J. was awesome let's do it again!! The Men of Sigma Nu

Deanna and Kelly. You're one of the greatest women a guy could ever hope to know. Lots of Love, Tim.

To the girl of our dreams, With the Blue of her eyes and The Gold of her hair, you're forever our love! Happy Valentine's, Mike and Kermit.

Smelly, I hope that you get a big, fat...for Valentine's Day. You deserve it! Deanna and Kelly, You two deserve a dozen roses for Valentine's Day. You are the greatest! I love you both, Jake.

Lauren H., I've enjoyed many laughs that we shared together. I hope there will be many more. Happy Valentine's Day. A brother in Christ.

Deanna and Kelly, The two of you have made my college days truly the Wonder Years of my life. Happy Valentine's Day. A brother in Christ.

Ladies of Alpha Phi, Thanks so much for showing your hospitality. We're going to be very active together this year. Let's get social. The Men of Sigma Nu.

Lisbeth, Please be my Sigma Nu Valentine. Love, Steven.

Happy Valentine's Day to Deanna and Kelly. You're one of the greatest women a guy could ever hope to know. Lots of Love, Tim.

To the girl of our dreams, With the Blue of her eyes and The Gold of her hair, you're forever our love! Happy Valentine's Day. Mike and Kermit.

Johnny Whaley of Sigma Nu.

You have every right to expect your partner to respect and protect your health. If you're having sex, be sure you're using a latex condom every time. More information and tips on safe sex. Call 1-800-922-2437 or in Southern California 1-800-367-2437.

Tara McDonald, Happy Valentine's Day! I hope we get good grades in art. Sean Whaley of Sigma Nu.

Greg, You are very special to me. My heart is with you today, and you already know how much I love you! Happy Valentine's Day! Love, Tara.

Happy Valentine's day Kristen (The Pec-horse) Thank you for putting up with my obnoxious antics. Love ya, Jason Houghton.

To all Alpha Phi's, Thank you for welcoming us so warmly. Happy Valentine's day. Love, Jason Houghton.

Christy Ulrich Happy Valentine's, I hope you have a great day. I'm glad we are becoming good friends. Sean Whaley, LN

Mellanie Cartwright, Happy Valentine's day from your Indian buddy. Sean Whaley, LN.

Schlepp, Douggle, and All of My Sigma Nu Brothers, You're such buds!! Have a Happy Valentine's Day! Love, Cheryl S.

Carol, Looking forward to going out again soon Happy Valentine's Day! Love, 79703 156
Aaron Watson focuses on change

By William Lundquist
Staff Writer

Aaron Watson is proud of his accomplishments. As president of Associated Students, Inc. (ASI), he has tried to move CSUSB in new directions for students.

Watson feels he is in tune with the needs of students. After graduating in political science, Watson intends to go to law school, hopefully at Harvard. He would like to open his own practice in international corporate law.

When asked about future political plans, he jokingly replied, "Not unless I feel I've been told by God that I should run for public office."

As for the next ASI election, he said, "I would hope that students in the future at the polls take a long, hard look at the candidates." He would rather see students cast no vote at all than an uneducated vote.

Despite some criticism of his administration, he summed up by saying "I hope students remember me for some accomplishments."

SAFETY

Confusion from front page said.

The following CSU campuses are staffed as follows: Bakersfield currently has over 5,000 students. The Public Safety Office employs 8 officers, including the Chief. Hayward, which is comparable to CSUSB, has over 12,000 students. The Public Safety office has seven officers, two Sergeants, a Lieutenant, and the Chief, for a total of 11, formula standard. Sonoma has over 7,000 students and has nine officers including the Chief. Stanislaus has 10 officers and the Chief, also formula standard.

Do these numbers convince you to change at CSUSB regarding the number of officers on campus? Associated Students definitely thinks so.

"The rape on campus last year took place around the polls went into office. We decided then to make it a priority to focus on Public Safety and it has since become my project," said Associated Students Vice President Rima Said.

The trustee policy is 10 years old and should be updated. Our campus may not have had too many serious incidents, but suppose we do. Most of the time there is only one officer on duty. Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights there are three, but that might not be enough.

