ROTC Program Now Offered At Cal State

Seven months after negotiations first began, a U.S. Army and Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) regional extension center has been established on the Cal State campus. In a split majority vote the CSCSB Faculty Senate decided April 14 that a new (ROTC) Military Science program could begin in the fall.

The program, which is headed by Maj. John Shirley and SFC Charley Bolen, is open to any student wishing to become an active Army officer or a commissioned Reserve officer with civilian status. Students participating in ROTC may pursue any academic major.

Past and present ROTC participants have had to travel to Claremont College to take the upper division Military Science courses. Because of this, Shirley is optimistic that the new program will draw more students to Cal State.

The issue of locating the ROTC on campus was brought before the CSCSB Faculty Senate in the Fall of 1980. Ward McAfee, Dean of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences—under which the ROTC program is housed—said "things went very quickly from there."

The Military Science courses, History of the World Wars, Civil Military Relations, and Small Unit Operations I will be offered here in the fall and are open to all CSCSB students.

Major Shirley is encouraging all Cal State sophomores who are interested in attending this summer's ROTC Basic Camp to contact him as soon as possible. Basic Camp is a six-week training program held at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Participants are not obligated for further military service.

Any questions about the ROTC program should be directed to the ROTC office located on campus in LC 522 or by phoning 887-7625 or 887-7221.

Westerly Withdraws, Bynum New Treasurer

by Brad Johnson

"I couldn't believe it." It was 12:00 in the morning and Gregg Bynum was awakened by a knock on the door. Outside waited Cheryl Chambliss, the A.S. Elections Chair. "You won! Congratulations." Bynum was suddenly the A.S. Treasurer-elect, eight hours before the polls were scheduled to open in the run-off race between him and Marianna Westerly. "I was a little dazed" he said.

It was true, however, Westerly had withdrawn from the race, leaving Bynum the undisputed winner in what proved to be this year's most hotly contested bid for office. "I'm glad it's over, though," said Bynum. "It was a challenging, time consuming, hard fought race."

Although he drew more votes than Westerly in the primaries, Bynum remained an active campaigner—even after he was unofficially declared the winner.

Early Wednesday morning, just prior to the scheduled opening of the polls, Bynum conferred with Richard Bennecke, the Elections Advisor, about what had taken place the previous night. Bennecke verified that Westerly had dropped out of the race Tuesday, April 28, but Bynum wasn't taking any chances. "I wanted to see it in writing," he said. It was not until he was assured that the polls would not even be set up that the full impact finally sunk in. "I was tired," he claimed, "but very, very relieved."

Westerly, in a statement issued after her withdrawal, claimed that she felt her "experience and energies can best be used to work for the students in other endeavors next year." Both Westerly and Bynum wished to thank their supporters for helping each of them in their respective campaigns.

Andy Rooney To Speak May 14

Andy Rooney, the resident pundit for CBS' 60 Minutes, will speak at Cal State Thursday evening, May 14. Tickets for the 7 p.m. talk will go on sale Monday in the Music/Theatre arts Office. Admission is $2.50 for adults and $1 for students with identification. Seating is limited and tickets should be paid and picked up in person as quickly as possible.

Rooney, who holds the official title of CBS news writer-producer, has been described by Time magazine as "the most felicitous writer in television." He has won the Writers Guild Award for Best Script of the Year six times, more than any other writer in the history of the medium.

He wrote the first of what has become his specialty, the television essay, a personal format illuminating subjects most people take for granted, with his "Essay on Doors" in 1964.

The blaze is still under investigation by campus officials as well as arson investigators from the San Bernardino Fire Department. Waterman will be closed for the remainder of the year pending repairs.

The PawPrint

The PawPrint is published under the control of the CSCSB Publications Board. It is published on a weekly basis during the academic year for a total of thirty-one issues less quarter breaks and final exam periods. Contact the office at 887-7497, 5500 State College Parkway, San Bernardino, CA, 92407, for further information.

Advertising requests should be addressed or directed to the Business Manager at the address and number above.

Classified ads may be ordered similarly except that such ads for students, faculty and staff of CSCSB up to twenty words in length are free.

Ad and Copy deadlines are the Friday preceding the date of publication. Copy received after that date appears in the paper on a space available basis.

Ad Policy The PawPrint accepts all advertising in good faith but makes no warranty, and does not check any goods or service advertised.

Letters to the Editor should be kept to a maximum of one and one half typed pages. Letters which attack any person may be held until that person has time to respond in the same issue as the other letter. Letters must include name and address, a phone number and must be signed although names will be withheld upon request.

The PawPrint reserves the right to edit all copy submitted in order to comply with space requirements, libel laws and good taste.

