Lyne Elected

Vice-President

by Mark A. Kemenovich

Last Thursday night at 9:37 p.m. Election Chair Bruce Jeter announced the results of the A.S. Election in the Pub. Tim Hamre won the race for Associated Students' President with 59 percent of the vote or 357 out of 606 votes. Kathryn Fortner, current A.S. President, received 236 votes for 39 percent. 2 percent, or 13 votes went to "Other" candidates.

Hamre Elected As New A.S. President

by Marilyn Heavilin

In 1976, when her children were 14 and 12 and she had been married for 28 years, Marilyn Clark decided to enroll as a freshman at Cal State Bakersfield. Marilyn recalls that her decision to leave school was not easy, but she knew that her children would benefit from her example. She worked hard for it and owes her election mainly to the help of Dawna Gregory, Shari Mills and Howard Sulkow as well as 10 others. Now I plan to look back, get my grades up so I can keep the office during the summer.

We are studying what's going on in the office now, in order to make the transition as smooth as possible. I'm looking forward to working with Tim and Wayne and I think together we'll make a good team to represent the students, who I gratefully thank for their support.

Hamre and Lyne will join together with the previously elected Wayne Thier, who will be the Treasurer, to comprise the new AS elected officers. Altogether, two tickets and several independent candidates campaigned for AS office. The ticket of Hamre, Flathers and Rodarte lost out by a 2/3 majority required, so the St. Bernard was still the mascot. 364 voted for the Coyote while 220 opted to keep the St. Bernard as the mascot.

Mascot Confusion Continues

by Mike Smith

An attempt to clear up the confusion caused by an attempt to change the school mascot was made by President Plau on May 1 when he called to a meeting of representatives from the constituent groups to look into the matter.

The mascot controversy started on April 15 when the AS Board of Directors voted 4-0 to put the referendum dealing with the change of the school mascot from the St. Bernard to the Coyote on the April ballot. This was just one week before the elections and the item received no prior publicity. Some students expressed their displeasure of not knowing the measure was going to be on the ballot until they actually voted. The referendum stated that a 2/3 majority was needed to change the mascot to the Coyote. 364 voted for the Coyote while 220 opted to keep the St. Bernard as the mascot.

Elections Chair Bruce Jeter announced the election results at 11:15 p.m. on April 24. At that time he said that the measure had failed because it did not receive the 2/3 majority required, so the St. Bernard was still the mascot.

On April 28 Mr. Jeter posted a memorandum saying that "the A.S. Elections Committee by a three to one (3 to 1) vote has reinterpreted the results of the student vote concerning the change in the school mascot. It had come to our attention that the A.S. Constitution states that a majority is needed to implement a referendum. Therefore the measure passed 364 to 220 (59 percent) thus lost (by) known throughout the land as we are the SAN BERNARDINO COYOTES."

The following day Jeter, modified his memo after he was notified by the Dean of Students Office that the procedures used were not in line with campus policy. Jeter notified The PawPrint that the student body had voted to recommend to President Plau that the school mascot be changed from the St. Bernard to the Coyote. He also stated that A.S. is urging the Faculty Senate to concur in the same action.

Dean of Students Kenton Monroe was contacted by The PawPrint in an attempt to determine the correct procedures used in changing the mascot. Monroe's office was unable to find the exact procedures, but Dean Monroe was able to give The PawPrint a summary of the main issues involved with changing the school symbols.

The ticket of Forman, Woodward and Thies only placed Thies in office. Lyne, an independent candidate came from behind in the last minute, an independent candidate for President dropout early in the race while the incumbent Vice President Sandy Case, running for that office in Independently was defeated.
A number of Bobo Boos surfaced in the Anniversary Issue.

The pictures on page four from the Music Department and of the Concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Esperanza Monday, May 12. The complimentary ticket only. They are swept by the socio-economic forces of the time.

We could not cover everything and did not ask the students to read those materials and available for the people involved.

An oversight was also noted by concerned campus employees. Regret that the Physical Plant, which should function, and never noticed because they do their job so well, was left out of the paper.

However, the Public Safety Department, most of the individual schools and departments and the Administration, could not have been anticipated and did what we could with the photographs and material available.