Associated Students recently asked Chief Ed Harrison and Leonard Farwell to attend a board meeting to answer a few questions. According to Said their responses were very frustrating. "The attitude seemed to be that if we don't have problems why spend resources we don't have. But as we continue to grow our crime problems will just increase. Academics are vital but a safe environment enable good academics."

A problem with the formula is that it doesn't take into consideration the changes that have taken place over the last ten years. The formula is strictly for students. It doesn't take into consideration non-students, events such as dances, living on campus, commercial developments, or growth in the surrounding areas," Mutch said. "It is probably outdated."

There have been several changes that have taken place during the past ten years that the formula just doesn't take into account. Housing on campus has increased by 35 percent. There are also several thousand students living off-campus within a one mile radius.

There are 13 percent more parking spaces on campus. The need for additional parking has meant more parking structures on campus which are especially conductive to crimes. Auto thefts have increased 109 percent.

The area surrounding CSUSB is growing tremendously each year. This growth adds an influx of people and higher crime potential as well as a larger area the officers have to patrol.

There is also a mutual aid agreement between campus police and the SBPD. When there is an officer not available the campus police will respond to local calls and the SBPD will aid campus.

"We often get calls to help in Devil's Canyon located on the rise Apartment complex," Chief Ed Harrison said. This adds additional demands on officers time.

Athletic programs have expanded as well. A stadium is being proposed for football which will only increase the flux of people and parking problems.

In March 1988 the Bureau of Criminal Statistics showed a drop in California Crime Index and FBI Crime Index for 1987. CSU showed an increase.

Violent crimes have increased 58 percent, manslaughter 55 percent, personal property loss 77 percent, personal property loss 353 percent, and felony arrests 105 percent. This is in the process of hiring two new officers. However, officers must go through a physical and psychological examination, a complete medical examination and a complete background investigation. This can take one to three months. Depending on expiration dates, officers may take additional training time before an officer is actively working alone in the field.

In September 1989, the Board of Trustees of CSU Senate report was sent to the legislature to amend the 1989/90 support budget. The report asked for additional dispatchers and an increase in officer staffing by 23.6 positions which would bring authorized officer staffing to 327.3 for the CSU system. The increase would have been in the amount of $2,459,797.00. The amendment failed.
Briefs

Black theater helps others understand

Ever since the fast and furious social upheaval of the 1960s, a quiet revolution has been waged in black theatre. "In the sixties, and to a certain extent in the seventies, there was a kind of vulgarity in black theatre—necessarily," says Kathryn Ervin, a professor of theatre arts at CSUSB. Ervin taught black theatre history for several years before coming to the university this past fall.

"The language of black theatre in the 60s was offensive, explains Ervin. "There were going to be names called. There were going to be guns. Because that's where black Americans saw themselves politically."

But a "reclamation" period has taken place over the last 20 years, says Ervin. Black heroes today are "grass roots heroes" and heroes taken from history, such as black women who helped settle the West or black entertainers who broke down color barriers 50, 60 and 70 years ago and set the stage for their successors, she adds. "So there's a reclamation in a much more positive sense."

"Even though racism persists," says Ervin, she believes black theatre has played a role in helping others understand the black experience. Ervin was impressed with the number of races and nationalities represented at the National Black Theatre Festival held last August in Winston-Salem, NC, where she presented a research paper.

Money for students in the spring

The California Faculty Association, San Bernardino Chapter, will award one scholarship each to an undergraduate and graduate student. The scholarships will cover tuition and fees, and provide $50 toward books for Spring 1990. Only CSUSB students are eligible. Candidates must write an essay of no more than five typewritten, double spaced pages focusing on the positive contributions of cultural diversity to quality education. Each entry should include a cover page with the student's name, undergraduate or graduate status, social security number, address, and phone number. Scholarships will be awarded to the essays. They will be resolved using GPA's. Entries are due March 30, 1990. Submit them to Dr. Mary Smith's mailbox, AD 135 or her office, AD 174.

