Lyne Elected as New A.S. President

by Mark A. Kemenovich

Last Thursday night at 9:37 p.m. Election Chair Bruce Jeter announced the results of the A.S. Election in the Pub. Tim Hamre ran in the race for Associated Students' President with 59 percent of the votes or 357 out of 606 votes. Kathryn Fortner, current A.S. President, received 236 votes for 39 percent. Two percent, or 13 votes went to "Other" candidates. James Lyne won the election for Vice President receiving 300 of 606 votes, or 49.5 percent to Paul James Lyne won the election for Woodruff's 292 or 48 percent. The Vice President receiving 300 of votes, went to "Other" candidates. "Read to the successful can­ make this election as one of the highest in voter turnouts for this school," Tim Hamre said. "I would like to thank all those who supported me and voted for me. I couldn't have done it without you."

"I am looking forward to next year. I see it as a year of change, of innovation, as we strive to reach out and serve more of the students's whose money we are spending."

James Lyne wished to comment that "it was a very close race. We worked hard for it. I owe my elec­tion mainly to the help of Dawn Gregory, Shari Mills and Howard Sulton as well as to others. Now I plan to lock back, get my grades up so I can keep the off­ice during the summer."

"We are studying what's going on in the office now. In order to make the transition as smooth as possible, I'm looking forward to working with Tim and Wayne and I think together we'll make a great team to represent the students who I gratefully thank for their support."

Hamre and Lyne will join together with the previously elected Wayne Thies, who will be the Treasurer, to comprise the two as elected officers. Altogether, two tickets and several independent candidates campaigned for AS office. The ticket of Hamre, Flashers and Roderate, together with all of the Board of Directors, were the most successful. Although Flashers and Roderate lost their bids, Hamre will be taking office with apparent sup­port from a large section of the Board of Directors.

Mascot Confusion Continues

by Mike Smith

An attempt to clean up the confusion caused by an attempt to change the school mascot was made by President Plau on May 1 when he called to a meeting of representatives from the constituent groups to look into the mat­ter. The mascot controversy started on April 15 when the A.S. Board of Directors voted 4-0 to put the referendum dealing with the change of the school mascot from the St. Bernard to the Coyote on the April ballot. This was just one week before the elections and the item received no prior publicity. Some students expressed their displeasure of not knowing the measure was going to be on the ballot until they actually voted. The referendum stated that a 2/3 majority was needed to change the mascot to the Coyote. 364 voted for the Coyote while 220 opted to keep the St. Bernard as the mascot.

Elections Chair Bruce Jeter an­ounced the election results at 11:15 p.m. on April 24. At that time he said that the measure had failed because it did not receive the 2/3 majority required, so the St. Bernard was still the mascot.

On April 28 Mr. Jeter posted a memorandum reading that "the A.S. Elections Committee by a three to one (3 to 1) vote has reinterpreted the results of the stu­dent wide vote concerning the change in the school mascot. It had come to our attention that the A.S. Constitution states that a majority is needed to implement a referen­dum. Therefore the measure passed 364 to 220 (59 percent) Thus it (the) known throughout the land that the new SAN BER­NARDINO COYOTES."

The following day Jeter, modified his memo after he was notified by the Dean of Students Office that the procedures used were not in line with campus policy. Jeter notified The PawPrint that the student body had voted to recommend to President Plau that the school mascot be changed from the St. Bernard to the Coyote. He also stated that A.S. is urging the Faculty Senate to con­sider the same action.

Dean of Students Kenton Monroe was contacted by The PawPrint in an attempt to deter­mine the correct procedures used in changing the mascot. Monroe's office was unable to find the exact procedures, but Dean Monroe was able to give The PawPrint a summary of the new knowledge. Monroe pointed out that changing the school symbols is an institution wide concern and should involve more than just the student body. Other groups mentioned by the dean included the Alumni Associa­tion, Faculty Senate and staff representatives. These groups could present a proposal to the President through his Ad­ministrative Council.

When President Plau was asked if he had any comments on the situation, he said that he felt that it was time he "took the initiative" in dealing with the mess. He then stated his plans to form an ad hoc committee made up of various campus groups to develop a plan dealing with the school symbols.