Help Stop Discrimination Against Students

A bill AB 234 will be considered by the State Senate in June. This bill is designed to ban discrimination against students in housing.

Student leaders throughout the state have been fighting for this type of legislation for years, but to no avail. AB 234 was defeated by the Senate and signed into law by the Governor of California.

A key to passing legislation is to let the legislator know that his constituents want the bill. This is where you come in.

What you can do is help pass this much needed bill by simply sending a letter or postcard to your State Senator.

The State Senator from your area is Robert Presley (S B) including this campus, and east S B County. The address for both senators is California State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814.

Please take a minute to help continue the discrimination and write to your senator today.

— Tim Hamre

Perspective

Administrative Action

Wednesday afternoon I called Dean Monroe’s office to go over the situation and he was doing the same. I was to call back the following day.

Thursday morning I was talking to Dean Monroe about the situation and he was supplying me with what he had come up with. Minutes later President Pius told me over the phone that he was going to form a committee to handle the school’s confusion.

Within half an hour of talking to President Pius, A.S. President Kathy Miller informed me that Mrs. Charles Bragg was called by the President to meet with him and the Dean to discuss the matter.

It is the belief of the alternative list that our Administration is acting too quickly. Never mind that the issue involved might be considered trivial by some. The fact remains that the student body had indicated their concern with the removal. This was taken to examine. It was not done.

President or President remove the student for the manner in which they attempted to change the mascot even though it was totally against established procedures.

What they did not do was make an immediate attempt to straighten the whole mess up. Hopefully, this trend will continue in the following years.

— Mike Smith

Cal State Students Attend Model UN

by Billy McCluskey

A group of ten CSCSB faculty advisors and delegates attended the thirtieth annual meeting of the Model United Nations held at the University of California, San Diego last weekend. Students and delegates from the western states were in attendance at the four-day conference, April 17-20.

This year CSCSB represented Columbia. The Executive Committee, comprised of the faculty advisors and delegate chairs, choose the host school two years prior to the session. The host school is designated as the Secretariat, and provides organization and information for the participating schools, as well as assigning each member school a country to represent.

Each school is responsible for researching the country they are assigned, and must send delegates accordingly. The number of the delegation varies, but generally a delegation is composed of two to four students. The country they are representing would do each. Each delegate must exemplify the actual policies of that country, and must know the rules of procedure for the particular committee or council he is assigned. The results of this meeting are actually sent to the United Nations.

Jim McRae, a senior at Cal State currently working on an International Relations: certificate, will be working for the PLO from 11 p.m. until 4 a.m. because he was dealing with the United Nations, and was hysterical at 2:00 in the morning. He was a night person, and was a day person, but it was a lot fun.

Other students from Cal State who attended the MUNW in San Jose include: Delfina Daggett, 1st Committee; Steven Gam, 3rd Committee; Mike Fajol, 2nd Committee.

Children's Center Groundbreaking Set

Members of the campus and the community are invited to come with the youngsters in groundbreaking ceremonies for the Children's Center Friday, May 9.

Using the college's ceremonial shovel, the first dirt will be turned at 9:30 a.m. at the site of the Student Services Building. The youngsters who are served by the present Children's Center in Kendall School will be present with balloons to launch at the appropriate moment. Refreshments will be served.

The award-winning Channel 2 news anchor, Connie Chung, will speak here Sunday evening, May 18. She will discuss "Current Trends In Television News".

The free lecture, open to the public, begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall. Preceding the lecture is a buffet reception for Miss Chung. Reservations at $6 per person should be made by May 12 with the president's office. Scotts will be reserved in the Recital Hall for people attending the reception.

A journalist whose talent and tenacity placed her at some of America's most important news events, and political events, Chung has been anchor of KNXT's 5 and 11 p.m. news broadcasts since August 1976.

Foreign Film

Des Diaboliques

The classic mystery thriller, "Les Diaboliques," the film for which critics feel actress Simone Signoret will be remembered best, will be presented on May 30 in the Lecture Hall of the Physical Sciences Building at 7 p.m.

Complete with French dialogue and English subtitles, "Les Diaboliques" is the frighteningly believable psychological thriller that goes away when the body suddenly disappears from its hiding place. Events that follow suggest that the body may be alive somewhere. When the victim's suit, cleaned and pressed, is delivered to the murderer, for example, the murderer is chosen with the same chilling question: could the victim still be alive?