Job search workshop today

Dr. Dan King, Assistant Superintendent of Personnel Services for the San Bernardino City Unified School District will present a workshop titled "Interview Skills and Job Search Techniques for Teachers" in the Student Union Multi-Purpose Room tonight beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Rec sports poker game tonight

-CSUSB Recreational Sports will hold its annual Poker Night Tournament tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Union. The game will be "Hold 'em" a form of seven card stud. Three tables of eight players each will be set up, and though no real money is used, a good time is expected for all. Prospective players may sign-up on the entry form posted on the Rec Sports Board in the Pub. The game is closed when all 24 spaces are filled. Late arrivals may be replaced so be ON TIME! For more information and a copy of game rules call x2235. "Don't Speculate, Recreate!"

Chinese student celebrates Lunar New Year Friday 6:00

The Chinese Student Association will present Chinese Lunar New Year Festivities in the Creative Arts Building Recital Hall Friday February 16 at 6 p.m. Tickets are available at the ASI Box Office and the International Student Services Office. Tickets may also be purchased at the door. Admission is $7 for adults and $4 for children.

Scholarships available

Scholarship applications are available for the 1990-91 academic year. Some of the scholarships will be awarded based on merit only, but most of the awards are based on financial need as well as merit.

To apply for the first list of scholarships:
1. You must have a grade point average of at least 3.0
2. Complete the scholarship application available at the Financial Aid Office (SS-143).
3. Submit two letters of recognition (at least one must be from a present or former instructor).
4. Submit a Student Aid Application for California Student Assistance (SSA) immediately to be considered for the scholarships based on need as well as merit.

Scholarships are awarded to new and continuing students in accordance with the terms of the gift. Students will be considered for all scholarships for which they may be eligible.

THE MOST EXCITING FEW HOURS YOU'LL SPEND ALL WEEK.

Build your self-confidence in this exciting Army ROTC elective. We'll get you out of the classroom and into adventure.

Open to all freshmen and sophomores without obligation. Class size is limited so register today.

For more information, contact Maj Mike Rebel, Student Services 126 or call 887-9545 (collect).
Article on Wieny called unfair and biased

Dear Editor

If someone accused you of murder, you could expect that a fairly thorough examination of both the accusation and the supporting evidence would take place: you would be tried before a jury of your peers and be defended by a trained attorney; and—because you are innocent until proved guilty—the state would have to prove "beyond reasonable doubt" that you had in fact committed murder. You would have no open trial, no jury, no lawyer to represent you, no opportunity for cross examination, and would be presumed guilty unless you could prove your own innocence. (And notice what a difference this makes: it's much harder to prove that a student is innocent of the charges that were made against him. It's depressing that the Chronicle, now that it's decided to write about the story, has failed to note that "guilty" and "convicted" in this case mean something quite different from what they would mean applied to the result of a normal criminal trial, and has not bothered to discuss the highly equivocal that served as the basis for this "conviction". Your article gives one side—the prosecutorial side—of a case which is far less clearcut than you make it out to be. Bigotry is certainly an evil, but so is character assassination. Now that you have broached the subject, you owe it to Professor Wieny (and to your readers, and to the truth) to provide a fuller and more balanced account of this unhappy matter.

Peter Schroeder
Department of English

In defense of Division II move, PE programming

Dear Editor

I am writing in regard to Mr. Paul Lindberg's letter regarding the "The Move to Division II". If Mr. Lindberg is such a "real student", why didn't he do his research on this topic?

First of all, Mr. Lindberg wanted to know what the jump to Division II would do for the every day student who is not involved in any physical education activities. For one, the physical education department is not responsible for our sports programs. We have full time Athletic Director, Mr. David L. Suenram, who does a tremendous job with our program.

As an advocate for our athletes, I resent the fact that Mr. Lindberg denounces our athletes as not real students. These student athletes are majoring in many different areas. Some even major in "Physical Education." Since I am a "Physical Education" major, I feel obligated to respond to Mr. Lindberg's reference that maybe Physical Educators can't write, because he never knows when the facilities are available to use. The tried reading, he might see the recreational bulletin posted throughout the Physical Education Department which describes free time use of our facilities. There are a variety of recreational and intramural activities Mr. Lindberg could participate in if he so desired. Also, the Physical Education Department has a wide range of activities "Mr. Lindberg" could enroll in. Finally, "Mr. Lindberg", maybe you could go out for a sport. Please, remember these are all separate programs.

