Dinkins Heads Largest City/Wilder First Black Governor

by Jean Dennis

New York City received its first Black Mayor on Tuesday, November 7, 1989 as Democrat David Dinkins won the mayoral race over Republican Rudolph W. Giuliani. In New York, with 99 percent of the precincts reporting, Dinkins had 1,772,598 votes, or 50.3 percent and Giuliani had 1,539,967 votes, or 45.8 percent. Calling the election of Dinkins a historical event, Giuliani, a former Republican who is now making a bid for political office, called for everyone to ‘unite behind the new mayor of New York City.

Despite his small minority president ran as a man who could bring racial harmony to the city of New York. John Danials, democrat, was also elected as the first Black Mayor of New Haven, Connecticut becoming the first Black Mayor in a major white majority city.

L. Douglas Wilder, democrat from Virginia, has claimed victory over republican, Marshall Coleman in his bid to become the first elected American governor of the United States.

Wilder, the granddaughter of slaves, loss a showdown over Coleman and claimed victory in his second term. Recounts will have to be done because of the difference in votes totals in the 1 percent or less category. Some observers say recounts may take weeks. Official certification of the vote is not scheduled until November 27, 1989. A second

NAACP/Police Agreement

Last fall, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), San Bernardino Branch, and the City of San Bernardino Police Department agreed to participate in a series of meetings to address issues and proposed regulations related to the Police and minority citizens. The proposals and issues were developed by the NAACP. Mr. Vernon Jordan, serving as the president of the National Urban Coalition and as consultant to the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, were held last Monday at St. John's AME Church in Omaha, Nebraska.

Mrs. Brown, labeled as one of "the damnest Civil Rights fighters" in the history of Omaha, died in her sleep November 1st, according to one of her top assistants.

"She had been ill, off and on, but not bedridden. We never expected her to die so suddenly," the assistant added.

A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Mrs. Brown moved to Omaha in 1956 and taught school two years before she founded the newspaper 51 years ago. Educated at Miles College in Birmingham, Miles College in Bakersfield, California.

Poll Shows Most Smokers Believe They Are Addicted And Likely To Develop Lung Disease

Despite a nearly universal view among smokers that they will die of lung cancer, most seem blissfully unaware that they are committing suicide if they continue smoking, researchers said.

Eighty-nine percent of American smokers interviewed in a national survey believe they are at risk for emphysema and chronic obstructive lung disease, the third highest of the nation's leading killers. Chronic obstructive lung disease, which includes emphysema, is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States," said Roger Bone, M.D., chief of the Lung Diseases and Critical Medicine at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago. "Yet 84 percent of smokers view it as a cause of death to continue to smoke, at any other cause of death."

The survey also showed that only 18 percent of smokers and those who seek medical help with their smoking, "As far as physicians," Dr. Bone added. "We don't encourage our patients who smoke and let them know there are medically approved programs available to help them quit."

The survey revealed Americans' fascination about 41 percent of current smokers, and 52 percent of heavy smokers (more than 4 packs a day) believe they have already damaged their lungs to a result of smoking.

"Clearly smokers know help with their smoking, says," Sharon Jaxon, Ph.D., a psychologist and regional program manager at the American Association of Public Hospitals. "Doris Boronkay, however, said these conclusions do not adequately protect the groundwater from polluted water disposed activities.

"Our experts have testified that the so-called "false" and that contaminants in underground water supplies are "There are safer locations to dispose of toxic waste party directly over a source of drinking water," Boronkay said.

"Metropolitan provides water service through its 27 companies, serves 10.7 million Southern Californians in Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside Counties," and San Bernardino County."

National Diabetes Awareness Month

Riverside-North is a Na- tional Diabetes Awareness Month of the American Diabetes Association is launching major public education programs to reach those who may be at risk for this diabetes. Diabetics affects 11 million Americans, and almost 20 percent of those who have it, do not know it. People can find out if they are at risk for diabetes by attending the association's special exercise. Self-written short test, related to the symptoms and risk factors for diabetes are available through the local Inland Empire County. Those who score high on the test are urged to contact their physician for medical evaluation.

The National Diabetes Awareness Month focuses on more healthy lifestyles for all Americans. Everyone is encouraged to eat healthier and exercise regularly, since diabetes is treatable. The risk of some form of diabetes is much higher when one is overweight. In fact, there is a strong correlation between diabetes and obesity. In fact, the American Diabetes Association calls it "Diabetes." For more information on diabetes and copies of the test, contact the Inland Empire County."

The survey was conducted by the Wirthlin Group, a national public opinion research firm based in McLean, Virginia and was funded by Bootsbridge Laboratories, Pharmaceuticals, Inc. of Ridgefield, Connecticut.

Metropolitan Oakes Legal Action To Block Landfill

Metropolitan Water District agreed to join in a lawsuit to block a landfill expected to be used for drinking water supplies in the State's Santa Maria Valley.

This suit seeks the reversal of a State Water Resources Control Board decision authorizing Browning-Ferris Industries to drop up to 28 million tons of garbage to be dumped into extensive landfills in San Gabriel Groundwater Basin," Metropolitan General Manager Carl Boronkay said. "This is a basic vitally important project for 4.5 million residents who rely on it for drinking water," Boronkay said. "It also helps provide drought protection for the San Gabriel Valley by serving an important source of water supplies." Boronkay noted that San Gabriel Basin must be protected from the contamination that this single project, Riverside County Boronkay said.

Today's action joins Metropolitan with local water agencies in seeking a superior court review of the landfill expansion approval by the state board Oct.3. The Arizana Land Reclamation Company, a subsidiary of Browning-Ferris Industries, is proposing to expand its existing landfill operations in gravel pits north of Interstate 10 by an additional 220 acres.

Company officials rely on an extensive system of protective plastic liners to keep contaminant from leaking into the groundwater basin. This expansion would reportedly cost an estimated $205 million for cash in the construction of new waste disposal projects and removal existing

A Time For Self Expression: I believe our Lord and God gave us some laws to mean that life is meaningful and there is complete, happy life. It is written in the Bible that there is a need, a special place here on earth for each person that we feel compassion, and forgiving spirit will do my best to display love, as we are given that ability. God is perfect. Therefore, I will continue to make up their own laws.

Making up their own laws.

A person that does this is also a wonderful place to live.