The final, shocking climax is designed to keep viewers hiding under their covers for days. The New York Times called the film, "a pip of a murder thriller, ghost story and character play all rolled into one."

The presentation of "Les Diaboliques" is presented as part of the Foreign Film Festival.

Spring Quarter Enrollment Shows Increase

Reversing a four-year trend, spring quarter enrollment is up slightly over winter term.

Census date figures show the current student body to consist of 4095 persons. This represents an increase of 13 over winter 1976.

Spring enrollment has been lower than winter each year since 1974. To meet the anticipated drop of 3000 persons. This represents a drop of 131 higher than winter each year since 1974. To meet the anticipated drop of 3000 persons, the college is geared to being supportive of those in trouble, or the Student Union Reception Desk. Applications will be accepted through May 30, although some appointments may be announced earlier. So Hamre asks that you get your application in quickly.

People Wanted

A.S. President-Elect Tim Hamre announced last Friday that he was seeking people to serve in various capacities in the Associated Students of Cal State. Students and related organizations next year. At the top of the list are people needed to chair and serve on the different executive committees.

These include: Student Services, Publicity, Activism, Sports, Clubs and Elections.

There are also openings on the A.S. Board of Directors to represent the Schools of Humanities and Education. Boards which will need people next year include the Student Union Reception Desk. Applications will be accepted through May 30, although some appointments may be announced earlier. So Hamre asks that you get your application in quickly.

LOS ANGELES — The Veterans Administration has efected the second phase of its million-dollar-a-year research program into the causes of alcoholism and drug abuse with the naming of five VA medical centers — in California — as training sites for its Substance Abuse Fellowship project.

The medical center at Palo Alto will be assigned one physician and a counsellor at San Francisco two physicians in July to begin the program in California. Other medical centers receiving initial fellowships include Bronx, N.Y., Coatesville, Pa., and Hines, Ill.

The fellowships are for two years and six new fellows will enter the program each year for the next two years.

Training will encompass the care of veterans suffering from both alcoholism and drug abuse, which increasingly affects veterans of all ages. The psychiatric and mental health aspects of diagnosis and treatment are all essential parts of the training program.

Fellows will be trained in a multi-disciplinary and interdisciplinary educational program for clinical practice in substance abuse. They will be prepared to function as clinicians, teachers, researchers and directors of care for substance abuse patients in inpatient and ambulatory care settings.

These fellows will play important roles in stimulating and catalyzing research and clinical efforts in substance abuse in VA facilities. Through their part-time medical school appointments, the fellows are also expected to stimulate undergraduate and graduate medical education in substance abuse in the schools with which the VA medical centers are affiliated.

VA, which has moved aggressively against alcoholism and drug abuse, says that it will take the federal agencies at least a year to complete interviews of foreign students. The INS move will probably "force motivations that have been lax to keep better records," says Heather Olson, chairwoman of NAFTA’s Government Regulations Advisory Committee. In its interviews of Iranian students, Olson adds, the INS took a strong line of technical violations of immigration law. "We can expect to see immigration papers on all students more closely scrutinized than they have been before," she says.

In the past, "it was almost ignorance of the law for foreign student advisers, says Olson, but that is changing. "Now, what you don’t know can actually hurt your students," she says.

The earliest date for implementation of the INS interview plan would be this summer, but Olson thinks it will take the federal agencies at least a year to complete interviews of foreign students.

The INS action comes at a time when more than a million veterans each year are receiving foreign students. In larger numbers, in part to balance declining numbers of American students. Approximately 300,000 foreign students are enrolled in institutions here and that number is climbing 12 percent to 16 percent annually says the New York Times.

Nearby 140 graduates, faculty and staff attended the alumni brunch held in the College Commons. Richard Berincee, past president of the Alumni Association and now Student Union Coordinator, was master of ceremonies.

Professors Honored

Faculty members from California State University, Northridge and San Jose State University today were named 1980 Outstanding Professors by the Board of Trustees of The California State University and Colleges.