In reference to the grant, the Physical Education Department needs facilities very badly. Our University has the poorest physical education facilities in the State system. Maybe, then we would be better able to accommodate our students needs.

Mr. Lindberg complains about his needs, but Physical Education majors haven't had their needs met and our education has suffered. The Physical Education Department has tremendous faculty, and does a great job with the facilities we have.

Rob Bock
"A real student"

Fetus' rights are part of the argument too

Over the past year men and women have felt the need to take a stand on abortion. This controversial issue has put the United States Supreme Court, Justice in a very difficult position, this latter turning the issue over to every state in the nation to decide whether or not to legalize abortion.

But no one ever talked about what's best for the fetus' own good. I believe having no abortions at all is a bad choice. Besides the idea of a woman's right to choose, a no abortions law forces every child to enter into the world, regardless of the infant's condition or health. The lives of some of these children are not worth saving in the first place. Uncontrollably, some of these children entering the world, now and in the future, will be born with such handicaps, including birth defects, mental retardation, kidney and liver malfunctions. Having no abortions at all gives no choice. It forces a deformed, disabled or handicapped child to live in a world of complications and possibly constant pain.

Saving children's lives may be the anti-abortionists' philosophical idea of the rights to have a human life but there isn't really much sense to save a life, if a handicapped person cannot fully enjoy life.

By Karen Rea Thai Student

The Chronicle
Publications Staff

Editor-in-Chief Kevin R. Horney
Managing Editor Tracy Bellon
Business Manager Deanna Cordell
Production Editor Shawn Warner
Photo Editor Ted Fisher
Advertising Manager Timotheo Haslet
Production Staff Deborah Greer Bret Knight Kerry Bassett Michael Leinbach Carol Quinones
Circulation Manager Michael Leinbach
Copy Editor Lisa Clara Ann Guvalsen
Faculty Advisor Ralph Nichols

Chronicle Policies

The Chronicle welcomes views from readers on a wide variety of topics. Letters and commentaries may be sent to the editorial office at 5500 University Parkway. Letters must be typed and signed and must include phone number, class standing and student I.D. number. Faculty or staff members must include job titles. All letters should be as brief as possible and are subject to editing for purposes of condensation and layout.
Is this an uninformed campus? In defense of ASI

Dear Editor

I would like to thank Ms. Morgan McColum. Her feelings towards the lack of information on campus was not unlike what I have been feeling. I believe this to seem a mere rebuttal to her sound words. My point was that ASI as a whole has little or no contact with all students to get involved on their campus.

Ms. McColum seems to think there was a conspiratorial nature to the ASI meetings regarding the proposed referendum. If ASI as a whole and the athletic department wanted to "bulldoze the measure through", how was Ms. McColum able to attend, let alone find out about the meeting on 30 January 1980? The answer is simple; she took it upon herself to become involved with an issue that directly affects all students.

Let's be honest, if there was not such a hot issue as referendum would anybody attend the ASI Board meetings to find out how Club X was proposing a dinner dance to promote National Pizza Day? Obviously not. The day to day operation of the campus funding is not of import to almost all students.

Ms. McColum was correct in asserting that this campus is uninformed. The fault is not that of ASI, but rather our illusory newspaper The Chronicle. According to Mary Kehew, executive secretary for ASI, they (the board) have been begging with him have been quick to apply these labels at every opportunity. Not once has his son been asked my husband personally or professionally or even seen fit to use these terms. Why? Because he has a long history of actions that would be unconceivable for anyone who is a black race. It is not trying to get the message across to anyone who is black.

In the late 1940's he and a group of friends walked out of a diner in Mason because the waitress refused to serve a member of the group who was black.

He has several times made anonymous contributions to the YMCA on behalf of minority children who did not have the financial resources to pay their dues.

He worked for two summers with Upward Bound on campus and received high ratings from all students involved.

He had an active role in recruiting two of the three black members currently teaching in the P.E. department.

He was a counselor and advisor for several black students who still stay in contact with him, and who have written to thank him for his contributions to their educational success.

He has, for several years, included in his History of Physical Education class a special unit on the contributions of black athletes to sports and society.

In order to retain minority members on his community swim team, he has often driven these youths to and from practice and games because their parents were not able to transport them.