The authority to change the school mascot and colors ultimate­ly rests with President Pfau. The board of Trustees have the power to change the school mascot and colors. The authorization is necessary to change the school mascot and colors. We are there to help anyone within our distict. Our office is very, very apolitical. True, if we do our work well, we are helping to elect a Republican, but if someone calls in, it doesn't matter what their af­filiation is. We are there to serve all constituants."

A bill, AB 234, will be considered by the State Senate in June. This bill is designed to ban discrimination against students in housing or leases. It would make it illegal to refuse to rent, sell or lease property to individuals simply because they are students. The measure requires that students be evaluated on the same basis as other tenants, and any special restrictions imposed because of student status would be outlawed.

Student legitimate leaders throughout the state have been fighting this kind of legislation for years, but to no avail. AB 234 itself was defeated by the Senate a few years ago. It was reintroduced this year by Speaker Robert Dietz of the 42nd District, and passed the Assembly last Fall, but is unfortunately being reconsidered next month.

A key to passing legislation is to let the legislator know that his constituents care about the issue. With just a few minutes of your time, you can help pass this much needed legislation.

Cal State Students Attend Model UN

by Billy McCluskey

A group of ten CSCSB social science students, along with Dr. Brij Khare acting as faculty advisor, recently attended the 64th annual meeting of the Model United Nations at the Far West which was held at San Jose State University.

Approximately 1,300 students representing over ninety universities and colleges from twenty-one western states were in attendance at the four-day conference, April 17-20.

This year CSCSB represented Colombia. The Executive Committee, comprised of the faculty advisors and delegate chairman, choose the host school two years prior to the next session. The host school is designated as the Secretariat, and provides organization and information for the attending schools, as well as assigning each member school a country to represent.

Each school is responsible for researching the country they are assigned, and must send delegates accordingly. The numbers of the delegation and the time a school is usually assigned to the country they are representing does vary. Each delegate must exemplify the actual policies of that country, and must know the rules of procedure for that particular country or council he is assigned. The results of the会议 are actually sent to the United Nations.

Jim Morone, a senior at Cal State currently working on an International Relations certificate, says, "This program gives you practical experience and allows you to actually see how the UN really works."

Susan Starbuck, also a senior at Cal State who serves as the Vice president of the Security Council, can vouch for this. She helped work on a resolution dealing with the recognition of the PLO. Their resolution was unanimously passed by the U.S. delegation.

On Saturday afternoon during a meeting of the General Assembly, the PLO was actually recognized. Miss Starbuck says, "It's a lot of work for only 5 units, but it's worth it. It's not all work and no play, as she further states that Kathy Scott, her roommate, 'was hysterical at 2-00 a.m. in the morning. She's a night person, and I'm a day person, but it was still a lot of fun.'

Other students, from Cal State who attended the MUNFW in San Jose include: Delbra Daggart, 1st Committee; Robert Morgan, 2nd Committee; Mike Robling, 2nd Committee; Kathy Scott, 3rd Committee; and Frank Wagner, Delegation Chairman.

Anyone interested in attending the MUNFW should contact Dr. Khare, of the political science department in the Fall.

People Wanted

A.S. President-Elect Tim Harms announced last Friday that he was seeking people to serve in various capacities of Associated Students and related organizations next year.

At the top of the list are people needed to chair and serve on the different executive committees. These committees include: Student Services, Publicity, Activities, Sports, Clubs, and Elections.

There are also openings on the A.S. Board of Directors to represent the Schools of Humanities and Education. Boards which will need people next year include the Social Work Union Board of Directors, the Publications Board, Instructionally Related Programs Board, and the Student Services Faculty Council.

There is also a position open on the A.S. Board of Directors to represent the Schools of Humanities and Education. Alums Recognized At Alumni Brunch

Five graduates of Cal State were honored Sunday by the college's Alumni Association, for their professional achievements and community service.

Village Track

by Tim Hamre

Serrano Village will hold its fourth annual track meet on Saturday, May 10 at the Valley College track. About 100 people are expected to participate in the events which will run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The entire college community is invited to come.