The designees, announced by Board Chairman Dr. Claudia H. Hampton and Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke, are Dr. Charles B. Burdick, professor of history at San Jose, and Irving A. Block, professor of art at Northridge.

Sponsored throughout the 19-campus system by the Trustees, the awards program has honored two faculty members each year since the program's start in 1964. Designees are recommended to the Chancellor and Trustees by a Special Committee organized by the CSU Academic Senate.

Each year since the program was initiated the California State University and Colleges Foundation has awarded $1,000 to each Outstanding Professor. The awards have been made possible by the Joseph M. Schenck Foundation of Los Angeles.

Professors Block and Burdick will be officially recognized for their accomplishments at a May 28 meeting of the Board of Trustees in Long Beach.
L.A. County Museum of Art
To Celebrate Education Programs May 7, 1980

The Los Angeles County Museum of Art today announced it will highlight its education programs on May 7, 1980, in conjunction with President Carter's launching of the new Cabinet-level Department of Education for the day. Educational activities which are open to the entire community include a number of docent tours in the Ahmanson Gallery: "Art of Africa" at 12 noon; a Highlight Tour of the entire Ahmanson Gallery, which offers an introductory survey of the Museum's permanent collection dating from ancient times to the 20th century at 1 p.m., and a 15-minute spotlight talk on Van Gogh's painting "The Starry Night" at 2:30 p.m. A docent tour of the special exhibition "The Romantics to Rodin: French Nineteenth-Century Sculpture from North American Collections" will be offered at 1 p.m. in the Frances and Armand Hammer Wing. Admission to docent tours is free to Museum members and included in the general admission fee for nonmembers. At 8 p.m. in the Leo S. Bing Theater, Dr. Vishveshwar Pal, senior curator of Indian and Islamic art, will discuss the mother goddess as a symbol of fertility and abundance in a free, illustrated lecture titled "The Shaminless Woman."

Shirley M. Hufstedler, secretary of education, has recognized the vital role museums play in education and in enriching our lives. "U.S. museums," Hufstedler said, "are responsible for preserving the physical manifestations of our culture, of past civilizations and of our natural environment. The collection, restoration and preservation of the treasures of the world by museums is something for which we are all grateful."

Hufstedler continued, "I believe that working together, museums and schools can make education as bright, vivid and exciting in life itself."

Museum Director Earl A. Powell, III said, "The Los Angeles County Museum of Art recognizes its responsibility to provide the public with programs of the highest quality. Through its special exhibitions, education programs, and conservation efforts, the Museum seeks to promote excellence in learning."

Lawrence L. Reger, director of the American Association of Museums, the service organization of more than 5,000 museums nationwide, said, "On this occasion of the announcement of the new Education Department, it is important that we focus our attention on the extraordinary riches offered by our country's museums. Without museums, many of us would never observe first hand the myriad treasures of the complete human experience. With their commitment to preservation and their superb collections, museums provide us, as well as future generations, with the opportunity to know ourselves better. With museums, we can learn about our past and anticipate our future."

The relationship of twins is the focus of 25 hand-tinted prints by photographers Colleen and Kathleen Kenyon which are on display May 5 at the ARCO Center for Visual Art. The 29-year-old twins serve as both artist and subject in these photographs. With attention to symmetry, the works explore the Kenyon's personal rituals and their delight in childhood. The show's title, "Sacred Children," refers to the custom of many African cultures that consider twins special people and honor them with pieces of art. The display will be shown through June 14. Continuing in the south gallery through May 24 is "Indians: Paintings of Contemporary Native Americans." by Willard Midgette.

The National League East has four teams capable of winning the division; the Pittsburgh Pirates, Montreal Expos, Philadelphia Phillies, and St. Louis Cardinals. The Pirates and Expos have the most reliable and steady pitchers of this bunch, but the Pirates are also strong at every position and this should lead them to another championship. Burt Blyleven, John Candelaria, Jim Bibby, Andy Hassler and Don Robinson will not only be supported by strong hitting, but also a strong bullpen. Kent Tekulve, Grant Jackson, Enrique Romo, and Dave Roberts. The Expos may have a slightly better starting rotation with Bill Lee, Steve Rogers, David Palmer, Scott Sanderson and Ross Grimsley, but they have only one bullpen ace (Elias Sosa) and just average hitting.