Granted, this is fairly short list, but if space allowed many more instances could be supplied. Dozens of people have come forward since this charge to say that they know from years of personal experience and Economic growth will continue though the '90s

By Thomas J. Pierce, Professor of Economics
Special to The Chronicle

Is recession upon us or does the longest peacetime expansion in U.S. history still have some steam? Certainly there are signs of weakness in the economy. Auto producers are temporarily shutting down plants across the country, bank portfolios are riddled with delinquent real estate loans, and the consumer spending spree of the latter 1980s appears to be over. Nevertheless, the U.S. economy is likely to continue expanding through 1990. The pace of economic activity, however, will slacken this year, with the Gross National Product (GNP) growing at an annual rate of about 2 percent in comparison to 1989's 2.5 percent pace. As a result, fewer jobs will be created in 1990, causing the unemployment rate to rise slightly over the course of the year from its current 5.3 percent level. Inflation will continue in the 4-5 percent range. If the Federal Reserve continues to ease credit conditions in this environment of moderate inflation and sluggish economic growth, interest rates will decline slightly, mildly stimulating economic activity in the second half of the year.

Of course, macroeconomic projections, including those above, are far from "gospel." Over the course of a year countless factors, some of which cannot be anticipated, affect production, employment and pricing decisions. In the fourth quarter of 1989, for example, U.S. production was disrupted by an earthquake and a hurricane. More generally, macroeconomic projections are undermined by, among other things, lengthy labor strikes, sudden changes in consumer or business confidence regarding future economic prospects and, internationally, by sharp swings in the value of the dollar. Since the volume of U.S. exports depends on the economic health of our major trading partners, U.S. macroeconomic performance is even affected by how other economies perform. Despite these inherent uncertainties, there is reason to believe the U.S. economy will continue to expand in 1990, if lethargically. A brief examination of the four basic sectors of the economy shows why.

Almost two-thirds of GNP is purchased by U.S. households. The spending plans of consumers, therefore, largely determine whether, and how much, the economy grows. Inflation-adjusted household income increased 4 percent in 1989, and with the unemployment rate at its lowest level in more than 15 years, purse strings won't tighten significantly. On the other hand, with consumer debt and retail sales rising more slowly than in recent years, households appear to be spending more cautiously. The remaining three sectors of the U.S. economy—government, business and international—account for the final third of total spending. Recent events in Eastern Europe and the increasing amount of defense cutbacks this year, but overall government spending for goods and services will be flat. Both business spending on plant and equipment and international spending on U.S. exports are expected to increase in 1990, but at slower rates than last year. Con

The Chronicle

February 14

'Silly' and 'Jacques' add color to KSSB's Sports Wrap

By Jeff Kabel
Staff Writer

KLOS-FM radio disc jockeys, Mark and Brian, have attempted to jump over motorcycles in an old school attempt to jump over keys, Mark and Brian, have listened about the Coyote sports front, Pope provides more news and commentary about college and professional sports.

"I originally wanted to do 5-10 minute sports summaries," said McKenzle. "It is one of the most popular and well-prepared shows on the station."

Do either of these college sports broadcasters have future plans?

"My ultimate fantasy is to be the play-by-play announcer for the Kings," said Pope. 19, an avid hockey fan.

Puchalski, a senior, also wants to pursue a broadcasting career. He feels that many sport announcers take their craft for granted.

"Some of them stumble and fumble and use sports as a stepping stone for news," said Puchalski, the KSSB sports director.

Both students got a taste of play-by-play announcing when they broadcasted the Coyotes Homecoming basketball game, Jan. 27 against the University of California, San Diego. The Coyotes lost the game, 104-92.

So, if you ever see any Jello wrestling competitions in front of the Maui Library look for the broadcasters' table. You'll probably find "Jacques itch" and "Bad Billy" providing slippery details.

Try a New Look for a New Decade

SPECIAL PRICING

BUY ONE PAIR OF
Tinted or Colored Soft Contacts
$24.95

2nd Frame FREE!

