September 24th 1980

CSUSB
Your Police Are Here To Help

Did you know that more than 40 million crimes are committed each year, and estimated losses of property crime total $33 billion yearly?

Cal State San Bernardino is a small portion of that total picture. The members of the college Department of Public Safety are here to provide for your safety and maintenance of a campus atmosphere conducive to academic achievement.

It is important that you be aware of their operation and how you can assist them in providing for your own welfare and the welfare of campus property.

The department is manned by peace officers, investigators, parking officers, dispatchers, and community service aids. Together, they provide a full range of protective and service functions to the campus community 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

As a part of their efforts, they are working to increase the number of used cans we can collect and make extra money for themselves and their organization at the same time.

Please report any suspicious activity to the Department of Public Safety at 887-7555. Copies of the college parking regulations will be given to each student purchasing a permit at registration.

Hints to Avoid Frustration

A major source of frustration for many new and continuing students lies in the college parking enforcement program. Most problems can be avoided by adhering to the following regulations:

1. Display a valid permit whenever parking on campus.
2. Park only in marked spaces, never in landscaped or undeveloped areas.
3. If you are a registered student or staff member, do not park in spaces marked “visitor” (green curb).
4. Park in spaces marked “handicapped” (blue curb) only if you display a valid CSCSB “medical” permit, disabled license plate, or DMV issued handicapped placard.
5. Do not park in spaces bordered with a red curb or marked with diagonal white strips, or posted “no parking.”
6. Unless otherwise posted, loading zones adjacent to buildings are limited to 20 minutes maximum.

NOTE: Some buildings require prior parking approval before unloading (this includes the dormitories, creative arts, and visual arts.) If you have any questions concerning parking enforcement, please contact the Department of Public Safety at 887-7555.

First-ever Concert Series at Cal State Now Available for Ordering

The department of music introduced a year-long series of subscription concerts beginning this month. A total of 14 concerts in three categories will be offered for the single season ticket price of $25.

The guest series will feature guest artists, the Leslie H. Harris String Quartet, and faculty artists.

Season tickets and information on the complete concert schedule are available now through the music department, phone 887-7454.

The guest series will bring to the campus musicians of distinguished talent and reputation, who will meet with students in clinics and workshops in addition to their concert performances.

Guest artists will include Jina Tsetlin, an international award-winning violinist; MusiC in Recreation, an ensemble performing 17th and early 18th century chamber music; Devi Buchen, an accomplished soprano in her first west coast concert appearance; Solid Brass, a renowned company of brass specialists; and more.

The Harris Quartet, named in memory of Leslie H. Harris, a founder, of the San Bernardino Symphony Association, has been in residence at Cal State since 1973. This year the quartet will present three recitals which include music by Schubert, Beethoven, and Haydn.

Selected members of the music faculty will also perform as part of the concert series. Althea Wates will present two piano recitals. Keating Johnson will be featured in a recital recital. Martha Vernon will give a program on the organ, and Loren Pickert will be heard in a recital of songs by Mahler, Ravel, and Bach.

Two concerts will be offered in October. Jina Tsetlin will present her concert Wednesday, Oct. 1 at 8:15 p.m. Althea Wates will perform Wednesday, Oct. 22 at 8:15 p.m. All programs will be held in the Recital Hall of the Creative Arts Building.

In addition to the spatial concert series, Cal State will continue to offer its traditional musical programs featuring the college wind and jazz ensembles, the concert choir and the chamber orchestra.

Chess Tournament

Woodpushers Anonymous, will sponsor a five-week tournament beginning Sept. 25. The chess tournament will be held in the college Student Union Thursday evenings through Oct. 23.

The games will begin at 8 p.m. Doors will open at 7:30 p.m. for contestants who wish to practice. The tournament is open to students and community members alike. All contestants must be members of the United States Chess Federation. Interested chess players can join USCF at the first meeting. Entry fee for the tournament is $5 per contestant. Membership in USCF is $20.

Further information is available by calling Dr. Mayo at 887-7479 or 887-7415.
OFF THE WALL RUS

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Investigators for a Senate judiciary subcommittee heard startling testimony in secret session a few days ago. It concerned the Justice Department's mishandling of an investigation into the Robert Vesco case. He is the international swindler who offered millions to White House aides and crooks if they would help with his legal problems.