The PawPrint is funded in part by an annual allocation by The Associated Students to cover the costs of printing and expenses. It is distributed free to students and to the community. The remainder of the funding is developed by The PawPrint itself through program generated revenue accounts from advertising.

Spring Festival Planned for May 13

by Terry Seal

On Wednesday, May 13th, there will be a spring Festival at Cal State, featuring an archery competition, a ride-n-scoot relay, and a pet show. Sponsored by the Intramural Department, the festival will begin at 11:00 a.m. on the grounds by the Student Union.

The archery competition, entitled "Robin Hood's Archery," will last from 11:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. Competitors will shoot six arrows for practice, then shoot two sets of six arrows apiece in actual competition, with the best single set being declared the winner. Last year's winners were John Barbagello and Jennifer Moskowitz. Winners receive a t-shirt.

The ride-n-scoot competition is a new event this year, featuring a co-ed relay race with competitors riding back and forth on a wheelchair and a flat square with wheels underneath. Winners receive a t-shirt. The event is scheduled to begin at noon.

The final event is a pet show; contestants may enter any kind of animal, real or imagined. There will be six categories in which pets will be judged, including "cutest," "ugliest," "best dressed," "best performance," "best personality," and "most unique." There will be an over-all winner, the "Grand Champion." Ribbons will be passed out to all winners, including 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place in all of the categories. All who enter get intramural participation credit. Last year's winner was a dog named Mona, entered by William Krumhiede.

New Summer School GI Bill Change

A recent change in GI Bill payment procedures should alleviate potential problems for certain veterans enrolled in summer school, according to VA Regional Office Director H.H. Villalobos.

Originally, students enrolled in summer classes were prohibited from receiving GI Bill benefit payments when the period between school terms exceeded one full calendar month, Villalobos stated. For example, if a school's summer term ends on August 15th and the fall term begins on September 28th, this interval would exceed the old, thirty-day limit. Under the new provisions, it would not exceed the full calendar month criteria, and education payments would be made.

The only requirement is that the veteran must be enrolled for a total of at least eight weeks of summer school.

Further information about this change is available at the Veterans Administration Regional Office at 11000 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles. VA's toll free telephone service is also available by calling 1-800-352-6592.

Agent Orange Program Offered To Veterans Counselors

On May 8, 1981, the Veterans Affairs Office at California State College, San Bernardino, will present an instructional program for Veterans counselors from the San Bernardino-Los Angeles-Orange. The program will begin at 9:00 a.m. and will end at 4:00 p.m. The meeting will take place on the 5th floor of the Library.

Among the invited guests are professional members of the legal and scientific communities.

Current information about this herbicide will be presented at the meeting. The audience will be invited to participate. Since the program is being sponsored primarily for veterans counselors, no pre-registration is required. However, for the purpose of estimating room space requirements, Veterans Affairs Coordinator Raymond E. San would appreciate a call at (714) 887-7098 in order to get an estimate of how many will be attending.

11 to Study Abroad

by Sandy del George

Eleven Cal State students now have the opportunity to study abroad during the 1981-82 school year, maintaining their registration at this campus while receiving full credit for overseas courses.