This annual event pits teams from the eight different residence dorms against each other, with a rotating plaque going to the winning dorm. The plaque spent its first two years in Miravie, and is currently in Serrano, last year's winner.

The track meet is being organized by Dennis Mondonica. Mondonica is the one who originated the track meet in 1977. This will be his last year as track meet organizer, however, as he will be graduating this year.

There are currently 114 minutes in the 13 men's events. The 13 women's events have about 85 entries. There are six teams entered.

Meet Coming

in the 4x4 relay race, Mondonica pointed out several races that should be worth watching.

in the men's 100 meter dash, Gordon Levy, Anthony Duncan, George Duncan, Ivan Glascos, Lance Schweizer, Kelly Byoks, and Hugh Jackson are all people to watch.

Eric Rydell and Dennis Mondonica are hot prospects in the men's 1600 meter race.

As to who will win this year's meet, Mondonica is predicting that Serrano should have no trouble retaining the crown. However, he expects Joshua to make a surprise second place finish, with Miravie snipping out the top three.

Citations were read and presented at an alumni recognition brunch which was a highlight of the college's 15th anniversary open house celebration. The honorees were:

Robert Botts, vice president for branch administration at Santa Fe Federal Savings and Loan Association and immediate past president of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce.

Lois J. Carlson, deputy director of the Community Service Department of San Bernardino County and president of the Board of

Library Exhibit

Features "Best Made" Western Books

An annual exhibit in the Cal State library is that of the best books printed, designed and published in the West during the previous year. This show will once again go on display April 28 in the glass case on the first floor.

More than 40 selections representing 26 categories, two dozen publishing companies have been selected by the Ronce and Collins, an informal group of professionals and educators. The books in the collection have been judged as the "Best in the West" for their content but, rather, their quality, explained John M. Low, head of library external operations.

They are being recognized for their craftsmanship, quality of paper, binding and illustrations.

The exhibit will be on display through May 23.

Interim Writing Seminar

As writing is a major problem for students, the Learning Center will offer a non-credit intermediate Writing Seminar. Students will be exposed to different types of writing assignments.

"There is not such thing as good writing, only good rewriting." Consequently, the students will have ample opportunity to improve their writing skills. Writing problems unique to the group will also be covered. Each session will be an hour long. You are invited to attend all sessions as scheduled below.

VA Steps Up Alcohol, Drug Abuse Research

LOS ANGELES — The Veterans Administration has effected the second phase of its million-dollar-a-year research program into the causes of alcoholism and drug abuse with the naming of five VA medical centers — two in California — as training sites for their Substance Abuse Fellowship project.

The medical center at Palo Alto will be assigned one physician and the center at San Francisco two physicians in July to begin the program in California. Other medical centers receiving initial fellowships include Bronx, N.Y.; Coatesville, Pa.; and West Haven, Conn.

The fellowships are for two years and six new fellows will enter the program each year for the next two years.

Training will encompass the care of veterans suffering from both alcoholism and drug abuse, which increasingly affects veterans of all ages. The psychiatric and mental health aspects of diagnosis and treatment are also an essential part of the training program.

Fellows will be trained in a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary educational program for clinical practice in substance abuse. They will be prepared to function as clinicians, teachers, researchers and directors of care of substance abuse patients in inpatient and ambulatory care settings.

These fellows will play important roles in stimulating and catalyzing research and clinical efforts in substance abuse within VA facilities. Through their part medical school appointments, the fellows are also expected to stimulate undergraduate and graduate medical education in substance abuse in the schools with which the VA medical centers are affiliated.

VA, which has moved aggressively against alcoholism and drug abuse, during the past four years, estimates that 25 percent of the patients under care in VA medical centers in 1977 were either alcoholics or problem drinkers.