For two days, the subcommittee heard testimony from the former head of a federal grand jury which spent two years trying to get to the bottom of the Vesco case. The grand jury did not return any indictments. But the foreman, Ralph Ullmer, told the senators that he and his fellow jurors had repeatedly been thwarted in their attempts to get at the truth.

Under oath, Ullmer testified that the federal prosecutors continually discouraged the jurors from asking questions. The prosecutors even told the jurors not to hand down indictments, Ullmer said.

According to the grand jury foreman, some important witnesses were not last month called. President Jimmy Carter was permitted to answer questions on videotape, with no one from the grand jury present at the taping. The tapes later were shown to the jurors.

Ullmer also charged that the testimony of grand jury witnesses was subjected to editorial comment from the prosecutors. They downplayed damaging testimony. Ullmer said, trying to persuade the jurors it was unreliable.

Ullmer was so dismayed at the way the government attorneys were handling the investigation that he tried to quit as foreman. But the judge wouldn't let him. Now Ullmer is telling the story to the Senate subcommittee. It is a fascinating tale of possible scandal and cover-up.

TIMELY STATISTICS: President Carter may just want to pay attention to the economy. Economists tell us the inflation rate should stabilize in the current period.

At least the economy will appear to be stable. The government's inflation yardstick -- the Consumer Price Index -- will show that. And Carter will be able to claim a "victory" in the battle against inflation.

The reason is this: A built-in distortion of the inflation rate will be operating in the index this period and continuing for the next two months.

Critics of the monthly price index have complained for years that housing costs make up too big a portion of the overall inflation rate. And there's some truth to this. Obviously, nobody buys a new house every month. So, when the mortgage rates go up steadily, as they have in recent years, the price index reflects an inflation rate that really doesn't apply to everyone.

Carter's anti-inflation claim, Arms said, is truly nothing more than claiming that the over-emphasis of the importance of housing costs in the price index has made the inflation rate seem much worse than it really is.

Until recently, the mortgage rates had been skidding down from their record highs. And because there's a three-month time lag involved, the housing costs between May and July won't be included in the index price index until September and October -- just in time for the election.

This month, mortgage rates have started climbing back up. But that old time lag comes into play again, and the price index won't show the rising rates until after the election.

PAYING FOR POISON: An outrageous new law requires that the Environmental Protection Agency pay for the pesticides it bans from the market. And the way to pay for it is a 10 cent per gallon tax on gas.

The lame ducks are flying in a final bit of legislation called the "Clean Water Act." The EPA is responsible for the waterways and the Senate is expected to vote on it this week.

DO YOU HAVE A TEMPORARY OR PERMANENT DISABILITY?

NEED ANY OF THESE SERVICES?

We welcome your questions!

Services to Students with Disabilities

Student Services Building, Room 117
887-7797 Voice/TDD

DO YOU HAVE A TEMPORARY OR PERMANENT DISABILITY?

NEED ANY OF THESE SERVICES?

- Handicapped parking
- Taping lectures
- Barrier removal program
- Adapted equipment use
- Many other individual services

We welcome your questions!

Services to Students with Disabilities

Student Services Building, Room 117
887-7797 Voice/TDD

Draft Registration
Is No Joke

If you are between 18-25 years of age this issue concerns you.

Information concerning your rights and options with the draft will be available during registration. It's free and non-obligatory.

Sponsored by The Peace Reaction Club
A chance to lead.

A chance to lead. A chance to fly.

These and many more opportunities for personal growth are available through training programs in the United States Army. Officer Candidate School (OCS) and the Warrant Officer Flight Training (WOFT) programs train leaders and pilots for assignments all over the world.

To enter OCS you must have a bachelor's degree and meet other qualifications. WOFT applicants must possess a high school diploma. A couple of years of college are desired but not mandatory.

I have been appointed College Recruiter for this area. I will be working closely with local Army Recruiting Stations to help college students plan for their futures in the Army.

I look forward to talking with you about the Army and your opportunities. Please call for an appointment.

Sgt 1st Class Herbert Herod

884-6600

THIS IS THE ARMY
Hey, Cal State Students...

THIS BUD'S FOR YOU!

San Bernardino-Riverside