AFTIEMATIVE ACTION MYTHS

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The same state that voted a bunch of fools for Rovin Martin Luther King, Jr., just voted a bunch of fools for Ronald Reagan. The new attitudes toward change and American culture in particular, I have long contended, are reflected in our society's youngest writers, the children who write for The Black Voice News. When I came across this article titled "3rd Annual Battle At American Experience Rock Revival" in one dated July 14, 1979, which was the title of an article such as Dona Summer, Chic, Sister Sledge, and the Godfathers of Funk George Clinton by his band Funkadelic and the group Parliament, which was big. It was funny, it was...

Coors Receives Good Corporate Citizenship Three Awards

November 13, 1990 - If you are a Californian investor looking for current income, think of this: For every dollar of income earned for current income, think of a Californian investor works from taxes. So today, more than ever, investors are turning to tax-exempt mutual funds.

As the California government bonds in terms of safety and yield are beaten without significantly compromising quality, the buyers non-recurring closing costs may be offset by the savings in interest rates. Therefore, the buyers non-recurring closing costs can be considered a tax-free addition to the savings in interest rates.

Save Money On your Taxes

LULU

Buy tax-exempt bonds. By investing in a California municipal bond fund, you are making investments in your community's essential services. Principal bonds are issued by local and state governments to build public projects such as hospitals, schools and nursing homes, to stimulate industrial development.

Colombo Investment Services, Inc. is the distributor of Colonial Investment Services, Inc.'s taxable bond portfolio. The tax-exempt bond portfolio can be obtained from Colonial by calling (800) 248-2828. The investor should read the fund prospectus before investing.

Founded in 1931, the Tax Reform Act of 1969 had a strong impact. In 1969, the California tax burden was 13.5% and a taxable equivalent yield of 11.5% is required to make the same amount of after-tax income as the tax-exempt fund.

Where can you find the (1.12) taxable equivalent yield? Municipal bonds issued by the state of California have yields of 1.12% and the state of Illinois has yields of 6.0%.

Inventors also benefit from low volatility and government backing. According to Lottey, "Foreign investors are not major players in municipal markets and have extremely low volatility than other U.S. securities markets. The municipal bond market is the largest domestic-controlled securities market in America." Municipal bonds are second only to federal government bonds in terms of safety of principal and interest.

Municipal bond yields cannot be seen without significantly increasing risk. A tax-exempt yield is a mortgage revenue bond, and it can provide income that is free from current federal taxes.

FHA, VA, or other recently introduced programs. FHA, VA and SHCUS (State Housing Corporation) are important to be aware of the availability of these programs.

Colombo, a professional career, provide positive models for its members throughPhi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., develop high self-esteem and encourage the members to provide a service to themselves and to the community. For the answers isn't always easy, and all types of ARM financing options are available. It is important to work with a professional to assist you in developing financing options for your home and any other real estate matter.

Anticipate: We can change ourselves, others we can only love. Attitudes are the way we look at our selves, other people, and circumstances in our life. Why are some people fun to be with, others shy and reserved, and still others always depressed and withdrawn from the world? The answer is very simple. It's all in the way they look at reality—or it's their attitude. Author unknown.

Great Day: My Special Day class at Pinana Middle School had a very enjoyable time, Wed. Nov. 21, the day before Thanksgiving. Chief Patrol of the Perris Police Department insaid this group of younger and another class to a Pizza party. Why? Because of their attitude against the use of illeg­­al drugs. Some of these youth partici­­pated in the Red Ribbon Parade which was held in Perris. This affair was designed to bring about commu­­nity consciousness of the dangers of drugs. We marched the ish so the one of the local parks from Pinana Middle School. The students were delighted with a moon meal of very tasty pizza. We viewed a non-violent film starring Dr. King and a video which showed what happens in drug users. You can be sure that we have gained more volunteer in our march Against Drug Abuse, and Non­Violence. The students were letters of thanks that same day to Chief Patrol and I took them to the station. They expressed some very sensitive feelings. Following is Maria Fuller’s letter. Dear Chief Patrol. Thank you for the Pizza for our class. We really enjoyed it very much. It was very nice for you to do this for our class. I hope we could do something for you. I hope Mr. Ledbetter would let you do this again sometime. Well I have to go now. Thanks again I hope the whole class could meet you sometime. Well bye now. Maria Fuller.

Why Not: Why aren’t the makers of video making movies that provide our youth with examples of sharing, caring, respect for each other and non­-violence? What is wrong, with a film that show us how to respect each other? They have plenty of film which show our youth how to cheat, hustle, fight and show disrespect for each other.

One solution to the gang problem would be to show a “group” or “gang” helping elderly people, painting their houses, mowing their lawns, taking them shopping etc. We have an anti-violence program that March AFB Chapel #1 that’s a “gang.” We attempted to develop a group like this several years ago but did not material­ize—not sensational enough, I guess. I believe stories of people helping people will sell as many videos and newspapers as our gang fights and rip­offs. We must give our good young­sters more credit. I am a member of the Meade Valley Woodcrest Lion’s Club, we could be called a gang. This group provide glasses and other ser­vices for the needy members of our societies. We very seldom read about their great work. Other service clubs do many great services for the com­munity in which the members live.

The local rotary club was very sup­­portive of our local recreation pro­gram when I was working as recre­­ation director, also the Noncommission Officers Association. This is and was a group of people helping other people, or you can say “gang” of people helping another gang of people. We can put violent gangs out of business by making caring and sharing the watch words of today.

Why doesn’t the video industry get busy and put more of these great works on film. If they are already on film, let the schools and communities know about it. Christianity, Education and other programs showing children how to respect themselves, parents, home and school. Let our children see a clean change by teaching them right from wrong while they are young and not reach them. Together, We Can! Teach Me To Do Thy Will, For Thou Art My God, The Spirit Is Good, Lead me Into The Field Of Uprightness.” Psalm 145.

Profiles in African American Art: Joshua Johnston

Joshua Johnston is believed to have been a former slave, who may have been born in Baltimore, Maryland, maybe around 1765, and who may have died around 1830.

There were, of course, Black men who drew and painted in America before Joshua Johnston. Many were artisans, engravers, and goldsmiths. Gilbert Stuart, reproductions of whom were sold for $600,000 recently, was active as a painter in Baltimore, Maryland, between 1783 and 1805. But, it is almost certain that there are other undiscovered works of his subject were white). This has led to speculation that there may have been a former slave, who may have been born in Baltimore, Maryland, maybe around 1765, and who may have died around 1830.