During fiscal year 1981 VA will operate 152 treatment centers for alcoholism and drug abuse, 16 percent more than in 1977.
L.A. County Museum Of Art
To Celebrate Education Programs May 7, 1980

The Los Angeles County Museum of Art today announced its education programs on May 7, 1980, in conjunction with President Carter's opening of the new Cabinet-level Department of Education. The day, educational activities which are open to the entire community include a number of docent tours in the Ahmanson Gallery: "Art of Africa" at 12 noon; a Highlight Tour of the entire Ahmanson Gallery which offers an introductory survey of the Museum's permanent collection dating from ancient times to the 20th century at 1 p.m.; and a 15-minute spotlight talk on Mans Hals' painting "Portrait of a Man" at 7:30 p.m. A docent tour of the special exhibition "The Romantics to Rodin: French Nineteenth-Century Sculpture from North American Collections" will be offered at 1 p.m. in the Frances and Armand Hammer Wing. Admission to docent tours is free to Museum members and included in the general admission fee for nonmembers. At 8 p.m. in the Leo S. Bing Theater, Dr. Pratapaditya Pal, senior curator of Indian and Islamic art, will discuss the mother goddess as a symbol of fertility and abundance in a free, illustrated lecture titled "The Shrewless Woman."

Shirley M. Hufstedler, secretary of education, has recognized the vital role museums play in education and in enriching our lives. "U.S. museums," Hufstedler said, "are responsible for preserving the physical embodiments of our culture, of past civilizations and of our natural environment. The collection, restoration and preservation of the treasures of the world by museums is something for which we are all grateful."

Hufstedler continued, "I believe that working together, museums and schools can make education as vivid, vital and exciting as it should be.

Museum Director Earl A. Powell, III said, "The Los Angeles County Museum of Art recognizes its responsibility to provide the public with programs of the highest quality. Through its special exhibitions, education programs, and conservation efforts, the Museum seeks to promote excellence in learning."

Lawrence L. Reger, director of the American Association of Museums, the service organization of more than 9,000 museums nationwide, said: "On this occasion of the announcement of the new Education Department, it is important that we focus our attention on the extraordinary riches offered by our country's museums. Without museums, many of us would never observe first hand the myriad treasures of the complete human experience. With their commitment to preservation and their superb collections, museums provide us, as well as future generations, with the opportunity to know ourselves better. With museums, we can learn about our past and anticipate our future."

Of special significance to museums is the incorporation of the Institute of Museum Services within the Education Department. Lee Kunche, director of the Institute, stated, "More than any other non-traditional kind of institution, museums have taken the initiative to incorporate the educational function as an integral part of their operating objectives, rather than as a secondary result of their existence. Last year there were approximately half a billion visits to museums, and museums offered the equivalent of nearly 25 million semester hours of education. Museums are a parallel education system."

Admission to the L.A. County Museum of Art is $1 for adults and 50 cents for senior citizens and students with I.D., and young people 5 to 7. Museum members and children under 5 are admitted free. Museum admission is free to all visitors on the second Tuesday of every month: hours on these free days only are 12 noon to 9 p.m. Regular hours are Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Museum is located at 5905 Wilshire Boulevard, two blocks east of Fairfax Avenue.

Twins Focus On Selves
In Photos At ARCO Center

The relationship of twins is the focus of 25 hand-tinted prints by photographers Colleen and Kathleen Kenyon which went on display May 5 at the ARCO Center for Visual Art.

The 29-year-old twins serve as both artist and subject in these photographs. With attention to symmetry, the works explore the Kenyon's personal rituals and their delight in childhood. The show's title, "Sacred Children," refers to the custom of many African cultures that consider twins special people and honor them with pieces of art. The display will be shown through June 14. Continuing in the south gallery through May 24 is "Indians: Paintings of Contemporary Native Americans," by Wiliard Midgette.

Located on B level of Atlantic Richfield Place, 5th S. Flower St., L.A., the ARCO Center for Visual Art is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is free and validated parking is available.

The National League East has four teams capable of winning the division: the Pittsburgh Pirates, Montreal Expos, Philadelphia Phillies, and St. Louis Cardinals. The Pirates and Expos have the most reliable and steady pitchers of this bunch, but the Pirates are also strong at every position and this should lead them to another championship, Bert Bell, John Candelaria, Jim Bibby, Andy Hassler and Don Robinson will not only be supported by strong hitting but also by a strong bullpen. (Kent Tekulve, Grant Jackson, Enrique Romo, and Dave Roberts) The Expos may have a slightly better starting rotation with Bill Lee, Steve Rogers, David Palmer, Scott Sanderson and Ross Grimsley, but they have only one bullpen ace (Estes Sosa) and just average hitting.

