The Inland Empire News in Black and White

A house located in the Highgrove area of Riverside was the target for vandals, who burned a cross on the lawn, when a Black nominee began to move in.

Gary Jones, a Black man was moving into a house already occupied by Michael Contreras, a Latino. Contreras, who had lived in the neighborhood for over a year, reported he had been hassled from time to time but never was his race referred to.

Not until about a year ago whenContreras had a birthday party. Michael Rohman, a close friend, said he heard them say, "we don't want Nigerians moving in here." Rohman said the cross burning incident took place last Tuesday night when he just happened to look out his window.

"We were moving a few neighbors and all of a sudden we hear them saying, 'we don't want them here,'" a neighbor said. "We turned around and saw that there was a cross in the driveway." Rohman said the group went inside and began searching for the attackers. "We found out they were shooting at the neighbors who were standing outside of the home. They said who did it and they just began to laugh and say no they hadn't done a thing." The group then said, "Well they say they didn't do it and they left." The group also said, "If it's not stopped, they hide behind the house and then go into the hole and usually see them but we do them there.

Late last Friday night the group was burned out again because of an incident, where the voice behind the house said, "We don't want this here." "I don't know who you are putting the car in the garage but we will do it too."" into these Klan tactic incidents.

The NAACP, as an example of the KKK's tactics, reported that the NAACP agents were served with a court order to appear at the court. The NAACP then filed a motion to have the order vacated. The court granted the motion.

The NAACP also reported that the NAACP place display ads in the LA Times on March 24, 1991 depicting a picture of a Black man with "Good ole boy" signs on his head and "We will support democracy." The NAACP also reported that the NAACP plans to continue to meet with Kaiser and is planning a meeting at the end of this month. They have requested information on the Affirmative Action Program and will review it at the next meeting.

McLaughery said she believes the NAACP has been working and that the NAACP has been more active. We have affirmative action programs and we can keep them working with it, it will be okay. It takes time.

If this is not rectified, the NAACP, said they will take it to the Federal Government.

Scott Accuses Ludum Of Overstepping Decency

My opponent, Valerie Pepe-Ludum, and her campaign workers in this forthcoming May 7th Municipal General Election have been reported to be employing unethical, intimidating and oppressive tactics concerning voter registration and individual rights.

The bounds of decency have certainly been overstretched in the actions taken regarding their attempts to control both the location of polling places and the personnel that man them.

You might wonder what is happening in our country. Europe is breaking up into ethnic, racial and cultural enclaves. The Soviet Union has splintered into an ethnic division, resembling Lebanon, as Sunni, Shi'ite and Kurd factions. They are all beginning to reorganize the Democratic Party in this country. Last year, I wrote that the split in the party had splintered into a White wing, headed by Jesse Jackson. Recent events have expanded that into even smaller (or different) factions. The Democratic National Committee (DNC) is the traditional authority.

The Democratic Party's heavyweights have adopted a Republican agenda to get back into the White House. Where does this leave Jesse Jackson's loyals of voting for the middle-of-the-road Democrats? It leaves the traditional White leadership of the Democratic Party that has inherited the legacy of "traditional liberalism," the DNC. It leaves Ron Brown, the DNC's first Black chairman, with the Black people who haven't decided -- yet. It leaves Jesse Jackson with a Black voting bloc that has increasingly become alienated from the New Left and an embattled leadership and an embattled leadership and an embattled Democratic Party.

"It's a new time for a get-up-and-go attitude. Because everything is losing its value," said Tony Tucker, executive director of the Maryland Small Business Development Office, at Black Enterprise. "And business acquisition is a way for blacks to make a leap into the mainstream ownership. What is the main advantage of buying a business? You don't have to build an empire. If you put in 20 years, if you've put down a foundation in Chicago, says that established businesses already have an infrastructure in place, complete with customer base, suppliers, employees, and leases. 42 Year Old Tablecloth Brings Many Happy Memories To California City Resident

By Margaret Y. Bourland and Natalie Hutchinson

The Bourland family and friends were gather together around the dinner table after having stuffed themselves with Christmas turkey and all the trimmings. When Mr. Bourland got the idea of signing the tablecloth, their friend Natalie was the first to sign on that Christmas Day in 1949, nearly 43 years ago.

The Bourlands have moved to California City when they have been residing for 15-years and the tradition still goes on. Signatures have been gathered at churches, weddings, reunions and all sorts of occasions. Mrs. Bourland said "The signatures of several nationalities bring memories of happy occasions and oh-so-yess, some sad ones too, but that is what life is all about."

In this tablecloth history has repeated itself. Parents have signed and later their children signed. Now some of the grandchildren of the original signers and their friends there are 19 minutes consisting of 11 A.M. Pianist; 2 United Methodist; 3 Baptist; 2 C.O.G.I.C. and 1 Congregational Pastor. Among the A.M.E. Ministers are the Rev. A. K. Quinn (signed 41 years ago), Rev. Felix D. Dancy, Rev. J.B. Isaacs, Rev. Charles Brooks, Rev. G. Mansfield Collins (signed 27 years ago). Mrs. Bourland said that "in our twilight years we are prone to forget so the signatures on the tablecloth brings back many food memories. To my knowl­edge there are 100 friends who signed have passed away."

"When I look at the tablecloth I can't help but thank God for the many Blessings that He has granted me along the way. I also reminde of a spider's web, so intricately tied the tablecloth with its many signatures and interwoven back on the many happy events with family and friends. "The cause we don't get around much anymore."
