President George Bush vetoed the Civil Rights Act of 1990 because he believed it would cause undue legal harm to businesses because of excessive lawsuits. The Congress promptly rejected his veto and overrode it. The President promptly rejected the reality of White public opinion.

This is the first civil rights bill in his history of the nation where the President would veto and the Congress has failed to override it," said one Black leader.

"The reason is now a way to see racism in this country epitomized by David Duke," he said.

But I wonder if David Duke, who recently received 45% of the vote, 50% of the White vote and 9% of the Black vote in his failed attempt at being a U.S. Senator from Louisiana, should sing out for all or most of the blame.

What about the voters in Louisiana (54% White and 9% Black) who find his White supremacy message so appealing?

And what about the voters across the country who can't wait for Duke to run for Governor in 1991 or President in 1992? The big gun in his arsenal is afirmative action. He aims it at the fears that increasingly more and more Americans have that Blacks are the Black, but they don't have a job given to them in spite of their disease, God and country.

While we may differ with that argument, there is no argument that affirmative action is the rallying point for anti-black sentiment. It is the battle of cohesive legislation, but lost the war of public opinion.

The California State Conference of the N.A.A.C.P. met on October 28, 1990, in Riverside, California. Several community issues were addressed, one of which was the desegregated school and liquor price wars are having an impact on the Black community and its participation.

Since the majority of all militarized groups are of African-American descent, the N.C.P. considers students in their specific targets of the "high stakes" liquor price wars.

Community interests have expressed their concern to the state of CAL-PAC (a predominantly African-American tavern and liquor unit) over these offensives. CAL-PAC assured those present thatCAL-PAC was going to do everything possible to keep out the problem of retail outlets in Black and Hispanic communities was such that the problems must be addressed by all components of the city (police, liquor wholesalers, etc.). Consequently, a resolution was passed by the County of California Security Forces. The N.C.P. considered the resolution within the state of California as one of the main problems in itself.

 jew Brown sits to begin like Duke.

Opinion works its way through all levels of society and is eventually reflected in economic policies and legislation.

The head of the government's name. After David Duke, may be Mickey Mouse, but with the perception of the affirmation of affirmative action as something for nothing, there will always be a head full of Black people waiting in the wings.

What leads me to my point.

How much responsibility should the Black leaders bear for spending all of the political and moral capital of Black America during the last two decades on an affirmative action program that has only marginally benefited the Black middle class and created the image that all Blacks are lazy and incompetents? And why did the same leaders never design these affirmative action programs to benefit the leaders who had spend so much time fighting for something different, but would have been a justifiable reason for their existence? Or do we support the proposition that those Blacks who benefited from the non-benefited among them.

With no emphasis being placed on self-sufficiency over the last 20 years, and all of it on social programs supported by Whites, Black leaders are now reduced to blaming David Duke for our negative position.

I don't doubt for a moment the sincerity of the people on both sides of them both, but all I can do is blame them for the mirror whatever it may be do all of us a lot more harm.

There is an array of choices about everything from where the mother will have the baby to the type of monitoring and medications they need.

This recipe works out well for the younger child to get involved, and the cookies are easy to make." These recipes were added to the Back of the book for the United Way Reading Challenge Program to discuss with families about the choices parents face and how they can help their children make healthy choices.

ESSENCE and AME Church Join Forces

As the United Nations focuses on the children of the world, ESSENCE and AME Church have joined the African Methodist Episcopal (AME) Church Service and Development Agency (SDA) to help generate $322,000 in matching funds to preserve a child-safety project that provides much-needed medical supplies to Haitian children.

Since its inception in 1987, SADA has been working to reduce the infant-mortality rate in Haiti, where one third of the children die before age five. Problems range from measles, tuberculosis, polo and diphtheria. To date, SADA has immunized more than 60,000 Haitian children, saving those who otherwise would be condemned to an early death. The United States government has provided a $831,000 grant to SADA over the next three years. The AME Church will match an additional $223,000 for the project.

Essence Direct Mail, publisher of Essence, has joined AME Church in helping generate the additional funds needed for the child-safety project. The catalog will contribute to SADA a percentage of all purchases from the holiday edition. In describing this venture, Reverend Jonathan L. Weaver, executive director of SADA, says, "Every purchase contributes to the来自1990 Holiday Edition of the ESSENCE By Mail catalog will help the AME Church send the most precious gift to some child - the hope of survival, the hope of a healthy life." Weaver says SADA was formed by the AME Church to "promote human suffering and improve the lives of Africans, African-Americans and African Caribbean through new and innovative sources of support." Essence Direct Mail is a wholly owned subsidiary of Essence Communications, Inc.