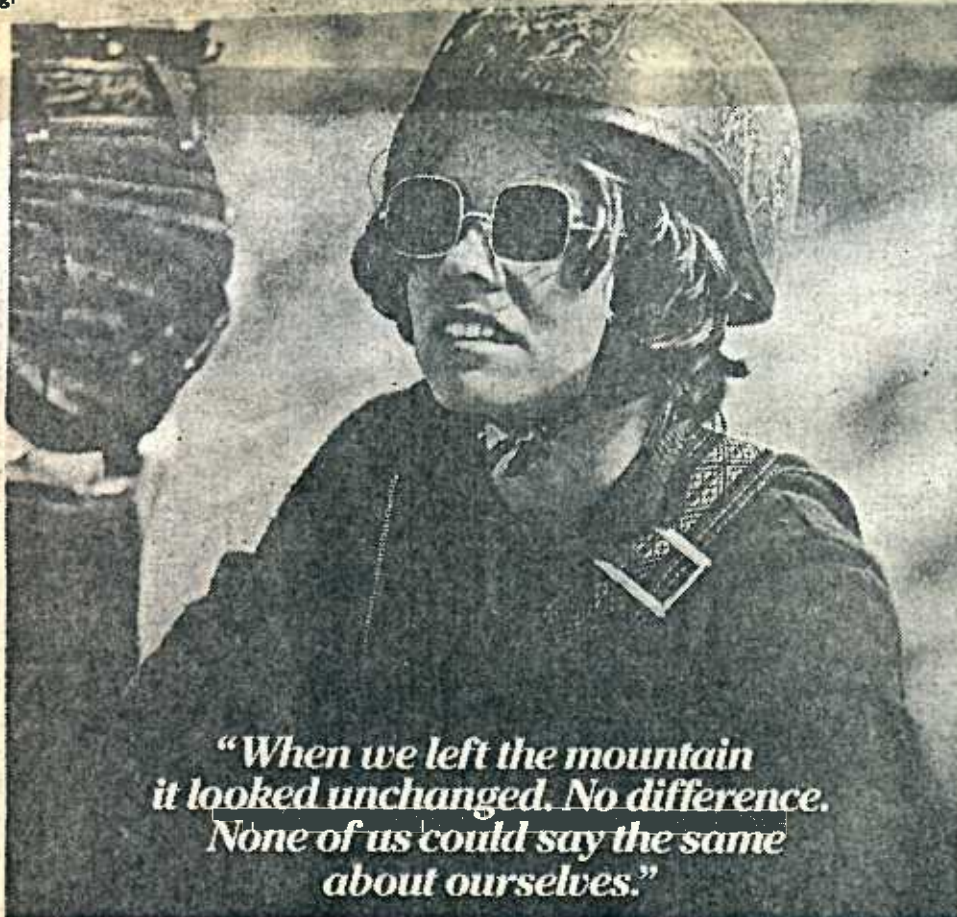

The eleven chosen by the Chancellor's Office International Program Division are Shari Miller, Robert Judge, Ronnar Lev, Patrick Fitzpatrick, Tim Bruton, Deborah Thompson, Ken Whitson, Patricia Farwell, Veronica Rodarte, Boyd Roberts and Nancy Ferretti. A reception in honor of their successful candidacy is planned, date and time to be announced soon.

Purposes of the International Program, according to the Chancellor's Office, are to promote international good will and to give students the advantage of a broader world-experience. These students can sample courses in a variety of countries, and share what they've learned when they come back. In the International Program "specializations are wide open," said Cal State's Dr. Mireille Rydell, Participants can choose from foreign language study (France, Spain, etc.), Anthropology in Japan, Economics in Japan, Art in Japan, Limnology (studies of fresh waters) in Sweden, Business Administration in Mexico, chemistry in Israel, and more.

Students traveling to Spain, France and Germany need to have completed two years of foreign language study, Dr. Rydell added. Upon arrival at their foreign destinations the students also receive an intensive language course. An exception is the Business Administration program in Mexico, where there is no language requirement.

Student applicants must be evaluated by the Academic Standards Committee and recommended by that committee to the International Program Office of the Chancellor's Office in Long Beach, California. An applicant's grade point average must be no lower than 2.0. Accepted applicants pay for their trips through the International Program, and the Program handles their transportation, room and board, and other expenses.

it looked unchanged. No difference.
None of us could say the same about ourselves."*

"And to all you folks out there who think you can't do it—I did!"

At Outward Bound® it's not just what you do, but how you feel about it afterwards that counts.

Our courses are tough—they're meant to be—but not beyond the reach of anyone who tries. They're fun. And safe as human ingenuity and experience can make them.

At Outward Bound we teach you outdoor skills. From rock-climbing to canoeing. But we're also something of a course in self-reliance (a course in self-reliance where you also have to learn to trust the group).

Outward Bound will not teach you to be a man. Nearly half the students, for one, are women. Few are really athletes. Lots are over thirty. What you need is a bit of pluck, and the yen to spend some time in some of this country's most spectacular settings.

Everyone brings something different to Outward Bound and takes something different away. But whatever your experience—we guarantee it won't be trivial.

"Creation" to be Performed Tonight by Concert Choir

"The Creation," an oratorio by Joseph Haydn, will be sung at Cal State, San Bernardino Wednesday evening, May 6.

This presentation is a joint endeavor by the Cal State Concert Choir, the Victor Valley Community Choir and the High Desert Symphony.

A performance will also be held in the gymnasium at Victor Valley College at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, May 3.

The oratorio, originating about 1600, is a musical composition with an extended religious setting written for soloists, chorus and orchestra. It combines parts of Genesis and Milton's "Paradise Lost."

Soprano Julie Orreson,

Riverside, will sing the part of Eve. Thomas Anderson and Paul Charfield, both from Riverside, will share in singing the bass arias for the characters Adam and Raphael.

Dr. Loren Filbeck, associate professor of music at Cal State; Tom Miller of the Victor Valley Community choir, and Leopold Cichocki of the High Desert Symphony will direct.

"The Creation" will be performed at 8:15 p.m., in the Recital hall of the Creative Arts Building.