OR

TAKE 50% OFF REGULAR PRICE
FOR A SECOND PAIR OF TINTED OR COLORED SOFT CONTACTS

Dr. Gerald H. Shepard, O.D.
886-6805

967 Kendall Dr.
Suite F
San Bernardino
In the Stater Bros. Shopping Center

NORTHSIDE OPTOMETRY

Pharmaceutical Services Available

other services available tooric soft lenses • gas permeable rigid lenses • disposable lenses

San Bernardino Vist Groups, America's Favorite Mall (714) 881-6540

Val Pak, U1980

Outside of San Bernardino Valley

Vist Groups, America's Favorite Mall (714) 881-6540

This offer is good only in the San Bernardino Valley for the purchase of a second pair of contact lenses. Cannot be combined with any other offer. Offer expires 12/31/89.

Eligible for people who wear lenses for the first time.

Photography by Gabbe Acosta

The duo also relies on East Communications and faculty assistant professor of communications and faculty advisor to KSSB, Is pleased with the show's format.

Photo by Gabbe Acosta

"Jacques Itch" bestow honors to the pro or college athlete who pulled the most "Jacques itch" and "Bad Billy," pep up local airwaves with San Bernadino

"We could have something like Jello wrestling for Kings' tickets," said Billy.

But until students are willing to compete in such events, Bill Puchalski and Jeff Pope will continue to host Sports Wrap, the sports radio talk show airing 8:30-9 p.m. Sunday nights.

Sports Wrap is one of 13 different talk shows which air during the week on KLOS-FM which is available through Comcast (106.3) and Chambers (107.5) cable companies.

While Puchalski informs listeners about the Coyote sports front, Pope provides more news and commentary about college and professional sports.

"I'm more of the funny, sarcastic guy on the show," said Puchalski.

The show's format entails news on basketball, football, hockey and sports trivia.

Jeff Pope and Bill Puchalski, alias "Jacques Itch" and "Bad Billy," pep up local airwaves with Sunday Night Sports Wrap.

Jeff is more of the funny, sarcastic guy on the show.

The show's format entails news on basketball, football, hockey and sports trivia and week-in-review segments. In the concluding segment, "Bonehead of the Week," "Bad Billy" and "Jacques Itch" bestow honors to the pro or college athlete who pulled the most noteworthy blunder throughout the week.

In doing research and preparation for the show, Pope and Puchalski use newspapers as their main source for writing the show. The duo also relies on East Coast sources for up to date sports information.

Rob McKenzie, Ph.D., assistant professor of communications and faculty advisor to KSSB, is pleased with the show's format.
Quality. You Have Our Word On It.

For Budweiser, quality is more than just a tradition. It’s a commitment. One that must be renewed each and every day.

That’s why we continue to use only the choicest ingredients. And our exclusive process of Beechwood aging. For a taste so consistent, so genuine, so fresh...it’s earned the name “King of Beers.”

Commitment to quality. Just reach for a bottle or can of Bud. You’ll find it there.

You have our word on it.

Somebody Still Cares About Quality.
GROWTH
Continued from page 8

sidering the likelihood of only a modest increase in consumer spending in conjunction with similarly moderate gains in business investment and exports, total spending should be strong enough to allow the economy to avoid recession this year, but not much more. One positive by-product of such listless growth, however, is its moderating effect on inflation.

While the economy will limp through 1990, macro-economic challenges abound. Domestically, unemployment rates for African Americans and Latinos, currently 12 percent and 8 percent respectively, must be brought in line with the national average. In addition, greater household saving and smaller federal government budget deficits are necessary to reduce capital costs and create a more favorable environment for investment. Finally, though the U.S. labor force remains the most productive in the world and substantial increases in manufacturing productivity were registered throughout the 1980s, further gains will be necessary to enhance U.S. competitiveness in international markets. Thus, while the long standing economic expansion appears likely to survive 1990, the relentless demands of market-oriented economies for efficiency, flexibility and vision will test the mettle of U.S. producers, workers and government officials as the 21st century approaches.

Order your college ring NOW.
JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™

Date: Feb 19, 20, 21
Time: 10:00am-3:00pm
Deposit Required: $25.00

Place: COYOTE BOOKSTORE
Meet with your Jostens representative for full details. See our complete ring selection on display in your college locations.

Look ing for a career opportunity?

Retail Management may be the answer!