DO NUMBERS HAVE SIGNIFICANCE?

QUESTION: Dear Pastor Woods, In the Bible there are certain numbers that are always found, such as 7, 40, 3. Do these numbers have any significance?

R.S.A. Highland, CA

ANSWER: God is a deliberate doer of acts in that God does, including the repetition of certain numbers in the Bible. From the beginning, in the Book of Genesis, the Bible we use certain numbers. He created our world in six days on the seventh day He rested. From Genesis to the end of the Bible, the Book of Revelation, certain numbers are highlighted. In the Book of Revelation, the number 666 is designated to the Antichrist.

As we examine the pattern of number usage we can determine that the number one generally conveys the concept of unity, completeness and oneness. The number two represents duality, the diabolic and the katharic. The number three is perhaps the most significant in the Bible. It is the main number that we use. The number four can represent marriage or stability, the number five can represent the minority (The 5th Avenue), the number seven can represent perfection, fulfillment or completion. If you enjoy people, entertain-ment, creativity, then a career in the fast-paced restaurant industry is for you.

“Putting food, fun and people together is what the restaurant industry provides, and there will always be a great demand for this profession,” says Theodore Burke, president of the California Restaurant Assocation.

Industry projections forecast that employment in the restaurant industry will increase 4%, or $4.7 billion, by year 2000. In California alone there are 700,000 jobs available for restaurant workers. According to the California Labor Commissioner, there are over 80,000 potential job openings in the state. The deadlin for the book is December 31 every year.

Keshia Knight Pulliam & Phylicia Rashad Return With An All Star Cast in "Polly - Comin' Home!"

Keshia Knight Pulliam, Phylicia Rashad and Dorotha Easter maneuver head the all-star cast of "Polly - Comin' Home!"; a two-hour movie musical airing on Sunday, November 18, 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. (EST) on NBC.

"Polly - Comin' Home!" is a buoyantly sequenced sequel to last year's faith-based, musical "Polly," a musical recreation of the 1970s theatrical hit and Disney classic feature film "Pollyanna." Again directed and choreographed by Debbie Allen ("Fame").

"Polly - Comin' Home!" focuses on the story of a plucky young orphan who lives with her wealthy but domineering woman across a small, rural Alabama town in the mid-1950s. Determined more than ever to unite her Aunt Polly (Rashad) and Dr. Shannon (Easter), Polly and her friend Jimmy Bean (Adams) are encouraged by the arrival of a nurtured Black hardman (Ways), hired by Aunt Polly to run the plantation.

A rambunctious singer named Martin Reynolds ("Sugar & Spice"). Anthony Neswuy ("Soap the World, I Want to Go Off!!.") joins the cast in a rare television and Oscar-winning actress Celeste Holm ("Three Men and a Baby") replaces her role as Miss Stew.

"Polly - Comin' Home!" continues the story of a young orphan who lives with her wealthy but domineering woman across a small, rural Alabama town in the mid-1950s.

Have pride and be proud: You are somebody. God provided all of us with the ability to make this world a better place to live. We must overcome that feeling that brings that desire which causes us not to want to share happiness with our fellowman. It has been proven when a person is spiteful toward another, they are really mad and are just using another to carry out their spite or hate. Our human potential have provided all of us with the ability to love, so why not love?

We all have the capacity for creativity and personal growth. Why not use these talents to make your world and the people we deal with, happy. As our needs are attended to, our behaviors will improve and whoever it is we deal with. Person "A" can be motivated to improve, and as they develop the potential they have and move toward a better self-image, they will seek the opportunity to help another person, let us say, "B" who, under the influence of person "A" will become an additional force for "good" With this plan in force the drug dealers and hate mongers will have to go out of business. It would be nice to see more people loving and respecting each other with no more fighting.

Ask yourself this question, "Am I using my talents to make the world a better place to live? Am I doing the best I can to make the conditions of my home, community and schools a better place to live, work or get an education?"

The bible reminds us to love our neighbor as well as ourselves. Be proud, practice pride, you are somebody, and so is your neighbor. Regardless of my personal position this time next week on the Moreno Valley School Board of Education, what I have written is the way I will always perform for my world. God is love.

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED WAY IS IN THE BUSINESS OF GIVING AWAY MONEY, WE DON'T JUST GIVE IT AWAY. Sometimes people think that because United Way is in the business of giving away money that's all we do. But they're wrong. Because before United Way gets away money a lot of things must happen. Does the organization represent the best interest of the community? Will it provide an important human service not otherwise provided elsewhere? Does it really deliver the services to the people in the need? When, and only when, these three questions have been answered does United Way give money.