The Phillies should beat out the Cardinals for third place. Although both teams are strong in the hitting department especially St. Louis, it is pitching that makes the difference. The Phillies have the edge here. Steve Carlton, Dick Ruthven, Larry Christenson, Nino Espinosa and Randy Lerch are all steady starters, while relievers Tug McGraw, Rawly Eastwick should be able to comeback from last years pitching slump. The Cardinals, meanwhile, have young pitchers who will prove themselves this year. Pete Vuckovich, Silvio Martinez, Bob Forsch, John Fulghum and Bob Sykes along with ace reliever Mark Littell who are all 31 years old or younger, will determine the Cardinals destiny. The Chicago Cubs and New York Mets will once again have long mid-season slumps and not be heard from down the stretch. The Cubs have the best relief pitcher in major league baseball in Bruce Suter, but they have become very dependent on him because they do not have much more pitching than him. Rich Renisch, Mike Kruckow, Dennis Lamp, Lynn McGlothen and Bill Caudill are all streak pitchers as are many of the Cubs hitters. Dick Tidrow and Willie Hernandez will try to help Sutter in the bullpen. Righthander Craig Swan has been the only mainstay of the Mets pitching staff this last few years and this is why the Mets will finish in last place in the Eastern division.

The National League West will eventually be a three team race between the Cincinnati Reds, Los Angeles Dodgers and Houston Astros. Of the three teams, believe it or not, the Reds have the best pitching staff. The Reds strong-armed rotation has Tom Seaver, Mike LaCoss, Frank Pastore. Dick Bonhoom and rookie Charlie Leibrandt with Tom House and Doug Burns leading an equally strong bullpen. At least two or three of the Reds starters should win 15 games or more.

The Dodgers and Astros pitching staffs are both slightly overrated. The Dodgers stopper is Burt Hooton, while Rick Sutcliffe will try to repeat his performance of last season. Don Sutton and Dave Goetz are inconsistent, but Sutton would be a major factor toward the end of the season (if there is no strike). Unproven Bob Welch will probably be the Dodgers fourth starter. Without injured Terry Forster, the Dodgers bullpen is young and unproven. Newly acquired Don Sarich and veteran Jerry Reuss will head a relief corp full of rookie and second year major league pitchers. The Dodgers major strength is hitting and this where they have the advantage over the Astros. While J.R. Richard is a great pitcher, the rest of the Astros staff is just above mediocrity. Joe Nuxlo has a great season in 1979 (21-11, 3.00 ERA), but is is doubtful he can repeat the performance. Newly acquired Nolan Ryan and veteran Ken Forsch are only a bit better than average. Joe Sambito was the Astros bullpen last season and he will need help in order for the team to be successful.

The San Francisco Giants are the best of the rest of the West. Vida Blue, Bob Klepper, John (The Count) Mottu, Dale Haili and Ed Whitson all slumped last season after having good seasons in 1978. A come back from this rotation is less likely than a team like the Pirates because the hitters and defense are not as strong. The Giants bullpen has the duo of Gary Lavelle and Greg Minnow and possibly Randy Moffit, but not much else.

The Atlanta Braves and San Diego Padres have too many unproven pitchers to be contenders. The Braves have a slightly better bullpen than the Padres with Al Hrabosky and Gene Garber, while the Padres have Rollie Fingers. Mark Lee and inconsistent John D Acquisto. The Padres have the advantage with starters Randy Jones, Rick Wise, John Curtis, Eric Rasmussen and Bob Shirley as compared to Phil Niekro, Bob Matula, B.J. Solomon, Doyle Alexander and either Larry McWilliams or Preston Hanna for the Braves. But the biggest difference between the teams is the potential hitting, where the Braves have a big advantage over the team (Dave Winfield) hitting machine of the Padres.

There will really be no surprise teams in the National League except the Cubs before they do their annual swoon. The National League final standings will look like this:

East
Pittsburgh Pirates - 2
Montreal Expos - 1
Philadelphia Phillies - 4
St. Louis Cardinals - 2

West
Pittsburgh Pirates - 2
Montreal Expos - 1
Philadelphia Phillies - 4
St. Louis Cardinals - 2