One of the largest volume retail drug store chains in the United States has career opportunities for individuals with Bachelor degrees or equivalent experience in retail. All majors are given consideration.

We offer:

• Highly Competitive Starting Salary
• First Day Health Care
• Profit Sharing - Retirement Program
• Life Insurance
• Outstanding Merchandise Discount
• Advancement Opportunities

American Drug Stores (Sav-On/Osco) is looking for candidates with strong interpersonal skills who have the potential and the desire for a leadership position in retailing.

American Drug Stores

Your Decision. Your choice.

• Free Pregnancy Testing
• Low-Cost Early Pregnancy Tests
• Immediate Test Results
• Pregnancy Termination
• General or Local Anesthesia
• Affordable Birth Control
• Student Discount

The College Line
820-7555
FPA a choice
Family Planning
Assistances
Medical Group
Softball keeps their eyes on regional playoffs

by Jeff Zelenak
Staff Writer

A strong foundation is necessary when you are building anything that you want to be successful.

CSUSB's softball team has found its nucleus for their upcoming season, and looks to be successful.

When first year head coach, Sue Strain, came to CSUSB she stumbled onto a goldmine of talent and leadership.

This year's team success will be molded around five key players: Ann Cordaro, Lisa Hilborn, Tammy Shearer, Kathy Bingham, and Mamie LaFleur. These key players: Ann Cordaro, Lisa Hilborn, Tammy Shearer, Kathy Bingham, and Mamie LaFleur. These girls will be the nucleus of this year's team with all of their experience that they have," said Strain, who came to CSUSB from San Bernardino Valley College.

"I agree with her (Strain). She is an excellent center fielder and an excellent hitter. Last year she led the team in RBIs, fielding percentage of .910 and a school record of 82 runs scored."

"She is one of our leading hitters, she has great power at the plate and is an excellent shortstop. Her playing ability speaks for itself," said Strain.

Shearer, who also plays soccer and basketball at CSUSB, was twice named NCAA All-Western Region Second Team (1988 and '89). Last season she led the team with 20 doubles and 37 extra base hits while playing second base.

"She is a very smooth player, she's a super consistent player. Her level of dedication is very high, right now she practices softball for a couple of hours them she's a good coach. Her philosophy is working out good with all the players this year," said Bingham. LaFleur was a NCAA All-Western Region Second Team choice in 1988. She has a career ERA .86 and has a career winning percentage of .643. In her career she has only walked 25 batters in 39 games (273 innings).

"She's a solid and intelligent catcher. I'm excited to be able to coach her again," said Strain. "I think it's great (playing under Strain), she's a good coach. Her philosophy is working out good with all the players this year," said Bingham.

"She is an excellent catcher. I'm excited to be able to coach her again," said Strain. "I think it's great (playing under Strain), she's a good coach. Her philosophy is working out good with all the players this year," said Bingham. LaFleur was a NCAA All-Western Region Second Team choice in 1988.
Lady Coyotes rise in the West, defeat Tigers 79-65

The Lady Coyotes took an early lead and never relinquished it. At times the lead reached as much as 16 points, but generally stayed around 12.

The Tigers made one run at CSUSB midway through the second half, narrowing the gap to five points. The Lady Coyotes forced several turnovers, and converted them into points to stop the comeback.

Senior forwards Teri Walsh and Tammy Shearer combined to stop Colorado's inside game and force the Tigers to take the more difficult outside shots.

"I felt we took their inside game away from them," said Walsh, "they really couldn't get an outside game going.

Walsh led all scorers with 27 points, Kris Ballesteros had 12, and Lori Peters and Laura Beeman both had 10.

The win, and possible Western Regional playoff berth, comes on the dawn of a new age for CSUSB. President Anthony Evans sent off a letter of acceptance to the CCAA Conference, pushing CSUSB Athletics into Division II.

With this major victory, an 18 game win streak, and another All-American year for Walsh, CSUSB has a new team to cheer, and Friday night, 823 were on hand to do just that.

The Lady Coyotes have two remaining home games. They play Christ College-Irvine Saturday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. and Occidental College Tuesday, Feb. 20, also at 7:30 p.m. Their season will end against rival UC San Diego in San Diego on Friday, Feb 23.