The Phillies should beat out the Cardinals for third place. Although both teams are strong in the hitting department especially St. Louis, it is pitching that makes the difference. The Phillies have the edge here. Steve Carlton, Dick Ruthven, Larry Christenson, Nino Espinosa and Randy Lerch are all solid starters, while relievers Tom McGraw, Rawly Eastwick should be able to come from last years pitching slump. The Cardinals, meanwhile, have young pitchers who will prove themselves this year. (Félix Vuckovich, Silvio Martinez, Bob Forsch, John Fulgham and Bob Sykes) along with ace reliever Mark Littell who are all 31 years old or younger, will determine the Cardinals destiny.

The Chicago Cubs and New York Mets will once again have long mid-season slumps and not be heard from down the stretch. The Cubs have the best relief pitcher in major league baseball in Bruce Sutter, but they have become very dependent on him because they do not have much more pitching than him. Rich Reuschel, Mike Krukow, Dennis Lamp, Lynn McGlothen and Bill Caikutall are all streak pitchers. As are many of the Cubs hitters: Dick Tidrow and Willie Hernandez will try to help Sutter in the bullpen. Righthander Craig Swan has been the only mainstay of the Mets pitching staff in the last few years and this is why the Mets will finish in last place in the Eastern division.

The National League West will eventually be a three team race between the Cincinnati Reds, Los Angeles Dodgers and Houston Astros. Of the three teams, believe it or not, the Reds have the best pitching staff. The Reds strong-armed rotation has Tom Seaver, Mike LaCoss, Frank Pastore, Bob Buhl, Bonham and rookie Charlie Leibrandt with Tom Horse and Doug Bax leading an equally strong bullpen. At least two or three of the Reds starters should win 15 games or more.

The Dodgers and Astros pitching are both slightly overrated. The Dodgers stopper is Burt Hooton, while Rick Sutcliffe will try to repeat his performance of last season. Don Sutton and Dave Goltz are inconsistent, but Sutton would be a major factor toward the end of the season (if there is no strike). Unproven Bob Welch will probably be the Dodgers fifth starter. Without injured Terry Forster, the Dodgers bullpen is young and unproven. Newly acquired Bob Welch will head a relief corps full of rookie and second year major league pitchers. The Dodgers major strength is hitting and this can be attributed to the Dodger offense (if there is no strike). Unproven Bob Welch will probably be the Dodgers fifth starter. The San Francisco Giants are the best of the rest of the West. Vida Blue, Bob Knepper, John (The Count) Montefusco, Ed Halicki and Ed Whitson all slumped last season after having good seasons in 1978. A come back from this rotation is less likely than a turn like the Phillies because the hitters and defense are not as strong. The Giants bullpen has the duo of Gary Lavelle and Greg Minnow and possibly Randy Moffit, but not much else.

The Atlanta Braves and San Diego Padres have too many unproven pitchers to be contenders. The Braves have a slightly better bullpen than the Padres with Al Hrabosky and Gene Garber, while the Padres have Rollie Fingers. Mark Lee and inconsistent John D'Acquisto. The Padres have the advantage with starters Randy Jones, Rick Wise, John Curtis, Eric Rasmussen and Bob Shirley at compared to Phil Niekro, Rich Matte, B.J. Solomon, Doyle Alexander and either Larry McWilliams or Preston Hanna for the Braves. But the biggest difference between the teams is the potential hitting, where the Braves have a big advantage over the one man (Dave Winfield) hitting machine of the Padres.

There will really be no surprise teams in the National League except the Cubs before they do their annual swoon. The National League final standings will look something like this:

East Division

- Pittsburgh Pirates
- Cincinnati Reds
- Philadelphia Phillies
- St. Louis Cardinals

West Division

- San Francisco Giants
- Los Angeles Dodgers
- Houston Astros
- Atlanta Braves

National League wild card

- San Diego Padres