For the Cal State performance, general admission is $2. There is no charge for students with identification. Children are admitted free.

Adult College Opportunity Program Scheduled

Help for students who have reading problems is being provided this spring through a series of reading seminars developed by Student Assistance in Learning (SAIL).

Three seminars for each skill in textbook reading will be taught. The focus each week is on a different problem area. The first sessions, devoted to helping students learn and implement the SQ3R technique of textbook reading, will meet on Wednesday, April 29, Thursday, April 30, and Tuesday, May 5 at 2:00 p.m. The Wednesday session will meet in LC 53 and the Thursday and Tuesday sessions will meet in LC 204.

Faculty may refer students with reading problems to attend these sessions. Students may attend any or all of the sessions. Further information is available from the SAIL office (Ext. 7473) or from Ina Katz (Ext. 7720, LC37C).

Job Fair For Disabled

On May 21 and 22 the Los Angeles convention Center will host a Job Fair billed as the biggest single effort to employ the disabled in the United States. The Rio Hondo Mayor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped is sponsoring this event.

Isabelle Gonthier, a member of the Mayor's Committee, said that they expect some 300 potential employers to attend, with many of the companies having pledged to hire disabled persons at the event, looking for persons with educational backgrounds ranging from high school equivalency through college graduates, as well as graduates from vocational training schools and programs.

Further information on the Job Fair may be obtained by calling the Mayor's Committee at (213) 864-6011, ext. 4581.

Susan Johnson, career counselor for the Services to Students with Disabilities on the Cal State San Bernardino Campus, urges all the disabled students on the campus to attend. "This will be an excellent opportunity for these students to learn about the kinds of jobs that are available and the qualities employers are looking for in individuals." For those students who are unable to attend, Susan will be going, and she will be happy to speak with you and share the information she receives. All you need to do is make an appointment with her through the Disabled Students Office, phone number 887-7797.

Packs em' in.... Blood Drive In The Red

....and draws it out.

by Dorinda Thurman, Health Center

The California State College Blood Reserve fund was recently credited with 61 units of blood, thanks to the help of some members of the campus community. A total of 85 people attempted to donate, but 24 were turned down due to a variety of reasons.

Thanks to all of you who took time to donate. A special thanks to everyone who helped with the Blood Drive: the Student Union for the use of some of their equipment; Mary Newman for making the posters; Joe Long for donating an Intramurals t-shirt, which was won by Karen Stewart; the Housing Office for their advertising; to the custodial staff for assisting with furniture arrangement; and to the students from Badger House who rounded up the most donors from all the dorm students. Badger House will have their name imprinted on the Blood Bank plaque, which will be kept in their House until the next Blood Drive is held.

Anyone who was unavailable or unable to donate that day can still go to the local blood Bank and request that their donation be credited to the Cal State Blood Reserve Fund.

Musical Ensemble To Perform

Music of the 1920s will be presented by the Cal State, San Bernardino Wind ensemble Sunday, May 10 in the Recital Hall of the Creative Arts Building.

Selections for the 8:15 p.m. concert will include music by Edgard Verese, George Gershwin, Ernest Toch and John Phillip Sousa. These pieces represent the diverse styles of music popular at the time.

General admission tickets are $2 per person. Children and students with identification are admitted free.

Reading Seminars Available For Students

On Tuesday, May 5, the Adult college Opportunity Program will offer a workshop on Mid-Life Career Planning and Career Change. The workshop will deal with the subject of age discrimination in hiring and suggest ways to counter such discrimination. Ed Schneiderman, from career Planning and Placement will conduct the workshop. Both will be held in LC-204 from 12:00 to 1:00. All students are welcome.

Petrified Forest To Open May 14

The Petrified forest, a play by Robert Sherwood, will be presented on May 14-16, and 19-23 by the Players of the Pear Garden, under the direction of William Slout.

The Petrified Forest is generally recognized as the vehicle that made Humphrey Bogart famous. He starred in the movie version; other stars involved in the production have been Leslie Howard and Bette Davis. The story takes place in the restaurant of a filling station in Arizona near the Petrified forest. The drama takes place when it is taken over by a trio of armed fugitives.

Says Slout, "the forest is symbolic of mankind's dilemma. The idea at that time was that the intellectual was dead, that we were headed back to the apes." He adds, "What interested me in doing the play was the whole awareness of crime and violence and so on. It has a certain little statement in it of vigilante crime."

The principals in the play are Marisa Wine as Gabby, Jeff Hubbard as the intellectual Alan Squier, and Ivan Glasco as Duke Mantee. The play will be staged in the Theatre of the Creative Arts building, with curtain time at 8:15.
